It is the policy of this store never to carry over to the next, goods bought for this season—it is a mighty poor system that will allow stock to accumulate and become old.

We think it by far better management to sell all goods bought for a certain season during that season—thus keeping the different departments free from old styles and patterns, even though it requires the strenuous price cutting of our annual clean-up sale to accomplish it.

This sale one year ago was unanimously proclaimed the event of the season—the immense crowd of buyers at that time appreciating the saving of 10 to 50 per cent. on every purchase.

Now the time has arrived for our annual January Clean-Up Sale, and we promise you a store full to overflowing with seasonable, desirable merchandise. Every department in this big store is teeming with easy to be seen money saving bargains.

You will find the stock in each department complete. We enjoyed during the holiday season the largest volume of business this store ever had, but we bought correspondingly heavy, leaving us with altogether too much stock for this time of the year—hence it follows this Clean-Up Sale is our necessity and your golden opportunity—don't miss it.

Was 100 Years Old.

Half-Way, Mich., Jan. 3.—Mrs. Catherine Barbara Schemm, of Warren township, 10 years old last May, is dead. She had lived here for more than half a century, and preferred its former name, Roseville. Since the death of her husband, 38 years ago, she made her home with her son, Leonard, a prosperous farmer. With the exception of a slight deafness, she retained the use of her faculties in a remarkable degree. Four of her nine children are living.

Break in Price of Coal.

Bay City, Mich., Jan. 3.—Soft coal retails at $3.50 per ton. The price was cut Wednesday, and now that the combination is broken, further cuts are expected. It is thought that the break was caused by the failure of the United City mine to maintain the standard price. Operators will not protect their customers this time, it is said, and the price war is expected to develop much bitterness.

BIG ELECTRIC DEAL.

If Completed, Line Will Extend From Grand Rapids to Indianapolis.

Benton Harbor, Mich., Jan. 3.—A deal has been in consideration here for the selling of the Benton Harbor & St. Joseph electric line to a syndicate, known as the Merdock, Woodworth Co., of Indianapolis.

The B. H. & S. J. road is owned by the McMichael Co., of Chicago, and they report that they are willing to sell and that all that stands between the two companies is a few thousand dollars.

If the Merdock, Woodworth Co. completes the deal for the B. H. & S. J. line, with the Northern Indiana Traction Co.'s roads as good as bought and working to secure the Southern Michigan roads, they will have a complete line from St. Joseph to Indianapolis. They will run another line from Benton Harbor to Kalamazoo and on to Grand Rapids, making a continuous line from Grand Rapids, Mich., to Indianapolis.

St. Joseph Breaks Marriage Record.

St. Joseph, Mich., Jan. 3.—St. Joseph has smashed all records in its career as a Gretna Green, and when County Clerk Miners closed its records for the year of 1906, his books totaled 1,762 marriage licenses, or 215 more licenses than were issued last year. When the 1,500 mark was passed last season it was thought the record could never be beaten, but the marriage industry has grown so here that the old record mark was easily passed.

Fictitious.

Angel Child—Aunt Daisy, what is meant by "a fictitious character?" Aunt Daisy—That means one that is made up, dear. Angel Child—Oh, yes! Then you're a fictitious character, aren't you, auntie?

Learn to be pleased with everything—with wealth, so far as it makes us beneficial to others; with poverty, for not having much to care for, and with obscurity, for being unenvied. — Plutarch.

Fisherman's Widow Goes Insane.

Traverse City, Mich., Jan. 3.—Two years ago Monday, Joseph Ryant, a fisherman, was drowned in Grand Traverse bay. Monday night, his widow, rendered insane from constant worry, was arrested as she was wandering about the neighborhood endeavoring to gain admission to the houses of neighbors. Steps have been taken to send her to an asylum.

Agreed With Her.

After an all night session with the boys a husband wended his way home, arriving there at about 5 a. m. He found his wife waiting for him in the dining room, the confusion of furniture indicating that she had been having an unhappy time.

"Yes," admitted the erring husband. "It's a lovely morning."

"Neither have I," said the husband.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's catarrh cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's catarrh cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

THIRTY-FIVE ARE DEAD

Terrible Wreck Occurs on Chicago & Rock Island in Kansas.

INJURED NUMBER FIFTY-FIVE

Two Passenger Trains, Running Slowly, Meet on Curve Near Volland—All Those Killed Were Mexicans, Save Three—Wreckage Caught Fire.

Topeka, Kas., Jan. 3.—Thirty-four persons, all Mexicans but three, were killed, 55 persons were injured, and the bodies of 30 Mexicans were incinerated, early Wednesday, in a head on collision of two passenger trains of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad, near Volland. The wreck occurred while both trains were running slowly on a curve, in a cut where the grade was steep.

All the killed were in the south bound train, except a tramp, who was on the baggage car of the northbound train. This tramp and two workmen accompanying a gang of 32 Mexican laborers, were the only Americans so far as known, although a passenger says that a woman and a child were burned in a tourist car.

There were 32 Mexicans and five Americans, composing a gang of railroad workers, in the smoking car of the southbound train. Of these, 30 Mexicans were burned in the wreckage and two died later.

Most of the injuries were due to the setting of the emergency brakes. Most every passenger in the southbound train was thrown to the car floor by the quick setting of the brakes. The northbound train was running 10 miles an hour, up grade. The Mexicans were pinioned under the seats and the doors were jammed so they could not get out. In the chair car, also, many passengers were held down by their seats.

The train caught fire from the gas tanks, which were broken. The passengers in the rear cars escaped in night clothes and dressed in the mud beside the tracks. Then came the cries for help among the Mexicans in the smoking car and the people pinioned fast in the chair car. Every man and nearly every woman on the train tried to rescue the unfortunates, but the flames soon became too hot to permit of approaching the car.

The injured were removed from the chair cars with less difficulty, and apparently all were rescued alive from these cars.

Blamed For Terrible Accident.

Washington, Jan 3.—A report of the steamboat inspection officers who made an investigation of the collision between the steamers Dix and Jeanie, on Nov. 18th last, about 3 1-4 miles from Seattle, Wash., by which about 50 people lost their lives, has been received by the department of commerce and labor. The report places the blame for the disaster on Capt Peter Lermond, of the Dix, and exonerates from all blame Capt. Philip H. Mason, of the Jeanie, who, the report says, "fulfilled all the requirements of the law." The report says Capt. Lermond left the navigation of the Dix to the first officer, who did not have a pilot's license.

Detroit Laborer Killed.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 2.—John Cooney, 486 Wabash avenue, a laborer, employed in the American Car & Foundry Co.'s plant, was killed Wednesday afternoon by being struck by a traveling crane. His head and shoulders were completely crushed. Coroner Parker was called and is investigating. Cooney was being taken to Grace hospital in an ambulance and died on the way.

Charge Armstrong With Murder.

Dowagiac, Mich., Jan. 3.—A formal charge of murder has been made against Day Armstrong, in South Bend, Ind., for slaying his sweetheart, Carrie Vincent, of Lawton. Armstrong evinced no interest when the charge was read to him in the hospital in that city. An officer remains constantly by his side to prevent his attempting suicide.

Killed Self In Boston Hotel.

Boston, Jan. 3.—A man who registered Wednesday evening at the Treble house, in the West End, as Marshall S. Noble, of Chicago, shot himself in the head Wednesday afternoon, in his room at the hotel and died probably immediately. A letter was found in the room addressed to "Clenliaid Noble, Grand Rapids, Mich. The man was 45 years of age.

The Public Debt.

Washington, Jan. 3.—The monthly statement of the public debt shows that at the close of business Dec. 31, 1906, the debt, less cash in the treasury, amounted to $940,071,777, which is a decrease for the month of $9,958,652, largely accounted for by a corresponding increase in the amount of cash on hand.

Railway Strike In Bulgaria.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Jan. 2.—The employes of the state railroads have gone out on strike because of the refusal of their demands for increased wages. The government has taken prompt measures to insure the continuance of traffic and will use military locomotive drivers to this end.

The appraised value of imported merchandise received at New York in 1906, was $83,000,000 in excess of that of 1905.

Old Time Acting.

The old time actor had peculiar and primitive views as to elocution and its uses. I remember a certain old friend of mine who, when he recited the opening speech in "Richard III." and arrived at the line, "In the deep bosom of the ocean buried," suggested the deep bosom of the ocean by sending his voice into his boots. Yet these were fine actors, to whom certain young gentlemen who never saw them constantly refer. The methods of the stage have completely changed and with them the tastes of the people. The probability is that some of the old actors of only a few years ago would excite much merriment in their delineation of tragedy. A very great tragedian of a past generation was wont in the tent scene in "Richard III." to hold a piece of soap in his mouth, so that, after the appearance of the ghosts, the lather and froth might dribble down his chin, and he employed moreover a trick sword which rattled hideously, and, what with his foam flecked face, his rolling eyes, his inarticulate groans and his rattling blade, the small boy in the gallery was scared into a frenzy of vociferous delight.—Richard Mansfield in Atlantic.

HARRIMAN'S KIND OFFER.

He Will Transport to China Supplies for the Starving.

Washington, Jan. 3.—Secretary of War Taft, as resident of the American National Red Cross, has sent the following telegram addressed to E. H. Harriman, executive office, Union Pacific railroad, New York City:

"Your telegram of the 28th ultimo, to the president of the United States, tendering the free services of your San Francisco and Portland Steamship lines for the transportation of supplies to Shanghai and Hong Kong for the famine sufferers of China, has been referred to the Red Cross by the state department, and on behalf of the Red Cross society, I accept with sincere thanks your kind and generous offer. The Red Cross will take the liberty of communicating further with you in regard to details."

The Red Cross society, which, through its branches and various other agencies is making every effort to obtain sufficient contributions of money and foodstuffs to make up a cargo for shipment to China at an early date, calculates that from $100,000 to $150,000 will be required to purchase such a cargo.

Arrested For Putting Acid in Bread.

Chicago, Jan. 3.—Four men, said to be members of the Bakers' union, have been arrested on the charge of putting acid on hundreds of loaves of bread distributed among the Jewish residents on the west side. A strike is in progress at a local bakery, and it is claimed that strike sympathizers threw the acid, and also iodoform on wagon loads of bread and rolls after they had left the bakery. The police have confiscated many baskets of poisoned bread, and are holding them for evidence. In the pockets of the four men arrested were found bottles of carbolic acid and packages of powdered red iodoform.

Meet In India Next.

Boston, Jan. 3.—At the meeting of the World's Christian Endeavor union in this city Wednesday, an invitation was received from the president of the United society in India, Burma and Ceylon to hold the next session in India in 1910. The invitation was accepted. President Francis E. Clark spoke encouragingly of the work throughout the world. There are now 68,722 societies, and there are but few countries in which progress has not been made during the year.

Investigating Cause of Wreck.

Washington, Jan. 3.—An investigation to ascertain the cause and fix the responsibility for the disastrous train wreck on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad at Terra Cotta, D. C., last Sunday night, was begun here before a coroner's jury Wednesday. The principal witnesses were three officials of the road, none of whom could give any reason for te wreck. Nearly 50 witnesses have been summoned, and the inquiry promises to occupy the entire week.

Proficient.

When western Iowa was newly settled the farmers in an isolated section banded themselves together as a school district and proceeded to choose one of their number committeeman. A log schoolhouse was erected, and soon a young woman came that way seeking a chance to teach. The committeeman was designated to ascertain her fitness.

When the time for the ordeal arrived the public official was at his wit's end. He had been examined himself often enough, but that was when he was attending district school fifty years before. The very thought of conducting an examination himself, and for a teacher at that, staggered him. He could not think of a question to ask.

"Well, now, Miss Burden," he said cautiously at last, "kin you say the alphabet back'ards?"

Miss Burden could, and did.

"Fine!" cried the committeeman. "I'll just indorse your certificate." He wrote it thus:

"Fully proficshunt."

CHARGES OF FRAUD

Are Made Against New York Cotton Exchange by Southern Cotton Association.

Washington, Jan. 3.—Charges of fraud were filed late Wednesday afternoon with Postmaster-General Cortelyou against the officials and members of the New York cotton exchange, by Representative Livingston of Georgia, and Harvie Jordan, president of the Southern Cotton association, of Atlanta. On the charges they filed they base a request that the postoffice department issue a fraud order against the officials and members of the New York cotton exchange in order to bar them from the use of the United States mails, in conducting what the charges term "fraudulent practices."

The postmaster-general, after going over the papers submitted to him, referred his callers to Judge Goodwin, assistant attorney-general for the postoffice department. It is likely that a hearing on the charges will be heard by Judge Goodwin before a determination of the question is reached.

"I. We charge that New York city has ceased to be a commercial spot cotton market, and that the New York Cotton exchange, operating under its present debased and fraudulent contracts, has developed into a purely speculative or gambling exchange, and that the grades of cotton shipped to New York and tenderable on the contracts under the rules of the New York Cotton exchange, cannot be used solely to depress the price of spinnable grades of cotton in the south; to further the speculative features of the New York Cotton exchange, to the heavy detriment of the entire legitimate cotton trade of the United States.

"II. We further charge that the said New York Cotton exchange, through its officers and members, is daily using the United States mails for the purpose of transmitting and advertising their business to the legitimate cotton trade of the United States, and we charge that the said business is fraudulent and said officials and members of the New York Cotton exchange should be denied the use of the United States mail. We refer you to copies of letters hereto attached.

"III. We further charge that the quotations sent out daily on the debased contracts of the New York Cotton exchange exercises a predominating influence over the legitimate cotton trade to its great detriment and injury."

CHOOSE THE GOVERNOR.

New Hampshire's Legislature Elects Charles M. Floyd.

Concord, N. H., Jan. 3.—Charles M. Floyd, of Manchester, republican, was elected governor of New Hampshire by the state legislature at the opening session of that body Wednesday, and formally inaugurated today. The choice of a governor by the legislature was made necessary by the failure of any candidate at the November election to secure a majority of the votes. Mr. Floyd, who was the leading candidate, lacking upwards of 100 of the number needed to elect.

In the voting in joint convention of both branches of the legislature, Mr. Floyd and the democratic candidate, Nathan C. Jameson, were the only candidates eligible under the constitution to be ballotted for, though there were several other candidates in the November voting. The vote was: Floyd, 263; Jameson, 144.

Aside from the formalities of organization of the two branches for the session, little other business was done.

Stolen Jewels Recovered.

Savannah, Ga., Jan. 3.—Jewels, principally diamonds, valued by a local expert at $50,000, were recovered Wednesday by the Atlantic Coast line, and will be sent at once to Dionysius Miranda, a Cuban, who is awaiting their arrival at Jacksonville, Fla., before proceeding to his home in Havana. Senor Miranda and his wife left New York Dec. 31. They had a satchel containing the jewels. At Jacksonville they complained of the loss of the jewels. Two of their fellow passengers, a woman and her daughter, were arrested but subsequently released. The jewels were found by the negro porter in the closet of a combination car, where it is suggested they may have been left by the thief to secure later when opportunity offered.

"To enjoy freedom from chilblains," writes John Kemp, East Otisfield, Me., "I apply Bucklen's Arnica Salve. Have also used it for salt rheum with excellent results." Guaranteed to cure fever sores, indolent ulcers, piles, burns, wounds, frost bites and skin diseases. 25c at C. A. Wright's drug store.

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the conditions of payment of a certain mortgage executed and delivered by John Bailey to Jonathan Knouse, dated March 1st, 1887, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in the County of Lenawee, State of Michigan, on the 8th day of March A. D. 1887, in Liber 48 of Mortgages on pages 626, 627 and 628, assigned by said Knouse to Robert Boyce by due instrument in writing, dated June 17th, 1889, recorded in said Register of Deeds' office on the 7th day of September A. D. 1889, in Liber 57, of Mortgages on pages 846 and 847, assigned by said Boyce to Robert McHenry by due instrument in writing, dated August 24th, 1885, and recorded in said Register of Deeds' office on the 1st day of September A. D. 1885, in Liber 118 of Mortgages on page 832, assigned by said McHenry to W. D. VanTuyle and Charlotte C. Silvers by due instrument in writing dated October 9th, 1890, and recorded in said Register of Deeds office on the 24th day of February A. D. 1891, in Liber 125 of Mortgages on page 267, assigned by said W. D. VanTuyle and Charlotte C. Silvers to Peter B. Sutfin by due instrument in writing dated February 23d, 1891, and recorded in said Register of Deeds' office on the 24th day of February A. D. 1891, in Liber 125 of Mortgages on page 268, assigned by said Sutfin to Albert L. Brewer by due instrument in writing dated April 23d, 1892, and recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds on the 4th day of May A. D. 1892, in Liber 125 of mortgages on page 656; and assigned by Percival W. A. Fitzsimmons, as administrator of the estate of said Albert L. Brewer, deceased, (said Albert L. Brewer having meantime departed this life and said Fitzsimmons having been duly appointed administrator of said estate) to me, the undersigned, as Hettie W. Brewer (now by marriage Hettie W. Lawrence), by due instrument in writing dated October 18th, 1898, and recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds on the 14th day of November A. D. 1898, in Liber 143 of Mortgages on page 887; there being claimed to be due to the undersigned at the date hereof upon said mortgage, and the note secured thereby, the sum of fifteen hundred fifty-four and 33-100 dollars, and no suit or proceeding at law, or in equity, having been instituted for the recovery of said indebtedness, or any part thereof:

Notice is therefore hereby given that, by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained (operative by said default), I will on Monday the 4th day of March, A. D. 1907, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the east front door of the Court House in the City of Adrian, in the County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, (that being the place where the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee is holden), for the purpose of realizing the amount of said mortgage debt with interest thereon to accrue and costs of this foreclosure, including a lawful attorney fee, sell, at public vendue, to the highest bidder, the lands and premises in said mortgage described, viz:—Those lands in the township of Clinton (formerly Tecumseh), County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, known as the west half of the south-west quarter of section two, town five south, range four east, containing eighty acres of land more or less.

HETTIE W. LAWRENCE,
(formerly Hettie W. Brewer),
Assignee of said mortgage.

Dated: November 30th, 1906.
Fred'k. B. Wood, Attorney for Assignee.

DR. ANDREW B. SPINNEY

Formerly of Detroit.

Proprietor of

REED CITY SANITARIUM

THE OLD RELIABLE SPECIALIST

DO YOU WANT FREE CONSULTATION AND CORRECT OPINION OF YOUR CASE.

If you are poor your treatment is free. If you are discouraged and we can cure you, we will wait for our pay until you are well.

Come and see us; this is your last chance.

We live to do good, are honest with all. Forty-five years' experience free. This trip and today only.

The above is the picture of the only Dr. A. B. Spinney in this state. His history is as follows: Fifteen years in private practice, location of these in East Saginaw, Mich., with as large a practice as any physician then had. Three years professor in Detroit Homeopathic College and twenty-two years in Detroit. Had charge of Alma Sanitarium eighteen months; Vocational one year, and for the past seven years has owned a sanitarium at Reed City. On December 13, 1902, his sanitarium was burned, loss fifteen thousand dollars; but in twenty-eight hours he had bought another and is in good shape for business again. He will come to Belding, Mich., next spring, where he has a Sanitarium, with sixty rooms nearly completed.

There is a firm in Detroit calling themselves Spinney & Co. Their history is this: Anson B. Spinney founded the same, but he has been dead some three years, as an extract from the Evening News of September 8th, 1900, will prove. The office has been run by his heirs, putting physicians in the same that they could hire until about a year ago when Kergan & Kennedy bought them out and have been running the business since. I am the only Dr. Spinney in the state. Have been here forty-five years, so do not make a mistake and consult or write the wrong firm if you wish to come. I am at the Sanitarium every Sunday except one in a month. Will be at the place and date below as follows:

We are coming to your town on date and at place mentioned and are willing to give you our time and the benefit of our forty-four years' experience, free.

If matters not how or how long you have been sick, or what your ailment, our consultation and advice is free, and our opinions are always the result of careful examinations and a life long experience. The sick are always told the truth and upon just what he can rely. To all who are poor we give treatment absolutely free, only charging cost of medicine. Operations at hospital free, only charging exact cost of board while patient is recovering.

Any person suffering from PILES or any curable disease we will wait for our pay until cured, if you will secure us.

Have you been sick for years and are you discouraged? Come to us and we will cure you. Our prices are the lowest of any chronic disease specialists in the state. Charges at the sanitarium only actual cost. We treat all forms of chronic diseases, but special attention is given to the treatment of the following long standing diseases, viz: Nasal Catarrh, Polypus, Mucous and Tollicular Diseases of the Throat, Foreign Growths in the Larynx, Laryngitis, Bronchitis, Bronchial and Consumption, Spitting of Blood, Loss of Voice, Enlarged Tonsils, Insipient Consumption, Asthma, Diseases of the Heart, General Debility, Diseases Peculiar to Women, Neuralgia and all forms of Nervous Diseases, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Strictures, Constipation, Piles, Fissure, Fistula, Irritable and Indolent Ulcers, Hip Disease, Rheumatism, Blood and Skin Diseases, Surgical Diseases of all forms, the Eye, Ear, Face and Internal Organs, including Deformities, Club Feet, Cross-Eyes, Tumors, Hare Lips, etc., also Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Diarrhea, and all forms of Liver, Stomach and Bowel Diseases.

Remarkable Cures Perfected in old cases which have been neglected or unskillfully treated. No experiments or failure. Parties treated by mail or express, but personal consultation is preferred.

Remember Date of visit. Come early as parlors are always crowded. A friendly call may save you future suffering; it has made life anew to thousands who have been pronounced beyond hope. Bring sample of your urine, for examination.

MUST STAY IN BED.

Governor's Physicians, However, Say He Is Somewhat Improved.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 3.—Gov. Warner will not be able to leave his home in Farmington for a week or 10 days yet. This is the information given out Wednesday night by the governor's physicians.

Dr. Henry J. Hartz, 27 Adams avenue east, Detroit, after another consultation Wednesday, with Dr. J. A. Miller, the Warners' family physician in Farmington, furnishes this bulletin as to the patient's condition.

"There is some improvement in the governor's physical condition and less trace of nerve exhaustion. There is a slight change for the better, too, as regards his bronchial tubes and chest trouble, although evidences of some slight congestion are yet apparent in the left lung.

"His symptoms are a rapid and intermittent pulse; a constant low fever, with an evening rise of one and one-half degrees, and a loose cough with expectoration."

CONSPIRACY TRIAL ON.

Allegan Grange Store Muddle Again in Court.

Allegan, Mich., Jan. 3.—The trial of the conspiracy case against Dibble, Webster, Horan, Holmes and McAlpine in the grange store embezzlement matter, was begun Wednesday morning. Another surprise was sprung by the announcement by Judge Padgham that he would not sit in the case for cogent reasons. Judge K. S. Searles, of St. Johns, will hear the case. It is hoped to secure a jury at once. The conspirators are charged with milking the funds of the grange co-operative store, of which they were directors.

Found His Body in Lake.

New York, Jan. 3.—The body of Robert Dunlop, a noted Scotch professional golfer, was found in the lake in Van Cortland park Wednesday. Dunlop had been miseeing for several weeks and his body had been in the water for at least a week. He was about 37 years old, and came to this country from Scotland last July. It is believed that he fell into the lake while walking across the park at night.

Strike Detained the Princesses.

Rome, Jan. 3.—The strike of seamen at Genoa and Naples continues, and as a result Princess Helena of Servia and Princess Yera of Montenegro, who have been in Rome as guests of the queen, were unable to return home for the Christmas celebration of the orthodox church by way of the Adriatic, but had to travel overland.

Sister Leddy Is Dead.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 3.—Sister Mary Ann, superior of the sisters of charity in charge of St. Vincent's Orphan asylum, Boston, Mass., for 20 years, died Monday night. She was Miss Mary Leddy, of Detroit, before she entered the order, and was born here in 1840, entering the sisterhood when 26 years of age.

Origin of Words.

To Milan is owed the word "millinery," a milliner having been originally a Milaner, an importer of feminine finery from Milan, just as a "cordwainer," shoemaker, was a worker in "cordouan," leather from Cordova. It is curious to note how many words have come from the geographical names of northern Italy. There is, for instance, "florin," the coin of Florence, and "pistol," from Pistoja.

Dr. Johnson said that the word "job" was "a low word now much in use, of which I cannot tell the etymology." It is supposed to be really identical with "gob," a mouthful or morsel. Pepys records how "my lord" said to him, "I will do you all the good jobs I can," and Pepys himself speaks of Tangier as "hitherto used as a jobb to do a kindness to some lord." But the simple monosyllable ugliness of the word was too much for Johnson.

Many words of most august sound prove to be of quite commonplace ancestry when traced to their origins. "Finance" is really only "settling up." Literally it is just "ending" and was formerly used in that very simple sense in the English language. Then it came to signify settling up with a creditor and acquired the special sense of ransom.

Hot Pipe Bites the Tongue.

"You see smoking tobacco advertised every now and again guaranteed not to bite the tongue. Dealers sell it, of course, but inwardly they smile at the idea." So spoke a tobacconist. "You see, it's this way. The fire in the pipe will bite the tongue if the tobacco burns too fast—namely, if it is a very loose long cut tobacco or a very short dry cut and not packed closely enough in the bowl. There is a point where tobacco may be too closely packed to draw and a point where it may be so loosely packed that it burns fast, and minute sparks pass through the stem and reach the smoker's mouth. These are the causes of burnt tongues."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Titles in Germany.

The question of title is one of the most delicate in Germany, a fact of which the stranger is constantly reminded in intercourse with the people, particularly with the women. Frau Professor, Frau Director, Frau Doctor, are most particular about their husband's titles being attached to their own names, but when it comes to military circles it is different, and both men and women protest vigorously against this sharing of titles. Lieutenant von B. objects to having his wife addressed as Frau Lieutenant, which title belongs as well to the wife of Lieutenant Schmidt or Haff of a less aristocratic regiment.

George Saxton.

At the age of 54 years, George Saxton passed away at his home on south McEwan street on Monday evening at 9 o'clock. On Tuesday, Dec. 4, Mr. Saxton had an apoplectic stroke, which deprived him of movement of the left side and also of speech. He remained in this condition until death came. The funeral occurred at the M. E church on Wednesday afternoon, and was conducted by the Odd Fellows. Interment was made in Cherry Grove.

Deceased was born in Tecumseh, Nov. 20, 1852. Sixteen years ago he came to Clare, where he remained until last April, when, with his wife he moved to Lakeland. They moved back to Clare only a few days before his illness.

Besides a wife, Mr. Saxton is survived by four children, Bessie of Tecumseh, Mrs. Delia Smith and Frank of Grand Rapids, and Milton of Lansing, three sisters, Mrs. Eliza Bangs of Tecumseh, Mrs. Phoebe Mabie of Detroit and Mrs. Laura Mable of Gladwin, and one brother, John, of Farwell, all of whom were present at the funeral.—Clare Courier.

David Fenton.

The remains of David Fenton, who died at his home in Monessen, Pa., Monday, Dec. 30, of acute pneumonia, arrived here Wednesday night. The remains were accompanied by L. J. Goodwin and S. S. Kelley, a brother Odd Fellow of Donna, Pa. Mr. Fenton was 43 years of age at the time of his death and is survived by a wife and four children, who were too ill to make the journey here.

The funeral was held at the Presbyterian church yesterday under the direction of the Odd Fellow lodge, Rev. Ward, officiating. Interment at Brookside.

Stanbury-Dibble.

On New Years at noon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. Stanbury, occurred the marriage of their daughnter, Gertrude W., to Clarence Zibble of Tecumseh, a traveling salesman for a wholesale barber supply house of Toledo, Rev. Rice performing the ceremony in the presence of the immediate relatives and a few intimate friends of the bride. Promptly at the appointed hour, to the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. Pulver, the bridal party took their places in the parlor and there exchanged the marriage vows. The bride was attended by Miss Lena Stanbury, a sister, and Miss Brown of Somerset. The bride wore a suit in which she afterward traveled, a light gray voile over silk.

Following congratulations a two course dinner was served. Amid showers of rice, Mr. and Mrs. Zibble left on the afternoon train for Detroit. The out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Asa Stanbury of Cement City; Miss Lena Stanbury and Miss Brown of Somerset.—Deerfield Cor. in Adrian Telegram.

Mr. and Mrs. Zibble are visiting friends in town.

Family Reunion.

The Ferguson family held their annual reunion New Years day at the home of Willard Ferguson in Brownville. At noon a sumptous dinner was enjoyed followed by a short business meeting at which time it was decided to hold their next meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hoxsie at Wamplers lake.

Among those who were in attendance were Messrs. and Meedames Edward Hoxsie and Mrs. Anna Swift of Wamplers lake, Burt Ferguson and Murray Richardson and families of Onsted, Geo. Richardson, Judd Richardson and Edward Ferguson of Tipton, and Mrs. Chas. Clough and son of Detroit.

CHRISTMAS

In California Described by

W. P. STOCKING

Of Long Beach, for the benefit of Herald Readers.

Long Beach, Cal., Dec. 25, '06.

EDITOR HERALD:—I have another reminiscence letter under way but some how my thoughts have been side-tracked from the main line of thought to the Christmas time riding which we reach but once a year in life's journey. If the HERALD readers could be blindfolded, taken up in a balloon and landed here and asked what time of the year it was, they would be very apt to say, "It looks and feels like the month of June."

Then if they went down to the beach and saw men, women and children sporting in the surf lying on the sand taking a sun bath and lunching, with a bright warm sun overhead and the broad placid Pacific stretched out before them with pleasure launches gliding gracefully over its surface, they might be inclined to say "Why, this looks as though it was July."

Then if they passed up and down our business streets looking into the display windows and noted all the beautiful things for men, women and children, fine wearing apparel, autos, express wagons, roller skates, fishing tackle, books, pictures, toys and candies, they would probably say, "Why, all this reminds me of Santa and Christmas." Then if they visited the churches and saw the beautiful decorations and other preparations with which they are familiar and which are being made they would be likely to exclaim "Why, this must be Christmas."

Then if they visited the different churches Monday evening and listened to the exercises they would no doubt be thoroughly convinced that it was Christmas eve for they hear much about good old Santa and perhaps see him. Then I fancy I would hear some such remarks as these, "Of course, this is Christmas eve, but what a strange one, no snow, no ice, no frost pictures on the window panes, no merry jingling of sleighbells to be heard, far or near, women and girls going to and fro on the streets without warm wraps and bareheaded." It is like having Christmas in May or June back home, as another might remark, "or a Fourth of July celebration in mid winter."

Well, that's about the way it seems to me even after living here 13 years. I do not know what the weather is back in the old home today, but I remember what it used to be at Christmas time there in my boyhood days. Snow on the ground, ice on the ponds and creeks, sleighs and cutters gliding hither and thither over the glistening, sparkling snow accompanied by music of the many tuned sleigh bells, from the large half strong deep toned ones to the sharp metalic jingle of the full strings of small ones. To me, even as a boy, there was more genuine music in the former than in the latter. My father had a string of the former, which I'd prize highly if in my possession now.

How we skated on the ponds and creeks and coasted down the hills and spent a portion of our Christmas vacation with uncles, aunts and cousins in the country I well remember, and the memory of these events makes me almost wish I was a boy again and back in the old home of the "Sweet Long Ago" and amid the scenes I am attempting to describe and which I so much enjoyed then, and continue to enjoy in memory to this very day. Charlotte M. Griffith has protrayed our memory of the "Sweet Long Ago" in the following beautiful sentiment in verse:

So though all its beauty
May long since be past,
It will bloom for us still
While the sweet memories last.

And as warm suns in winter
May lure forth the flowers,
Some sweet sight or sound
May recall by gone hours.

And their songs and fair visions
We thought fled for aye,
Awake from the past
And make music today.

And now, dear reader, I will let you off for this time with a real genuine mid winter merry Christmas and happy New Year from the "land of the setting sun,"

Where snowy peaks their crowns are showing
Radiant in the sunlight glowing,
Warm and soft the zephers blowing
At their feet.

All the hills and vales are beaming
Robed in living green and dreaming
Of the yellow harvest teaming
With the ripened wheat.

Orange trees with branches pending,
Neath their golden burdens bending
Fruit and blossoms perfume blending,
Greet the sight.

Roses to the house tops creeping,
Vines in doors and windows peeping,
Sacred lillies vigils keeping,
Day and night

From the frozen regions hailing,
Come the languid, weak and ailing,
Seeking balm of life exhaling,
Round their way.

With no germ of ill molesting,
In the sun cured air they're resting,
And in health and strength investing
Day by day.

Cured of lung trouble.

"It is now 11 years since I had a narrow escape from consumption," writes C. O. Floyd, a leading business man of Kershaw, S. C. "I had run down in weight to 137 pounds and coughing was constant, both by day and by night. Finally I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery and continued this for about six months, when my cough and lung trouble were entirely gone and I was restored to my normal weight, 170 pounds." Thousands of persons are healed every year. Guaranteed at C. A. Wright's drug store. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

Frank W. Gregg.

Died, at his home in Ouray, Colo., Dec 28th, Frank W. Gregg, aged 55 years. Deceased was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Gregg of this place. He leaves a wife and three small boys, besides two brothers and four sisters to mourn his loss.

The average woman would rather marry a man to reform him than not be able to pose as a reformer of some kind.

Beauty more than skin deep.

Every one who wants a good healthy color and a clear skin free from biliousness, sluggish liver and chronic constipation should get a package of Dainty Laxakola tonic tablets, nature's sweet restorer. JOHN J. ORR.

Next to dodging the custom house a woman seems to like best not having the street-car conductor collect her fare.

Charming Women.

Nothing lends more to personal charm than a clear rosy skin and nothing is so sure to free the skin from moth specks, sallowness and the effects of chronic constipation as the dainty Laxakola tonic tablets, 25c. JOHN J. ORR.

CURES SICK-HEADACHE

Tablets and powders advertised as cures for sick-headache are generally harmful and they do not cure but only deaden the pain by putting the nerves to sleep for a short time through the use of morphine or cocaine.

Lane's Family Medicine

the tonic-laxative, cures sick-headache, not merely stops it for an hour or two. It removes the cause of headache and keeps it away.

Sold by all dealers at 25c. and 50c.

Marriage would be a great success if a man's wife would let him wear his old clothes and not make him put on rubbers.

STRAIN TOO GREAT.

Hundreds of Tecumseh readers find daily toil a burden.

The hustle and worry of business men
The hard work and stooping of workmen.
The woman's household cares,
Backache, headache, sideache,
Kidney and urinary troubles follow.

J. H. Welch, living on Union street, says: "I can cheerfully recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as they have been of great benefit to me. A great number of years ago I was working on a barn and in helping to lift one of the large timbers I strained myself and tore one of my kidneys loose. I began treatment immediately for my kidneys but the remedies did not take effect. At night my rest was greatly disturbed on account of the frequent action of the kidneys and in the morning I would feel tired and unrefreshed. Finally Doan's Kidney Pills came to my notice and I began taking them until I was cured. I can honestly say that I now feel better than I have for a number of years. I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to a number of my friends who have used them with the same satisfactory results."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's, and take no other.

Accidents will happen, but the best regulated families keep Dr. Thomas Eclectric Oil for such emergencies. It subdues the pain and heals the hurts.

The easiest way to flatter a girl is to talk about the hearts she has broken.

Harsh physics react, weaken the bowels, cause chronic constipation. Doan's Regulets operate easily, tone the stomach, cure constipation. 25c. Ask your druggists for them.

A man may be able to acquire riches by marrying, but he has to rent or buy a full dress suit.

Many modern men meet the same fate as that meted out to Abel. They are killed by a club.

GUARANTEED REMEDY FOR INDIGESTION.

Interesting statement by John J. Orr.

When a man comes into this store and calls for any particularly indigestion remedy, we always give him what he asks for, but in case he leaves it to us, we usually recommend Pepsikola tablets.

Here is a preparation we have been selling right over the counter for years, and from actual observation we know it must do good, and really does relieve and cure indigestion and dyspepsia or there would be a steady stream of people coming back for their money, as every 25c box is sold with the understanding that you must be decidedly benefited or there is nothing to pay.

You simply try Pepsikola tablets with the understanding that they will steady your nerves, improve your appetite, relieve wind belching, coated tongue, sour stomach, fullness after eating, weakened energy and other symptoms of indigestion or John J. Orr is ready at any time to pay back your money without the least argument.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect it.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

Fall Saves His Life.

Port Huron, Mich., Jan. 3.—It was his fall to the floor that saved the life of William Whitford, who is afflicted with heart trouble. His heart stopped beating, and he dropped apparently lifeless. Dr. A. J. McKenzie, his physician, gives it as his opinion that the shock when Whitford struck the floor was what stimulated his heart to renew its action.

MICHIGAN HAPPENINGS.

The military board at Lansing has decided to increase the maximum strength of companies of the Michigan National Guard from 65 to 80 men.

George Gesell, a furnace maker, of Monroe, has disappeared, since last Thursday, when he sold his home to the D., M. & T. Short line for $2,600.

Fred. Rabler, a bartender, of Mt. Clemens, has been arrested on a charge of stabbing Wm. Ferguson in the neck and head with a jackknife, as the result of a quarrel over a pail.

Albino Zorzi, a Hungarian, confined in the Kalamazoo asylum, will be deported by the Detroit emigration officials. He has been in jail and the asylum most of the time since he came to America three years ago.

County Treasurer Zagelmeyer, of Bay City refuses to give up possession of his office until he has reached a settlement with the board of supervisors. Omar J. Morton, who expected to take hold of the office yesterday, says that he will institute quo warranto proceedings to oust him.

Circuit Court Commissioner Walsh has sold for plaintiff in the case of Mrs. Mary Frances Orth, of Owosso, executrix of the estate of William Wallace Orth, deceased, vs. the Hathaway Graphite Manufacturing Co., a twenty year lease of a large tract of graphite lands in Baraga county. The amount of the indebtedness was $3,165.

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential. Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the Local.

Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional.

The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucous membrane suppository remedy, while Dr. Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, seeking the repair of all nerve, all tissue, and all blood ailments.

The "Night Cure", as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, heals local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, eases nervous excitement, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—as a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well

Immigration Commissioner Sargent Issues Annual Report.

OVER 1,000,000 ALIENS LAST YEAR

Extensive Scheme for Bringing in Jap Laborers Disclosed — Ellis Island Needs Improvements—Chinese Get In Over Mexican Borders.

Washington, Jan. 7.—The fiscal year ended June 30, 1906, produced a record eclipsing all former figures on the subject of immigration, according to the annual report of Frank P. Sargent, the commissioner-general of immigration.

"During that period," the report says, "the population of the United States was increased by the admission of 1,100,735 immigrant aliens, and 65,618 non-immigrant. That the standard of the aliens we are now receiving is much below that of those who have come in former years," he says, "is evident."

The report refers to what the commissioner believes to have been extensive schemes to secure foreign labor brought to light in the past year, and now being investigated. The evidence is already at hand, the report says, to show that some individual or corporation is engaged in importing numbers of Japanese laborers to work on the railroads of the northwest. These Japanese come to Hawaii destined to "hotels" kept by labor agents, and claim that they are merely seeking labor that may be secured in the islands. They are admitted to the islands, and after remaining a few days or weeks there, they ship for northwestern mainland ports. Having been admitted at the Hawaiian ports, their voyage thence is "coastwise," and they cannot be examined on arrival at the mainland port under the alien labor contract or any other provision of the immigration laws.

Many Japs Arrive.

Japanese immigration direct to San Francisco from Japan dropped during the year to a very small figure, doubtless, the report says, from causes similar to those just referred to. The immigration commissioner at San Francisco reports that Japanese have been arriving there "coastwise" from Honolulu and from Canadian ports at the rate of 1,000 or 3,000 a month. The report says "that several thousand laborers have been imported under this evasion of the law is not doubted."

Accommodations at Ellis Island, according to the report, are entirely inadequate for the inspection work. Various improvements are needed in the rooms provided for the feeding of the detained aliens, and also in the sleeping quarters, dormitories, etc., and a total appropriation of $680,000 therefor is urged.

The Chinese exclusion law and the many difficulties attending its enforcement are discussed. The commissioner recommends stationing officers in China to investigate and approve certificates issued by the Chinese government to members of the exempt classes, such plan to supersede that of having the investigation made by United States consular officers.

Complete and detailed registration of all Chinese in the United States is again recommended. The commissioner reports that on the Mexican border Chinese coolies are constantly being smuggled into this country from Mexico.

The commissioner again recommends increasing the penalties on steamship companies for bringing aliens afflicted with dangerous or loathsome diseases.

During the early part of the year, the report says, the "white slave" traffic was extensively revived.

Six Suffocated by Gas.

Burlington, Vt., Jan. 7.—Through some unknown manner, but probably by way of a sewer pipe, illuminating gas entered the house of George H. Devine, a grocery clerk, at Winooski, some time during Saturday night, and asphyxiated the entire family of six persons, consisting of father, mother and four children. All were dead when Devine's brother broke into the house Sunday, but it was thought that the father had been aroused and was attempting to make is escape when he was overcome, his body being found on the floor beside the bed with the mouth stuffed with cotton batting. The children were: Isabell, five years; Madeline, three years; Vonne J., two years, and Cecilia, five months.

Ship Wrecked; Thirteen Drown.

Ancona, Italy, Jan. 7.—During a storm Sunday, the Greek sailing boat Urania, went on the rocks near here and was wrecked. Thirteen of the sailors of the crew were drowned.

RAISULI PUT TO ROUT

Moroccan Bandit and Followers Driven Into Mountains.

SULTAN'S TROOPS VICTORIOUS

Fight Was Bloodless One—Raisuli's Stronghold Virtually Destroyed by Fire—Pretender to Throne Will Next Be Attacked.

Tangier, Jan. 7.—Zinat, Raisuli's stronghold, was virtually destroyed by fire, and fell into the hands of the troops of the sultan at noon Sunday, after a short and almost bloodless fight.

Raisuli and his 700 followers succeeded in eluding capture and reaching the mountains despite the elaborate plans of War Minister Gabbas to prevent their escape.

No firing took place Saturday night, but at 10 o'clock Sunday morning, the artillery, under command of an Algerian native lieutenant, whom the French authorities permitted to participate in the battle on request of War Minister Gabbas, opened on the town. The Moorish gunners showed utter incapacity in handling their guns, and the infantry fired haphazard. Shells dropped inside the fastness without reply, and thereupon a body of the sultan's troops charged, shouting, and reached the walls amid desultory shots from the surrounding brush.

Prisoners Left Behind.

The gates to the town were found to be open, but there were no occupants of the place, except fifteen prisoners, including among them were four Portuguese.

A detachment of the government troops continued firing in the direction of the mountains where Raisuli and his followers were observed fleeing. Meanwhile the other government troops pillaged the stronghold, securing considerable booty in the shape of costly carpets, arms, cattle and sheep.

No fatalities in the fighting are reported, though a few persons on both sides were wounded. It is thought probable that the Raisulites carried off their dead.

Minister of War Gabbas, who has not left Tangier during the operations, it is expected, will move against the pretender to the throne, Mulai Mohammed, a brother of the sultan, from whose followers there have been many defections recently.

The Spanish officers of the international police, created by the Algeciras convention, have arrived here and will take up their duties at the end of the month.

Sleeping Car Afire; One Dead.

Council Bluffs, Ia., Jan. 7.—Louise de Lario, a clerk of the house committee on irrigation, was killed and three persons were injured early Sunday, by a fire in a sleeping car attached to the eastbound Los Angeles limited train on the Chicago & Northwestern railroad. The Northwestern train had got within a mile of Loveland, Ia., when passengers in the Pullman car, Redfield, were aroused by smoke. The origin of the fire could not be determined, but it was undoubtedly smoking for some time, as the car was filled with dense smoke which suffocated the passengers. Louis de Lario, aged 22 years, who was bound from his home in Laramie, Wyo., to Washington, was dead when found. The fire had started in or near his berth, and the flames had reached his body, almost denuding it, and causing some disfiguration.

Thaw May Be Declared Insane.

New York, Jan. 7.—It will not be surprising if Harry Kendall Thaw is never called to face a jury for the murder of Stanford White. Based on the belief that the only defense that will be urged in Thaw's behalf is insanity, the district attorney's office has been and is now making preparations to meet this issue squarely. If the plan of the attorney does not miscarry, Thaw's trial will be halted before any evidence of the actual killing of White is given. Drs. Allen McLane Hamilton and Charles L. Dana, the alienists who examined Thaw shortly after the shooting, have publicly declared the prisoner insane before, at the time of and since the shooting. Based on these and special reports, District Attorney Jerome, who is to appear in person at the trial, will raise the question as to Thaw's sanity.

The Right Name.

A SCORE NEW BANKS

COMMISSIONER MOORE REPORTS

Deposits in Banks of State Reach a Total of $286,300,111.06—Two Yearly Examinations Has Proven Good Thing—Banking Law Is Good One.

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 7.—Since the organization of the state banking department in 1889, the loans of banks in Michigan have increased $159,513,584.12, and the deposits $172,844,539.30. There are at present 784,189 persons having deposits in the 301 state and 88 national banks in the state, their total deposits being $286,300,111.06, or an average of $382 to each depositor, according to the annual report of Geo. W. Moore, state banking commissioner.

During the year 23 state banks and one trust company were organized. Commissioner Moore states that there have been no failures during that period and all banks show a large increase in business.

In closing his report the commissioner states that by making two examinations the department has been enabled to keep in closer touch with the banks and as a result the directors have shown greater activity in looking after the affairs. Continuing, he says:

"This is and should be the chief aim of the department, as only by the earnest co-operation of a careful, painstaking board can the best interests of the depositor and the stockholder be subserved.

"I have no amendments to offer to our general banking act; it is sufficiently broad to permit a supervision the thoroughness of which is limited only by the ability of the examiner and the time allowed him for his work."

The expense of the department during the year were $28,530.87, which includes the salaries of the members of the department and expenses incurred in examining banks. The fees collected by the department for examining banks amounted to $24,252.12.

ESCAPE FROM JAIL.

Italians Break Lock and Walk Out of Marshall Lock-Up.

Marshall, Mich., Jan. 7.—Guiseppi Leone and Beneditte Richizee, who were arrested for stealing $107.14 and numerous articles of jewelry, besides three revolvers and a dark lantern fom Albion Italians, and who were being confined here in a jail awaiting their trial, broke from jail last night and made good their escape.

The men had been quiet and seemed peaceable, but last night about 7 o'clock, they evidently tired of the cell in which they were confined, and with some short iron instrument, which they had secured in an unknown way, pried the lock off of their cell door and walked down the stairs and out a side door.

Their absence was not discovered until about 10 minutes later, and when the officers looked for the men they had disappeared as completely as if the earth had swallowed them up.

The cell from which they escaped is located directly over the turnkey's office, and how the men pried the lock, walked down the stairs, opened the door and escaped without being heard is a mystery to the officials.

Purchase Big Tract of Timber.

Bay City, Mich., Jan. 7.—W. D. Young & Co., hardwood manufacturers, have closed one of the largest hardwood timber deals made in Michigan for some time, purchasing 175,000,000 feet of standing hardwood timber, located largely in Otsego county. The purchase includes a logging railroad with Michigan Central connection, and is understood to involve about $250,000. W. D. Young & Co. will cut the lumber themselves and rail it to this city. The stock will keep their mill, which is one of the largest in the state, running for from fifteen to twenty years.

Large Production of Coal Expected.

Bay City, Mich., Jan. 7.—Unless all signs fail, 1907 will see a large increase in the coal production of Michigan; not so much in that new shafts will be sunk, as only two have so far been projected for this year, but because a number of new mines, particularly in Bay county, will be brought up to their total capacity. Another encouraging feature is the fact that this year there is no fear of a strike or shutdown over the wage scale, that having been fixed last spring for two years.

CONSPIRACY RUMORS RIFE.

'Tis Said Men Who Served Under Palma Plan to Make Trouble in Cuba.

New York, Jan. 7.—The Tribune, today says:

"Rumors of conspiracy against the peace of Cuba are again rife in this city. Three persons mentioned in connection with the plan again to foment trouble in the island were officeholders of the Palma administration, two of whom are now in New York, and the other in Europe.

"According to these reports arms and ammunition have been shipped clandestinely from this port to Cuba for possible future use. Some of the contraband articles, it is said, are buried near Mariel, not far from Havana. This fact became known to the American authorities, and a company of soldiers was sent to search for the rifles and cartridges, which, however, had been removed to another hiding place.

"It is recalled by these reported shipments of war supplies that there were several such, at different times, from this city to Cuba several months before the outbreak of the recent revolution."

Three Suffocated in Hotel Fire.

Delhi, N. Y., Jan. 7.—Three lives were lost in a fire that destroyed the American hotel here early Sunday. The dead are: William Winter, 50 years old, druggist; Mrs. Anna Winter, his wife; John O'Connor, tailor. All were suffocated. The other guests escaped by leaping from the windows in their night clothing.

A Train Is Derailed.

Marshall, Mich., Jan. 7.—A freight train on the Michigan Central road was wrecked two and one-half miles from this city about 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, and five cars were completely demolished. An axle on one of the cars, which was heavily loaded, broke, ditching the five cars. The remainder of the train was derailed. The cars were loaded with merchandise and coal and the loss is estimated at $1,500.

Jewel Robber Confesses.

Muskegon, Mich., Jan. 7.—J. F. Wilson, the man who was arrested for the jewelry robbery from J. H. Wallace here last Friday night, while being brought here on the train by Detective Peterson, is said to have confessed to the detective and given the officer the name of Wilson as his own. He gave the name of John Johnson when arrested. The jewels were recovered.

MICHIGAN HAPPENINGS.

Collapsing from exhaustion, caused by ceaseless care of a daughter who is ill, Mrs. Albert Kneeshaw, aged 44, of Alpena, died suddenly from heart disease. Her husband and four children survive.

State Salt Inspector Wildey has compiled his annual report upon the salt inspection throughout the state. The report shows a total of 5,635,461 barrels of salt inspected, about 40,000 barrels less than last year. Manistee still leads in production.

The Spanish war veterans of Monroe will give a muskrat banquet January 17 in the drill room of the Armory opera house. Duffield and Pingree commands, of Detroit, will be represented in large numbers, as well as veterans from other places in the state.

Detroit's stork gained on the reaper last week, 165 children being born, while 117 persons died. Thirty-one were under five years. Scarlet fever is leading in communicable diseases, 26 cases being reported. There are seven cases of diptheria and nine of smallpox in the city at present.

If the plans of the board of public works of Grand Rapids go through, as expected, the city physician will treat, free of cost, all employes of the city who are injured in the performance of their duty. Member Kievorn has introduced a resolution into the council to this effect.

Lyman Yax, giving his age as 29 years, and his residence as Marine City, has been committed to jail by Sheriff Matthews, at Mt. Clemens. Yax, in a fit of despondency, had attempted suicide several times in the vicinity of the sugar factory by plunging into the Clinton river. His efforts were frustrated by employes of the factory.

Dr. H. F. Thomas, former congressman from the Fourth district, will succeed Dr. H. W. Mills, who died suddenly on Christmas day, as surgeon of the Michigan Soldiers' home.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's catarrh cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's catarrh cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Weddings in Wales.

Many and curious were the old customs in Wales relating to marriage. The following is an account of the bidding ceremony, an old custom which is said to be celebrated even to this day in rural parts of Wales: The bidder goes from house to house with a long pole and ribbons flying at the end of it, and standing in the middle floor in each house he repeats a long lesson with great formality. He mentions the day of the wedding, the place, the preparations made, etc. The following is a specimen: "The intention of the bidder is this. With kindness and amity, with decency and liberality for —— and ——, he invites you to come with your good will on the plate. Bring current money—a shilling or two or three or four or five—with cheese and butter. We invite the husband and wife, children and menservants, from the greatest to the least. Come there early. You shall have victuals freely and drink cheap, stools to sit on and fish if we can catch them, but if not hold us excusable, and they will attend on you when you call upon them in return. They set out from such a place and such a place."

A Bride's Dilemma.

A successful schoolteacher married a wealthy widower. The man had lived alone with his servants since the death of his first wife. On the morning after the bride's arrival in her new home the cook appeared for orders. Now, the little woman was far more familiar with the classics than with roasts and stews, and she was not a little dismayed when Mary innocently put the question:

"An' how will ye have the beef cooked, mum?"

For the merest instant she hesitated. Not for a fortune would she have the old servant suspect her absolute ignorance of cookery. But her years in the schoolroom had not been in vain. Calmly and sweetly she answered:

"You may cook it your way today, Mary, and then another time you can try my way."

Superstitions of Farmers.

Farmers "stick to the moon" in regard to planting corn and other crops. Some of them will not under any circumstances plant corn on moonlight nights, claiming that corn planted then will produce a tall stalk with a short ear. Others just as successfully plant when they are ready, when nights are dark or moonlight, as the case may be. Other notions are indulged in, such as throwing the cobs in running water to keep corn from firing. Some farmers would under no consideration burn pinder hulls, the seed of which is to be used for planting. They must be scattered along a path or highway, to be trodden upon in order to secure a good crop. Green butter bean hulls must be thrown in a road after being shelled for table use from day to day to insure a good crop the following season.—Charleston News and Courier.

Any One Can Spell Shakespeare.

One is not in danger of misspelling the word Shakespeare. Some one has discovered 4,000 ways, of which the following, as they actually appear in old documents, are examples: Shakspere, Shaxpere, Shakspire, Schaxper, Shakespere, Shagpere, Schakspeyr, Shaxespere, Shaxpur, Shaxper, Shaksper, Schackspeare, Saxpere, Shackespire, Shakespire, Shakkespeare, Shakaspear, Shakspear, Shaxpeare, Shakspeere, Shaxpure, Shackspeyr, Shakspear, Schakesper, etc. If the chirography of Shakespeare himself is any authority twenty-two of these ways are correct.

A Nation of Sleepers.

"Rare slumberers are the Turks," declares a writer. "In the villages, at any rate, they will drop into the land of dreams on the slightest pretext and at the shortest notice. This habit has advantages, one being that the Turk does not at all mind being awakened in the dead of night, for the simple reason that he can go to sleep again the instant he wishes. When staying in very limited quarters I have often heard a member of the family get up and after searching about among his sleeping companions thoroughly rouse them all to ask where his tobacco was or upon some equally slight excuse."

Enough Money.

Half a dozen brokers were discussing Russell Sage and his peculiarities when one of them told this story: The financier was once asked, "When does a man get enough money, Mr. Sage?" "When he gets $10,000 more," said Uncle Russell as he stopped at an apple stand for a moment. Then he passed on without buying.

His Part.

"Look here," remarked the thrifty man to his extravagant wife, "you're carrying too much sail, my lady."

"I don't know why you should bother about that," she retorted.

"No?" said he. "I think I should, since I have to raise the wind."

Brought Down the House.

Critic—I hear that the new man's acting brought down the house. Manager—Yes, it did. In one week it brought down the house from 800 to 10 people and the attendants.

A Heavy Sample.

Sometimes the rigors of patent office procedure are not without their humorous side. A New York attorney filed an application for improvements in a centrifugal pump. The patent office declared the invention inoperative and demanded a working model. The patent office was requested to send an examiner to Trenton to inspect the machine in actual operation. This the patent office refused to do. The attorney, therefore, politely sent a seven ton pump to the patent office—sent it, moreover, from Trenton to satisfy a skeptical examiner. Twenty-one men were required to get it into the examiner's office.—Scientific American.

The Most Curious Known Animal.

The most peculiar and remarkable animal in the world is the Ornithorynchus paradoxus, the famed egg laying mammal of Australia. It is shaped like an otter, has fur like a beaver, is web footed like a swan, has a bill like a duck and a tail like that of a fox. It is the only known furred creature that lays eggs. A combination oddity among feathered bipeds would be a bird that brought forth its young alive.

Same Thing.

"Riner takes himself very seriously, doesn't he?"

"Yes, indeed."

"Most of his poetry is pathetic, isn't it?"

"That's what he calls it, but the editors say it's pitiful."—Boston Advertiser.

A Fire in Rome.

A lawyer who visited Rome tells how the fire department grappled with a blaze in the Eternal City. He says:

"The fire was in what we would call a grocery store. It seemed a long time before the fire department responded, but after awhile I saw a hose wagon dash around the corner, with a number of firemen standing on the running boards on each side. The wagon stopped at a hydrant, and each fireman jumped from the wagon with a little roll of hose. The first man coupled his to the hydrant, and then each man coupled his section to the preceding section. Finally they had water on the fire, and after another long period a man with a plumed hat drove up in a victoria. He was the chief. The captain of the company and the chief saluted with much ceremony, then shook hands and then held a long and dignified conversation. Finally, I suppose, the captain told the chief the grocery was on fire, and the chief acknowledged it was and complimented him on his perspicuity. Oh, yes, they finally put the fire out, and Rome still stands!"

Firemen's Strike Likely Over.

Houston, Tex., Jan. 7.—The strike of 350 firemen on the Southern Pacific railroad in Texas and Louisiana will probably end today. The basis of a tentative settlement was reached last night, it is said, during a conference between Vice-Grand Master Shea for the firemen and Vice-Grand Master Wills for the engineers.

Authoress Goes Insane.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 7.—As the result, it is alleged, of domestic troubles of many years ago, Mrs. Alice Cooper Kellogg, 161 Forest avenue east, has been removed to Red Cross hospital, incurably insane. Her writings were well known some years ago. Mrs. Kellogg and her husband, James A. Kellogg, once prosecuting attorney of Berrien county, were divorced in 1891. She suffered from melancholia for years, but had apparently recovered, until a few weeks ago.

Has His Boss Arrested.

Battle Creek, Mich., Jan. 7.—Samuel Rosenberg, one of Milwaukee's leading merchants, has been arrested on a civil warrant, charging malicious prosecution and false arrest. A. F. Heberlein, former manager of his Battle Creek branch store, is plaintiff. Heberlein, who was arrested some time ago and thrust into jail on a charge of embezzlement, was dismissed Saturday afternoon. He wants $10,000 damages.

BRIEF DISPATCHES.

The National Autobomile show will be opened at Madison Sq. garden, New York, on Saturday.

Unusually cold weather is prevailing over northern California, and for the first time since 1895, snow is visible on the hills surrounding San Francisco bay.

Six cars of Canadian Pacific transcontinental train that left Winnipeg, Man., Saturday afternoon, were derailed Sunday, 25 miles west of Fort William, by a broken rail. Hr. Smith and K. Campbell, waiters, both of Montreal, were killed.

The Salvadorean government officially declares that a group of armed revolutionists disguised as soldiers has appeared in Estanquelas. They fired upon the garrison and immediately disappeared. Later they continued their disorders. A number of persons connected with the rebellion have been imprisoned here and in Honduras.

Thousands of photographic negatives and other property to the value of $15,000, were destroyed in the Orr-Kiefer studio, in Columbus, O., last Saturday night. Muriatic acid was poured over the negatives. A lens valued at $2,000 was torn from a camera and broken with a hammer. The proprietors have suspicions as to identity of the vandals.

Zion City is to be thrown open to private business enterprises. This was officially announced by Overseer Voliva, Sunday. For years it has been one of the principles of John Alexander owie, the founder of Zion City, that all commercial enterprises in the city must be under the control of the Christian Catholic church in Zion.

Passenger train No. 8, eastbound, on the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, jumped the track on a curve at Blue Water, 107 miles west of Albuquerque, N. M., Saturday night. The engine and the entire eleven cars of the train one of the heaviest on the raid, plunged over a 20-foot embankment, and the cars were piled up in confusion. The only persons seriously injured were a mail clerk, baggageman and express messenger, who are not fatally hurt.

A statement just issued by the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor in Washington, announces that this country now ranks third in the value of manufactures, entering the world's international commerce, the amount of its exports for the past year having aggregated more than seven hundred million dollars. The exports have never even approximated those figures before.

Overturned Boats.

"When a small boat capsizes," said an old river man, "the occupants should not try to climb aboard, but should lightly cling to it until help comes. Even a light canoe will in all probability sustain their weight until assistance arrives if they will only cling as lightly to its overturned sides as possible, allowing the body to float in the water, which it will do, and not under any circumstances to attempt to bear down upon the canoe or to crawl upon the overturned bottom.

"This is where the fatal mistake occurs in nearly all boating drowning accidents. A single man with a good sized plank in the water can in his struggles and efforts to save himself push the plank beneath the surface of the water and drown then and there, whereas the same plank will support the weight of three men who are well posted and cool enough merely to grasp its edges with as little downward pressure as possible. A single oar has saved many a sailor's life in this manner, which a landsman would grasp, push it down in the water and go down.

Send Down Grace.

A little Portland miss, whose first name is Grace, had never attended church, being too little and too lively to be trusted there, according to the Kennebec Journal. But at last her mother permitted her to accompany an elder sister, giving her grave warnings beforehand. The rector of the church was a frequent caller at Grace's home, and her mother feared that on this account she might take liberties.

"You must sit still," she said, "and you must not say one word, but let Mr. Hammond do the talking. Now, remember."

Gracie behaved very well in meeting. As soon as she reached home she reported:

"Oh, mamma, I did keep still—real still, and when Mr. Hammond called me right out in meeting I never stirred to go to him."

"Called you? Why, child, he never called you in meeting."

"Yes, but he did, mamma. He said three or four times, 'Send down Grace,' but I sat as still as a mouse."

China Pays Indemnity.

Washington, Jan. 7.—Consul-General Berghols, at Canton, China, has advised the state department that the Lien Chow massacre indemnity has been paid in full by the Chinese government. Five American missionaries were killed at Lien Chow, October 28, 1906, and a hospital and other missionary property destroyed.

The Real Simon Pure.

"The real simon pure" is one of those phrases which every one understands and not one in a hundred could account for. Simon Pure was a Pennsylvania Quaker in Mrs. Centlivre's "A Bold Stroke For a Wife," produced at Drury Lane theater, London, in February, 1718. One Colonel Feignwell passes himself off as Simon and wins the heart of a Bristol heiress, Miss Lovely, after which the real Simon Pure turns up.

QUICKSTEP.

By HENRY ARDUE.

High Life Quickstep.—3.

Most people know that if they have been sick they need Scott's Emulsion to bring back health and strength.

But the strongest point about Scott's Emulsion is that you don't have to be sick to get results from it.

Food in concentrated form for sick and well, young and old, rich and poor.

2 timesa week, one year for
$3.00.

The Tecumseh Herald has never before advertised outside papers at any price, but we have so many Republican subscribers that we have taken up this offer of the BEST REPUBLICAN DAILY in this country for the net price of $2.00 a year.
If you desire it, take advantage of this offer at once.

Men have various ways of carrying money. Grocers, butchers and millers carry it in a wad. Bankers in clean bills laid full length in a pocket book. Brokers only fold the bills once, doubling the money as it were. The young business man carries it in his vest pocket, whether it is $15 or $.15. Printers usually carry their money in other people's pockets.—Ex.

Little 12 year old Gusta Eberly lived with her parents east of Bryan, Ohio. Last week she boarded a car at that town to return to her home, station No. 84, but took a limited car by mistake. The conductor states that he explained to her that she could not get off until she reached Stryker, when he would send her back on a local. He then went about his business collecting fares. When the car reached station 84 it was going at a high speed, but the little girl ran out on the platform and jumped. When found she was discovered to have a leg broken in two places and to have received internal injuries. She died a little later.—Hudson Post.

Frank Buck aged about 60 years and for several years engaged as the miller for the Michigan Milling Co. near Grape, was burned to death while asleep in his house last week Thursday night. The fire had gained such headway that it was impossible to rescue the old man. The charred remains were found Friday morning about 2 o'clock and were so badly burned as to be beyond recognition. The loss of the building will be $1200 with no insurance. Had it not been for helping hands and the falling snow on the roof of the mill that would also have been burned.—Milan Leader.

Chas. Koernig of Traverse City, while hunting shot a hawk four feet from tip to tip. He attempted to pick up the wounded bird, but it struck his left arm sinking his talons deeply into his muscles. Koernig managed to get his hand on the hawk's throat, while it beat him about the head with its wings and slowly choked it to death. He was forced to jerk its claws from his arm, terribly lacerating the flesh.—Mancelona Herald.

The January American Boy is, in the language of the boys, "a hummer." Its most conspicuous feature are its serials by Stratemeyer, Shute, Tomlinson, Alger and Sprague and its four new departments, namely, Chats with big Americans for Young Americans, How to become Strong, Practical Furniture making for Boys and Keeping Tab on the World for Wide-awake American Boys. Altogether it is one of the best numbers of the American Boy ever issued.

Ernest Blaske reports that while putting his crop of hay in the barn last June he accidently covered a hen, who loitering in the mow, with three loads. One day last week while removing the hay out flew the hen, where she had been securely held for six months without food or drink. She was considerably emaciated from her long enforced fast but had put in her time profitably by laying 18 eggs worth 2c each.—Onsted News.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

James Lowry begs to announce that his two sons, Albert R. and Edwin J. are now identified with his business as members of a new firm, to be known as JAMES LOWRY & SONS, and that from now on the business will be carried on under that title.

Increased business, with its consequent increased responsibilities, would seem to make this change a wise one.

The name in itself is a guarantee that the highest business standards will be lived up to. The business will be conducted in the same square-dealing manner that has characterized its 30 years of existence and according to the same methods that have built up its enviable reputation.

It will be our constant study to keep abreast of the times and to merit your trade—in a word, to make this the best place in town for you to buy your table supplies.

A six o'clock dinner was served, covers being laid for fifteen. The decorations in the dining room were carnations and smilax.—Adrian Telegram.

The following will be the time for the D. T. & I. trains in the future. North bound passenger passes Tecumseh at 7:41 a. m. and south bound passenger passes Tecumseh at 10:52 a. m. It would seem that as if the D. T. & I. had tried to make it inconvenient for Tecumseh, they could not have made it more so than this, in fact the road is now a nuisance to every body along the line, from the southern to the northern end. But then, it is their business and not ours.

Good New Years Start.

Jas. Lowry, who has kept for years and years one of the leading stores in Tecumseh, on the first day of this month took into partnership with him his two sons, Albert R. and Edwin J. Lowry, and the firm name will now be Jas. Lowry & Sons.

These two young men have been in the grocery store nearly all their lives and will make a strong addition to the firm, which lately has added the meat business to the grocery. May the new firm continue to do business in the same reliable way as Jas. Lowry has always conducted his business and success is assured.

Notice.

We hereby give notice that Messrs. Slayton & Son, implement dealers of Tecumseh, have secured the agency and exclusive sale of Anthony fence for the townships of Raisin, Adrian, Franklin, Tecumseh, Clinton, northwest corner of Ridgeway, and southwest corner of Macon, in Lenawee county. No orders from this territory will be filled or acceeted at factory and we refer all customers to Slayton & Son.

Will of Mrs. Alvira Cairns.

The will of the late Mrs Alvira Cairns was filed for probate in Adrian yesterday and the principle bequeaths are as follows:

By the terms of the will the real estate is given and devised to a nephew, Frank E. Bradley, of Tecumseh, absolutely, together with all the personal property on the farm consisting of wagons, vehicles, stock, etc. The residue of the personal estate is divided as follows:

To Frank E. Bradley of Tecumseh, seven fourteenths.

Francis Eaton of Ypsilanti, one fourteenth.

Dora Cairns—Sheppard of Kalamazoo, one fourteenth.

Wm. Jordan of Tecumseh, Ellsworth Cairns of Toledo, Adelbert Cairns of Tecumseh, Wesley and Leslie Seekel of Three Rivers, the remaining five fourteenths.

D. T. & I. Men all Gone.

The D. T. & I. road moved Saturday and Monday the men working on the division of the road with headquarters at Tecumseh, also the men working in the shops at this place from Tecumseh to Napoleon, O., so now very few D. T. & I. men are left here and to celebrate this event yesterday nearly all of the remaining men here, with their families got drunk and spent the night in jail. It would seem that we are not sorry that they are now all gone.

RECEPTION

Given by the Monday club yesterday at the home of MRS. B. J. GARLINGHOUSE.

The Tecumseh Monday club reception at the hospitable home of Mrs. B. J. Garlinghouse Monday Jan. 7th, was a very pleasant and profitable occasion. Master Burton Garlinghouse received the club members and their guests. He was dressed in a juvenile Scottish costume of plaid kilt and scarf and carried a bag pipe. Mrs. Tefft, the club president, presided over the meeting which was opened with a song, "Blue Bells of Scotland" by Master Burton Garlinghouse, who played his own accompaniment.

Mrs. T. C Harris responded to the paper, "Biography of Walter Scott." Mrs. Albert read of "The Homes of Walter Scott"; Mrs. C. A. Slayton told about "Scott's children" and Rev. Blanche Young gave a "Review of Scott's Novels." These papers told Scott's history in a very interesting way how Fortune favored him as a poet and novelist. He was created a baronet, made a large fortune and lost it all through the failure of a publishing firm. The author struggled nobly and bravely to pay his liabilities; and his creditors in 1830 presented him with his library, paintings and furniture in acknowledgement of his honorable conduct.

Interspersing the papers Mrs Hodges and Mrs. Mead delightfully entertained with some Scottish songs, "We'd Better Bide a Wee," "Shoogy S'oo" and "Annie Laurie." The club members responded to roll call with quotations from Scott which were written on souvenir cards decorated with holly designs and gold. After singing, "Auld Lang Syne" a dainty lunch was served by committee number number two, to the 50 ladies present.

Mrs. John Koebbe.

Death has again entered our midst and we are grieved to chronicle the loss of our most esteemed friend, Mrs. John Koebbe.

Mary Rothfuss was born in the township of Riga, Lenawee county, Mich., June 4, 1859 and passed peacefully away Dec. 30, 1906, aged 47 years, 6 months, 26 days. On the 26th day of February, 1880, she was united in marriage to John F. Koebbe at Blissfield and moved to Freedom township, Washtenaw county, where they resided ten years, then moved to Saline township, where they lived at the time of her death.

Mrs. Koebbe was converted at the age of fifteen years and joined the Evangelical Association. After moving to Saline township she, with her husband united with the Methodist Episcopal church at Macon and has been a valued member, ever ready to do her part of the Master's work. She had been in very poor health for a number of months, but in the last three months her friends could see plainly that she was rapidly approaching the Gates of Light and at last on Sunday morning the angel of death came and bore her immortal spirit through the Beautiful Gate into the Heavenly City, where sickness, pain, parting and death are unknown. There love has no farewells and no good byes are spoken.

Though she was a great sufferer not a murmur escaped her lips, for she had a constant, steadfast faith in God and perfect faith in His promises, knowing that whom the Lord loveth He chasteneth. She only prayed that life might be spared till after Christmas because it would be such a sad day for her husband and little son. Her faithful husband was untiring in his efforts to minister to her wants and all was done that could be done for her comfort.

Her mother preceeded her to the better land eight years ago and her father two years ago and she leaves to mourn her death, a loving husband, an adopted son, five brothers, four sisters, namely, John, William and Geo. Rothfuss and Mrs Lena Miller of Blissfield, Charles Rothfuss of Wamplers lake, Mrs. Sophia Rehklaw of Toledo, Mrs. Rosa Knapp and Mrs. Clara Hagerman of Ogden township and Frank Rothfuss of Riga, beside a large circle of relatives and friends. The funeral services were held from the residence Wednesday at 10 o'clock. Rev. J. D. Halladay officiated. The remains were taken to Blissfield and laid to rest in the family lot to await the Resurrection morning.

"Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord." S. E. B.

CARD OF THANKS.

Through these columns I wish to express my sincere thanks to the friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted during the sickness and burial of my beloved wife, also to the choir for music and for the floral offerings.

JOHN F. KOEBBE.

Donald Lee.

Donald Lee, an uncle of Mrs. Ira Rogers, with whom he made his home, died very suddenly Saturday morning, aged 71 years and 5 days. The funeral was held from the house at 10:30 Monday morning, Rev. Wollam officiating. The burial took place at Springville.

CARD OF THANKS.

We sincerely thank the neighbors and friends for their presence and help in the death and burial of our brother and uncle.

Cured of lung trouble.

"It is now 11 years since I had a narrow escape from consumption," writes C. O. Floyd, a leading business man of Kershaw, S. C. "I had run down in weight to 138 pounds and coughing was constant, both by day and by night. Finally I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery and continued this for about six months, when my cough and lung trouble were entirely gone and I was restored to my normal weight, 170 pounds." Thousands of persons are healed every year. Guaranteed at C. A. Wright's drug store. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

Miss Cynthia Wood.

Miss Cynthia Wood died at 9:15 this morning at the home of her sister, Mrs. Fred Ferguson, at the advanced age of 88 years. Miss Wood had been ill only about a week, her death being due to a general breaking down and old age. No arrangements for the funeral have yet been made.

ROUND ABOUT US.

After eighteen years of separation, Will Hubbard of Fargo, S. D., and his brother, John Hubbard of Ithica, Mich. met this afternoon at the home of Will Hubbard's daughter, Mrs. John McAlister of this city. These brothers could hardly realize that almost twenty years had passed since they spent a Christmas together.—Albion Recorder.

In the death of "Auntie" Davis, Manchester undoubtedly loses its oldest inhabitant. Her exact age was not known but she was sure that she was over 100 years of age. She remembered distintly the battle of New Orleans which was fought when she was a young woman. She was born in slavery and was sold once or twice, the last time separating her from her husband. She came from Clinton here over 30 years ago and as long as she was able to work supported herself. She was a zealous member of the Methodist church.—Manchester Enterprise.

Milan was visited by a most disastrous fire last Saturday morning, in the burning of the Detroit Register Co'a. factory. The plant had a floor space of 55,752 ft. and employed at present 113 men, which meant to them and the town, a weekly pay roll of about $1200. The factory was established in Milan in '02 and its business was the manufacture of flat irons, registers and some 12 sizes and varieties of furnaces. The loss is thought to be about $50,000 with an insurance of about $26,000. The fire originated in the engine room but the how is yet a mystery. We understand the company has offered to rebuild if a bonus of $8,000 can be secured from the citizens. 'Tis a sorry affair at best and not a very joyful New Year outlook for any concerned.—Dundee Reporter.

NOVEL CURE FOR COLDS.

Healing medication that is breathed giving quick relief.

It seems just as ridiculous to put medicine into the stomach to cure a cold in the head or lungs as it does to go out in the rain if we want to keep dry.

The fact that many people right in Tecumseh cough and hawk and snuffle for days and weeks after they treat a cold with the usual stomach dosing, shows how valueless are the ordinary cough and cold cures.

The right way to cure a cold in the head or a cough and irritation in the throat and lungs, is by breathing Hyomei's medicated air. Put a few drops of Hyomei in the neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit and breathe this healing air for a few times and immediate relief will be noted. The medication goes right to the spot where the disease germs are located and renders them harmless in the future.

At the same time the soothing and healing effects of Hyomei on the irritated mucous membrane give quick relief and the cough or cold is broken up.

The best evidence of the great value of Hyomei in curing coughs, colds and all bronchial troubles is the fact that C. A. Wright gives an absolute guarantee with every outfit he sells, that if it does not give satisfaction, the money will be refunded.

A complete Hyomei outfit, consisting of a bottle of Hyomei, the inhaler and a medicine dropper, costs but $1, while extra bottles of Hyomei, if needed, can be obtained for only 50c.

CONFIRMED PROOF.

Residents of Tecumseh cannot doubt what has been twice proven.

In gratitude for complete relief from aches and pains of bad backs—from distressing kidney ills—thousands have publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills. Residents of Tecumseh, who so testified years ago, now say their cures were permanent. This testimony doubly proves the worth of Doan's Kidney Pills to Tecumseh kidney sufferers.

S. Erskine, barber, living on Evans street, Tecumseh, says: "For ten years I was troubled with kidney complaint and heavy, dull, dragging pain in my back. It was always more severe after hard work if I lifted anything. I was greatly annoyed at night by the too frequent action of the kidneys which caused me to get up a great number of times which greatly disturbed my rest. The secretions were highly colored and showed a great deal of sediment. Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention and I began taking them. They did me a world of good and I felt better and stronger than I had for a long time. This was five years ago and I was so grateful that I gave statement for publication. I think just as highly of Doan's Kidney Pills today as I did then, and am glad of the opportunity to re-endorse them so that others may be led to try this remedy and receive the same results as I did."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's, and take no other.

Be good if you can; but if you can't be good, be careful.

GUARANTEED REMEDY FOR INDIGESTION.

Interesting statement by John J. Orr.

When a man comes into this store and calls for any particularly indigestion remedy, we always give him what he asks for, but in case he leaves it to us, we usually recommend Pepsikola tablets.

Here is a preparation we have been selling right over the counter for years, and from actual observation we know it must do good, and really does relieve and cure indigestion and dyspepsia or there would be a steady stream of people coming back for their money, as every 25c box is sold with the understanding that it must be decidedly benefited or there is nothing to pay.

You simply try Pepsikola tablets with the understanding that they will steady your nerves, improve your appetite, relieve wind belching, coated tongue, sour stomach, fullness after eating, weakened energy and other symptoms of indigestion or John J. Orr is ready at any time to pay back your money without the least argument.

HIS IDENTITY ESTABLISHED.

Man Who Dropped Bomb in Philadelphia Bank, Was Rollo Steele, of Garner, Iowa.

Philadelphia, Jan. 7.—With the finding Sunday of personal effects of the man who threw the bomb in the Fourth Street National bank on Saturday, killing Cashier W. Z. McLear and himself, there is little doubt left in the minds of the police officials that he was Rollo Steele, of Garner, Iowa.

The bomb thrower was found to have slept Friday night at the Grant house, a hostlery on the outskirts of the Tenderloin, frequented mostly by respectable working people. The man registered as J. R. Steele, of New York.

As Rollo Steele was reported to have been in Chicago and Lynchburg, the latter place within a few days, the police say there is little doubt as to the bomb thrower's identity.

It is probable that none of those hurt by the explosion will die. William J. Crump, the negro messenger in the bank, and body-guard of President H. H. Rushton, of the institution, who is the most seriously injured, was Sunday operated on.

Lynchburg, Va., Jan. 7.—J. R. Steele, who it is alleged wrecked the Fourth Street National bank at Philadelphia, by throwing a bomb, and who lost his life at the time, worked here as a concrete construction foreman for several months, and Mrs. Steele and a 16-year-old son were seen at their home last night. Steele left here on Thursday morning, early, telling his wife that he was going to Danville, Vt., to secure work on a railway construction contract, promising that she should hear from him by Saturday night. Up to last night she had heard nothing from him. She did not know that his name was connected with the wrecking of the bank until Sunday. There is no doubt in the minds of friends of Steele, from descriptions in press dispatches from Philadelphia that the bomb-thrower is from this city.

A man who said he was G. E. Williams, of Philadelphia, but who is supposed to have been R. Steele, of Garner, Iowa, exploded a bomb in the executive offices of the Fourth Street National bank, in Philadelphia, shortly before noon Saturday.

The concussion killed himself and the cashier, W. Z. McLear, wounding about fifteen others, two of them perhaps fatally, and wrecking the bank's offices.

The man hurled the deadly missile after he had been turned down both by Cashier McLear and Richard H. Rushton, the bank's president, on an application for a loan of $5,000.

TO WED MABELLE GILMAN.

Steel Magnate Corey Likely in Paris for That Purpose.

Paris, Jan. 7.—Whether W. F. Corey, president of the United States Steel corporation, will marry Mabelle Gilman, the American singer, before he returns to the United States, cannot be ascertained definitely. When Mr. Corey arrived here, a week ago, it was understood that the wedding would not take place during his present trip, and as late as last Wednesday Miss Gilman told intimate friends that the date of the ceremony had not been fixed. If these plans have been changed the wedding probably will take place in England, in order to obviate the vexatious formalities of the French law.

Beyond stopping at a somewhat secluded hotel in the suburbs, Mr. Corey has taken no special pains to hide his movements or to conceal the fact of his engagement to Miss Gilman. She and Mr. Corey, accompanied by Miss Gilman's mother, take daily automobile trips in the Bois de Boulogne, and Mr. Corey frequently dines with mother and daughter at some fashionable restaurant. He is usually accompanied by American friends, and sometimes after dinner they attend the theater or opera.

No Matter What Doctors Say—We Know That Heart Trouble in Many Cases Can Be Cured.

There are seven main features of heart disease, viz.: (1) Weakness or Debility; (2) Rheumatism or Neuralgia; (3) Valvular Disorder; (4) Dilation; (5) Enlargement; (6) Fatty Degeneration; (7) Dropsy.

Documentary evidence will prove thousands of so-called "incurables" have been absolutely cured by Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure.

Patients often have no idea their disease is heart trouble, but ascribe it to Indigestion, Liver Complaint, etc.

Here are some of the symptoms: Shortness of breath after exercise. Smothering Spells. Pain in Chest, left Shoulder and arm. Discomfort in Lying on one side. Fainting Spells. Nervous Cough. Swelling of Feet and Ankles. Paleness of Face and Lips. Palpitation. Nightmare. Irregular Pulse.

"I have great faith in Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and speak of its merits whenever opportunity presents. I can now go up and down stairs with ease, where three weeks ago I could hardly walk one block." One year later—"I am still in good health; the Heart Cure did me much for me, that I find it a far greater medicine than you claimed it is." [illegible] D. YOUNG, D. Special announcement regarding the National Pure Food and Drug Law.

We are pleased to announce that Foley's honey and tar for coughs, colds and lung troubles is not affected by the National Pure Food and Drug law as it contains no opiates for other harmful drugs and we recommend it as a safe remedy for children and adults. Sold by all druggists in Tecumseh.

It has been observed that the average man is never so happy as when he is posing as a critic.

To stop a cold with "Preventics" is safer than to let it run and cure it afterwards. Taken at the "sneeze stage" Preventics will head off all colds and grippe and perhaps save you from pneumonia or bronchitis. Preventics are little toothsome candy cold cure tablets selling in 5 cent and 25 cent boxes. If you are chilly, if you begin to sneeze, try Preventics. They will surely check the cold and please you. Sold by all dealers.

Most of the things we learn from experience come under the head of compulsory education.

An Insidious Danger.

One of the worst features of kidney trouble is that it is an insidious disease and before the victim realizes his danger he may have a fatal malady. Take Foley's kidney cure at the first sign of trouble as it corrects irregularities and prevents Bright's disease and diabetes.

ANARCHIST MEETING RAIDED.

Alex. Berkman, Emma Goldman and Others Arrested in New York.

New York, Jan. 7.—Alexander Berkman, who last summer was released from state's prison, after having served 14 years for an attack on Henry C. Frick, following the Homestead, Pa., riots of 1892, Emma Goldman, and two others were arrested Sunday by detectives, who broke up an anarchist meeting on the east side. Emma Goldman made the speech which moved the police to action, while Berkman exhorted the audience to disobey the command to disperse. The other prisoners are John R. Coryell, who presided at the meeting, and Israel L. Schwartz, a youth of 16 years, who refused to leave the hall when it was cleared.

Emma Goldman is specifically charged with a violation of that section of the penal code which makes it a felony to give utterance from a public platform to incendiary speeches. Berkman and Coryell were held as accessories.

Some 600 persons attended the meeting, which the chairman explained had been called for the purpose of forming a club. Emma Goldman was introduced as the first speaker, but had not proceeded far when she was interrupted by the police.

Emma Goldman and Berkman were later admitted to bail, a bond of $2,000 in each case being furnished.

THREE FIREMEN KILLED.

Caught in Burning Paper Warehouse in New York.

New York, Jan. 7.—Three firemen were killed during a fire that burned out the interior of Hill's paper warehouse on Roosevelt street, last night.

Just before the third floor of the five-story structure fell, all the men were ordered out of the building. Firemen Campbell, Siefert and Lennon, who had been working within the walls, failed to respond, and a subsequent round-up of the fire-fighters established that the three were, beyond doubt, buried in the ruins.

The monetary loss was about $15,000.

Mrs. C. W. Stump of Canton, Ohio, writes: "I wish I could induce every mother who has a weak, sickly child to try that delicious cod liver preparation, Vinol. Our little daughter was pale, thin and sickly.

"We tried various medicines, but without any benefit whatever, and she could not take cod liver oil or emulsions, as they nauseated her and upset her stomach.

"Learning that Vinol contains all the medicinal and strength-creating properties of cod liver oil, but without the disagreeable oil, we decided to try it, and the results were marvelous, so quickly was she restored to health and strength.

ALCOHOL FROM BEETS.

Waste "End" Molasses of Michigan Product Put to Good Use.

Washington, Jan. 7.—The free alcohol legislation may prove a boon to the beet sugar industry of Michigan. That this is quite probable is the view of David A. Gates, chief of the revenue agents. His advice to the manufacturers of beet sugar is to investigate the advantages of making alcohol for denaturing. He says that they may distill what is known as "end" molasses, which is of so little value now as to be almost a waste product.

This "end," or residual molasses, is the syrup from which all possible sugar has been crystallized. It has always been possible to make alcohol from it, and a concern at Bay City has distilled it for some time.

It is understood, too, that the experiment at Bay City has been quite successful from a financial standpoint. Moreover, the Bay City plant does not intend, for the present, to denature its product, finding a ready sale for the tax-paid article.

The great amount of rectifying required has heretofore proved such an insurmountable obstacle to other beet sugar plants that they have not undertaken to distill "end" molasses at all.

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

CATARRH

To prove unquestionably, and beyond any doubt that Catarrh of the nose and throat can be cured, I am furnishing patients through druggists, small free Trial Boxes of Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure. I do this because I am so certain, that Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure will bring actual substantial relief. Nothing certainly, is so convincing as a physical test of any article of real, genuine merit. But this article must possess true merit, else the test will condemn, rather than advance; it. Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure is a snow white, healing antiseptic balm, put up in beautiful nickel capped glass jars at 50c. Such soothing agents as Oil Eucalyptus, Thymol, Menthol, etc., are incorporated into a velvety, cream like Petrolatum, imported by Dr. Shoop from Europe. If Catarrh of the nose and throat has extended to the Stomach, then, by all means also use internally, Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Stomach distress, a lack of general strength, bloating, belching, biliousness, bad taste, etc. surely call for Dr. Shoop's Restorative.

For uncomplicated catarrh only of the nose and throat nothing else, however, need be used but

LIVELY SCENE IN THE HOUSE

Army Appropriation Bill Passed After Several Amendments Are Made—Senate Passes Measure Limiting the Hours of Labor of Railroad Men.

Washington, Jan. 11.—Rep. Gaines, of Tennessee, attempted to assault Mr. Mahon, of Pennsylvania, on the floor of the house Thursday afternoon. Mr. Gaines was making a speech on his so-called docking bill to dock members for absence from the floor of the house, when he made the charge that Mr. Mahon was absent from the floor 95 per cent of the time. Mr. Mahon, as soon as he could be recognized, stated that any man who made that statement was speaking an untruth.

Mr. Gaines rushed down the aisle toward Mr. Mahon, and was grabbed in front of the speaker's desk by Mr. James, of Kentucky, and others, who pulled him back into his seat. Everything was in confusion; the chairman of the committee of the whole, Mr. Mann, pounding his gravel so hard that the head flew off onto the floor. Until order was restored Mr. Mahon continued his charge that the representation of Mr. Gaines was absolutely untrue.

Later the men shook hands and called the matter off.

Money for the Army.

The house not only was the scene of a threatened personal encounter between Rep. Gaines, of Tennessee, and Rep. Mahon, of Pennsylvania, but it also passed the army appropriation bill and began the consideration of the fortifications bill. Several amendments were made to the army bill. The fortifications bill was taken up, no progress was made, the time of the house being consumed by the statements of Rep. Smith, of Iowa, in charge of the budget, Mr. Fitzgerald, of New York, who represents the minority in the appropriations committee, and Mr. Gaines, of Tennessee, in a speech on his docking bill.

After more than five hours spent in lively consideration of the subject of limiting the hours of service of railway employes, the senate, Thursday, passed a substitute for the pending bill and amendments on that subject, of which Senator LaFollette was the author, as he was of the original bill. The substitute limits the time of train employes to sixteen consecutive hours of service to be followed by ten hours of rest. There was but one negative vote to this action—that of Senator Pettus, of Alabama.

Senator Tillman gave notice that he would address the senate Saturday on the Brownsville affray, and Senator Foraker announced he would endeavor to get a vote on the investigation resolution on that day.

Dinner at White House.

Washington, Jan. 11.—The second state dinner of the season was given at the White House by President and Mrs. Roosevelt, last night, in honor of the diplomatic corps. About eighty covers were laid. The state dining room was handsomely decorated, and a detachment of the United States marine band furnished music for the occasion. Among the guests invited to meet the diplomats were the secretary of state and Mrs. Root, Senator Frye, Senator and Mrs. Lodge, Senator and Mrs. Cullom, Representative and Mrs. Longworth, Representatives Flood, McNary and Cousins, former Vice-President Levi P. Morton and Mrs. M. A. Hanna.

Brother Identifies Dead Man.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 11.—The body of the man who died in St. Mary's hospital Tuesday night from injuries received by being knocked down and run over by a frenzied runaway fire team at the Michigan Stove Co. fire, and which for 48 hours had lain in the county morgue as an unknown, was identified Thursday as that of William Toomey, who resided with his aged mother, Mary Toomey, at 344 Third street. John Toomey, a brother who works for the Detroit Creamery Co., made the identification.

Plan Big Issue of Stock.

New York, Jan. 11.—Stockholders of the Pennsylvania Railroad Co., will be asked by the management of that company to authorize the issue probably of $100,000,000 additional capital stock and $100,000,000 in bonds. The question will come before the stockholders at their annual meeting on March 12, according to an announcement made by the management yesterday. It was stated that the company is not planning any large improvements beyond those already announced.

BODIES WERE BURNED

Appalling Is Sacrifice of Life Made in Pittsburg Catastrophe.

NEARLY SCORE OF MEN MISSING

Believed Their Remains Were Cremated in Hot Metal—Injured Are in Pitiful Condition—Some Cannot Live—Coroner Will Investigate.

Pittsburg, Jan. 11.—Partial investigation to ascertain the number of fatalities that occurred at the Elisa furnaces of the Jones & Laughlins Steel Co., limited, Wednesday, when an accumulation of gas exploded, bursting the base of the large furnace, and showering tons of molten metal over about forty men, has been completed, and shows that the bodies of 12 men, horribly mutilated, have been recovered; from 15 to 20 men are missing, it being generally believed that their bodies were consumed by the hot metal, and ten men are in hospitals, terribly burned, four of them expected to die momentarily.

It is doubtful whether the number of men killed will ever be known. From present indications over 15 men were caught like rats in a trap by the fiery metal which flowed over their bodies to a depth of six feet. No trace of them, it is said, will ever be found. Of the dead bodies now in the morgue several are minus arms, legs and heads, while the others are burned and twisted beyond recognition. The condition of the injured is pitiful. A number of men have their eyes burned out, and others were so badly injured that amputation of arms and limbs were necessary.

Gruesome Story.

A gruesome story is told by Deputy Coroner Laidley, who says one foreigner, apparently a youth, became crazed by his injuries, and before he could be prevented, leaped into a pot of molten metal and was incinerated.

A large force of workmen, while searching for bodies of the missing men, found the leg of a man embedded in a portion of metal which they were breaking up.

Several time-keepers of the steel company are endeavoring to prepare a list of the names of the probable victims. It is expected that it will take some time to do this. Mail carrier whose route embraces the homes of many of the victims, said that 17 men who were employed at the Elisa furnace are missing from their homes.

W. L. Jones, vice-president of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Co., Ltd., has issued the following statement:

"We have been unable to learn what caused the explosion. A rigid investigation has been instituted, but it will be two or three days before we will be able to know the cause, if we are able to then. The entire unfortunate affair is a very great mystery to all the officials of the company."

In reply to questions, Mr. Jones said that the accident could not have been caused by carelessness or design upon the part of any one. He said it would be at least three weeks before the furnace could be repaired, and that the damage would amount to over $50,000.

Coroner Armstrong announces that he would conduct a rigid investigation into the accident, and if he found that carelessness was responsible prosecutions would immediately follow.

Electrics to Insure Themselves.

Cleveland, Jan. 11.—Representatives of traction interests in the east and middle and central west, representing many million dollars in street railway and interurban traction properties, met here Thursday and decided upon the formation of four insurance companies. The object of the formation of these companies is to carry the insurance on this kind of property, and it is stated that the insurance on over $100,000,000 represented in the meeting, was pledged to the new organizations. The Everett-Moore syndicate of this city and some of the Vanderbilt interests were among those represented in the meeting. The headquarters of the insurance organizations will be in Cleveland.

SMITH FOR SENATOR

Legislators in Third Caucus Name William Alden on First Ballot.

ARTHUR HILL QUITS THE GAME

McMillan Voters Give Their Ballots to Grand Rapids Man—Speeches and Singing "America" Bring Session to a Close.

The Final Ballot.

William Alden Smith	98
Charles E. Townsend	26
Charles E. Smith	2
Arthur Hill	1
Total vote	127
Necessary to choice	64

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 11.—William Alden Smith, of Grand Rapids, was named to represent Michigan in the United States senate, by the republican legislators in caucus last night, at the conclusion of the first ballot of the evening. The vote stood 98 for Smith, 26 for Townsend, two for Charles Smith, of Hubbell, and one for Arthur Hill.

The Townsend men loyally voted once more for their candidate, and then moved to make it unanimous, quitting the fight with full honors.

The crowd assembled in the capitol last night to witness the final scenes of the greatest political battle of many years in Michigan, was not so large as on previous nights at the caucus. It was quiet in contrast to the exuberance of the night before, until the roll call began. Then there was a brief outburst.

The Break Comes.

Speaker Whelan called the caucus to order at 8:10 o'clock. Immediately the roll was commenced. The first few members voted for Smith, and then there was a break, the Townsend men voting for their candidate as their names were called.

Clerk Pierce interrupted the call of names to read a telegram from Senator Wm. McKay, of Tuscola, in which he mentioned his detention at home by illness, and asked that his vote be recorded for Arthur Hill. At that Rep Chas. E. Ward arose and said that Arthur Hill, in the interests of harmony in the party, withdrew his name, and asked his friends to support Wm. Alden Smith.

Once the last name had been called, Senator Tuttle arose and stated that in behalf of Mr. Townsend's friends and Townsend himself, he wished to move that the nomination of Wm. Alden Smith be made unanimous. Rep. C. H. Alvord, of Hillsdale, supported it.

The result was then announced, and then the rules were suspended and the nomination made unanimous.

Victor and Vanquished Sent For.

On the motion of Senator Fyfe, committees to wait on the candidates were appointed.

The committees were: Wm. Alden Smith—Senator Andrew Fyfe, Reps. C. J. Byrns and J. H. Anderson; C. E. Townsend—Rep. W. A. Norton, Senator A. J. Peek, Rep. W. T. Dust; Arthur Hill—Rep. C. E. Ward, Senator Charles Smith, Rep. N. E. Simpson; Philip H. McMillan was escorted in as the representative of his brother by Senator McKay, Senator Whitney and Rep. S. N. Shook.

When Senator Fyfe brought in Mr. Smith and introduced him as the nominee, the large assembly cheered him with enthusiasm that grew in intensity, men arising to wave handkerchiefs in their joy at the victory. As he stepped to the speaker's desk there was no doubt as to the candidate's deep feeling of pride and appreciation of the honor bestowed upon him. For a moment he was unable to speak and his voice broke with emotion.

His Second Triumph.

"This has been the scene of my two greatest triumphs," said Mr. Smith. "Once, when as a boy, I was selected as a page in this house, and now, when I am given this great honor. The securing of the position as a page was a great blessing of my young life."

He referred gratefully to the manly character of the campaign of his opponents. To Hill he extended warm greetings of friendship, and turning to Hon. C. E. Townsend, he said he had never before so much appreciated the manliness of his colleague as he had in the campaign for the senatorship. His warm words stirred the caucus to new applause, and it was renewed with greater vigor when Mr. Smith told that ex-Gov. John T. Rich, who sat on the rostrum with him, appointed him page, and thus gave him an opportunity in life.

"It will be my aim to use my influence, as far as possible, to make our party councils harmonious and our battles successful. There shall be no north or south or east or west of my serving you as senator."

As he closed with more grateful words of thanks, he was again applauded.

Ex-Gov. Rich followed with a brief speech. Representative Townsend also made a few remarks, as did State Senator Charles Smith. Then the entire audience arose, and sang "America."

The following telegram from Gov. Warner to William Alden Smith was read: "Accept my hearty congratulations. It shows what loyal, true friends can do for the man."

Rain Causes Shut-Down of Mines.

Wellston, O., Jan. 11.—The heavy rains for the last week will cause a loss of thousands of dollars to the mine owners of this valley. The Superior mines have been abandoned. Half a mile west of Wellston, a creek has been diverted into Wellston No. 3 mine by a cave-in. Fears are entertained that a new mine just recently opened, will be compelled to shut down. Over 1,000 miners are temporarily idle in this county.

Suicides Holding Girl's Picture.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 11.—Sitting before a mirror and gazing on the photograph of Miss Elsie Cresey, a young actress, which he had so arranged that he might behold it with his dying gaze, "Bob" Lankswert, one of the best known ball players Louisville ever produced, drank an ounce of carbolic acid Thursday afternoon, and died just as he was being taken into the city hospital.

Only One Killed.

San Francisco, Jan. 11.—Edward Smith, manager of the washing house in the nitro-glycerine plant at the Vigorit Powder works at Point Isabel, near Berkeley Thursday, was killed by an explosion of 3,000 pounds of nitro-glycerine. No one else was hurt. A number of Italians became panic-stricken and rushed into the bay where they were nearly drowned.

Wouldn't Indorse Boycott.

Stockton, Cal., Jan. 11.—The state federation of labor, in convention, has refused to indorse the boycott started in Humboldt county against Japanese and Koreans and their employers. Another resolution commending the action of the labor unions in Humboldt county in driving out Chinese, also was voted down.

Indicted Men Fined.

St. Joseph, Mich., Jan. 11.—The seven men who were indicted in Niles by the grand jury and who pleaded guilty to the charges set forth by indictments some time ago, were sentenced Thursday afternoon. They all paid fines except Revel Fowler, who was unable to produce the cash and who was released on bonds of $500, until Jan. 25. Fowler was fined $100 for conducting a gambling house; Gus Kashe, saloonist, $100; Wm. Radewald, gambling house, $100; Robert Rutledge, gambling house, $100; David Billett, saloonist, $100; Charles Case, saloonist, on three counts, $225.

Prominent Granger Dies.

Benton Harbor, Mich., Jan. 11.—Thomas Marrs, a former master of the state grange, and a member of the executive committee for a quarter of a century, is dead at the home of his brother, Andrew Marrs, near Berrien Springs. He was 78 years old. He served as state senator in 1880, and was a member of the board of control of the state school in Coldwater for a number of years. He was one of the leading agriculturists of the country and was one of the founders of the Berrien County Horticultural society.

Honors for Prof. Van Tine.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 11.—Claude H. Van Tyne, professor of American history in the University of Michigan, has been invited by the Carnegie institute to spend next year in Paris preparing a guide to the material on American history in the archives of the French government. He has not decided whether he will ask the board of regents for a year's leave of absence.

Find Missing Farmer Drowned.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 11.—Christian Bohnet, who had been visiting his neighbor, George Hertler, in Lodi township, started home with a lantern late Monday night. Wednesday he was found in a pool of water on his farm. He probably stumbled in the dark and was drowned. He was 74 years of age.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's catarrh cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's catarrh cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Ponce Still Missing.

New York, Jan. 11.—The steamship Ponce of the New York and Porto Rico Steamship line, which sailed from Ponce, Porto Rico, Dec. 26, and was due at this port on Jan. 1, is still missing, and the belief that the vessel's delay was due to some mechanical accident is giving away to the fear that she is lost. She was last spoken of on Dec. 28, by the ship Shenandoah, since which nothing has been heard of her. The strong hope to which officers of the steamship company cling, is the non-arrival of the steamer Maracas from Trinidad, now four days behind her schedule time. The Maracas' ordinary course is the same as that usually taken by the Ponce, for a considerable part of the voyage, and it is hoped that she has fallen in with the probably disabled Porto Rican vessel and is towing her to some port. Until the Maracas arrives and disproves this theory, hope for the Ponce's

No Money in Sight.

Owosso, Mich., Jan. 11.—The five men who were caught by Chief Weltie playing what is declared to have been poker in a room over a local blacksmith shop will not be prosecuted for gambling. Chief Weltie laid his case before Prosecuting Attorney Hicks and the latter advised against the issuance of a warrant because there was no money in sight, only chips being used, and he did not believe that he could prove the men were playing [illegible]

Aged Farmer Still Missing.

Flushing, Mich., Jan. 11.—Efforts to locate Thomas Mosier, the retired farmer, who mysteriously disappeared from his home here a week ago Wednesday, have been futile. He is 73 years of age. His wife tells that he had about $60 on his person when he left home. There is no known cause for his absence.

Rev. Father Barry, pastor of the church of St. Mary of the Angels, in Roxbury, near Boston, is dead. He was 50 years of age and was one of the most prominent clergymen in the arch-diocese of Boston. He was the author of a number of religious books.

It has been announced that all the old directors of the Standard Oil Co., of New Jersey, were re-elected at a meeting of that corporation held at Jersey City a few days ago." A. C. Bedford was added to the board. It was also stated that there will be no change in the officers of the company when the board meets to reorganize.

The fact that President Roosevelt has accepted membership in the Simplified Spelling board, whose list of simplified spellings he adopted last summer, has just been announced in New York. The board also called attention to the fact that the president continues the use of the simplified spelling forms as an earnest advocate of the principles of the reform.

INTRODUCING BILLS.

Railroad Rate Measures in Bunch That Reaches Legislature.

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 11.—Rep. Geo Lord gave notice in the house Thursday morning of a bill to provide for amending the Detroit city charter to include this provision:

"The common council shall have power to provide by ordinance for carrying into effect the civil service or merit system of appointments to subordinate positions in the administrative service of the city."

Rep. Chas. E. Alvord, of Hillsdale, brought forward a railroad rate bill. It provides for a two-cent rate in the lower and a three-cent rate in the upper peninsula; prohibits giving of passes to all except railway employes but provides that the railways may issue transportation in payment for newspaper advertising.

Rep. Jeremiah Anderson, of Grand Rapids, introduced a bill to provide that a person injured in Canada by a railroad which also enters this state may commence suit here to recover damages.

In the senate Senator Huntley Russell, of Grand Rapids, also introduced a railway rate bill.

TWO MINERS BURIED.

Cave-In Kills One and Fatally Hurts Another.

Saginaw, Mich., Jan. 11.—Harry Price, aged 28 and single, was instantly killed, and James Rogers, aged 32 and married, was perhaps fatally injured by a cave-in at the mine of the Shiawassee Coal Co. at noon Thursday. They were buried beneath about 25 tons of dirt.

Price's body was not recovered for half an hour. Rogers sustained fractures of both legs, and his back is believed to have been broken. He was taken to St. Mary's hospital. His wife is in such a delicate condition that she has not been informed of the accident.

WHEAT IN GOOD SHAPE.

Bulk of Testimony is That it Has Not Suffered.

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 11.—The Michigan crop report, issued by the department of the secretary of state, says that in answer to the question, "Has wheat suffered during December?" 189 correspondents in the state answered yes, and 489 answered no.

The greatest percentage of the wheat has not been well covered with snow. The price of wheat is seven cents lower than one year ago. Rye and corn are the same price; oats three cents, and hay $3 89 higher than one year ago. All grades of live stock are considerably higher in price.

JAPAN PASSES US BY.

Her Training Squadron Will Not Visit the Pacific Coast.

Tokio, Jan. 11.—The Japanese government has decided that on account of anti-Japanese agitation on the Pacific coast, the training squadron will not visit the Pacific coast, but will go as far as Honolulu only.

Washington, Jan. 11.—Members of the California delegation in congress, in discussing the decision of the Japanese government to abandon the proposed trip of the training squadron to the Pacific coast on account of the anti-Japanese agitation, expressed the opinion that San Francisco would have extended a welcome to the fleet. Representative Kahn, who represents San Francisco in the house, suggested the action of the Tokio government may have been on advice of the Japanese consul-general at San Francisco.

Mr. Masanao Hanihara, second secretary of the Japanese embassy, said that Viscount Aoki, the Japanese ambassador to the United States, has not been officially notified of the Tokio government's decision not to allow the training squadron to proceed to San Francisco.

Frightened to Death.

Philadelphia, Jan. 11.—Albert Lindsay was frightened to death and two men were severely burned, by an explosion of molten metal in the finishing plant at Baldwin's Locomotive works, Thursday. Frank Sakolowsky and Patrick Dolan were burned about the face and body by the hot metal which flew over them and Lindsay, who was standing near. Lindsay was so frightened that he collapsed. He was picked up unconscious, and when taken to the hospital with the injured men, was dead. He was 48 years of age.

Panel to Select Thaw Jury.

New York, Jan. 11.—An order for a special panel in the case of Harry K. Thaw, charged with the murder of Stanford White was signed by Justice Fitzgerald in the supreme court Thursday. The order calls for a special panel of 200 talesmen for the special jury to appear in court on Monday, Jan. 21. This action on the part of Justice Fitzgerald appears to dispose of rumors that difference of opinion between the justice and the district attorney might result in a postponement of the beginning of the Thaw trial.

Wise counsel from the South.

"I want to give some valuable advice to those who suffer with lame back and kidney trouble," says J. R. Blankenship of Beck, Tenn. "I have proved to an absolute certainty that Electric Bitters will positively cure this distressing condition. The first bottle gave me great relief and after taking a few more bottles I was completely cured; so completely that it becomes a pleasure to recommend this great remedy." Sold under guarantee at C. A. Wright's drug store. Price 50c.

OGDEN GIRL TRIES TO COMMIT SUICIDE.

Jumps from High Bridge and is Rescued by Two Men.

Adrian, Mich., Jan. 10.—Hazel Fuller, 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Add Fuller of Ogden, apparently tried to kill herself today. She told her teacher, Miss Winnifred Wilson, of Tecumseh, that her mother wanted her and she was excused from school.

She then went to Black Creek, a mile south of Ogden station, and jumped into 15 feet of water.

Geo. Wicter and Clarence Bruce saw her plunge from the bridge and rescued her. Dr. Whitney was called and will probably save her. No cause for the deed is known.—Detroit Free Press.

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the conditions of payment of a certain mortgage executed and delivered by James McCook, and Ora McCook, his wife, to Peter B. Smith, dated February 22d, 1901, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in the County of Lenawee, State of Michigan, on the 8th day of February A. D. 1901, in Liber 118 of Mortgages on pages 601 and 602, assigned by said Smith to Albert L. Brewer by due instrument in writing dated April 22d, 1902, and recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds on the 9th day of May A. D. 1902, in Liber 125 of Mortgages on page 450, and assigned by Percival W. A. Fitzsimmons, as administrator of the estate of said Albert L. Brewer, deceased, (said Albert L. Brewer having meanwhile departed this life and said Fitzsimmons having been duly appointed administrator of said estate) to us, the undersigned, as Hettie W. Brewer (now by marriage Hettie W. Lawrence), by due instrument in writing dated October 18th, 1906, and recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds on the 14th day of November A. D. 1906, in Liber 149 of Mortgages on page 267, there being claimed to be due to the undersigned at the date hereof upon said mortgage, and the note secured thereby, the sum of fifteen hundred fifty-four and 32-100 dollars, and no suit or proceeding at law, or in equity, having been instituted for the recovery of said indebtedness, or any part thereof:

Notice is therefore hereby given that, by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained (now operative by said default), we will on Monday the 4th day of March A. D. 1907, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the east front door of the Court House in the City of Adrian, in the County of Lenawee and State of Michigan (that being the place where the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee is holden), sell at public vendue, to the highest bidder, the lands and premises in said mortgage described, viz:—Those lands in the Township of Clinton, County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, known as the west half of the south-west quarter of section two, town five south, range four east, containing eighty acres of land more or less.

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the conditions of payment of a certain mortgage executed and delivered by Vincent Elias to Eliza A. Campbell and Eva M. Gray, dated the 21st day of August A. D. 1904 and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Lenawee, State of Michigan, on the 7th day of September A. D. 1904 in Liber 139 of Mortgages on page 16, which mortgage was by express terms given to said parties of the second part in joint estate, and of said parties said Eva M. Gray being now the survivor, said Eliza A. Campbell having departed this life since the giving of instrument, and which mortgage provided that should any payment of principal or interest secured by the same remain unpaid and in arrear for the period of ninety days after its maturity, the holder thereof should have the right to declare all the unpaid portion of said mortgage debt to be due and payable forthwith and more than ninety days having elapsed since the maturity of an installment of principal and interest of said indebtedness and the same remaining yet unpaid, there is claimed, and now declared, at the date hereof, to be due to the undersigned the whole unpaid portion of said indebtedness amounting to the sum of five hundred fifty-six and 89-100 dollars, and no suit or proceeding at law, or in equity, having been instituted for the recovery of said indebtedness, or any portion thereof:

Notice is therefore hereby given that, by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained (now operative by said default), for the purpose of realizing the amount of said mortgage debt with interest thereon to accrue and costs of this foreclosure, including a lawful attorney fee, I will, on Monday the 4th day of March A. D. 1907 at ten in the forenoon of said day, at the east front door of the Court House in the city of Adrian, in the county of Lenawee and state of Michigan (that being the place where the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee is holden), sell, at public vendue, to the highest bidder that parcel of land in the village of Tecumseh, county of Lenawee and state of Michigan, bounded by beginning at the intersection of the south line of Chicago street with the east line of Wyandotte street, and running thence east in south line of Chicago street six rods to Mahaney's land; thence south parallel with east line of Wyandotte street twelve rods; thence west parallel with first course six rods to east line of Wyandotte street; thence north in that line twelve rods to beginning.

It is always well to believe a few things deeply, provided they are deep things.

Most people know that if they have been sick they need Scott's Emulsion to bring back health and strength.

But the strongest point about Scott's Emulsion is that you don't have to be sick to get results from it.

Food in concentrated form for sick and well, young and old, rich and poor.

JOHN J. ORR.

Humor in Journalism.

Next to a million dollars a hearty laugh is about as pleasant a thing as one can have. Everybody really wants to laugh. No man and no newspaper can be really great without a sense of humor. The Chicago Record-Herald regards the promoting of smiles and laughter as a part of the legitimate mission of the press. For years the "Alternating Currents" column of S. E. Kiser in that paper has been a daily source of delight to its readers. The cartoons of Ralph Wilder on the first page also are designed to make people laugh—and to make them think as well. In fact, the humor of the Record-Herald, like its news columns, is always clean and kindly as well as amusing and entertaining. It affords a striking example of the right way to "tell the truth laughing."

Famous humorists contribute to the Sunday magazine of the Record-Herald with the popular novelists and celebrated writers on timely questions. Both text and illustrations are of the highest standard of periodical literature—the new idea in Sunday journalism perfected.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS

Of Tecumseh, Fifty Strong Attend DISTRICT MEETING

At Adrian Tuesday Evening.

A special train over the D. T. & I. Tuesday night conveyed the Knights of Pythias to Adrian to attend the Union District meeting held in the Knights' hall. Grand Chancellor P. D. Abbey of Kalamazoo, and Mr. Vandewalker of Ypsilanti, were present to witness the work. At 7:30 Grand Chancellor Abbey conferred the grand lodge rank upon the following past chancellor commanders. Dr Thos. Reid and Herbert S. Roe of Adrian, Lyman Johnson and Frank Smith of Morenci, Frank Cooley of Seneca, and Henry Sweet of this place.

After the work of the Grand lodge the Adrian lodge conferred the rank of Page upon the following candidates. F. A. Gassenbauer, Arthur Henigi, Fred Tag and C. W. Stulzman of Adrian, Willard Cornelius, Walter Keyser, Geo. Ferguson of Morenci, R. A. Van Sickle of Seneca, John A. Bailey of Tipton, W. C. Hanley and Fred Kolkloesch of Tecumseh. The banquet was held at the close of the work in the armory hall to which over 300 hungry Knights did ample justice. Jas. Baker acted as toastmaster and the following Knights responded to toasts:

Lodge entertainment—Attorney B. L. Hart.

Pythianism—Grand Chancellor Abbey.

Care of Sick and Distressed Friends—H. S. Roe.

Lodge Visits—Chas. Adler.

Methods of obtaining new members—Mr. Vanderwalker.

The entire program was interspersed with delightful music by the orchestra. At two o'clock the Tecumseh members arrived home each feeling that they had been royally entertained. Other lodges represented were Morenci, Tipton, Seneca, Dundee and Hudson.

A Letter.

Editor of the Tecumseh Herald.

Dear Sir:—As one of the patrons of your paper I would like to make a few comments on two articles printed in your paper Tuesday. One of these items says, "Very few D. T. & I. men are left here and to celebrate this event yesterday nearly all the remaining men here, with their families got drunk and spent the night in jail. It would seem that we are not sorry that they are all gone."

I believe it is a fact that one man and one woman spent the night in the lock-up. I also know that there were quite a number of others who did not spend the night in jail.

There were many good men among the D. T. & I. men and it looks to me like an injustice to these other men and their families that such an item should appear in a Tecumseh paper. I must say that as for me I am sorry that these men are gone and that their families will probably go in the near future. We find that in the last year we have had about twenty of these families among our regular customers and we are sorry to lose them. They are good customers and pay their bills promptly.

I have no excuse to offer for the people who disgraced themselves on our streets the other day, but is it fair to judge the others by these? Most of these people with whom I have done business are ladies and gentlemen in every way and I am sorry to have them leave Tecumseh.

In the item in which you say, "In fact the road is a nuisance to every body along the line," I cannot agree with you. It has not been just what we hoped it would be, but it has certainly been of much benefit to Tecumseh and I believe that in the near future we will again see Tecumseh a division point. I certainly hope so.
Frank D. Avery.

A Great Testimonial.

The following persons are stopping at Wallace's Sanitarium and speak in high terms of his success:

Martin Whelan.

Martin Whelan died Dec 31, 1906. A beautiful life went out when Martin Whelan passed peacefully away at the close of the old year, to awaken at the dawning of the new to a brighter and higher life.

Mr. Whelan was born in the town of Franklin Oct. 29, 1826, here he spent his whole life. His father, John Whelan, died Oct. 14, 1867, his mother died July 20, 1891. Out of a family of 12 three brothers and one sister survive him, Oziro Remington, Ervin and Otis Whelan and Mrs. Edward Wisner. He was married to Mary Deming June 13, 1873, who with a son and daughter, Jewett Whelan, Mrs. Fred Bunting, and six grandchildren mourn the loss of a husband and father's love and council.

Mr Whelan joined the Masons at Tecumseh in 1870, he loved the order and attended as long as his health would permit. His funeral was held at the home Thursday, Jan. 3, '07, with touching remarks from Rev. D. Spelder of Tecumseh, assisted by the Revs Steffy and Elliott of Tipton, and the Tipton choir sang some appropriate selections. Past Master R. A. Heesen read in his impressive way the Masonic burial service and assisted by the Order, laid the honored brother to rest in the Tipton cemetery. There were many beautiful flowers.

Among those from from out of town who attended the funeral were, a nephew, Howard Whelan, of Detroit; two brothers of Mrs. Whelan's, Wilber Deming, of Beaverton, Gladwin county; Willis Deming, and son of Jackson; Messrs. and Mesdames John F. Smith, B. F. Norcross, J. Goff, Emil Kopka and family, Mesdames D. W. Love and Sarah Wing of Adrian; Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Lane of Holloway; Mr. and Mrs. Seaton Norcross of Ann Arbor; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Skinner and Mrs Koster Morey of Onsted; Mrs. Emery Wilson of Addison; Mrs. Wm. Mobbs, Miss Viola Zeluff, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Kay of Tecumseh.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to express our gratitude to the many neighbors and friends who so kindly rendered their assistance in our sad bereavement.

Mrs. Mary Whelan,
Jewett Whelan
and family.
Mrs. Addie Bunting
and family.

David Fenton.

The community was shocked yesterday to learn of the sudden death of one of its most esteemed citizens, Mr. David Fenton, of Thompson avenue after an illness of 9 days of typhoid pneumonia.

Mr. Fenton was aged 43 years and a bricklayer by trade, being employed at the open hearth mill. He with his family moved to Donora about four months ago from Monessen, having been employed at Page's mill for several years coming there from Tecumseh, Michigan.

He was of a kind disposition, a manly man and a consistent christian. He was an elder in the First Presbyterian church also a teacher of class No 7 in that Sabbath school and an untiring church worker.

Mr. Fenton was a well learned man having studied at one time for a school teacher. When quite young he was left alone to battle with the world and was a self made man, being compelled to carve out his own destiny.

He is survived by his widow and four children.

The funeral services will be held at his late residence, tomorrow evening at 7:30 conducted by Rev. R. P. Lippincott, and the remains taken to Michigan Wednesday morning for burial.

The deceased was a member of Monessen lodge I. O. O. F., who will probably have charge of the funeral. He was also a member of the modern Woodmen, Rebekahs and Knights of Malta of Monessen.—Donora, Pa., Daily News.

Fort Wayne Products go to Panama Canal.

The Anti-Borax Compound company of this city, whose plant was formerly located at Chicago Heights, Ill., has succeeded in placing a contract with the isthmian canal commission for a good-sized order of the company's compound to be used in welding steel for the various parts of machines used in digging the Panama canal. The government had previously used the compound at the Rock Island arsenal and had found it entirely satisfactory and as a result decided to use the product on the isthmus. The order will be shipped to the canal region as soon as a government inspector arrives in Fort Wayne to make the customary inspection. The managers of this comparatively new Fort Wayne industry are the Messrs. Henry J. Miller and Charles Pangborn. The gentlemen say that the demand for their product is steadily increasing in the country and that they are already doing a good business.—Fort Wayne Paper.

The Chas. Pangborn mentioned above is a native of Tecumseh brother of Mrs. N. A. Howland and it is a great pleasure to the Herald to speak of the prosperity of any old Tecumseh boy.

INSTALLATION AND SUPPER.

Beers' Post and Auxiliary started on the New Year in a very happy manner. In the first place they moved into new quarters, which under the efficient hands of Geo VanTyne, Geo. Keyser and H. C Daniels, have been decorated and made very comfortable and beautiful. The ladies' room has also been nicely decorated by Mr. VanTyne and Mrs. L. B. Thompson.

In the second place on Monday evening a joint public installation of the new officers of the Post and Auxiliary was held. The newly elected officers of the Post were installed by Past Commander Elmer Wilson and the new officers of the Auxiliary by J. D. Shull, the present commander of the Post, the work in each case being well done.

Following the installation an oyster supper was enjoyed by the 75 or 80 people present, which was furnished by the in coming officers. After supper songs were rendered by Mrs. Goodrich, Mrs Mary Prichard and H. W. Stevens. The pleasant evening was brought to a close by the audience joining in singing "America."

Cured of lung trouble.

"It is now 11 years since I had a narrow escape from consumption," writes C. O. Floyd, a leading business man of Kershaw, S. C. "I had run down in weight to 135 pounds and coughing was constant, both by day and by night. Finally I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery and continued this for about six months, when my cough and lung trouble were entirely gone and I was restored to my normal weight, 170 pounds." Thousands of persons are healed every year. Guaranteed at C. A. Wright's drug store. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

John Keith Paugle.

John Keith Paugle, the infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Paugle, died Wednesday morning, aged one day.

The funeral was held at the house this morning at 10:30, burial at Brookside.

Working for a living and earning a living are not necessarily synonymous propositions.

TO ENJOY A GOOD DINNER.

How to avoid distress and indigestion after eating.

Let us tell you how you can enjoy a good dinner, so that the heartiest meal will set well on your stomach and cause no unpleasant and disagreeable after effects.

We will show you how to regain the appetite of your childhood and the enjoyment of food, so that it will taste as well as when mother cooked the dinner.

There is no hard work necessary to do this; no need of a rigid and self-denying diet list; no call for nasty and disagreeable medicines. Simply take a Mi-o-na stomach tablet before each meal and before going to bed and it will so strengthen the stomach that before long a hearty meal will give you gratification and comfort, without the least fear of distress and suffering.

The strongest proof we can offer of our faith in this advice, is the fact that C. A. Wright gives an absolute, unqualified guarantee (applying to two 50c boxes of Mionа), that your money will be refunded unless Mi-o-na cures. A guarantee like this gives you confidence in Mi-o-na. He takes the whole risk and the remedy will not cost you a penny unless it cures.

Mi-o-na is not a mere digestive, giving only temporary relief, but a specific for all diseases of the stomach, strengthening the digestive organs and making a permanent cure.

CONFIRMED PROOF.

Residents of Tecumseh cannot doubt what has been twice proven.

In gratitude for complete relief from aches and pains of bad backs—from distressing kidney ills—thousands have publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills. Residents of Tecumseh, who so testified years ago, now say their cures were permanent. This testimony doubly proves the worth of Doan's Kidney Pills to Tecumseh kidney sufferers.

S Erskine, barber, living on Evans street, Tecumseh, says: "For ten years I was troubled with kidney complaint and heavy, dull, dragging pain in my back. It was always more severe after hard work if I lifted anything. I was greatly annoyed at night by the too frequent action of the kidneys which caused me to get up a great number of times which greatly disturbed my rest. The secretions were highly colored and showed a great deal of sediment. Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention and I began taking them. They did me a world of good and I felt better and stronger than I had for a long time. This was five years ago and I was so grateful that I gave statement for publication. I think just as highly of Doan's Kidney Pills today as I did then, and am glad of the opportunity to re-endorse them so that others may be led to try this remedy and receive the same results as I did."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's, and take no other.

Sorrows of life enable us to appreciate the joys thereof.

Croup can positively be stopped in 20 minutes. No vomiting—nothing to sicken or distress your child. A sweet, pleasant and safe syrup, called Dr. Shoop's croup cure, does the work and does it quickly. Dr. Shoop's croup cure is for croup alone, remember. It does not claim to cure a dozen ailments. It's for croup, that's all. Sold by all dealers

GUARANTEED REMEDY FOR INDIGESTION.

Interesting statement by John J. Orr.

When a man comes into this store and calls for any particularly indigestion remedy, we always give him what he asks for, but in case he leaves it to us, we usually recommend Pepsikola tablets.

Here is a preparation we have been selling right over the counter for years, and from actual observation we know it must do good, and really does relieve and cure indigestion and dyspepsia or there would be a steady stream of people coming back for their money, as every 25c box is sold with the understanding that you must be decidedly benefited or there is nothing to pay.

You simply try Pepsikola tablets with the understanding that they will steady your nerves, improve your appetite, relieve wind belching, coated tongue, sour stomach, fullness after eating, weakened energy and other symptoms of indigestion or John J. Orr is ready at any time to pay back your money without the least argument.

Commissioners Notice.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, county Lenawee, ss.

In the matter of the estate of EDWIN HOWELL, deceased.

The undersigned having been appointed by the probate court of said county, commissioners to receive, examine and adjust all claims and demands of all persons against the estate of said deceased, do hereby give notice that we will meet for that purpose at the residence of Rachel Howell in the township of Macon, Lenawee county, Michigan, on the 1st day of February, 1907, and on the 28th of June, 1907, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of each said days.

And that six months from the 28th day of December, 1906, are allowed by said probate court for the creditors of said estate to present their claims to us for examination and allowance.

Dated December 28th, 1906.

FRANK J. DAY,
CHARLES B. MICKEL,
Commissioners.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss. Probate Court for said county.

At a session of the probate Court for the county of Lenawee holden at the Probate Office in the city of Adrian, on the 7th day of January, in the year one thousand nine hundred and seven.

Present, Harry L. Larwill, judge of probate.

In the matter of the estate of WILLIAM BRADLEY, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition, of Frank E. Bradley, executor upon the estate of said deceased, alleging that the funeral expenses and debts of said deceased, and the expenses of administration thus far incurred, have been fully paid, and praying that his first administration account may be allowed and for such other order and decree as to this court shall seem proper.

It is ordered, that Monday, the 4th day of February next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said petition.

And is is further ordered, that a copy of this order be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee, for three successive weeks, previous to said day of hearing.

HARRY L. LARWILL,
(A true copy.) Judge of Probate.
E. I. Larwill, probate register.

NOT CONSPIRATORS.

Jungbluth and Young Did Not Combine to Control the Licorice Paste Industry.

New York, Jan. 11.—A jury in the United States circuit court, Thursday returned a verdict in the so-called tobacco trust trial, which had been on hearing before Judge Hough for the past three weeks.

The jury acquitted Karl Jungbluth and Howard E. Young on all the counts charging conspiracy in restraint of trade, and combining to control the licorice paste industry, but finds the MacAndrews & Forbes Co. and the J. S. Young Co. guilty of two counts, one of forming an illegal combination and the other of being a monopoly. The corporations named which were joint defendants with Jungbluth and Young, were acquitted of the charge of conspiracy.

Counsel for the defendant companies at once moved for an arrest of judgment, and Judge Hough will hear arguments on the motion next Monday.

Claim Wells is Demented.

Battle Creek, Mich., Jan. 11.—Riley Wells, a young man, 17 years of age, was bound over to the circuit court on Thursday on a charge of attempting to wreck a passenger train by placing ties on the wreck. He is claimed to be demented, but will have to stand trial.

Flour for Starving Chinese.

Stockton, Cal., Jan. 11.—Three hundred tons of flour, making 12,000 sacks, were shipped Thursday to be loaded on the steamer Coptic in San Francisco for the starving people in China. The shipment constitutes the entire amount purchased for China by the National Red Cross society.

Ex-Cashier Killed Himself.

Columbia, Mo., Jan. 11.—John S. Harris, former cashier of the Bank of Bass, Johnston and Co., at Ashland, recently found short in his accounts, committed suicide at Ashland Thursday, shooting himself. He was 50 years of age and leaves a widow and three children.

Crater Breaks Loose.

Honolulu, Jan. 11.—The crater on the summit of the volcano of Mauna Loa broke out Wednesday at midnight. The eruption forms a magnificent spectacle, which is visible for a hundred miles at sea.

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 11.—Secretary of State George A. Prescott, Collector Avery, of Port Huron, and Representative Romeo, of Detroit, are all three sick in bed at the Downey house with bad cases of la grippe, and are under the doctor's care.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

CATARRH

To prove unquestionably, and beyond any doubt that Catarrh of the nose and throat can be cured, I am furnishing patients through druggists, small free Trial Boxes of Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure. I do this because I am so certain that Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure will bring actual substantial help. Nothing certainly, is so convincing as a physician's test of any article of real promising merit, but that article must possess true merit, else the test will condemn, rather than advance it. Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure is now ready, white, healing antiseptic balm, put up in beautiful nickel capped glass jars at 50c. Such soothing agents as Oil Eucalyptus, Thymol, Menthol, etc., are incorporated into a velvety, cream like Petrolatum, injected by Dr. Shoop from Europe. If Catarrh of the nose and throat has extended to the stomach, then by all means also use Internally, Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Stomach distress, a lack of general strength, bloating, belching, billousness, bad taste, etc., surely call for Dr. Shoop's Restorative.

For uncomplicated catarrh only of the nose and throat nothing else, however, need be used but

C. M. GILBERT & CO. BUY AN AMERICAN SLICING MACHINE AND ARE GLAD OF IT.

A Joy Forever.

The first time you drop in on C. M. Gilbert & Co. you cannot fail to notice their last and best investment--the American slicing machine, a machine they have long needed and wished for, and finally pulled the string and bought one. Here it is:

With this machine, costing $100.00, they have the only slicing machine that is clean, economical and satisfactory to them, while to their patrons it is very pleasing. Customers do half their shopping with their eyes. Knowing this, C. M. Gilbert & Co. have bought a machine that slices up and displays their dried beef, bacon, boiled ham, large bologna, and other meats, in such a delightfully pleasing way that one is forced to buy. Ask them to show you how it works. Dried beef can be sliced as thin as tissue paper; and also, this machine can be regulated to slice bread to a satisfactory thickness.

Being able to slice anything in boneless meats, bread, etc., C. M. Gilbert & Co. are in a position to give their customers a service they have never before enjoyed. When buying this kind of meat or bread for parties, banquets, and all social events of this nature you can have everything sliced ready to serve.

For bacon it is fine—you can have it sliced to suit you, either thick or thin, and of the many thousands of users of this machine throughout the large cities of the United States, none are more satisfied or more enthusiastic than C. M. Gilbert & Co.

If you will accept their invitation to call and see the machine in operation, you will not be able to resist the temptation to buy the delicate shavings of bacon, dried beef or boiled ham. Try it. To the owner it is a saving in labor, works like a charm, and gives entire satisfaction. To the buyer boundless pleasure in knowing his purchase is cleanly, evenly and satisfactorily sliced.

THOUGHT

Origin of All DISEASES

Says Chicago Physician.

Recent experiments by European scientists have resulted in remarkable confirmation of the accuracy of certain scientific assertions made a year ago by Dr Chas. Gilbert Davis of Chicago in his book, "The Philosophy of Life."

Palow, a noted investigator, according to reports in recent medical journals has conducted a series of experiments on dogs, which have upset many of the old theories concerning the causes of the secretion of the gastric juices in the stomach. The generally accepted theory was that the introduction of food in the stomach produced an irritation, which, in turn caused the secretion of the gastric juice for digestive purposes. In one experiment Palow cut the throat of a dog in such a way that food taken into the mouth passed out at the incision instead of continuing into the stomach. At the same time a tube was introduced into the stomach.

It was found that, although none of the food reached the stomach, the act or thought of eating produced a flow of gastric juice from the stomach. It was also found that, in every case where food was dangled in front of the animal, there was a flow of gastric juice from the tubes that had been introduced into the stomach. The effect of these and other experiments is confirmatory of Dr Davis' statement that not only is the gastric juice in the stomach of humans produced by thought but that thought is the greatest factor in nutrition.

"The results of these experiments, which have attracted world-world attention among scientists, is naturally gratifying to me" said Dr Davis, "because in my own mind I am so sure of my ground. I am confident that future experiments will give only further confirmation of my theory."

THOUGHT ORIGIN OF DISEASE

The assertions made in the "Philosophy of Life" all cluster around one principle proposition—that disease may be created and maintained by what we think and that disease may be averted, notwithstanding the presence in the body of dangerous bacilli, by what we think. Dr Davis started to elaborate his doctrine from the base afforded by innumerable homely incidents of every day life. He reasoned thus:

"If a thought can in an instant of time dilate or contract the blood vessels causing a rush of blood to or from any part; if it can increase or diminish the secretion of a gland; if it can hasten or retard the action of the heart; if it can turn the hair gray in a single night; if it can force tears from the eyes; if it can in an instant produce great bodily weakness; if it can produce insomnia; if as has often occurred, it can bring instantaneous death—then it is not natural for us to conclude, without further argument, that it may bring about a more or less continuous derangement of the physical organism, which we call disease?

"On every hand we note instances where the action of the mind both produces and perpetuates disease. Indeed I can truthfully say, after an observation of many years in the practice of medicine, that a majority of the cases of illness which come under the daily observation of the physician are largely due to the condition of the mind."

INTEREST AMONG DOCTORS.

This statement, coming from a practitioner of recognized standing in his profession and one who excludes all but research along purely scientific lines, has created widespread comment among physicians, and, according to the communications received by Dr Davis since he gave his ideas to the world, a large number of physicians agree with him.

Citing familiar instances of the effect of a thought on the physical organism, Dr. Davis says:

It is not unusual for some one returning from the funeral of a loved one to be taken ill and in a few days follow that one to the grave. What causes this death? Depressing thought. A mother hears of some calamity having befallen her child. She goes into a collapse, fever follows and she is near the gates of death. Was it not a thought that produced this illness? A man is seated at a banquet table, full of health and happiness and blessed with a good appetite. A message is brought to him that his family has been drowned in a flood. He turns pale, his appetite deserts him and his strength is gone. Soon he is in a delirium and ill. All the functions of the body are deranged; a doctor is called and names his disease. But is it not true that this man's disease has been produced by what he thought?

"I have seen the most wonderful effects follow a fit of anger. After an outburst of passion the function of every gland in the body is impaired. Time and again I have observed acute illness in an infant where it was permitted to nurse immediately after the mother had been engaged in a quarrel and on more than one such occasion I have seen death follow in a few hours.

"Such instances might be multiplied indefinitely and every observant physician has a mental store of such cases.

IMPORTANCE OF GOOD BLOOD.

"The standing army of the human body is the corpuscles of the blood—the red and the white. Upon these we depend to heal the wounds, build up new tissue and attack the poisonous bacilli that may attempt to enter the system. Upon the healthful condition and number of these little soldiers depend our lives. Let their vitality or number be reduced and the invading bacilli scale the ramparts, swarm over the body, and, taking possession, destroy it.

"Thought produces disease or health because of its action on the corpuscles of the blood. These corpuscles are wonderfully influenced by the mind. An outraged conscience, hate, envy, anger and fear crush the vitality out of them and leave the citadel of life exposed. But faith, hope, happiness and love create them and send them swarming through the body till every fiber and tissue throbs with life. This is demonstrated by the microscope."

A few years ago Dr. Davis, by means of trained assistants, conducted a series of scientific experiments to illume the subject he was dealing with. In this connection he sent his assistants into the haunts of the vicious and the homes of the righteous.

"Examine the blood of a man or woman living a life that constantly outrages a previously finely educated conscience," he says, "and you will find the corpuscular element far below par. Examine the blood of the fallen woman who has been reared and educated in the strict tenets of the church, but who has drifted away into the haunts of sin, with a conscience night and day goading her to the brink of despair and I defy you to tell me her blood is healthy.

"We have come to know that in the body of the most healthy person there are bacilli of one or more dangerous diseases. These bacilli are inactive, but they are always ready to assert themselves and produce disease as soon as the number or vitality of the corpuscles falls low enough to give the bacilli the upper hand. In his recent lectures this year since my book was published, Dr. Metchnikoff head of the Pasteur Institute, has told the world of his discoveries of these latest bacilli—sometimes enough to give disease to others, the first person having corpuscular strength enough to carry the germs without suffering from the disease, while the second person, without this corpuscular strength, contracts the disease.

"The reception given this theory of most diseases makes me think it is soon to have a deep influence on mankind" —Chicago Herald.

Perfection.

Briggs—You call on the Dimplet's very often. What sort of children have they? Griggs—Perfect! Best in the world. Briggs—Tell me about them. What are they like? Griggs—Oh, I've never seen them.—Brooklyn Life.

Herbert Spencer.

A queer instance of the working of Herbert Spencer's mind is mentioned by the two sisters in whose household he lived. He came to the table one day absorbed in thinking about some photographs of the nebulae he had just received:

"As he rose from his chair he stood for a minute gazing with gleaming eyes into the distance, and then muttered in a disjointed fashion, as if half to himself, words to this effect: 'Thirty millions of suns, each probably having its own system, and supposing them each to be the size of a pin's head they are fifty miles apart! What does it all mean?' And then, without a pause and only a change of voice, 'The fluff still comes out of that cushion, you know,' as with a wave of his small, thin hand toward it he passed rapidly out of the room, leaving us both bewildered by the quickness with which his mind worked."

A Perfect Flying Machine.

Gulls are masters in the air. I have watched by the hour birds similar to these following along in the wake of a steamer, but had never before had such chances with a camera. Often they poise, resting apparently motionless on outstretched wing. It is a difficult feat. A small bird can't do it. A sparrow hawk can only poise by the rapid beating of his wings. The gulls seem to hang perfectly still, yet there is never an instant when the wings and tail are not constantly adjusted to meet the different air currents. Just as in shooting the rapids in a canoe, the paddle must be adjusted every moment to meet the different eddies, currents and whirlpools, and it is never the same in two different instants. A gull by the perfect adjustment of its body, without a single flap of the wings, makes headway straight in the teeth of the wind. I saw one retain a perfect equilibrium in a stiff breeze, and at the same time reach forward and scratch his ear.—American Magazine.

Kaffir Woman's Courage.

One of the first explorers of the interior of South Africa was William Cotton Oswell, a noted hunter and a friend of Livingstone, to whom he rendered important aid. In his biography the following story is given from one of his African letters: An incident highly creditable to Kaffir womanhood occurred just as we reached Mabotse. The women, as is their custom, were working in the fields, for they hoe and the men sew. A young man, standing by the edge of the bush, was chatting with them. A lioness sprang on him and was carrying him off, when one of the women ran after her, caught her by the tail and was dragged for some little distance. Hampered by the man in her mouth and the woman behind her, she slackened her pace, whereupon her assailant straddled over her back and hit her across the nose and head with a heavy short handled hoe until she dropped her prey and slunk to cover.

The Conductor's Mistake.

A conductor on the St. Louis and Suburban railroad had such a good run of business Sunday afternoon that he had difficulty in keeping himself supplied with small change. Many passengers who patronized his car handed him dollars and bills of larger denominations in payment of their fares. The conductor, however, managed to get along fairly well until a woman carrying a tiny infant boarded his car. When he approached the woman for her fare she handed him a five dollar bill.

"Is that the smallest you have, madam?" queried the conductor, fearing another stringency in change.

The woman looked at the conductor and then at her baby and made this surprising reply, "Yes; I have been married only twelve months."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Men, Women and Fact.

Tact has always been considered the peculiar attribute of woman. "With a woman's tact," is one of the stock phrases of the novelist. But a writer in one of the American magazines—and his view is upheld by an English magazine which quotes him—upsets this tradition by declaring that men are more often tactful than women. Men, it is submitted, are swift to know when to speak and when not to speak—when it is wise to withhold even a look—and that is why a mediocre man will succeed when even a clever woman will fail, why men are greater in diplomacy, in all things that require finesse. Still it is a question whether men really succeed better in diplomacy. What about the woman who is the "power behind the throne?"

How the Daisy Was Named.

Of all the flowers of the field the daisy is the most appropriately named. Probably not one person in a hundred understands the significance of this little flower. Hundreds and hundreds of years ago it got its name, and in all parts of the world the name means the same thing. The nature lover who named the daisy had in his study of the wild flower observed that it opened its eye with the opening of the day and closed it with the setting of the sun. So with the simplicity of the true artist he called it the eye of the day, the days-eye or, as we spell it today, the daisy. —New York Press.

Regular Ostriches.

"This, ladies and gentlemen," said the guide, "is a real theatrical chop house. You will notice the signs on the wall, 'Watch your hat' and 'Keep an eye on your umbrella.'"

"Great gooseberries!" exclaimed the old farmer in the party. "I often heard tell that these here actor folks were half starved, but I didn't think they would eat hats and umbrellas."—Chicago News.

Costly, but Lasting.

Johnny—What! Only married a year and yet you are so downcast? Wally—Ah, my dear fellow, I never imagined that a wife would prove such a costly article. Johnny—Yes, a wife is a costly article, that's true, but then you must remember that she lasts a man a precious long time.

A Good Dog.

It is related by Professor Bell that when a friend of his was traveling abroad he one morning took out his purse to see if it contained sufficient change for a day's jaunt he intended making. He departed from his lodgings, leaving a trusted dog behind. When he dined he took out his purse to pay and found he had lost a gold coin from it. On returning home in the evening his servant informed him that the dog seemed very ill, as they could not induce him to eat anything. He went at once to his favorite, and as soon as he entered the room the faithful creature ran to him, deposited the gold coin at his feet and then devoured the food placed for him with great eagerness. The truth was that the gentleman had dropped the coin in the morning. The dog had picked it up and kept it in his mouth, fearing even to eat lest he should lose his master's property before an opportunity was afforded him to restore it.—Chambers' Journal.

Origin of Crescent Bread.

The origin of the Viennese bread shaped like a crescent, which is found in most places on the continent, dates back to the time when the Austrian capital was being besieged by the Turks under the terrible Grand Vizier Kara Mustapha, and as they failed to take the city by assault they decided to dig a passage under the walls and so penetrate into the town. In the daytime the noise of the siege made the sound of the tunneling inaudible, and at nighttime the defenders of the place were asleep, all but the sentries and the bakers. It was the bakers who, as they baked the bread for the garrison, heard the pickaxes of the miners coming nearer and nearer and gave the alarm. In the fighting the bakers' association took their share with the utmost bravery, and as a reward for their services the emperor gave them permission to make a special cake shaped like the Turkish crescent.—London Sketch.

Once a Nest of Pirates.

Lundy, in the Bristol channel, is an island where one may see an earthquake at any time. There is nothing alarming about these "earthquakes," however. They are simply certain curious crevasses in the west of the island, which the local people call by that name. Lundy in former centuries was a notorious nest of pirates. In King Henry III.'s time William de Marisco, a traitor to the king, built a castle there and set up as an early Captain Kidd. And so it went on through the centuries until in the middle of the eighteenth Thomas Benson, a Barnstable merchant, who was then lessee of the island, was convicted of piracy and smuggling and expelled. He had a contract for carrying convicts to the American colonies and used quietly to land them on Lundy and use their labor there.

The Nine In the Calendar.

The figure 9, which came into the calendar on Jan. 1, 1889, will stay with us 111 years from that date, or until Dec. 31, 1999. No other figure has ever had such a long consecutive run, and the 9 itself has only once before been in a race which lasted over a century—that in which it continuously figured from Jan. 1, 889, until Dec. 31, 999, a period of 111 years. The figures 3 and 7 occasionally fall into odd combinations, but neither of them has ever yet served for a longer period than 100 consecutive years in our calendar since the present mode of calculating time was established. It is also clear that from their relative positions among the numerals it is an impossibility for either of them to appear in date reckonings continuously for a longer period than a century.

Business Methods.

Great numbers of vast fortunes in this country have been and are being built up on the very ignorance of the masses in regard to business methods. The schemers bank on it that it is easy to swindle people who do not know how to protect their property. They thrive on the ignorance of their fellows. They know that a shrewd advertisement, a cunningly worded circular, a hypnotic appeal, will bring the hard earnings of these unsuspecting people out of hiding places into their own coffers.—Success Magazine.

Slovenliness In Speech.

Do not drift into careless habits of speech. Slang, which is slovenliness in speech, is as contemptible as slovenliness in dress. Many people use slang because they are too lazy to think of proper forms for the expression of thought. The clothing of our minds certainly ought to be regarded before that of our bodies.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's catarrh cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's catarrh cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Loaded For Hawks

By C. B. LEWIS

Copyright, 1906, by C. H. Sutcliffe

There was a great clattering and outcry among the fowls back of the farmhouse, with one long piercing shriek from a single hen, and Aunt Sally Warner dropped the breakfast dish she was wiping and ran out to see a hawk sailing away with a fat pullet in his talons. She waved her hands and cried "Shoo! Shoo!" but there was no salvation for the victim.

"What is it, aunty?" asked her niece, Miss Nettie Ward, from the city, who had come out to the old farm for a vacation.

"Why, another of them hawks has grabbed another of them chickens," was the reply. "I told pa only last night that he ought to git out and load the shotgun for me. I s'pose that hawks have got as much right to live as other folks, but I'll be snummed if"—

"But he did load the gun, and it's there behind the door," interrupted the niece.

"So it is! What an old goose I am getting to be! Nettie, did you ever fire a gun?"

"Never."

"Then I must show you how to do it. You take it in both hands this way. You draw it up to your shoulder this way. Then you shet your eyes and pull on the trigger with your finger, and the hawk drops dead. A hawk may come while I'm down cellar or upstairs and you are out here alone, and you want to be able to shoot him."

There were only uncle, aunt and Nettie at the farm, and the girl from the city soon wore off the newness and the novelty and became a bit lonesome. On account of this lonesomeness she almost bowed to a young man who passed the gate one evening at dusk and almost bowed to her, and when she went in she asked her aunt who it was.

"I hain't seen no strange young men around here myself," was the answer, "but I understand that the Stevenses, half a mile below us, have got a summer boarder. I guess he's the one you saw."

Things happen suddenly out in the country the same as in the city. Two days after seeing the young man Miss Nettie woke up with the toothache.

She had hardly come downstairs and told of it when the rural mail carrier left a letter for the aunt, which stated that a sister living ten miles away was ill and wanted her to drive over at once. She couldn't drive, and so Uncle Joe must go along. There was room for Nettie to go along, but the toothache kept getting worse. It didn't take her long to decide to stay home and doctor it. She could put on a bag of hot ashes, hold hot vinegar in her mouth and now and then press a wad of cotton batting wet with peppermint essence against the offending molar, and there was hope that she would be all right before night came.

During the long day, if the ache permitted, she could swing in her hammock, climb the cherry tree after the ripe fruit, hunt for hens' eggs in the barn and watch the ducks and goslings in the horse pond.

"There is only two things to look out for," said the aunt when she was ready to drive away. "Keep your eyes out for hawks and tramps. As we haven't seen a tramp for six weeks, I guess you won't be bothered, but them hawks are liable to drop down any time. If one comes, you be sure to shoot it. I've heard that shooting a gun has been known to cure the toothache."

Uncle and aunt had been gone an hour when the toothache ceased, and Miss Nettie piled into her hammock under the pear tree with a book. She was just opposite the kitchen door and only thirty feet away, and just inside the door stood the shotgun. The maid had great confidence that if hawk or tramp came along she would play the part of a heroine.

At 11 o'clock, when the young man who boarded down at Stevens' came past the house with his kodak, he was satisfied from the swinging of the hammock that Mrs. Nettie was reading.

Two hours later, when he had snapshotted an old lop horned cow, a crab apple tree and a brook that seemed to be flowing up hill, he returned to find the hammock so still that there was no doubt in his mind that the occupant was asleep. He had not past the house, walking as slowly as possible, when he caught sight of half the body of a man in an open window on the other side. Whoever it was had come sneaking down through the cornfield.

It was up to the young man to investigate. He started out with the impression that the intruder was a tramp, and he picked up a club, scaled the picket fence and gave a shout. The man in the window heard and drew back. He saw and dropped to the ground and ran around the corner of the house. He ran into the hammock and its sleeping occupant and fell over them and bounced said sleeping occupant out on the grass.

At about the same moment the young man from Stevens', who had started to pursue the unknown, caught his foot and took a roll, and he was so slow in picking the currant bushes out of his curly hair when he did get up that he turned the corner just as the bewildered Nettie had dashed into the kitchen, seized the gun and was ready for hawks.

She had been rudely awakened, there rudely dumped on the grass and stepped on, and in her half awake state she didn't know a hawk from a man until it was too late.

In a cool moment she never could have mastered the mechanism of that old shotgun. Under the momentary excitement she not only fired it, but sent a liberal quantity of bird shot into some one's legs.

She had only heard the report of the gun when she became panic stricken and fled into the kitchen and shut and bolted the door, and for the next three or four minutes she was in a half faint. Then she realized that she had shot a man. She remembered that he had cried out; she remembered that he had fallen on the grass. She wasn't overcome with horror at the thought. On the contrary, she had shot a tramp and was entitled to all praise.

Presently, as Miss Nettie listened with her ears against the door, she heard groans. That meant she had only wounded the tramp. Her heart was touched by those groans. She could not see the man after she had opened the door an inch or two, because he was just around the corner of the house, but she called out to him:

"Are you going away before I shoot again?"

"I—I can't say," was the reply. "I'm afraid I can't walk without help."

"Why not?"

"Because you have shot me in the legs."

"But my aunt told me to look out for hawks and tramps."

"But I am neither one nor the other."

Judging from his voice, he was a gentleman instead, and after drawing a long breath and breathing a prayer the girl stepped out and peered around the corner of the house. That young man from Stevens' was lying on his elbow on the grass. His face was very pale, and there were blood spots on the legs of his trousers. At sight of her he smiled faintly and said:

"My name is Arthur Welbourne. I am stopping with my relatives, the Stevenses. I live in the city and am an artist. If you will pardon me, I will say that I have heard you are Miss Ward. In passing the house while you slept in the hammock I saw a tramp climbing into a window. I gave the alarm, and he escaped. He it was who tumbled over your hammock and awoke you."

"And I thought you were a—a hawk or a tramp and shot you!" gasped the girl as she wrung her hands.

"But fortunately without serious results. All the shot struck my legs, but I may need assistance to get down home."

"But I shan't let you get down home. Here, take my hand and see if you can stand on your feet. Now hang on to my arm and let me get you into the house and on to the lounge. How could I have been such a silly girl? Now, then, you lie down here, and I'll run for Dr. James. I know he lives in the first house above here. I'll bring him right back with me."

She was gone before Mr. Welbourne could protest and was back in half an hour with the good natured country doctor. It took about an hour to pick out the score of bird shot that had been fired into the young man's legs, and during this time Miss Nettie walked up and down in the back yard with tears in her eyes and no care if the hawks came down and took every hen on the place.

The doctor assured her that Mr. Welbourne would live. Mr. Welbourne himself assured her that he was bound to live to make her further acquaintance, and he was taken down to the Stevenses in the doctor's buggy. He limped for three or four days, during which time Miss Nettie and her aunt called twice, and then he ceased limping and returned the calls.

Inside of a week he was something more than a caller. It beats all how fast a girl who shoots a man and the man who is shot by her can get acquainted—very well acquainted. Matrimony and hawks are sometimes shot at with a gun.

The Land of Ducks.

There are more ducks in China than in all the rest of the world. China, literally, is white with these birds, and day and night the country resounds with their metallic and scornful voices. Children herd ducks on every road, on every pond, on every farm, on every lake, on every river. There is no back yard without its duck house. There is no boat, little or great, without its duck quarters. Even in the cities of China ducks abound. They dodge between the coolies' legs. They flit, squawking, out of the way of the horses. Their indignant quack will not unseldom drown the roar of urban commerce. All over the land there are great duck hatching establishments, many of them of a capacity huge enough to produce 50,000 young ducks every year. The Chinese duck is extremely tender and delicate—the best tame duck for eating in the world. Duck among the Chinese is the staple delicacy. It is salted and smoked like ham or beef, and duck eggs are eaten as chicken eggs are in America.

The Oldest Bank Notes.

The oldest bank notes in the world are the "flying money," or convenient money, first issued in China in 2697 B. C. One writer tells that the ancient Chinese bank notes were in many respects similar to those of the present day, bearing the name of the bank, the date of issue, the number of the note, the signature of the official who issued it and its value in both figures and words. On the top of these curious notes was the following philosophic injunction: "Produce all you can; spend with economy." The note was printed in blue ink on paper made from the fiber of the mulberry tree. One of these notes bearing the date 1399 B. C. is still preserved in the Asiatic museum at St. Petersburg.

Shoplifters In Bookstores.

"Ours is one business in which there are no women shoplifters," said a bookseller yesterday. "We are troubled with shoplifters, but they are all men. Women don't seem to have any time for book stealing. It's remarkable how many thefts we detect in the course of a week. Visitors who look prosperous enough to buy whole libraries are often caught abstracting a twenty-five cent book. I figure that this is due to the great temptation. You see, in bookstores callers are given the run of the place and are at liberty to examine the stock at their leisure. A man picks up some little volume he may want, and, seeing no one at hand, the temptation to get something for nothing is too much for him. He slips the coveted article into his pocket, but we have wary salesmen, and most such offenders are tripped up. Then they have to pay for the purloined volumes and are warned that more serious consequences will follow any repetition of the shoplifting."—Philadelphia Record.

Social Limits.

You may tell a man that his necktie cannot be reckoned among his successes, you may point out his errors in regard to investments, you may reproach him for omitting to take advantage of the opportunities he has had for advancement, and he will accept all your criticisms with a reasonable calm, but take gentle exception to the way in which he pronounces a word and the chances are that his next remark is of a heated nature.—London Queen.

Took All the Responsibility.

"I'm going to give up that new specialist I've been trying."

"What's the reason?"

"Why, he's always telling me that I must try to help myself."

"What did the other man tell you?"

"He always told me he was helping me."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Where?

An English mayor tells this story: "A woman, speaking at a meeting in support of women's rights, repeatedly asked her audience, 'Where would men find themselves without women?'

"A weak voice from the rear of the hall:

"'In paradise, mum!'"

When Annie Played Gooseberry

By Ethel Barrington

Copyright, 1906, by Homer Sprague

Blackberries hedged the road on either side as it wound higher and higher toward the Berkshires. Here and there some belated strawberries, tiny specks of crimson in the grass, joined their fragrance to the invigorating breath of the pines. From an unpainted barn came the persistent click-clack, thud-thud of a loom, where Miss Lettice was weaving yards of carpet from little balls of colored rag. A voice sharp enough to the verge of displeasure startled her.

"Will you finish tomorrow, sister?"

"I—it doesn't hardly seem possible"—

"'Twas promised. 'Pears to me you're uncommon slow. Surely you're not such a fool as to be thinking o' William Henderson and such nonsense at your age."

Miss Lettice's hand involuntarily sought the fastening of her bodice, but the faint crackle of the secreted paper was too imperceptible to reach Mrs. Allen's ears.

"The letter was delayed. He's going away tomorrow"—

"Lettice Howard, he's no man for you. We settled that years ago. I'm ashamed for you—that you so much as think on him now."

"He's free again"— Miss Lettice spoke deprecatingly.

"Free, is it? If he wasn't good enough for you when he was young, a widower with three children certainly ain't no gain." With a toss of the head Mrs. Allen recrossed the road to her cottage.

Miss Lettice sat miserably uncertain, her hands idle in her lap. She forgot the loom and Mrs. Harris, who was counting on the finished carpet. Her thoughts were with the curly headed lad from whom her sister had separated her because he failed to settle in the town where he was born, but, like a rolling stone, was forever wandering, apparently gathering little of this world's goods. Now he had returned and wanted to see her. It seemed a cruel prank of fate to have joined forces with her sister and in the form of delayed mail prevent their meeting. A tear gathered beneath her lashes, but before it fell a pair of warm arms wound themselves around her neck.

"Aunt Lettice, you're in love, in love! Don't ask me how I know, because you are. You don't listen to what folks are saying, and as to the carpet"—

"Yes, dear, the carpet." Miss Lettice seized the shuttle and sent it flying through the shed of warp threads. Her feet mechanically worked the treadle shifting the heddles; then with the batten she bent the woof of rag into place again and again.

"We can't talk through that noise," she remarked plaintively.

"My dear, there is nothing"—

"There is, you darling. Come, 'fess up. I'm not to be put off. It's fellow sympathy." The crimson deepened in the laughing face, and with soft wheedling she gained the desired confidence, and Miss Lettice surrendered her letter.

It was in no sense a love letter, yet it was the nearest approach that the spinster had ever received. Possibly she read between the lines:

Dear Lettice—I am visiting my brother Joe till Wednesday. I want so much to see you. If I'd be welcome send me word. Yours, as ever, WILLIAM.

"I—I only got it last night"—

"It's too late to write now," her niece hurried on, "but you must go to Chatham to see him. Make believe you're shopping. Jennie's going tomorrow. I'll have Rob ask her to stop for you."

"Sister would never listen. Besides, it's not the carrier's day."

"She's making a special trip for Rob's mother. Just to think"—the girl rose excitedly—"it must be ten years"—

"Twelve."

"And you've cared all this time! Oh, Aunt Lettice, how could you bear it? Mother's good as she can be, only she's had so much trouble it's made her a little hard. Do as I say and I'll play gooseberry for you. After breakfast I'll run over here as usual. About 10 walk down the road till the carrier overtakes you, then to Chatham with her and to Joe Henderson's, ask for William and you'll have hours together. Jennie will pick you up on her homeward trip. You'll be back to supper. Mother need never know unless you choose to tell her."

"But the carpet! If she doesn't hear the loom she'll come over to find out what's wrong."

"Leave that to me. I've got to think, but I'll fix it somehow."

During supper Mrs. Allen glanced anxiously at her sister's flushed cheeks and untouched plate. With the morrow William would be gone, then Lettice would return to her normal self.

Later, when Annie wandered down the road with Rob, the moonlight showed their heads very close together, while now and again the girl broke into a ripple of mischievous laughter. Watching, the mother felt a pang of jealousy. Rob was a good match, yet she dreaded the day she must yield her daughter to another, and tonight the time seemed very near. She went several times to her room for forgotten trifles, and each time there showed a line of light beneath her sister's door.

"Seems to me you're a long time getting to bed," she admonished.

"I—I'm most ready," came the reply. If Miss Lettice's voice sounded less even than usual Mrs. Allen was not herself sufficiently calm to notice.

As was customary in the morning, Miss Lettice betook herself to the barn, and the working of the loom broke familiarly on the quiet air. Shortly after 10 Mrs. Allen, attracted by the rumble of wheels on the road, saw that the carrier was making an extra trip. She spoke of it to Annie, who came in hot and tired to noonday dinner.

"Call your aunt," she continued. "The pork will be cold. I got it specially to tempt her. She's eaten nothing these two days."

"Rob's mother invited her"— began Annie nervously.

"What for?" Mrs. Allen turned sharply, dish in hand.

"She has some rags for carpet weaving. Rob told me about it."

Mrs. Allen sniffed, disgruntled. "Your aunt had to go traipsing off without telling me. Besides, there's none too much daylight to finish Mrs. Harris' piece."

In the afternoon she was too busy preserving to notice Annie's absence or give thought of her sister, but when the last jar of jelly was sealed she caught up her sunbonnet and crossed the road to relieve Lettice.

As she entered the barn the glare from the outside sunlight blinded her, but even when that passed she doubted her own sight. Rob was working the loom while Annie, rosy and tender, hung over the back of his chair. Miss Lettice was nowhere to be seen, but the carpet was completed. Even as she entered Rob threw down the shuttle and caught Annie around the waist.

"Now, my reward!" he cried, his lips seeking hers lovingly.

"Annie!" At Mrs. Allen's cry the young people turned, but Rob did not release the girl.

"Mrs. Allen, she's promised—that is, with your approval. I love her. I'll be as good to her as I know how."

"Say yes, mother. I'm so happy"—

There was a painful silence before Mrs. Allen reluctantly gave consent; then her bitterness sought an outlet.

"Where is your aunt?"

"The carpet's done," explained Rob cheerfully.

"Done, is it? By whom?"

"Mis' Allen, Mis' Allen"— The carrier drew her horse up at the barn and on Mrs. Allen's appearance thrust a note into her hand and hastened on.

"Daughter, did you know of this?" Mrs. Allen's voice shook as she passed the paper to the girl, who read aloud:

"Sister, don't be angry. I just had to see William, and he could not bear that we should part again. I'm very happy.
LETTICE HENDERSON.

"She's married, mother dear. Now it's done won't you be glad too?"

But Mrs. Allen turned and walked silently over to the cottage.

"It's a bit rough on her losing you both the same day," admitted Rob, drawing the girl's hand into his, "but we'll make it all up to her in the future."

The Telltale Cloak.

In the old days men and boys wore rather long cloaks in the winter time. They were black and were lined with very bright and showy Scotch plaids. One winter's night when I was starting to church to square a crime of some kind committed during the week I hid my cloak near the gate and went off and played with the other boys until church was over. Then I returned home. But in the dark I put the cloak on wrong side out, entered the room, threw the cloak aside and then stood the usual examination. I got along very well until the temperature of the church was mentioned. My mother said:

"It must have been impossible to keep warm there on such a night."

I didn't see the art of that remark and was foolish enough to explain that I wore my cloak all the time I was in church. She asked if I kept it on from church home too. I didn't see the bearing of that remark. I said that was what I had done. She said:

"You were in church with that red Scotch plaid outside and glaring? Didn't that attract any attention?"

Of course to continue such a dialogue would have been tedious and unprofitable, and I let it go and took the consequences.—From Mark Twain's Autobiography in North American Review.

Fish Stories.

It is constantly said that fishermen greatly exaggerate the size of the fish that are lost. This accusation, though most frequently and flippantly made, is in point of fact based upon the most absurd arrogance and a love of slanderous assertion that passes understanding. These are harsh words, but they are abundantly justified.

In the first place, all the presumptions are with the fisherman's contention. It is perfectly plain that large fish are more apt to escape than small ones. Of course their weight and activity, combined with the increased trickiness and resourcefulness of age and experience, greatly increase their ability to tear out the hook and enhance the danger that their antics will expose a fatal weakness in hook, leather, line or rod. Another presumption which must be regretfully mentioned arises from the fact that in many cases the encounter with a large fish causes such excitement and such distraction or perversion of judgment on the part of the fisherman as leads him to do the wrong thing or fail to do the right thing.—"Fishing and Shooting Sketches," by Grover Cleveland.

His Reason.

"Halfback Smashum says that football players should not be allowed to wear head protections."

"On what does he base his arguments?"

"Why, he is out of the game with a lame foot, the result of kicking one of his opponents on the nose gear."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A Great Stamp Forgery.

The most colossal stamp forgery on record entailed the successful swindling of collectors throughout Europe in 1889. One day the French papers announced that King Marie I. of Sedang, an island in the vicinity of China, was coming to Paris. As it happened, this self created monarch was an ex-officer of the French navy, and his appearance in Paris created considerable sensation. As soon as his majesty had been duly "advertised" sets of seven different postage stamps marked "Sedang" and bearing three half moons appeared, and so great was the demand for them that in less than a month they realized 1,000 francs each. Not until the king and his ministers had reaped fat fortunes in this manner was it discovered that the whole thing was a hoax and the stamps consequently worthless.

Some Slips of the Tongue.

Never use the word "liable" when you mean "likely." Do not say, for instance, that "he is liable to come in at any moment." "Liable" implies misfortune and means "exposed to," "subject to," "in danger of."

Why do most of us speak of "unraveling a mystery?" Any good dictionary shows that "ravel" means "to unweave." You "ravel" a mystery, therefore, when you solve it. In "Hamlet" Shakespeare says: "Make you to ravel all this matter out."

If you and your friend Smith know a man called Jones, do not speak to Smith of "our mutual friend"—meaning Jones. Jones is your common friend. If you are friendly to Smith and Smith is friendly to you, you and Smith are "mutual friends," but that is the only sense in which the term may be rightly used.

The Solution.

The bankruptcy court can boast some delightfully naive rejoinders. "How, sir, is it possible," angrily demanded the opposing counsel of the bankrupt, "to live in the luxurious style you have affected on $200 a year?" The witness replied, with an air of justifiable pride, that this was a problem to which he had devoted considerable time in the interests of social economy, and the results of his humble efforts were now before the court.

WANTED, A MAN

By Martha McCulloch-Williams

Copyright, 1906, by E. C. Parcells

Orestes Magin stood twirling his red mustache, his eyes downcast, his heart beating like a trip hammer. Well might it beat fast! He had just asked Squire Malcom for his daughter. The squire was a choleric person at the best of times, but this morning his humor was fiendish. Orestes, of course, did not know that.

There was a reason for the mood, slight, to be sure, but any reason was sufficient when the time came for one of the old gentleman's rages. He was nearly as proud of his melon patch as of his daughter and felt it a personal insult if anybody else presumed to have melons earlier. Yet here were those miserable Dawsons, outlanders, city bred at that, sending him a melon fully ripe with their compliments and all because he had laughed at Dawson and his gardener when they had talked to him about a certain extra early kind.

Now, it would be quite ten days before he could return the sending.

"Want my girl, eh? Isn't there something else? Don't be mealy mouthed. Ask for my eyeteeth or the farm and all the money I've got in bank!" he roared at poor Orestes, who stood nervously shifting his feet. "By George, sir, I'm amazed at your moderation! Of course I've raised Edith just a purpose to see her throw herself away. Don't interrupt me, sir! I know all you're going to say—you love her and don't care a bit that she'll have more money than any other girl around. I've heard that from better men than you are. I tell you, as I've told them, she's not for any such cattle. I want her myself yet awhile. When I give her up it's going to be to a man. Be off with you now, sir, and don't let me see you here again—not unless you're willing to swear there shall be no more of this nonsense."

"I'm going," Orestes said hoarsely, turning half about. "But what you call 'this nonsense' is going to last—with me and with Edith, too, I believe. We'll wait a year to let you come to a better temper. But I'm going to see her across your gate every little while. I won't ever set foot on your land again, though, unless you ask it."

"Do you think I'll have such scandalous behavior?" the squire shouted. A hand fell over his lips. Edith had crept up behind him.

"Unless you will have it I shall go with Restes right straight off," she said, with a set of the mouth and a lowering of the brow that made of her her father's daughter. In suffocating anger that forbade speech the squire waved the pair away. Edith would not go. She held out her hand to Orestes, saying: "I'll be at the gate tonight. We'll settle things there." Then, as the young fellow strode off she fetched cool water to bathe the squire's head, fanned him and made him sit under the grapevines, saying no word to him until he had come to a semblance of reason. When she saw his head droop thoughtfully and his cane make faint plunges into the turf she whispered: "Don't fret yourself sick, father. You know you can't really say anything against Restes. He's as good as he's ugly."

"Then I like molly coddles, and I've been brought up to know men," she said, running away to see about dinner. The squire looked after her with a scowl that softened at last to a sigh. He thought the world of her. Love was indeed at the bottom of his scorn for poor Orestes.

Fate had hard lines ahead of the squire. Edith went duly to the gate every Wednesday evening at sundown and spent an hour there in earnest talk with her sweetheart. Even the squire could not bring himself to ignore Orestes completely when they met, but he never went beyond the gruff nod all the three Sundays before he was laid by the heels. Obstinacy—of man and beast—brought that about. Blicky, the buggy mare, took occasion to balk just at the top of the lane hill, and, instead of humoring her by walking up what remained of the rise, her master sat tight and [illegible] her pull him. The result was much backing, kicking and at last an upset vehicle and a broken leg for the squire with the prospect of spending a month at least flat on his back.

He roared and raged if by any chance Edith was out of his sight. For two weeks she did not see Orestes, but when the third Wednesday came she put on her bonnet with the air of a person not to be gainsaid. At the door of the squire's room she paused to say: "If you want anything, father, ring your bell—it's right there at hand—and Sally will come in. You'd better ring it every little while, else she'll go to sleep. I hate going, but there is no other way—not unless you"—

She stopped tentatively, her eyes wistful. The squire glared at her, his eyes full of fury. "So! This is your notion of duty," he said thickly. "Very well. Go your gait! I'm old and helpless, but there are a few things I can do."

"Yes, you can ring for Sally and scare her out of her wits," Edith said, trying to laugh as she walked away. At the doorstep she was tempted to go back, but the thought of Orestes waiting so patiently at the roadside was too much for her.

The squire lay for ten minutes tensely brooding, his face drawn and lined. Then he sat up and began recklessly to hitch himself out of bed. Within reach were the crutches which he was to essay tomorrow. Once he put out his hand to the bell, but drew it back, muttering: "No! By the Lord, I'll do it all myself! I'll show them they can't run over me—not quite." Then, still muttering and mumbling, he wrapped himself in his dressing gown, reached for the crutches and swayed and staggered across to the door.

The squire sat down heavily upon the second step of the broad stairway and began craftily going up backward. He lifted himself from tread to tread, then drew the crutches after him. By some whim he had kept his desk and all his papers in the big south chamber that had been his wife's. He was going there now. If he lived to come back from it, he would leave behind a new will, one that would come near to disinheriting his rebellious child. It would do more than that. It would set forth her rebellion, her neglect of him, in such fashion as to shame her, here where honor to parents was so vital a part of decency.

Painfully, with set teeth and agonized twinges, he won to his goal and sat in front of the opened desk. He found the will readily and tore it through angrily, then wrote upon the biggest fragment, "This is the work of a neglected father."

But all this had taken time, and dusk was falling rapidly.

He snatched up a fresh sheet and began to write, but the racing darkness was too quick for him. Before he was half through he stopped and looked about him, full of thwarted, impotent rage. He flung out his hand and struck it against a taper which had lain there so long he had forgotten it. By its feeble light he finished the new will and signed his name with a heavy, scrawling flourish.

Slowly, heavily, he got up and tried to steady himself while he put the crutches in place, but a sharp twinge made him stagger. He lost balance and fell prone, overturning the lighted taper and bringing it in contact with the contents of an open drawer. They blazed up merrily. In a wink the whole room was ablaze. As he lay helpless he saw the flames lick at the carvings on top of the desk. Then indeed the squire groaned aloud and dragged himself to the open window.

A wall of fire was behind him, before him a fall of almost twenty feet! To swing out and drop down below meant certain death even if he had strength for it. He shouted, but nothing came of it. Sally was really fast asleep in the cool back yard. He shut his eyes and thought of Edith's mother. In the great extremity there came a flash of comfort—when he was dead both wills would be burned, and Edith, his only child, would have everything. He ought to have been angry, but somehow he could not be. The mounting flames made his own wrath look poor and tame. He had given up and was waiting for the end when straight through the wall of fire there burst a slim figure, sheeted and blackened, but moving like the light itself. In a wink it had torn off the wet blankets protecting it, swathed the squire in them and was bearing him out to safety regardless of the flames that leaped at its own head. Once through the door other arms laid hold on him and helped to bear him down the stairs. When he came to himself fully he was stretched on the grass at a safe distance, while neighbors and farm folk fought the fire to a finish.

The squire lay very still, but kept his eyes on one slim scorched figure that led all the rest. When the danger was past he raised himself on his elbow and said, pointing to the slim leader: "Daughter, I take back everything. You've chosen a man."

Bancroft's Answer.

I have just heard a good mot—it is not more than a mot—of Bancroft, the American historian, who is now United States minister at Berlin. Loftus, our ambassador there, thought, I suppose, that the Yankee was a fair and would be an easy butt for the shafts of his peculiarly refined wit, so attacks him before a hundred listeners on some public occasion with "In God's name, Mr. Bancroft, why don't you Yankees send your representatives to court like Christians, in a proper uniform, instead of turning them out all dressed in black, like so many undertakers?"

Whereto Bancroft replies: "Really, Lord Augustus, I am surprised that you, as ambassador of the queen of England and with those keen powers of penetration for which you are so generally distinguished, should have failed to perceive that we could not be more appropriately dressed than we are at European courts, where what we represent is the burial of monarchy."—From Letters of Lord Lytton.

A British Blunder.

There is an old story of the foreign office in connection with the small French colony of Chandernagore. This tiny possession is situated on the Hooghly, twenty-one miles from Calcutta. It extends two miles along the river and one and a half miles inland from it. During our wars with France the settlement was taken and added to our dependency, but when terms of peace were arranged our minister of foreign affairs, in total ignorance of its position and of the importance of its retention, agreed to its being restored to France. It turned out that he thought it was a small island in the West Indies and of no consequence!—Westminster Gazette.

A thunder storm in January is not of ordinary occurrence around this section of the country but we had one Monday night that was a hummer and it was just as lively as though it had gotten around here on a June day, too. The lightening was as fierce as the summer storms are in the habit of producing and the thunder did its full share in the matter of keeping people awake for an hour or so while the storm was on.—Hudson Gazette.

If parents who have children in school would teach them to have regard for the authority of the teachers who are placed in school to control and teach them, the pupils would learn valuable lessons that they may otherwise be compelled to learn later in life and in a more drastic manner than by the punishment inflicted in school. Sympathizing with with a pupil who received merited punishment in school is the surest way in the world to teach that pupil a lack of regard for constituted authority that is very apt to prove greatly to the pupil's detriment in the years to come.—Ex

State Highway Commissioner Earle reports that during the seventeen months his department has been in existence fifty two miles of stone road have been built in Michigan, in addition to thirty three miles of first-class gravel road and enough clay gravel to make ninety and one-fourth miles. The total value of all the roads constructed was $163,177. The state has paid for completed roads $61,826 and the value of roads pending is $77,082. The widest piece of road constructed is the stone road from Lansing to the Agricultural College.—Ex.

"The Man of Her Choice."

In making his latest and most pretentious production "The Man of her Choice" Edw D Simmonds, author and manager of the play has aimed to out do all former attractions staged for melodramic theatre goers, both as to lavish scenic, mechanical and electrical accountremente, and as to the size and quality of the personnel of the company. The story of the play is one of romance and thrilling adventure, doupled with beautiful human sentiment, pathos, humor, strong comedy and subtly drawn, carrying its character in an exciting chase through all the human emotions.

A number of the most important scenes are laid in a modern Wall street 20 story building, in a busy broker's office near the close of the wildly fluctuating stock market. The interior of a modern apartment house showing many families residing on the same floor, the operating room in Bellevue hospital where a difficult and highly sensational operation is performed. The humble living apartment of the faithful Bridget where reduced to the necessity of taking in washing and makes light of the world's burden The simple quiet home, in the last act, of the hero, where wedding bells ring down the curtain on the final scene. From all reports "The Man of her Choice" is one of the most pretentious and spectacular melodramatic productions made in years. It will form a drawing card at the Bradley opera house, Tuesday, Jan. 22d.

Mrs. Albert Anderson.

Mrs. Albert Anderson died at her home on West Chicago street Sunday morning at one o'clock [illegible] 90 years. The funeral will be held from the home Wednesday morning at ten o'clock, Rev. Fox officiating.

Mrs. Anderson leaves five children to mourn; two daughters, Mrs. John Anderson and Miss Mary Anderson, three sons, Ernest, Burford P and Seaton W Anderson, all of whom reside in Tecumseh

Cynthia E. Wood.

Cynthia E. Wood was born Aug 4 1818 and died in Tecumseh Jan 8, 1907 She came to Michigan with her parents when a small child and lived with them many years 2 miles west of Adrian She was never married but her life has been a very useful one, doing all she could for others she was untiring in her efforts to do some one some good

For the past twenty years she has made her home with her sister, Mrs Fred Ferguson, where all knew her as Aunt Cynthia. Although at an advanced age her mind was clear and she loved to tell of her early experiences in pioneer life

She leaves to mourn two brothers, Noah F. of Adrian, and Chas S. Wood of Iowa, one sister, Mrs Fred Ferguson, of this place. The funeral was held Wednesday morning from the house, Rev. Blanch Young officiating. The remains were taken to Adrian and laid at rest in Oakwood.

ROUND ABOUT US.

While Mrs. W. P. Gregory was in the yard Tuesday searching for that common garden herb of the mustard family usually called horseradish, she discovered a number of full blown dandelions. We have a couple of them on our desk and they look so summerish with their large yellow many flowered heads that we have put on a white waistcoat (borrowed, of course) in order to appear more in harmony with our surroundings —Milan Leader

While driving home from Clayton on Tuetday John Kingsley met with an accident which might have proven disastrous. He was just south of Peter Hughes' and passing through a narrow strip of road when his horse became frightened and pitched into a slimy pit of mud and water on one side of the road. Both horse and man sank deep into the mud but with an effort extricated themselves and no damage was done.—Hudson Post.

President Roosevelt has nominated Geo W McElroy, son of Dr. Geo. McElroy of Adrian college, to be a commander in the navy. McElroy is the Michigan naval officer who won prominent and honorable mention by his conduct in the battle of Santiago in the Spanish war He is now within one grade of his captaincy and since the close of the war has distinguished himself by his achievements in engineering and construction in the navy.—Hudson Post.

Dr. C. Verne Smith, son of Mr and Mrs. C. A. Smith of this city, has entered into a three years' contract with a firm of American dentists in Calcutta, India, and leaves Saturday for his new home. He visited his parents here last week. From here he went to New York and thence by way of Europe and the Suez canal to India. He graduated from the university dental school last June and has been practicing in Shepherd since that time. The position offered him is a good one and will give him not only a splendid experience but financially a good thing as well Dr. Smith's sister, Dr. Shirley Smith, is a medical missionary stationed about 150 miles from Calcutta.—Hillsdale Standard.

FOUND DEAD

Milo J. Ousterhout was found dead near

BLOOD'S BRIDGE

Yesterday morning by Michael Smeltzer.

Milo J. Ousterhout was found dead near Blood's bridge yesterday morning about 11 o'clock by M. Smeltzer, who was driving to town. Mr. Ousterhout had left the house but a short time before, going to the mail box to post some letters and had wandered down the road. Coroner Stevens was notified and decided that an inquest was unnecessary as death was caused by heart disease, from which Mr. Ousterhout had been suffering for some time

Milo Osterhout was born June 6, 1840 in Hillsdale At one time he was proprietor of the hotel at Britton. He leaves a wife and five children to mourn his demise, Will Osterhout, who resides on Hudson Conkling's place, Edward, who is employed at the Anthony Fence Factory, Lyman of Cincinnatti, O., Mrs Ellen Steward of Detroit, and Mrs. Iva Dixon of Jackson. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Ridgeway church. Burial in the Ridgeway cemetery.

NATURE'S CATARRH CURE.

In no other way can this be done as naturally as by the use of Hyomei, breathed through the neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit.

Put several drops of Hyomei in the inhaler and then for a few minutes, four or five times a day, let the air you breathe come through it. In that way all the air that enters the nasal passages, the throat or the lungs, is filled with Hyomei's healing medication, reaching the most remote air cells of the respiratory organs, destroying all catarrhal germs and soothing and healing the irritated mucous membrane.

A few days' use of Hyomei will show how quickly it relieves all catarrhal conditions and you will not have to use it long before you find it has effected a complete and lasting cure.

So strong is C. A. Wright's faith in the power of Hyomei to cure catarrhal troubles that with every dollar outfit he gives a guarantee to refund the money unless the remedy gives satisfaction He takes all the responsibility and you cannot afford to suffer longer with catarrh when an offer like this is made to you

Should extra bottles of Hyomei be needed they can be obtained for 50c, making this one of the most economical as well as the most reliable remedies for catarrh that is known.

NATURE'S WARNING.

Tecumseh people must recognize and heed it.

Kidney ills come quietly, mysteriously
But nature always warns you through the urine.
Notice the kidneys secretions.
See if the color is unhealthy
If there are settlings and sediment,
Passages too frequent, scanty, painful
It's time then to use Doan's Kidney Pills
To ward off Bright's disease or diabetes.

They have done great work in Tecumseh.

Mrs. Susan B. Williams, living corner Maumee and Cummings street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I do not think there is a remedy on the market today that can equal Doan's Kidney Pills in the cure and relief of kidney troubles. I was afflicted with kidney trouble in a most severe form. At times it was impossible for me to get up from my chair without assistance on account of distressing pains which I had in the small of my back. I could not get my proper rest at night owing to the frequent action of the kidneys followed by a burning sensation. From a girl up I would occasionly pass gravel stones. I tried many physicians but received no benefit from their treatments. Finally I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills, I bought a box and after I had taken them the contents I noticed wonderful relief. I continued taking them until now I can say I am practically cured. I will not hesitate to recommend Doan' Kidney Pills as they are worthy of the highest praise."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's, and take no other.

Talk may be cheap, but the telephone companies have got mighty rich handling it.

Never can tell when you'll mash a finger or suffer a cut, bruise, burn or scald. Be prepared. Dr. Thomas Eclectric Oil instantly relieves the pain—quickly cures the wound.

Constipation causes headache, nausea, dizziness, langnor, heart palpitation. Drastic physics gripe, sicken, weaken the bowels and don't cure. Doan's Regulets act gently and cure const ipation 25c. Ask your druggist.

Money saved is money made, but you always have to make it first.

Cronp can positively be stopped in 20 minutes No vomiting—nothing to sicken or distress your child. A sweet, pleasant and safe syrup, called Dr. Shoop' croup cure, does the work and does it quickly. Dr. Shoop's croup cure is for croup alone, remember. It does not claim to cure a dozen ailments. It's for croup, that's all. Sold by all dealers.

Life's most desirable pleasures cost the least

And the more energy a man expends in talking the less he will have left to assist him in making good.

GUARANTEED REMEDY FOR INDIGESTION.

Interesting statement by John J. Orr.

When a man comes into this store and calls for any particularly indigestion remedy, we always give him what he asks for, but in case he leaves it to us, we usually recommend Pepsikola tablets.

Here is a preparation we have been selling right over the counter for years, and from actual observation we know it must do good, and really does relieve and cure indigestion and dyspepsia or there would be a steady stream of people coming back for their money, as every 25c box is sold with the understanding that you must be decidedly benefited or there is nothing to pay.

You simply try Pepsikola tablets with the understanding that they will steady your nerves, improve your appetite, relieve wind belching, coated tongue, sour stomach, fullness after eating, weakened energy and other symptoms of indigestion or John J. Orr is ready at any time to pay back your money without the least argument.

The Meaning of "Bridge."

The story goes that years ago, long before bridge was known in London clubs, two families who played the game under the name of "Russian whist" were living in neighboring houses at or near Great Dalby in Leicestershire. The only road of communication lay over a somewhat dangerous bridge. It was a frequent occurrence for the departing guests to say to their hosts: "Thank goodness, it is your 'bridge' tomorrow," meaning that the other party would have to cross the dangerous bridge the next night; hence is said to have arisen the title of "bridge." We give this story for what it is worth, but in our own mind we have little doubt that the modern name of "bridge" is merely a very easy corruption of the old title of "biritch." The two words "biritch" and "bridge" have absolutely the same sound when spoken quickly, so that it is easy to imagine how the change came to pass.—London Saturday Review.

The Deer's Tracks.

A deer if walking always places its feet firmly closed upon the ground, and consequently the track is sharply drawn—that is, the hoof is not spread to any appreciable extent. Exceptions are sometimes the track of deer that are heavy with fawns, during spring and early summer, and those of old bucks during the rutting season. But even then the heels of their tracks are considerably closer than in tracks made by a hog or a sheep. The hoofs of the latter two animals are always rounder at the toe than those of deer, making the tracks they leave easily distinguishable, and if the difference is not discernible in frozen snow the fact that the trail made by hogs or sheep does not register should settle all doubts for the tracker. A deer if not wounded will always step with its hind foot in the track made by the front foot.—Field and Stream.

Some Puritan Names.

One of the customs practiced by our Puritan forefathers was that of inflicting ludicrous and terrifying names upon their children. One Puritan damsel, when asked her baptismal name, answered, "Through-Much-Tribulation-We-Enter-the-Kingdom-of-Heaven, but for short they call me Tribby." Another unfortunate maiden bore the name The-Gift-of-God Stringer. A sickly boy was christened Faint-Not Hewitt. Another labored under Fight-the-Good-Fight-of-Faith White. A little girl who had a propensity for crying was at the age of eight christened Weep-Not Billing. There also were Thunder Goldsmith, The-Work-of-God Farmer, Search-the-Scriptures Morton, Be-Courteous Cole and, worst of all, Kill-Sin Pimple.

The Way He Viewed It.

"Good news!" cried the lawyer, waving a paper above his head. "I've secured a reprieve for you!"

"A reprieve?" replied the convicted murderer indifferently.

"Why, yes. Don't you see you ought to be happy"—

"Ah," replied the prisoner gloomily, "that simply means a delay, and I've always been taught that delays are dangerous."—Catholic Standard and Times.

The Lava Lake of Hawaii.

One of the large volcanoes in Hawaii has a large lake of liquid lava in its crater or hollow. This seething, boiling mass looks like redhot bottle glass to the naked eye, but under the microscope pieces of the original rocks of very minute size may be detected. Where it has cooled in curious festoons along the "coast" it resembles slag from some mammoth furnace.

Suggestive.

"Gee whiz!" said George for the twentieth time. "It makes me mad every time I think of the $10 I lost today. I actually feel as if I'd like to have somebody kick me."

"By the way, George," said the dear girl dreamily, "don't you think you'd better speak to father this evening?"—Philadelphia Press.

Suspicious.

"Some men are so suspicious," said the pessimist, "that if they went into the organ grinding business they would compel all the monkeys to carry little cash registers."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Suffering

Will Not Help Your Disease, but Will Weaken Your Nerves.

Folks who think it is better to bear pain than soothe it—are wrong.

Old-fashioned doctors used to say it was better, because they had nothing with which to ease pain but dangerous, heart-paralyzing drugs.

But now, that a safe remedy has been found, Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills, it is wrong to suffer, for nothing can be gained but weakened nerves.

A safe rule to remember is: When in pain, take an Anti-Pain Pill.

This will soothe your quivering nerves.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve pain by restoring the natural secretions, in which they differ from opium and similar narcotic drugs, which relieve pain by checking the action of the glands.

They are sure and harmless, and are the latest medical treatment for the cure of Headache, Neuralgia, Backache, Rheumatism, Dizziness, Toothache, Stomachache, Menstrual (Monthly) Pains. Also nerve irritations like Sea-Sickness, Car-Sickness, Sleeplessness, Indigestion, etc.

Pleasant to take, quick in results.

"I have used Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills for sick, nervous headache, and have received the best results. I heartily recommend their curative properties, for they are successful."—REV. RAY A. WATROS, D. D., Iowa City, Ia.

The Guessing Cook.

"I'd give a dollar," said the man who coddles his stomach, "to find a cook who doesn't measure. There used to be plenty of them. I remember the time when half the kitchens in the land gloried in a guesswork cook. Eating was a pleasure in those days. It isn't so now. In these whirligig times everything has a machine made taste. That is because the cooks measure so much. Instead of trusting to inspiration, as the heaven born cook is bound to do, the kitchen queens of today measure even the salt they put in the porridge. No wonder such cookery lacks individuality and is all on the same dead level of mediocrity. Merciful heavens, what ails these biscuits? They're heavy as lead."

"I think the cook made a mistake," said the man's wife. "I got a new one yesterday—one that doesn't measure. I am afraid she didn't put enough baking powder in the biscuits."—New York Sun.

An Oddity In Buildings.

"If you want to see an oddity," an undertaker said, "go to a cemetery and note how in the erection of old fashioned tombs they lower into place the marble slabs. These marble slabs are not lowered by means of a derrick. They are lowered by hand. The work is so delicate, you see, and it is so necessary not to chip the edges of the stones, that only hand work answers. You wonder, I suppose, how the men avoid pinching or crushing their fingers as they lower a great slab of marble on to its marble base. Well, they accomplish this by lowering the stone upon lumps of sugar arranged in orderly lines, and then they gradually dissolve the sugar by squirting water over it. All the huge, flat stones of old fashioned tombs or vaults are lowered by hand on to lumps of sugar."

The Beauty of the Snowflake.

The thin snow now driving from the north and lodging on my coat consists of those beautiful star crystals, thin and partly transparent. They are about one-tenth of an inch in diameter, perfect little wheels with six spokes, without a tire, or, rather, with six perfect little leaflets, fernlike, with a distinct, straight, slender midrib raying from the center. On each side of each midrib there is a transparent, thin blade with a crenate edge. How full of the creative genius is the air in which these are generated! I should hardly admire more if real stars fell and lodged on my coat. Nature is full of genius, full of the divinity, so that not a snowflake escapes its fashioning hand. Nothing is cheap and coarse, neither dewdrops nor snowflakes.—Henry D. Thoreau.

I Love You.

A Danish paper compares "I love you" in many languages. Here are some of them—the Danish paper is our only authority for their correctness: The Chinaman says, "Uo ngai ni;" the Armenian, "Ge sirem es hez;" the Arabian, very shortly, "Nehabeeck;" the Egyptian, similarly, "N'achkeb;" the Turk, "Sisi sevejorum," and the Hindoo, "Main tym ko pijar karyn." But overwhelming is the declaration of love of an Eskimo, who tries to win the chosen one by the pleasing sound of the dainty little word: "Uniyligsaerntdluinalerfimajungnarsigujak."

The Checkerboard Town.

Improvements, as St. Paul said of science, is often "falsely so called." If the real estate men would but forget the checkerboard idea in laying out a new town and would take a good landscape gardener into their confidence and the contour of the land into their consideration and plant trees accordingly suburbanites would rise up and call them blessed.—Country Life In America.

An Optimist Hotel Keeper.

Hotel Keeper—What did the stranger say when you gave him the bill? Waiter—Such monstrous prices he never saw. We were an abominable gang of thieves. Hotel Keeper—Good. So he didn't become abusive, then?—Fliegende Blatter.

Why She Took Him.

Mother—Why did you accept Charlie from among all the young men who have paid you attention? Daughter—Because he was the only one that had the good taste to propose.

Implicit Trust.

"Do you trust your husband implicitly in all things?"

"What a question! Of course I do—to a certain extent."—Stray Stories.

True politeness is perfect ease and freedom. It simply consists in treating others just as you love to be treated yourself.

Good Policy.

Teacher—Johnny, do you love your enemies? Johnny—Yes'm—when I meet 'em all at once!—Detroit News-Tribune.

Man is the only animal that knows nothing, that can learn nothing, without being taught.—Pliny.

DR. BOUCHELLE

Dr. L. B. Bouchelle of Thomasville, Ga., a physician well known in the South, is very enthusiastic over the cod liver oil preparation Vinol. He says: "I have used Vinol in my family and in my general practice with the most satisfactory results. It is exceedingly beneficial to those afflicted with bronchial or pulmonary diseases and to create strength."

The reason Vinol is so far superior to old fashioned cod liver oil and emulsions, is because it is a real cod liver preparation from which all the useless oil has been eliminated and tonic iron added.

We ask every weak, thin, run-down, nervous and aged person in town, and all those suffering from chronic colds, coughs and weak lungs, to try Vinol on our guarantee.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

PAIN

Pain in the head—pain anywhere, has its cause. Pain is congestion, pain is blood pressure—nothing else usually. At least, so says Dr. Shoop, and to prove it he has created a little pink tablet. That tablet—called Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablet—coaxes blood pressure away from pain centers. Its effect is charming, pleasingly delightful. Gently, though safely, it surely equalizes the blood circulation.

If you have a headache, it's blood pressure.

If it's painful periods with women, same cause.

If you are sleepless, restless, nervous, it's blood congestion—blood pressure. That surely is a certainty, for Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets stop it in 20 minutes, and the tablets simply distribute the unnatural blood pressure.

Bruise your finger, and doesn't it get red, and swell, and pain you? Of course it does. It's congestion, blood pressure. You'll find it is where pain is—always. It's simply Common Sense.

We sell at 25 cents, and cheerfully recommend

C. M. GILBERT & CO. BUY AN AMERICAN SLICING MACHINE AND ARE GLAD OF IT.

A Joy Forever.

The first time you drop in on C. M. Gilbert & Co. you cannot fail to notice their last and best investment--the American slicing machine, a machine they have long needed and wished for, and finally pulled the string and bought one. Here it is:

With this machine, costing $100.00, they have the only slicing machine that is clean, economical and satisfactory to them, while to their patrons it is very pleasing. Customers do half their shopping with their eyes. Knowing this, C. M. Gilbert & Co. have bought a machine that slices up and displays their dried beef, bacon, boiled ham, large bologna, and other meats, in such a delightfully pleasing way that one is forced to buy. Ask them to show you how it works. Dried beef can be sliced as thin as tissue paper; and also, this machine can be regulated to slice bread to a satisfactory thickness.

Being able to slice anything in boneless meats, bread, etc., C. M. Gilbert & Co. are in a position to give their customers a service they have never before enjoyed When buying this kind of meat or bread for parties, banquets, and all social events of this nature you can have everything sliced ready to serve.

For bacon it is fine—you can have it sliced to suit you, either thick or thin, and of the many thousands of users of this machine throughout the large cities of the United States, none are more satisfied or more enthusiastic than C. M. Gilbert & Co.

If you will accept their invitation to call and see the machine in operation, you will not be able to resist the temptation to buy the delicate shavings of bacon, dried beef or boiled ham. Try it. To the owner it is a saving in labor, works like a charm, and gives entire satisfaction. To the buyer boundless pleasure in knowing his purchase is cleanly, evenly and satisfactorily sliced.

Village of Tecumseh, Lenawee county, Michigan.

FRANCHISE.

At a meeting of the Village Council of Tecumseh village, Lenawee county, Michigan, duly called and held at the Council Chamber of said village on the 7th day of January A. D 1907, a quorum of said council being present, the following franchise was duly granted to the Adrian, Ann Arbor & Detroit Electric Railway Company, a corporation of the State of Michigan, to wit:

AN ORDINANCE.

The Village of Tecumseh ordains:

Section 1. That consent, permission and authority are hereby given, granted and duly vested in, the Adrian, Ann Arbor & Detroit Electric Railway Company, its successors and assigns, grantees, forever, to locate, establish, construct and operate a single track electric railway upon the following streets of the said village of Tecumseh, to wit:

Commencing on Ottawa street at the south corporate limits of said village, running thence north on said Ottawa street to Chicago street; thence east along said Chicago street to Maumee street; thence north on Maumee and Mill streets as far as practicable; thence in a northeasterly direction to the corporate limits of said village, with convenient tracks, turn-outs, sidetracks, switches and "Y's", and to run and maintain thereon electric railway cars for the carriage of passengers, baggage, express, mail and freight, for the period of thirty years from and after the acceptance of this ordinance.

Section 2. The tracks of said railway shall be four (4) feet, eight and one-half (8½) inches gauge and shall be laid on the middle line of said streets, provided that the rights hereby given shall be subject to the right of private owners in the waters, water rights and dams in and about River Raisin; and further provided that in crossing the railroad tracks now upon Cummins street in this village, the said grantee, its successors and assigns, shall forever preserve and maintain an unobstructed and safe passage for teams, vehicles and pedestrians along and upon Cummins street at its present grade where the same crosses Ottawa street. The rails of said railway shall be so laid that the tops thereof shall be flush with the surface of the street, and the tracks shall at all times be kept in good repair and in safe condition for the running and operating cars thereon At the time of laying said rails in said streets of this village or in making repairs thereto, the said grantee, its successors and assigns shall restore said streets with all convenient speed to the same condition as before the laying of said rails therein, and shall not obstruct or fill up any ditch, tile, culvert, drain or water course, and shall remove from said streets all debris caused by the laying or repair of said tracks, and said tracks shall keep to and observe the established grade of all streets wherein laid. Said grantee, its successors or assigns shall, whenever ordered by the Common Council, plank or pave the space between the rails of said track, and for the space of eighteen (18) inches on each side thereof with three (3) inch planks or brick or cement at the discretion of the Common Council, at such street crossings or places as shall be designated by the said Common Council, and to be such a length as said Common Council may direct and shall keep and maintain such planking in good repair. In the event of the village paving the streets occupied by said tracks or changing the grade thereof, then said grantee, its successors and assigns shall at the same time and at their own expense pave that part of the street between the said rails and for eighteen (18) inches on each side thereof, with the same materials as used by the village in said streets, and shall make like foundations therefor, and said grantee, its successors and assigns shall change the grade of said tracks to correspond with the surface of said streets. If said grantee, its successors or assigns shall neglect to comply with any order of the Common Council of the said village made in relation thereto for fifteen (15) days after service upon said grantee, its successors or assigns, of a duly certified copy of such order, the said grantee, its successors or assigns shall be liable to a penalty of ten dollars ($10) for each day's neglect to so comply with such order of said Council, to be recovered by said village in an action of assumpsit before any court of competent jurisdiction.

Section 3. The location of "Y's" and turnouts shall from time to time upon the application of said grantee, its successors or assigns, be designated by the Common Council of said village. Turnouts for the meeting of cars shall be made equally distant from the middle of said streets, unless otherwise directed by the Village Council. Turnouts or passing tracks shall not be laid across streets at the point of their intersection with other streets. No sidetracks shall be built or laid in any public street of said village except at the station of said company and then not crossing any intersecting street No cars shall be permitted to remain on said side tracks longer than one hour at a time. No steam power shall ever be used on said railway within the limits of said village except for the delivery of supplies at the power, house or power barn of said grantees, its successors or assigns. The cars and other equipment of said railway shall be of standard construction and sufficient for the accommodation of the public.

Section 4. The cars shall at all times be entitled to the tracks, and any vehicle on the same shall turn out without delay so as to leave said tracks unobstructed. The driver of any vehicle except that of the fire department as hereinafter provided, neglecting so to do shall be liable to a penalty of Ten Dollars ($10.00) and costs of prosecution or to imprisonment in the County Jail not more than ten (10) days, or to both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

Section 5. No trains used for construction purposes shall be allowed to obstruct any intersecting street, nor shall interfere unnecessarily with the use of said streets as public thoroughfares.

Section 6. Said grantee, its successors or assigns shall have and maintain in said village a suitable and convenient waiting-room for passengers and a fixed station for the reception and storage of baggage, express, mail, freight and packages, and the same shall not be left or deposited on the streets of said village so as to obstruct the free passage along the sidewalk in front of said station.

Section 7. The said grantee, its successors or assigns shall run or cause to be run and operated, cars which shall pass through said village each way enroute between the City of Adrian and the City of Ann Arbor or city of Detroit not less than four (4) times each way per day during the time said grantee, its successors and assigns shall operate said railway under the terms of this ordinance, unavoidable accident to tracks, cars or machinery or the action of the elements excepted.

Section 8. The rate of speed of the car or cars on said railway shall not exceed ten (10) miles per hour within the village limits. The employees of said grantee, its successors or assigns shall be sober, careful and prudent persons, attentive to the wants of patrons of said railway, and shall prevent as far as possible women, children and infirm persons from entering or leaving the cars while in motion, and it shall be the duty of said employees to keep vigilant watch for all vehicles, trains and pedestrians and all other obstructions on the tracks, and to exercise due care to avoid collisions. Conductors may prohibit disorderly person or persons under the influence of liquor from entering any car, and shall have the right to eject such persons therefrom and may call on local police officers to render such aid as may be necessary, and it shall be the duty of such officers to render such aid.

Section 9 All cars shall at all times be entitled to the use of tracks, and work trains or construction trains may be run upon said railway before the opening of the line for traffic, and at such times thereafter as shall not interfere with the regular business of the line. Provided, however, that this section shall not apply to any fire apparatus, engines, trucks or carts attending or going to or from any fire, nor be so construed as to prohibit the laying of hose across the tracks of said railway. And further provided that any car shall come to a full stop and remain in such position upon the approach from any direction of any fire apparatus while proceeding to a fire or in the direction from which an alarm of fire has been given until such apparatus shall have passed to such fire. If hose or lines of hose shall be laid across the tracks of said railway for use at any fire, all cars or trains on approaching such hose or lines of hose shall come to a full stop until said hose or lines of hose shall be removed or until permission shall be granted by the chief of the fire department or person in charge thereof for such car or train to proceed.

Section 10. All cars shall come to a full stop at the intersection of any street for the reception and discharge of passengers when signalled so to do. Before any car or train shall cross at grade the tracks of any steam or street railway, the motorman or conductor in charge of such car shall bring such car to a full stop, before going upon said crossing, at least thirty (30) feet distant from the track of said railway and not more than sixty (60) feet therefrom, and said car shall not cross said track until said motorman or conductor has ascertained that there are no trains or cars approaching thereon. No car or trains shall stop or stand upon a steam railway track. Provided also that no car shall be allowed to stop on any crosswalk or any intersecting street except to avoid collisions or to prevent damage to persons or property in the street. When the conductor or motorman in a car is required to stop at the intersection of streets to receive or leave passengers, cars shall be stopped so as to leave the rear platform slightly over the crossing.

Section 11. The cars after sunset shall be furnished with signal lights on the forward end of the forward car and on the rear end of last car, and a gong shall be sounded at least seventy feet before reaching a street crossing at all times and at all times and places whenever necessary to warn persons, vehicles or teams approaching the tracks of said grantee, its successors or assigns.

Section 12. All poles used within the limits of said village shall be located at such places and at such distances from each other as shall be designated by said Common Council, and they shall be of the same height as near as may be, and shall be kept neatly painted and in a safe condition. All wires carrying electric currents, except trolley and feed wires, shall be safely and properly insulated.

Section 13. Said grantee, its successors or assigns, shall remove or level all ridges or banks of snow or ice that shall fall on or be formed upon or between the rails and for two and one half (2½) feet outside the same. Such snow and ice as is removed as aforesaid shall be evenly distributed over the street in such a manner as shall least obstruct travel theron, and in case the Village Council shall deem it necessary to and does remove at any time a portion of the snow from any street through which said tracks are laid which said snow has been removed from said tracks, then and in that case the said grantee, its successors and assigns, shall bear his or its proportion of the expense thereof, to be determined on the basis of the proportion of the width of the street occupied by said tracks to the width of the whole street, and if said grantee, its successors or assigns, shall neglect to obey any order which the Common Council shall make in relation to such affairs or any order relative to he repair of the streets, which by the provision of this ordinance they are obliged to make, the said Common Council may cause the same to be made and may collect the expense thereof from said grantee, its successors or assigns. The said grantee, its successors or assigns, shall keep the space between the tracks and for two and one half (2½) feet each side thereof within the village limits, in good repair and free from dirt, rubbish, weeds and other obstructions.

Section 14. Nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to deprive the village of the right to authorize other railway companies to cross said tracks of said grantee, its successors and assigns, upon payment to the same by such other railway companies of the actual expenses to said grantee, its successors or assigns, of such crossing.

Section 15. Nothing in this ordinance shall be so construed as to prevent the Common Council from authorizing the laying of water or gas pipes, sewers or other conduits or the repairing of the same, in the streets where said line of railway shall run, the grantees herein shall have no claim for damages therefore against the said village provided that the work of laying such water pipes, gas pipes, sewers or conduits or the repair thereof shall be done in such a manner as not unnecessarily to damage such railway or its use.

Section 16. Service of any order, ordinance, rule, resolution or regulation that shall be made from time to time by said Common Council in relation to the repair, control or operation of said grantee, its successors or assigns, by delivering a duly certified copy thereof to any officer thereof or to any station agent or to any conductor or motorman in charge of any car or train being run or operated through said village.

Section 17. For each and every violation of the provisions of sections 5, 6, 8, 9, 10 and 11 of this ordinance, the person or persons, conductor or motorman or any or either of them shall be liable to a fine of not less than $5.00 nor more than $50 00 and costs of prosecution, or to imprisonment in the county jail for not more than sixty (60) days, or to both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court.

Section 18. Each and every violation by said grantee, its successors or assigns, of sections 3 and 12, shall be punished by a penalty not less than fifty dollars ($50 00) together with costs of prosecution before any court of competent jurisdiction. Each and every violation of said mentioned sections shall be treated as a separate offense.

Section 19. By acceptance of the permission and authority hereby granted, the said grantee, its successors or assigns, hereby agree to indemnify and save harmless the said village of Tecumseh from any and all loss or expense to which it may be subjected for any damage or injury that may be done to or suffered by any one of his, her or its person or property by reason of the construction or operation of said railway where said village is legally liable therefor by reason of negligence, carelessness or omission of said grantee, its successors or assigns, or any of his or its officers, agents or servants. The said grantee, its successors or assigns, shall be liable to said village of Tecumseh for all costs recovered against it in consequence of any act, neglect or default of said grantee, its successors or assigns, or from a breach of his or its officers, agents or servants of any of the provisions of this ordinance.

Said company, its successors or assigns, shall before the beginning construction work in said village, file a sufficient bond in the sum of Five Thousand ($5,000) Dollars approved by the Common Council and therein binding said grantee upon penalty of forfeiture to construct its line of rails with all convenient speed and to hold said village harmless and free from liability for any injury to person or property, actual or alleged that may result from the construction of said railway or from the presence of its material in any street of the village.

Political Speeches.

Some people think, for instance, that political speeches do not matter. Political speeches matter far more than the acts of parliament which they introduce. Men care less even about what is being done than about why it is being done. The spirit in which a thing is effected is of far more practical importance even than the thing itself. This can be tested by the simple experiment in social life of removing a gentleman's hat for him, first in one spirit, then in the other. If you get rid of all the talk about practical politics (talked by tired men with £10,000 a year) and really look impartially at the history of human society you will see that collisions have arisen far more from insults than from injuries. Some of my imperialist friends, for instance, tell me that because I think South Africa a nuisance to England therefore I should permit Germany to pluck it from us in war. This is like saying that because I think a top hat ugly and uncomfortable I should let another man knock it off in Piccadilly. No doubt it is uncomfortable. But why should he knock it off? Who is he? I wonder.—G. K. Chesterton in London News.

Feminine Study of Man.

Man is when all is said a vastly lovable being and even his faults—indeed, chiefly his faults—have a most unholy attraction for us. But man the conquered is a very different creature from man the conqueror. The first is always ready and longing to afford us everything in the world we desire—ready to sell his immortal soul for our pleasures. The second grudges us a kind word.—A Spinster in M. A. P.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's catarrh cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's catarrh cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

A Lesson In Japanese Courtesy.

I remember many years ago a dinner at the palace—a great official dinner—where among the guests were many of the old leaders of rebellions, old upholders of the shogunate. The last shogun himself, Prince Tokugawa, proud, silent, grim, sat opposite to me, and I wondered if any human emotion could show itself on that impassive face. At that moment the emperor raised his glass and bowed in kindly smiling fashion to his ancient opponent. The face changed, was suffused for one illuminating moment with a glow of responsive fire. It seemed as if the emperor was once more thanking the shogun for his splendid patriotic act when after years of struggle he voluntarily laid his power and his prerogatives at the emperor's feet "for the good of the country," and as if Prince Tokugawa, looking back—and looking forward—for Japan, said to himself once more, "It was well done."—Mary C. Fraser in World's Work.

Figures That Stagger.

It used to be that astronomy, with its stupendous magnitudes, incredible velocities and inconceivable distances, seemed to make the greatest demand on man's belief, says the London Telegraph. Today it is physics. We read, for instance, that Hertz's oscillations give rise to 500,000,000 oscillations per second. Where is the man who can conceive of anything happening in the five-hundred-millionth part of a second? But this is quite a long period compared to some of those now accepted as inevitable optics. According to Maxwell's great theory, a light wave is a series of alternating electric currents flowing in air or interplanetary space and changing their direction 1,000,000,000,000,000 times per second. And this is supposed to be true of every form of light coming from the sun, the electric lamp or a lucifer match. Who can think of anything happening in the thousand-million-millionth part of a second?

Landseer's Valet.

Sir Edwin Landseer, the famous animal painter, had an old servant—his butler, valet and faithful slave—named William, who was particularly assiduous in guarding the outer portal. No one could by any possibility gain direct access to Sir Edwin. The answer would invariably be, "Sir Hedwin is not at 'ome." The prince consort himself once received this answer when he called, amplified on that occasion by the assurance that "he had gone to a wedding," an entire fiction on William's part, as the prince found out, for on walking boldly in and round the garden he noticed Sir Edwin looking out of his studio window. This was the faithful attendant who one day, when a lion had died at the "zoo" and his corpse came up in a four wheeled cab to be painted from, startled his master with the question, "Please, Sir Hedwin, did you hordER a lion?"

Thatched Roofs In England.

"The thatched roof, which makes the English cottage picturesque, is doomed," said an architect. "For some years it has been going gradually. Soon it will be altogether a thing of the past. Fire insurance is the cause of the thatched roof's disappearance. No company will insure a cottage or its contents if the roof is thatched. They who want insurance must substitute for the roof of thatch a tiled one. As long as the English cottager remains very poor so that his house and furniture are not worth insuring he keeps a thatched roof over his head. As soon as he begins to prosper and lays in household goods of value he takes out a fire policy and away then goes his thatched roof."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

His Style of Hitting.

"And, now, Mrs. Sullivan," said the counsel, "will you be kind enough to tell the jury whether your husband was in the habit of striking you with impunity?"

"With what, sor?" queried Mrs. Sullivan.

"With impunity," repeated the counsel.

"Well, he was, sor, now and thin, but he struck me oftener wid his fisht, sor."

His Remark.

"I won't do any more work for that man Hopkins."

"Why?"

"Well, he passed some remark I did not like."

"Did he? What was it?"

"He said, 'Brown, you won't be wanted after this week.'"

Constant Advice.

"A woman should always depend on her husband for advice," said the devoted wife.

"Yes," answered the visitor, "but it does grow monotonous not to get any advice except to economize."—Washington Star.

Lost Youth.

A man looks back with regret, but without bitterness, to his lost youth; a woman, however vehemently she may protest to the contrary, seldom if ever attains to this same calm serenity.—Gentleman's Magazine.

Microscopic Writing.

Thackeray could write the Lord's Prayer on a sixpence, which is the size of a dime, but it is now possible to write the prayer on a surface so small that one grain of sand would hide it completely. Microscopists sell copies of the Lord's Prayer written in a circle only the five-hundredth part of an inch in diameter. To read the prayer it is necessary to use a lens magnifying 500 times. Writing so incredibly small is accomplished by means of levers six feet long. These levers are so adjusted that the motion is gradually lessened as it travels along them till, when it reaches the delicate end, armed with a minute diamond pen that rests on a glass surface, it causes the pen to register on the glass writing so small as to be invisible.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

The Cantankerous Member.

Elder Keepalong—When we hear of these terrible calamities happening in other parts of the world, deacon, we ought to be exceedingly thankful that our lot is cast in a favored land.

Deacon Ironside—On the contrary, elder, I feel like resenting it. What right have we got, I'd like to know, to be better off than other people?—Chicago Tribune.

Not So Easy.

"Dibble, don't you think a man ought to save at least half the money he makes?"

"Yes, but how can he, with his creditors howling for it all the time?"

An Instance.

Hewitt—I was once kicked by a donkey. Jewett—We often hear of people kicking themselves.—New York Press.

Difficult Haymaking.

One of the most curious sights that one notices in the agricultural parts of Norway is the peculiar way of drying out the hay. On account of the extreme dampness the grass rots if left on the ground after it is mowed. Wooden drying fences that stretch for hundreds of yards across the fields are built, and every night the hay is hung out to dry, like the family wash. The sun helps along in the daytime, but it is only a half hearted help, and in the neighborhood of Bergen, where it is said to rain 364 days out of the year, the hay is almost always "on the fence." In the lake districts, where the hilly country makes means of transportation very difficult, a heavy copper wire is stretched from the top of a mountain to the village in the valley below. Down this huge masses of hay are sent sailing through the air, sometimes whizzing dangerously near the unwary tourist's head.—New York Tribune.

Proper Kind of Window.

Every window in a house should be as high as the ceiling, but a paneled top that can be opened in the summer and closed in the winter. If ceilings were only six feet high and every occupant of a house stood seventy inches the accumulation of fetid odors against the ceiling would soon kill.

Default having been made in the conditions of payment of a certain mortgage executed and delivered by John Bailey to Jonathan Knouse, dated March 1st, 1867, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in the County of Lenawee, State of Michigan, on the 8th day of March A. D. 1867, in Liber 43 of Mortgages on pages 626, 627 and 628; assigned by said Knouse to Robert Boyce by due instrument in writing, dated June 17th, 1869, recorded in said Register of Deeds' office on the 7th day of September A. D. 1869, in Liber 57, of Mortgages on pages 346 and 347; assigned by said Boyce to Robert McHenry by due instrument in writing, dated August 24th, 1855, and recorded in said Register of Deeds' office on the 1st day of September A. D. 1855, in Liber 113 of Mortgages on page 85; assigned by said McHenry to W. D. VanTuyle and Charlotte C. Silvers by due instrument in writing dated October 9th, 1880, and recorded in said Register of Deeds, office on the 25th day of February A. D. 1891, in Liber 125 of Mortgages on page 207; assigned by said W. D. VanTuyle and Charlotte C. Silvers to Peter B. Sutfin by due instrument in writing dated February 2 d, 1891, and recorded in said Register of Deeds' office on the 24th day of February A. D. 1891, in Liber 125 of Mortgages on page 206; assigned by said Sutfin to Albert L. Brewer by due instrument in writing dated April 22d, 1892, and recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds on the 9th day of May A. D. 1892, in Liber 125 of mortgages on page 458; and assigned by Percival W. A. Fitzsimmons, as administrator of the estate of said Albert L. Brewer, deceased, (said Albert L. Brewer having meantime departed this life and said Fitzsimmons having been duly appointed administrator of said estate) to me, the undersigned, as Hettie W. Brewer (now by marriage Hettie W. Lawrence), by due instrument in writing dated October 18th, 1898, and recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds on the 14th day of November A. D. 1898, in Liber 143 of Mortgages on page 387; there being claimed to be due to the undersigned at the date hereof upon said mortgage, and the note secured thereby, the sum of five hundred fourteen and 24—100 dollars and no suit or proceeding at law, or in equity, having been instituted for the recovery of said indebtedness, or any part thereof:
Notice is therefore hereby given that, by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained (now operative by said default) I will, on Monday the 4th day of March A. D. 1907, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the east front door of the Court House in the City of Adrian, in the County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, (that being the place where the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee is holden), for the purpose of realizing the amount of said mortgage debt with interest thereon to accrue and costs of this foreclosure, including a lawful attorney fee, sell, at public vendue, to the highest bidder, the lands and premises in said mortgage described, viz:—Those lands in the Township of Clinton, (formerly Tecumseh), County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, known as the west half of the south-west quarter of section two, town five south, range four east, containing eighty acres of land more or less.
HERVIE W. LAWRENCE,
(formerly Hettie W. Brewer),
Assignee of said mortgage.
Dated: November 30th, 1906.

A Clear Chew for Every Chewer

No man wants chewing tobacco which has been exposed to the dust, dirt and contaminating odors of the average store or warehouse. But a clean, pure, sweet tobacco like

TIGER

which is absolutely protected in air-tight, dust-proof packages and kept clean in a tin canister—this kind suits the taste of every chewer.

Tobacco can't be kept clean nor in good condition when it's loose in an open pail. But Tiger is always absolutely clean, full-flavored, and sweet—fit for any man's mouth—and you know it. Every package is sealed, so that substitution of cheaper tobacco is impossible. Get a package in the nearest store.

5 CENTS

For 1⅓ oz. (guaranteed by the United States Government) of the best chewing tobacco you have ever chewed.

DETROIT MAN IS WONDER.

Clarence Zibble "Trims" H. C. Wheeler and escapes unscathed.

Bay City, Mich., Jan. 17.—Harry C. Wheeler of Saginaw, member of the state board of barbers' examiners, received a thorough "trimming" in this city today just before the close of a meeting of the board in this city. Wheeler and a barbers' supplies salesman, Clarence Zibble, of Detroit, had become involved in a difference while at dinner in a local hotel.

Wheeler is alleged to have threatened Zibble if the latter came to the examiners' room. Zibble went up there during the afternoon, and, it is alleged, the two met. Both strong and powerfully built, they engaged in an old fashioned mill with bare knuckles. Zibble apparently was untouched but Wheeler's face was covered with court plaster when he emerged from the hotel.—Detroit Free Press.

A Tea Proposition.

BUY a pound of TECUMSEH CHIEF JAPAN TEA and get (FREE) a handsome, air-tight canister to keep it in.

The extra goodness of the tea is reason enough for your following this suggestion, and you will say so too, after you come face to face with it in the cup.

This canister offer is made you as an inducement to try the first pound. The cost of the canister will knock the profit of that pound, but the flavor of TECUMSEH CHIEF TEA is simply irresistable, and once you try it you join its host of friends. That means another tea customer for this store.

You can depend upon its being uniform always. Order a pound to-day and say you want the canister. The price is 50cts. the pound.

Mrs. Burt Allen leaves tomorrow for Grand Rapids to join her husband, who has resigned his position with the D. T. & I and has accepted a position with the Pere Marquette as general coach foreman at Grand Rapids.

Mrs. Edwin Russell, who was operated upon at her home in Macon last week, is reported very low with but little hope for her recovery. Mrs. Russell was formerly Miss Bessie Camburn and attended the high school here.

Mrs Thankful Aten of Onsted, passed away last night at her home in that village of heart trouble. Mrs. Aten is well known in Tecumseh. Her husband, Simeon, was a brother of James and Miss Frano Aten of this place. Mrs. Wm. Bradley is a sister-in-law.

John Cramer & Son of Detroit, will be in Tecumseh soon with their new steam feather renovating car. This is a new process and the work they do is fine. They are now at Macon where the best of satisfaction has been given. If you have anything in this line you will be pleased with the work.

A bowling team of five men from Manchester were here Tuesday evening and played a three game match against five Tecumseh players. Tecumseh won by 235 points. Drake made the highest score on the local team, bowling 542. Those present from Manchester were Raynor Haeussler, Carl Lehr, A. Jaeger Andrew Hanham and Chas. Youngbans.

Notice.

We hereby give notice that Messrs. Slayton & Son, implement dealers of Tecumseh, have secured the agency and exclusive sale of Anthony fence for the townships of Raisin, Adrian, Franklin, Tecumseh, Clinton, northwest corner of Ridgeway, and southwest corner of Macon, in Lenawee county. No orders from this territory will be filled or accepted at factory and we refer all customers to Slayton & Son.

"The Man of Her Choice."

The attraction at the New Bradley opera house Tuesday, Jan. 22, will be "The Man of her Choice" written and produced by Edw. M. Simmonds. Being the producer of his own play Mr. Simmonds has tried to eclipse anything ever before offered to patrons of melodrama. That he has entirely succeeded in this is the verdict of the critics wherever the play has been presented. He has been most lavish in its scenic endowment and has introduced a number of novel mechanical and electrical effects. Of sensations, there are sufficient for a half dozen dramas and still many as there are, it is said that they all dovetail perfectly into the plot. It is the old story of love, adventure and jealousy, but it is treated in a wholly new way. The twenty-five principal characters are entrusted to an exceptionally strong company.

Mrs. Charles Belanger.

Mrs. Chas. H. Belanger of South Bend, Ind., died Thursday at the home of her sister, Mrs. Charles Sutton, two miles northeast of Tecumseh, age 47 years. The funeral will be held Saturday at 10 o'clock at the Sutton home. Burial at Clinton.

Cured of lung trouble.

"It is now 11 years since I had a narrow escape from consumption," writes C. O. Floyd, a leading business man of Kershaw, S. C. "I had run down in weight to 135 pounds and coughing was constant, both by day and by night. Finally I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery and continued this for about six months, when my cough and lung trouble were entirely gone and I was restored to my normal weight, 170 pounds." Thousands of persons are healed every year. Guaranteed at C. A. Wright's drug store. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

Section 20. The fare to be charged for carriage of any single passenger for one continuous passage over said railway within the limits of said village, shall not exceed five (5) cents, provided that children under five (5) years of age when accompanied by its parents or guardians shall be carried free.

Section 21. The said Common Council hereby reserves all right to make further rules, orders and ordinances and regulations as may from time to time be deemed necessary to protect the interests, safety, welfare and accomodation of the public in relation to said railway not inconsistent with the provisions of this ordinance, but they shall not reduce the fare herein provided for nor alter nor repeal section one of this act except by and with the consent of said grantee, its successors or assigns.

Section 22. In any case any other electric railway entering the said village of Tecumseh, shall desire to use the track of said grantee, its successors or assigns along the streets herein named for the operation of any other electric railway, said village shall have the right to grant to such other electric railway so entering the village, the right to use such tracks upon payment to the grantee, its successors or assigns, of reasonable current and trackage charge. In case such parties cannot agree upon the rates of charge for the use of said track and current, said prices to be fixed by three arbitrators, one of whom shall be chosen by each of said article and the third by the Common Council of the said village of Tecumseh. Provided, however, the said grantee, its successors or assigns, shall not have the power to grant the use of said tracks through said village to be used in common with said other party to any person or company except with the permission of the Common Council of said village first thereto obtained. And provided further that said Common Council hereby reserves the right to grant the use of said streets for street railway purposes to any other person or company who may ask for and construct the same before the grantee herein named shall construct the road herein referred to. In such event the grantee herein named shall be protected by a clause in such other ordinance if granted as aforesaid, to the same effect as the first two clauses of this section.

Section 23. The terms, conditions and agreements contained in this ordinance shall constitute a valid and binding contract between said village of Tecumseh and said grantee, its successors or assigns, and this ordinance shall take effect upon its acceptance in writing by said grantee, its successors or assigns, if said acceptance be filed within six months after the date of its passage, otherwise said ordinance shall be null and void.

Section 24. The construction of said railway shall be begun within eighteen (18) months of the acceptance of this ordinance by said grantee, its successors or assigns and said railway shall be constructed and placed in operation between the said cities of Adrian and Ann Arbor and between Adrian and Detroit on or before the expiration of two years from the date of acceptance.

Section 25. Said grantee shall pave the space between the rails of said railway and for eighteen (18) inches outside of either rail with crushed stone or gravel as the council may direct and shall maintain such paving flush with the top of the rails on and along the streets of the village. The removal of all necessary electric light, telegraph and telephone poles and wires shall be made at the expense of said grantee, its successors or assigns and no wooden poles shall be erected along any street by said grantee without the consent of the Common Council, provided that temporary poles of wood may be placed during the construction of said railway, to be removed upon order of the village council. All high tension of feed wires and transformers shall be located under the supervision of the Common Council of the village.

Section 26. The company shall furnish respectable lights over the streets on which they run, during the life of this franchise.

Approved.

Ayes, Elliott, Teachout, McIntyre and Heesen. Nays, none. Declared adopted.

Moved that the following ordinance be adopted:

The village of Tecumseh, ordains—That the Board of Cemetery Trustees, shall as soon as practicable after the first Monday in April of each year convene and elect one of their members as president of said board for the year next ensuing said first Monday in April, and shall also elect one member of said board as treasurer whose duty it shall be to receive and receipt for all money or securities received by him from lot owners for perpetual care of cemetery lots, monuments, headstones or markers; it shall be the duty of said treasurer to keep the money so paid to him, invested at a reasonable rate of interest and from the interest so accumulated, pay for moving the lots, keeping monuments, headstones and markers, properly in their place; and doing such other work or repairs in and about lots for which such fund has been paid in as shall be deemed necessary by said board of trustees; such treasurer shall keep the money or securities so received by him, seperate, and shall not commingle such fund with his own, or any other funds, and shall make an annual accounting to the Village Council on or before the first Monday in March of each year, showing in detail what amount of money he has received and from whom, what rate and and gross amount of interest, how expended and to whom paid.

Said treasurer shall keep books of account known and designated as a "Cemetery Perpetual Care Account," which show the original amount received and from whom, whether money or securities, where invested, at what rate of interest, what amount and when and from whom interest is received, what amount expended from each fund so paid to said treasurer, to whom paid and for what purpose.

Said treasurer shall not invest said money or make deposits of the same without the advice and consent of the other members of the Board of Trustees.

Such treasurer shall at or before entering upon the duties of his office, file with village council, a bond; the amount thereof to be fixed by said council, and the sufficiency of said bond to be approved by said council, and if Surety Company bond is procured, it shall be paid for out of the general cemetery fund; and it shall be deemed a proper charge against said cemetery fund. Said Board of Cemetery Trustees shall have the right and are hereby empowered to issue a certificate to any lot owner or owners, who shall pay to such treasurer an amount specified by said Board of Trustees, for care of and repairs on lots, lot or half lot as in the judgement of said Board of Trustees, is just and reasonable; which said certificate shall be binding for perpetual care of lots as aforesaid, upon the village of Tecumseh the Common Council and their successors forever.

INSTALLATION

A joint installation of the Royal Neighbors and

MODERN WOODMEN

A joint installation of the Royal Neighbors, Ivy Leaf Camp, No. 4096, and Camp H. No. 5364 Modern Woodmen of America, was held in their hall in the Bidwell Block last Tuesday evening. The hall was filled with a very appreciative audience, all of whom enjoyed the work and drills which were beautifully done. The meeting was called to order by Venerable Counsel Jas McKinney, who introduced James McCann and Roy Codling as grand installing officers. Their work deserves no small amount of praise. The officers were installed for 1907 as follows.

V. C.—B. A. Rauch.
W. A.—Geo. Rubadou.
B.—Dr. L. Jones.
E.—Elmer Lockwood.
C.—Dr. E. Brown.
Mgr.—Jas. McKinney.
Watchman—Elmer Boyce.
S.—Ernest Howard.
Phy.—Dr. L. M. Jones.

At the close of the Woodmen installation the Royal Neighbors were given the floor, Mrs. Bert Mominee acted as installing officer and was assisted by Miss Orra Stewart, ceremonial officer. This work was nicely done in every particular and creative of much flattering comment. The following officers were installed:

O.—Mrs. Zella Hooten.
V. O.—Mrs. Kate Neeley.
Chan.—Mrs. Iva Marsh.
Rec.—Mrs. Hattie McIntyre.
O. S.—Mabel Kemp.
I. S.—Adah Lockwood.
Mgr.—[illegible]
Phy.—Dr. L. M. Jones.

At the close of the installation a banquet was served by the Royal Neighbors. After refreshments, dancing was enjoyed until a late hour.

GUARANTEED STOMACH REMEDY.

C. A. Wright Will Refund money if Mi-o-na Fails to cure.

You may ask why it is that Mi-o-na stomach tablets are sold by C. A. Wright under a guarantee to refund the money unless they cure, when no other treatment for stomach troubles is sold in this manner.

The answer is simple and conclusive. Other medicines for stomach troubles merely digest the food, while Mi-o-na strengthens the whole digestive system so that it soon becomes able to care for all the food that is eaten.

If you do not use your arm or leg for a month, the muscles become flaggy and weak and you have to resort to artificial help. It is the same way with the stomach muscles. If they are not used, they become so weak that it is necessary to continue using a digestive with the food you eat.

On the other hand, when you use Mi-o-na, your stomach soon grows so strong that you can give up the use of medicine.

Mi-o-na costs 50c a box and does more real good than a dozen boxes of ordinary digestive tablets. The proof of this is shown in fact that a guarantee, absolute and unqualified is given by C. A. Wright with every box of Mi-o-na.

The average woman would rather marry a man to reform him than not be able to pose as a reformer of some kind.

Beauty more than skin deep.

Every one who wants a good healthy color and a clear skin free from billiousness, sluggish liver and chronic constipation should get a package of Dainty Laxakola tonic tablets, nature's sweet restorer. JOHN J. ORR.

NATURE'S WARNING.

Tecumseh people must recognize and heed it.

Kidney ills come quietly, mysteriously
But nature always warns you through the urine.
Notice the kidneys secretions.
See if the color is unhealthy
If there are settlings and sediment,
Passages too frequent, scanty, painful
It's time then to use Doan's Kidney Pills.

To ward off Bright's disease or diabetes.

They have done great work in Tecumseh.

Mrs. Susan B. Williams, living corner Maumee and Cummings street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I do not think there is a remedy on the market today that can equal Doan's Kidney Pills in the cure and relief of kidney troubles. I was afflicted with kidney trouble in a most severe form. At times it was impossible for me to get up from my chair without assistance on account of distressing pains which I had in the small of my back. I could not get my proper rest at night owing to the frequent action of the kidneys followed by a burning sensation. From a girl up I would occasionly pass gravel stones. I tried many physicians but received no benefit from their treatments. Finally I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills, I bought a box and after I had taken them the contents I noticed wonderful relief. I continued taking them until now I can say I am practically cured. I will not hesitate to recommend Doan' Kidney Pills as they are worthy of the highest praise."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's, and take no other.

Talk may be cheap, but the telephone companies have got mighty rich handling it.

Never can tell when you'll mash a finger or suffer a cut, bruise, burn or scald. Be prepared Dr. Thomas Eclectric Oil instantly relieves the pain—quickly cures the wound.

Constipation causes headache, nausea, dizziness, languor, heart palpitation. Drastic physics gripe, sicken, weaken the bowels and don't cure. Doan's Regulets act gently and cure constipation 25c. Ask your druggist.

Money saved is money made, but you always have to make it first.

Croup can positively be stopped in 20 minutes No vomiting—nothing to sicken or distress your child. A sweet, pleasant and safe syrup, called Dr. Shoop' croup cure, does the work and does it quickly. Dr. Shoop's croup cure is for croup alone, remember. It does not claim to cure a dozen ailments. It's for croup, that's all. Sold by all dealers.

Life's most desirable pleasures cost the least
And the more energy a man expends in talking the less he will have left to assist him in making good.

GUARANTEED REMEDY FOR INDIGESTION.

Interesting statement by John J. Orr.

When a man comes into this store and calls for any particularly indigestion remedy, we always give him what he asks for, but in case he leaves it to us, we usually recommend Pepsikola tablets.

Here is a preparation we have been selling right over the counter for years, and from actual observation we know it must do good, and really does relieve and cure indigestion and dyspepsia or there would be a steady stream of people coming back for their money, as every 50c box is sold with the understanding that you must be decidedly benefited or there is nothing to pay.

You simply try Pepsikola tablets with the understanding that they will steady your nerves, improve your appetite, relieve wind belching, coated tongue, sour stomach, fullness after eating, weakened energy and other symptoms of indigestion or John J. Orr is ready at any time to pay back your money without the least argument.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

PAIN

Pain in the head—pain anywhere, has its cause. Pain is congestion, pain is blood pressure—nothing else usually. At least, so says Dr. Shoop, and to prove it he has created a little pink tablet. That tablet—called Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablet—coaxes blood pressure away from pain centers. Its effect is charming, pleasingly delightful. Gently, though safely, it surely equalizes the blood circulation.

If you have a headache, it's blood pressure.

If you are sleepless, restless, nervous, it's blood congestion—blood pressure. That surely is a certainty, for Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets stop it in 20 minutes, and the tablets simply distribute the unnatural blood pressure.

Bruise your finger, and doesn't it get red, and swell, and pain you? Of course it does. It's congestion, blood pressure. You'll find it where pain is—always. It's simply Common Sense.

We sell it 25 cents, and cheerfully recommend

LIKE MINSTREL SHOW

Senator Tillman Thus Refers to Senate's Conduct in Brownville Affair.

HIS REMARKS AROUSE MEMBERS

Later Apologizes at His Attempt to be "Funny"—The House Favors More Efficiency in Field and Coast Artillery—"Political Purity" Bill Passes.

Washington, Jan. 22.—Few features of the spectacular were missing from the proceedings of the senate Monday. The Brownsville affair was the subject of controversy, and the day began with the announcement of a compromise resolution which brought both republican and democrat together on the basis of ordering an investigation of the fact of the affray without bringing into question the authority of the president to dismiss the negro troops. The resolution was submitted to and approved by the president at a conference Sunday.

When the "harmony" testimonials were all in, Senator Tillman took the floor and delivered a speech in reply to the recent criticism of himself by Senator Spooner. This speech began with a satirical picture of the senate as a minstrel show, which Mr. Tillman said was his first and last attempt to be "funny," an attempt which at its conclusion brought a stinging denunciation from Senator Carmack in resentment of allusions to him.

This was preceded by a serious reply by Senator Spooner on the attitude taken by Mr. Tillman on the race problem, all finally resulting in a session of nearly two hours behind closed doors.

Tillman Apologizes.

The secret session was followed by a brief open one, in which Mr. Tillman made a profuse apology to Mr. Carmack, to all senators whom he had brought into his "first essay in the line of humor," and finally to the entire senate. "I very much regret that I ever undertook to be funny, and I will never do so any more." Mr. Tillman then withdrew all he had said in his "funny essay," and he said it would not appear in the record.

This apology was at once accepted by Mr. Carmack, who regretted he had questioned the motives of his friend, and he, too, withdrew words he had uttered in protest.

Mr. Foraker made a final attempt to get a vote on his resolution, but objection was made, and the matter will be taken up today.

During the entire day the galleries of the senate were crowded to their capacity, and the debate was also listened to by seemingly a majority of the members of the house of representatives, who occupied all available seats and standing room in the chamber.

The house Monday pronounced unanimously in favor of enlarging and making more efficient the field and coast artillery.

Political Purity.

An interesting political discussion grew out of the passage of the so-called "political purity" bill prohibiting corporations from making money contributions in connection with political elections.

A bill was passed authorizing the secretary of commerce and labor to investigate and report upon the "industrial, social, moral, educational and physical condition of women and children workers in the United States." The measure has already passed the senate.

After the passage of a number of bills under suspension of the rules, the house passed the District of Columbia appropriation bill, and at 5:10 p. m. adjourned.

Killed While Firing Boiler.

Traverse City, Mich., Jan. 22.—Corrie P. Kroll, aged 24, a cigar box manufacturer, was instantly killed Monday morning by a boiler explosion at his plant. A small boiler is used with a ladder in the firebox pit. Kroll stood on the ladder leaning over to throw a shovelful of coal into the firebox. The whole end was blown out of the boiler, pieces striking him on the right side of the face. He was caught in a trap, and his body was found at the foot of the ladder. Not a cent's worth of damage was done to the plant.

Manchester Man Killed.

Manchester, Mich., Jan. 22.—While returning to Toledo, after spending the day with his wife and two sons at their home in Manchester, Ward Gregg, aged 32, met his death in a wreck on the Lake Shore road, near Riga, Sunday night. The passenger train ran into an open switch and collided with several freight cars. All the coaches were derailed and some of them were overturned.

BRITISH ARE GRATEFUL

Disavow Action Taken by Jamaica's Governor in Refusing Our Aid.

INCIDENT WILL BE PASSED OVER

Officials and President, at Washington, Inclined to Overlook the Affair—Red Cross Believes Supplies Sent Will Be Accepted.

Washington, Jan. 22.—Dispatches exchanged Monday between the British secretary of state for war, and the state department, made public here last night, wholly ignoring the letters which passed between Admiral Davis and Governor Swettenham at Kingston, have had the effect of relieving the tensity of feeling which has existed since it became known that Admiral Davis returned Sunday to Guantanamo from Kingston with his ships, which had gone to aid the stricken people of Jamaica.

A message from London is interpreted her as meaning that the British government and people disavow the action of the governor of Jamaica in requesting Admiral Davis to re-embark his men. Meantime Admiral Davis, who arrived at Guantanamo from Kingston, with the battleships Missouri, Indiana and the cruiser Yankton, is preparing a report which will be forwarded to Washington by mail.

While the general sentiment here is one of extreme resentment at the treatment of Admiral Davis, no official will venture to express himself in criticism for publication. Acting Secretary of State Bacon was an early caller at the White House, where he was in conference with the president, and later it developed that the president took the position that there was nothing in the episode which would warrant te slightest representations by government on the subject, and no representations will be made.

The promptness with which the government of Great Britain acknowledged its appreciation of the sending of the ships to Jamaica is indicated in correspondence, made public, which passed between Secretary Root and Esme Howard, the British charge, which also was made public last night. Mr. Howard wrote Mr. Root thus:

"Sir: I have the honour to inform you that I have been instructed by his majesty's principal secretary of state for foreign affairs, to express the high appreciation of his majesty's government at the prompt assistance rendered by the United States government in the despatch of their ships to Jamaica to afford aid to the stricken population of Kingston." "ESME HOWARD."

At the state department it was stated that so far as this government is concerned, the matter will be allowed to drop.

Officials of the National Red Cross society in this city do not believe that the Jamaican authorities will refuse to accept the supplies which have been sent by this society to that island for the relief of the earthquake sufferers.

Meyer Given Farewell.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 22.—Ambassador Meyer, who soon will be succeeded by John W. Riddle, attended a large farewell reception last night, given him by his Russian friends as a mark of their personal appreciation and their growing regard for the United States. Among the hosts were Prince Dolgorouki, Prince Orloff, Prince Belosselsky, Prince Cantacuzene, Prince Soussupoff, Count Nieroda, Count Fersen and other persons prominent in St. Petersburg society. The ambassador will attend a luncheon given at the Japanese embassy today, and there is to be a round of farewell dinners between now and his departure, concluding with a dinner in honor of the American envoy by Foreign Minister Iswolsky on Jan. 28.

TRAGEDY IN FLINT

Frank Green Kills Mrs. Thomas Braidwood and Himself.

ALSO INJURES WOMAN'S SON

Woman Objected to Attentions Paid Her Daughter—Dead Man Had Formerly Boarded at Braidwood Home—He Was Widower.

Flint, Mich., Jan. 22.—Frank Green last night entered the home of Mrs. Thomas Braidwood, on Chase street, shot and killed the woman, inflicted three flesh wounds on her son, George, aged 19, and then ran out into the back yard and sent a bullet crashing into his brain with fatal effect.

Green was about 30 years of age and was enamored of the 18-year-old daughter of Mrs. Braidwood, who had engendered his enmity by interfering in his attentions to the girl.

Green formerly boarded with the Braidwoods, but left about six weeks ago to take up quarters elsewhere. He was a widower, his wife having died two or three years ago. He came here from Otter Lake about a year and a half ago.

Green had been working in a local factory. Lately he had been living in the north end of the city, a considerable distance from the scene of his crime. Mrs. Braidwood was 38 years old.

HER NIECE NOT DEAD.

Woman Receives Card From Her Saying "I Am Alive and Kicking."

Charlotte, Mich., Jan. 22.—A very peculiar situation came to light Monday, when Mrs. Frank Snyder of this city, received a postal card from her niece, Miss Marie Chappell, of Grand Rapids, whom she supposed was dead, having received information to that effect 10 days ago.

Miss Chappell is the adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Chappell, former residents of this city, and the local papers were furnished with obituary notices of the deceased, which were published. The letter conveying the sad news was signed by "Edith Adams, nurse," and stated that Marie had died Jan. 6, at 4 o'clock, and that the funeral would be held the following day at St. Andrew's Catholic church, she having recently been admitted to membership with that organization. Monday Mrs. Synder received a postal card which read as follows:

"464 East St., Grand Rapids.

"I am alive, and kicking. I do not know who informed you of my death. As ever, your niece. (Signed)

"MARIE CHAPPELL."

The matter will be investigated.

HOUSES SURROUNDED.

People Held Prisoners by Floods at Midland.

Midland, Mich., Jan. 22.—The flood here continued to increase. It is two feet higher than ever before, and although the temperature is zero, it is still rising.

Fears are entertained for the safety of 50 families who are completely surrounded by water in the flood district, and many have had to take refuge in second-story rooms. The waters are so high that they are unable to have fires, and are believed to be suffering from exposure.

Business men are using every effort to get supplies to these people, but have not yet succeeded. The one bridge remaining across the river is so located that help cannot be sent that way. Five rural routes have had to be discontinued for the present. The damage will reach close to $50,000.

McMillan Better.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 22.—Reports from the bedside of William C. McMillan last night were that he was better than for twenty-six hours. Mr. McMillan spent a comfortable day, and appeared cheerful, sometimes chatting with those about him. Dr. C. G. Jennings and Dr. J. B. Kennedy have remained in almost constant attendance. His mother is expected from Washington and his son, Thayer, from Yale university today.

Congressman Hamilton, Toastmaster.

Washington, Jan. 22.—Congressman Hamilton will be toastmaster at the Michigan Association dinner Saturday evening, in celebrating the seventieth aniniversary of the admission of Michigan to the Union.

Trains Again Reach Soo.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Jan. 22.—The first trains arrived last night from the west after the roads being tied up on account of the storm over 24 hours. Much damage is reported in some localities from snow and wind.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

Detroit Representative Introduces the First Bill in House.

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 22.—The first bill to provide for a constitutional convention was introduced in the house last night by Rep. Jerome, of Detroit. It follows generally the plan of the convention of 1867, and provides for the election of 100 delegates, one from each representative district.

All delegates are to be nominated next October under the primary election system, and elected in November and meet here for the convention the second Wednesday in January, 1908. Delegates are to be paid $10 a day, the bill provides, and the convention is to organized and be conducted along the same general lines as the house of representatives.

A bill to provide for establishing another fish hatchery in the upper peninsula was introduced by Rep. Galbraith, of Houghton. The session last night was brief.

At the senate session a resolution was adopted to arrange for memorial services for former Gov. A. T. Bliss, to be held in representative hall, and another to adjourn next Friday until the week from the following Monday.

Senator Tuttle introduced the Michigan Car Service association's demurrage bill, which provides, among other things, that while railroads may collect demurrage, shippers can also claim a penalty for failure to furnish cars or failure to move cars for a shipper at least 50 miles every 24 hours. The state millers, bean hay, coal, lumber, butter and egg, and the manufacturers organizations are in the Car Service association.

Senator Kline introduced a bill appropriating $40,000 for the Gen. Custer monument at Monroe.

MAY FIGHT FOOD TRUST.

Dudley, of Owosso, 'Tis Said, is Likely to Start in Business on His Own Hook.

Owosso, Mich., Jan. 22.—The resignation of E. F. Dudley, local manager of the American Farm Product Co., is believed to forecast a war to the death between the so-called "food trust" and a man who was formerly a trusted employe.

Eight months ago the American Farm Product Co. was organized in New York with a capital stock of $17,000,000, and with such financiers as T. F. Ryan, Harry Payne Whitney and Levi P. Morton behind it. One of the first acts of the organization was to buy Dudley's factory in this city.

It is probably the largest plant for the renovating of butter and the manufacture of creamery butter in the United States. Dudley is said to have been paid in the neighborhood of half a million dollars for the plant, and was retained as manager at a salary of $8,000 per year, under an ironclad, five-year contract.

It is said that the present trouble is due to Dudley's impatience of dictation from the New York magnates in control, and that the break took place on Monday.

It is said that Dudley has already started the war by mailing circulars to the trade, announcing that his son, Harry Dudley, is soon to start a rival creamery in this city. Dudley has been succeeded here, temporarily, as manager, by A. S. Hoist, of Chicago, who has been in the office for several months. Harry Dudley has been superintendent in the local plant.

It is said that the product company is relying on the validity of their contract with Dudley, and will bring suit if the Owosso man even puts foot in another plant during the life of the contract.

Smith Welcomed in Washington.

Washington, Jan. 2.—Senator-elect William Alden Smith was given a warm welcome when he reached Washington. He found a number of friends awaiting him at the New Willard, including Mr. McCall, of Massachusetts, and Col. Pierce, of Grand Rapids. The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's catarrh cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's catarrh cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Love by Graphophone

By Alice Lovett Carson

Copyright, 1906, by Alice L. Carson

The office of Horwitz & Mallon, wholesale brass manufacturers, shone with polished fixtures and fresh white wood. A pleasant, cheery place to work in, Mabel Thurston thought as she entered. She had come early that morning because it was the last day of the month and a great deal of correspondence had to be finished up. She greeted Dick, the office boy, before going into her own little sanctum, for, as the "graphophonist" of the firm, she was given a nook away from the rattle of tickers and other machines.

"The boss left a note fer you, Miss Turston," said the boy as he followed her in, carrying an armful of wax cylinders. "There it is."

Mabel read it as she opened and dusted off her typewriter. "No. 3 important—to be done first. Then 5, 4 and 2. C. H."

She nodded understandingly and fitted cylinder No. 3 into the graphophone that stood on the table at her elbow. Then she wound up and started the machine and, having fastened about her head the cap that held the tubes against her ears, sat down prepared for the work.

The instrument buzzed a few seconds, then started off. "Take this letter to Messrs. Carroll & Briggs, Middle Roxbury, Mass.," began the gruff voice of Carl Horwitz. She could almost see the sharp glances he gave from under his bushy eyebrows while he dictated. The typewriter began to rattle in a businesslike way. Other stenographers and clerks came in, laughing and chattering, and settled down to work, and the office quickly resumed its usual active appearance.

Hurrying, for he was a little late, entered Pierce Mallon, the junior partner. He was Horwitz's nephew, a bright young fellow of twenty-six. He hesitated a moment, with flushed face and embarrassed air, before Miss Thurston's door, then moved on to the inner office. Puzzling over the phrasing of a sentence, Mabel did not see him enter, though she always looked for his morning greeting and felt something lacking in the day when she missed it. Of late the handsome boy who blushed and stammered whenever he spoke to her had been often in her thoughts.

"No. 5 next," she thought pleasurably, handing Dick a sheaf of letters to be signed by Horwitz. That cylinder always contained Mallon's correspondence and she enjoyed hearing his sympathetic voice.

"Please take this letter, Miss Thurston." it began deferentially—so different from his uncle's abrupt manner. "Mr. Henry S. Wright, 845 Main street, Poughkeepsie, N. Y. My dear Mr. Wright," and so continued, the girl drinking in every word.

"If you've finished that, the next is a personal note," Mallon's voice went on. He stopped a minute, then continued with many halts and jerks of utterance. "Dear friend—no, my dear friend—just leave out the name, Miss Thurston. My dear friend, though I've wanted to do so many times lately—in fact, whenever I passed your door—I've never had the courage to speak to you of a matter on which I feel very deeply. I don't know how you'll regard this method of addressing you. No doubt it will seem to you as rude as it is unconventional, but I must run the risk of offending you. Miss Thurston—Mabel—I love you and"—

With a sharp exclamation the girl started from her seat and tore the cap from her head. "How dare you?" she panted, her cheeks flaming with indignation. To take advantage of her position to insult her in this way! Of course there were always little jokes that the instrument permitted of—things the men would not say to her face, but never anything of this nature. James Cate, Horwitz's secretary, began his letters by drawling out, "My deah girl, if you love me take this," and Steve Murphy, the business manager, sometimes interrupted his correspondence to tell a story in his inimitable brogue, ending in a lusty "Haw! Haw!" that always made her laugh. Horwitz frequently prefaced his dictation with remarks that consigned his correspondent to Jericho, but to think that Pierce Mallon, of all men, should be guilty of a vulgar practical joke like this!

She jerked the paper off her typewriter and tore it into bits. Then she stopped the graphophone and changed the cylinder for another. "If Mr. Mallon's letters are not all written today it's his own fault," she thought hotly, with a feeling of joy that she could punish him thus.

But a dull ache that would not cease remained in her heart, though she told herself over and over again that the fellow was a cad and a boor and she despised herself for ever taking him for a gentleman. Her pillow that night was wet with some bitter tears as she tossed sleeplessly on the narrow boarding house bed. It is hard to give up ideals when one is only twenty-two.

The same cylinder was frequently used more than once, for the surface could be shaved smooth ready for another impression, so No. 5 was brought in next morning by Dick, and, though Mabel instinctively dreaded it, she could not refuse to take it with the rest. Mallon's voice began at once without introduction:

"I have offended you deeply, I know. You thought it was a practical joke, and a poor one at that. Pardon me for being such a boor; but, indeed, I meant every word. It wasn't a joke, but dead earnest, for I love you, love you, love you"— His voice broke passionately. "Ah, forgive me," he went on contritely. "I am offending you again, but I can't be silent when the phone tempts me, and I dare not speak to you face to face. Can't you pity me at least?"

As she listened the girl's expression changed from indignation to surprise, then to doubt. "Perhaps," she said uncertainly, "he is speaking the truth after all. Perhaps I misjudged him. Oh, I hope I have!" With the sudden realization of her own feeling she hid her face in her hands.

Next day when she came to cylinder No. 5 in the routine of correspondence Mabel found herself hoping for the little personal message which should give assurance to her heart. It came abruptly, but decidedly:

"I'm going to stop this sort of thing, Mabel. It smacks of cowardice, and I want to be worthy of your respect. I mean to put my fate to touch at once, so expect me this afternoon."

The girl's heart sang its paean of joy as her fingers flew over a heavy budget of letters. When the day was over she waited for his coming till long past her usual time of leaving and went home at last, sad and uncertain what to think.

"Say, you'll find some tall cussin' on the tubes today, Miss T'urston," said Dick as he brought her the cylinders next morning. "The boss chased Mr. Pierce off to Boston in a hurry yesterday, then ripped round all the afternoon 'cause he couldn't find some rush orders the young feller put away. I tell you, there'll be fur flyin', you bet, when he gits back this mornin'."

Dick wondered why Miss Thurston beamed so on him and presented him with a rose she had just bought. He could not know that his news had put an end to a bitter heartache. It was Saturday, a half holiday, and her only fear was that Pierce would not return in time.

The clerks had all left and even the elevator had stopped running before she covered the instruments, and still he had not come. Slowly she adjusted her hat before the mirror. There came a rush of eager, impatient feet up the stairs, and the door of the office was burst open. He dropped his suit case and came forward with outstretched hands.

"Oh," he exclaimed, breathless and relieved, "I was afraid you would be gone!" She did not turn.

"You know, don't you, why I didn't come yesterday? You understand it was not my fault—that I hadn't time to send you a note even?" She bowed her head in silence. "Ah, but you still think it was unmanly to talk through that old graphophone! Forgive me, dear, I didn't know what I was doing. But I do love you, Mabel." He would not be discouraged by her silence. "I love you and I want you. Tell me, can you forgive me and love me a little in return?"

Then she wheeled about, her face radiant, her eyes shining like gray stars. "Pierce, dear!" was all she said, but he was satisfied, for he read the answer in her eyes.

He Drew on Sight.

Mart Hoover years ago, when Kansas was not the cultivated commonwealth it has since become, had sent a consignment of corn to a commission merchant in Kansas City. The merchant telegraphed, telling the consignor: "Your credit is $27.40. Draw on me at sight."

But Hoover was mad. He had expected his money, and none came. He felt he had been duped, and he treasured up the grievance. One time, about six weeks later, the commission man came to Hoover's town, got out of the bus and started to walk down the street. Hoover saw him and instantly drew his revolver and fired. His eye was fairly good. The bullet cut away the merchant's necktie and unfastened his collar.

Then Hoover put up his gun.

"That's expensive shootin'," said he, "but I reckon you're as sorry as I am."

"What do you mean?" demanded the town constable, arresting the gun man.

"He told me to," said Hoover, surprised.

"Told you to?" demanded the white cheeked city man. "I never did anything of the kind!"

"You did," said Hoover. And, drawing out the telegram, he read:

"'Draw on me at sight.'

"I done it," said he.

Curious Freaks of Razors.

The finest grades of razors are so delicate that even the famous Damascus sword blades cannot equal them in texture. It is not generally known that the grain of a Swedish razor is so sensitive that its general direction is changed after a short service. When you buy a fine razor the grains run from the upper end of the outer point in a diagonal direction toward the handle. Constant stropping will twist the steel until the grain appears to be straight up and down. Subsequent use will drag the grain outward from the edge, so that after steady use for several months the fiber of the steel occupies a position exactly the reverse of that which it did on the day of purchase. The process also affects the temper of the blade, and when the grain sets from the lower outer points toward the back you have a razor which cannot be kept in condition even by the most conscientious barber. But here's another curious freak that will take place in the same tool: If you leave the razor alone for a month or two and take it up you will find that the grain has assumed its first position. The operation can be repeated until the steel is worn through to the back.—Strand Magazine.

Names and Divorces.

An Australian divorce court judge thinks that there is a subtle connection between high sounding feminine baptismal names and matrimonial unhappiness. He has noticed that the names which generally come under his judicial cognizance are Gladys, Gwendolen, Ermyntrude and the like and that he seldom or never in his official capacity hears of a Mary or a Bridget.

How the Auto Did It

By IRVING CRANE

Copyright, 1906, by P. C. Eastment

Mazie Jefferson and her mother had come into the city from their country home to do some shopping, and because the cabman overcharged them and because Mazie turned indignant and said she would go to a police station before she would submit to be swindled a crowd began to gather.

Harry Finchly was in the crowd. He promptly espoused the cause of the women and was struck by cabby's whip. In return he pulled cabby off the box and flung him about in the dust until the man looked like a bundle of lost rags. Then, no policeman having appeared to interfere with the natural course of events, the women were escorted to a hotel.

Cards were exchanged and thanks returned, and "all's well that ends well" would have been the finish had not young Mr. Finchly decided that Miss Mazie was an extremely fine looking girl. It had been at least a year since he had met her equal. Within two hours he was longing for another look into her brown eyes and recalling with satisfaction what a wealth of hair she had, how white and even were her teeth and what a cute dimple ornamented her chin. At the end of twenty-four hours romance and love were at work.

Of course Harry had been invited to call if he ever found himself in Westchester county. Miss Mazie, who did most of the talking to him as well as to the cabman, couldn't do less than issue this invitation, but she hadn't the least idea that her rescuer would ever take the trouble to travel their way. A surprise was in store for her. He made a call within a week, and he took pains to thoroughly identify himself.

His trip into the country was made in his automobile, and it soon became a regular thing for him to be seen skimming over the roads once a week. Mr. Jefferson liked him. Mrs. Jefferson thought he was a very proper man indeed, and Mazie—well, she wasn't telling her thoughts, but if they hadn't favored the young man in a general way he would have found her confined to her room with a convenient headache.

An acquaintance begun in April had progressed to September without a thing to mar it. It had ripened into friendship at least, and there were signs that it was nearing the critical point. Then one day Harry Finchly did an unwise thing. In his guileless and innocent way he mentioned that he had given a little dinner to a little actress the night before. In an instant the brown eyes that had been full of laughter began to harden.

He saw that he had made a mistake, and he began to hedge—that is, he explained that the mother of the little actress was at the dinner. The point of Miss Mazie's nose seemed to turn up. Mr. Finchly further explained that two aunts and two uncles of the actress were also at dinner. Half a minute later he was protesting that he would never have given the dinner but for the fact that the little actress seemed to be hungry and he felt sorry for her. It had not been much of a dinner anyhow. He had sat at one end of the dining room and the actress at the other, and they had chewed olives and drunk poor claret and confined their conversation to the weather.

In fact, Mr. Finchly did all possible in the next few minutes to repair his blunder. He even went the length of saying that the little actress had a cast in one eye and was probably twenty years older than she claimed to be, but when he had finished and could protest no more Miss Mazie asked to be excused for a moment, and he felt a chill around his heart. The mother came into the parlor to entertain him, and, although both made a great effort, conversation dragged.

When Miss Mazie walked out of the parlor she simply wanted to be alone for ten minutes to recover her self possession. She was furious at the little actress, at Mr. Finchly and at herself, but she didn't want the second person mentioned to even suspect such a state of affairs. She would smooth the lines out of her face, coax back a smile and return to him and say that she always had admired little actresses!

Her intentions were good and politic and diplomatic, but her temper got the best of her. Under the big walnut tree at the gate stood Mr. Finchly's auto. He always acted as his own chauffeur. Twenty times over he had taken the Jeffersons out for a spin, and Miss Mazie had entertained an idea for some time that she knew all about the running of the machine.

As she walked about to calm herself she caught sight of the auto, and there was mischief in her eyes as she ran toward it and climbed in. She actually did know enough to start the thing and get headed down the broad turnpike. Perhaps she knew enough to stop and turn, but the sensation of being alone gave her a helpless feeling. She put on speed instead of diminishing it, and in the course of five minutes she was whizzing down that old colonial cow trail in a way that made the telephone poles sit up and wonder.

The first living thing met was a trusting and confiding calf that had escaped from a field and was wandering at large to broaden its mind. When it saw a cloud of dust coming down the pike, it trusted that a windfall of rich green grass was to be had for the picking up. It advanced to the middle of the road with eyes bulging out and ten seconds later woke up in a far distant spot and in a mussed up condition. Miss Mazie had the steering wheel in hand. In fact, she was frozen to it. She could hold the old machine reasonably straight in the middle of the road, but she was helpless beyond that.

The next incident was a load of hay with two farmers on top. They were men who had never harmed a human being, and they had no idea that any human being wanted to harm them. Rude was their awakening. They held the middle of the road until they saw that the auto meant to run into them head-on. Then they swerved and began to gesticulate and yell to the white faced girl. They said "Darn it" and "Dum it" and "By gosh" and succeeded in saving their lives. One hind wheel of the wagon was chopped off by the auto, however, and as the machine careened onward it also carried with it a fair sized haystack.

"Oh, Harry!" wailed the girl as she turned a corner and felt the machine running on two wheels, but Harry was not there. He had finally bade Mrs. Jefferson adieu and found his car gone. He was after it now with a horse and buggy. He was making six miles an hour, while the flier was flying along at nearly thirty.

A quarter of a mile beyond the turn a farmer was guiding a drove of hogs. There were twelve in the drove, and he was changing them from one lot to another. He knew that the Spanish war had ended and that the country was at peace, and he was humming a hymn, and the hogs were grunting grunts of satisfaction when that auto came howling down upon them. It seemed to be standing on its hind legs and pawing the air. It was hissing and gurgling and roaring and crying for blood.

"Gosh all hemlock!" shouted the farmer as he made for the fence and fell over into the field.

The hogs had no time for words or for athletics. It seemed to the weeping and terrified girl that the full dozen were picked up and flung sky high. Two of them came down in the back seat and installed themselves in comfortable positions for the remainder of the ride, while the others shot right and left, their remains to be gathered up by the owner later on.

The hog episode was scarcely two minutes old when a young man in a buggy appeared a mile ahead. He was a young man with red cheeks and a marble brow, who was driving to the city to invest in green goods. He held up his hand as a sign that his horse did not like autos. No good. Then he rose up in his buggy and waved his arm. He was still waving when the cloud of dust passed over him and left him a wreck on the sands of time. Some day he may tell his grandchildren that he was flung 200 feet high and 400 feet sideways, and he will not be exaggerating much either.

A constable and an old wagon finally stopped the runaway. The officer saw it coming and shoved the ancient vehicle across the road. When the collision came the auto took a skate into the bushes and brought up against a tree and rested there. Before Miss Mazie could half explain matters she found herself before a country justice of the peace, and he was solemnly saying:

"This is certainly a case for the higher court. It is not only running away with an auto and letting it run away with you, but you have been stealing hogs."

Miss Mazie wept. She looked so pretty when she wept that the heart of the constable was touched. He took the justice outdoors and was trying to touch his heart and have the hog stealing charge left out when Harry Finchly drove up on the gallop. He had traced the auto by a trail of dead hogs and frightened farmers, and he had arrived just in time.

"Oh, Harry!" was all that the girl could say as she threw herself into his arms and sobbed on his shoulder.

That was quite enough. He patted her golden head and gave the justice to understand that his honor was descended from the Spartans and always died in the last ditch, and the fine was reduced to $10 and paid. Then came the brushing away of tears and the return home, followed by family rejoicing that the lamb had returned alive. Then—then—well, don't be stupid. Those things always turn out the same way, and it is the best way.

Lynchers Cited to Appear.

Washington, Jan. 22.—In the contempt case of Sheriff Shipp and others, charged with complicity in the lynching of the negro, Ed. Johnson, at Chattanooga, Tenn., the supreme court of the United States Monday entered an order directing that each of the 28 defendants appear before the district of Tennessee and enter into a personal recognizance for his personal appearance. The testimony in the case will be taken by a commissioner.

Inhaled Chloroform and Died.

Saginaw, Mich., Jan. 22.—William Bernard, aged 69, Monday morning poured chloroformed into a bowl, and sat at a table with his head over it, and completely covered by a sheet. His daughter, Mrs. Jacob Thall, discovered him dead when she arose, he having got up as usual to start the fires. He leaves a widow and the daughter, Mrs. Thall, with whom he lived. No messages were left, and the only reason assigned is that he was tired of living.

A compilation of the building and municipal improvement work carried on in Houghton county in the past year shows that two and a quarter millions of dollars would not cover the cost of these operations.

Because the supervisors of Eaton county cannot legally collect pay for services rendered when the board is not in session, there will be no investigation of the drain commissioner's office, as had been recommended by a committee.

Crazed by Flood, Cuts His Throat.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 22.—Crazed by excitement resulting from the danger of serious consequences of a threatened flood, John Warren, a carpenter, 45 years of age, cut his throat with a razor. He told his wife of his contemplated act, but before she could interfere he had taken his life.

HARRY BROWN

Writes of his trip to

CALIFORNIA.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 4, 1907.

Mrs. W. A. Brown, Tecumseh, Mich.

DEAR MOTHER:—I will now take the opportunity to write you about our trip. On Friday morning, Dec. 21, we left Tecumseh in a snowstorm as you will remember. On our way to Chicago we saw several out a sleigh riding. We arrived in Chicago at 3 p. m. and took in the sights of the city until 9 p. m., when the Golden State Limited left for our destination. We were very glad when the hour for our departure came and crawled into our bunks as soon as possible as we were very tired. Graves was the only one to wake up as we were crossing the Mississippi river.

We got up at Trenton, Mo., ate our breakfast and arrived at Kansas City at 10 o'clock Saturday morning. Our train stopped 20 minutes here and we put in the time seeing the sights. There was no snow on the ground but the weather was quite cold. Topeka, Kan., was the next place we stopped, here we mailed some postal cards home. After leaving Topeka we went through large corn belts, husked corn piled high like hay stacks which continued for miles.

We also went through large cattle ranches where as far as the eye could reach no houses or trees could be seen, one level stretch of land and here is where we saw our prettiest sunset. We were retiring Saturday evening as we went through Bucklin, Kan. We arose next morning as we were nearing the city of Tucumcari, New Mexico. As we were eating breakfast Graves called my attention to what he thought was a jack rabbit and on looking out I saw a small burro. Some one on the train had told him that they were about the same size.

Sunday morning at 9 o'clock we arrived at Santa Rosa, New Mexico, central time and left at 8:05 a. m. mountain time, this being the first place where they change time. The sun was shining bright and warm and it was a grand sight to look down the streets and see the beautiful palms and pepper trees and to behold the large mountains in the distance. There was a large crowd of Mexicans lounging around the depot smoking cigarettes and idly passing away their time. We got some good coffee here at a restaurant. As we were speeding along across the prairie we could quite often see small settlements of Mexicans or Indians.

We arrived at Alamogorda, N. M., at 4 o'clock p. m., (1½ hour late). Here we had five minutes. This, the conductor told us was the most beautiful city in New Mexico and it certainly fine compared with the typical western towns we passed through. There was a fine park near the depot, consisting of palm trees, pepper trees, ferns and cactus of many kinds. Flowers were in full bloom. The grass was nice and green, reminding us of spring in Michigan.

We arrived at El Paso, Texas, at 7:20 p. m., (2 hours late). Here we changed to Pacific time. We were delayed one hour here as they could not get a fireman, the fireman all going on a strike that afternoon. After a delay of one hour they managed to get one and we left there at 7:20 Pacific time. We crawled into our bunks as soon as the train left. We arose Monday morning as we were going through Benson, Arizona.

We arrived at Tuson, Arizona at 8 o'clock a. m. We were told that the train would make a 20 minute stop here to change engines, get water, etc., so we thought we would make the most of it by getting our breakfast and seeing the town. We went into a Chinese restaurant about a block from the depot and called for sandwiches and coffee. Graves ate in a hurry and left while Kemp and myself after eating, started to write cards home. All of a sudden one of the pig-tails commenced to holler and wave his hands toward the door. I didn't know but he had gone crazy, until on looking out I saw our train moving, I started and yelled to Kemp.

We ran across the yard as if a mob of Indians were after us, and if the engineer hadn't seen us, we would have remained here until the next morning, but as it was, he slowed down the train so we caught the observation car. Instead of stopping 20 minutes they only make a 10 minute stop.

Our next place of importance was Maricopa, Arizona, we had 5 minutes there. In a large cage close by we saw a wild cat and in another three savage looking wolves. We arrived at Yuma, Arizona, at 2 o'clock p m. This is the hottest place in the United States and at this time of the year it was so warm that every window in our car had to be raised. The Indians were going around barefooted. The Squaws were selling trinkets, etc. to the passengers. Some of these people live to be very old. We saw one Squaw who was 95 years old, another 107 and still another who claimed to be 120 years of age. Here we also saw palm trees, cactus and flowers galore.

Passing over a small river from Yuma we landed in California, here we saw the reservation of these Indians. We arrived at Salton, Cal., about 5:30 p. m., where the farmers were making hay in the warm sunshine, while in the distance we could see snow on the peaks of the mountains. We arrived at our destination at 9:30 p. m.; 4 hours late, we went to bed as soon as we found rooms. The next day on going out and seeing the flowers, green trees and lawns and breathing the warm summer air, it didn't seem possible to us that it was Christmas.

After dinner we left for Riverside to visit Eugene and Uncle. Wednesday morning we arose bright and early to see what we could before leaving. We went out on Magnolia Ave., which is a beautiful drive, 8 miles long. Magnolias, pepper trees and palms on each side, also orange groves. About 6 miles from Riverside, located on this avenue is a large Indian school, where Indians from all over the United States are brought to be educated. We received permission from the superintendent and went through the entire institution. The next place we visited was the New Glenwood hotel, this is a fine building and elegantly furnished. We also went through the Court house and Carnegie Library, which were both fine.

My two friends left at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, but I remained until the next day. Wednesday afternoon I visited the "White Park" and looked at 700 different kinds of cactus. I don't mean to say that I viewed them separately, for if I had I might have been there yet. From here my next move was to climb a mountain, 12,000 feet high, and to tell the truth I was sweating somewhat when I reached the top. It gave me a fine view of the city and surrounding towns. Riverside is a very beautiful place.

Sunday we went to Long Beach, this is a very pretty place. We gathered some beautiful shells along the beach. It was quite warm in the sand and we sat down and took a sun bath, while other people were in bathing. We left Long Beach about 4 o'clock and arrived at Los Angeles at 6 p. m. I am thinking of making Riverside my home as I have been offered a good position there.

Well I will bring this long letter to a close. Give our best regards to all inquiring friends.

From Your Loving Son,
HARRY O. BROWN.

P. S. We visited Mr. and Mrs. Eldridge and boys last Saturday afternoon.

Girlhood and Scott's Emulsion are linked together.

The girl who takes Scott's Emulsion has plenty of rich, red blood; she is plump, active and energetic.

The reason is that at a period when a girl's digestion is weak, Scott's Emulsion provides her with powerful nourishment in easily digested form.

It is a food that builds and keeps up a girl's strength.

THE FAOMUS OPTICIAN of Detroit

The eye, when properly cared for affords the keenest delight because of the pleasures we are able to enjoy through its medium When not cared for and its warnings are unheeded, it becomes an intrument of torture. Headaches, eye pains, burning, itching sensation, strained vision, nervous troubles and many bodily ills are the results accruing from over worked eyes, eyes that need help. My examination reveals all hidden troubles, and it is my province to fit the right glass to any and all defects of vision. SATISFACTION GUARANTEED.

An Ancient Telephone.

In 1783 M. Linquet de la Bastille issued a prospectus, published in the "Correspondence Secrete," London, 1788 (volume 14, page 302), of "a singular machine on experience of the propagation of sound and the voice through tubes prolonged to a great distance." If it succeeded, he announced, people would be able to maintain with their sweethearts and friends at a distance of some hundreds of leagues a conversation which would "become somewhat public on the way, but by suppressing the names no one would be in the secret of the interlocutors." But it is not recorded that the scheme was put into practice. In a paper published in L'Illustration for 1854 by M. Charles Bourseul he says: "Let us imagine that a person speaks near to a mobile plate sufficiently flexible not to lose any of the vibrations produced by his voice and that this plate interrupts and establishes accordingly communication with a battery. Then we might have at a distance another plate which would give at the same time the same vibrations. An electric battery, two vibrating plates and a wire would be sufficient." In apportioning the honors of telephonic discovery M. Bourseul at least would seem entitled to a share.

Julius Wuertbner of Manchester, has been appointed one of the messengers on the floor of the house of representatives at Lansing. He will receive $2 a day during the legislative session.—Ann Arbor Times.

A shock supposed to be an earthquake lasting half a minute was felt here at 8:15 this morning in the region around this city. At Stony Creek a slight shock was felt about 1 o'clock and at 7:30 the doors rattled unaccountably in Ypsilanti.—Times.

Mrs. Kate Brooks who now resides in Jackson was here Monday night and Tuesday morning left for Toledo from where she joins an excursion party for a two week's trip thru Texas. She is accompanied by her parents.—Onsted News.

Wise counsel from the South.

"I want to give some valuable advice to those who suffer with lame back and kidney trouble," says J. R. Blankenship of Beck, Tenn. "I have proved to an absolute certainty that Electric Bitters will positively cure this distressing condition. The first bottle gave me great relief and after taking a few more bottles I was completely cured; so completely that it becomes a pleasure to recommend this great remedy." Sold under guarantee at O. A. Wright's drug store. Price 50c.

ROUND ABOUT US.

No race suicide for Columbia township. According to the records of the township and village clerks there have been 43 births to one stock and only 29 calls of the grim reaper during 1906.—Ex.

A preacher announced that he would in the near future deliver a sermon on "Hell and who will be there." Since then he has received letters from a lawyer, two newspaper men, three bankers, two hotel men, two barbers, six real estate men and four druggists, threatening to withdraw their support and sue him for slander if he dares "to mention my name in your sermon."—Ex.

While in the act of attaching a wire to a telephone pole which was decayed down near the ground, Leon Fisher met with a fall near Somerset Center, caused by a pole giving way and falling to the ground and taking him with it. His injuries consisted of several severe bruises and cuts about the face. That he was not hurt worse is due to the fact that the progress of the pole was arrested by striking a wire.—Hudson Post.

Frank Crist, rural mail carrier on route No. 1, met with a serious accident last Thursday between the residences of Albert Long and Bert Cripp. The kingbolt of his wagon came out, causing the front and back wheels to part company and letting the front end of the box fall down to the ground. This made him pitch forward and through the window which resulted in cutting his arm quite badly and otherwise bruising him. He was obliged to lay off for several days and Deputy Alfred Gibeon has been taking his place.—Deerfield Times Journal.

Tea

Proposition.

BUY a pound of TECUMSEH CHIEF JAPAN TEA and get (FREE) a handsome, air-tight canister to keep it in.

The extra goodness of the tea is reason enough for your following this suggestion, and you will say so too, after you come face to face with it in the cup.

This canister offer is made you as an inducement to try the first pound. The cost of the canister will knock the profit of that pound, but the flavor of TECUMSEH CHIEE TEA is simply irresistable. and once you try it you join its host of friends. That means another tea customer for this store.

You can depend upon its being uniform always. Order a pound to-day and say you want the canister. The price is 50cts. the pound.

Farmers' Union.

Ten slot machines were destroyed in a hurry Saturday in Chelsea. It seems that State Treasurer Glazier is president of the village and had an ordinance passed Friday evening doing away with slot machines. Saturday noon he enlisted the services of 200 of his men at the stove works and they in company with 100 other citizens took the machines out of the saloons brought them to the principal four corners broke them up and burned the pile. This reform cyclone will probably make slot machines scarce in that village for some time to come.—Ex.

"It is now 11 years since I had a narrow escape from consumption," writes C. O. Floyd, a leading business man of Kershaw, S. C. "I had run down in weight to 135 pounds and coughing was constant, both by day and by night. Finally I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery and continued this for about six months, when my cough and lung trouble were entirely gone and I was restored to my normal weight, 170 pounds." Thousands of persons are healed every year. Guaranteed at C. A. Wright's drug store. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

CLASS OF '07

With the High School Teachers were entertained at the home of

MISS JENNIE HARRIS

Friday Evening. Guests represented a Book or Famous Person.

Last Friday evening Miss Jennie Harris of the '07 class, very pleasantly entertained the members of the class and the high school teachers at her home on Maiden Lane. The house had been prettily decorated, the reception hall and sitting room being in the class colors, red and white, the high school pennants of orange and black were used in in the dining room alone. From a table in the center of this room Misses Judith Crane and Harriett Teachout served frappe.

The guests, 25 in number, represented some book or notable character and for amusement the names of the books or person represented were guessed by the guests. Miss Hartbeck represented The Pathfinder; Miss Mingay, A Man in the Case; Miss Mabel Mills, Endless Chain; Miss Peck, Henry the VIII; Beth Satterthwaite, Macbeth; Lelah Rogers, Views on Foot; Florence Titus, as Florence, in Beverly of Graustark; Nina Skinner, Girl from the West; Marie Bramble, Lavendar and Old Lace; Pearl Wood, Bow of Orange Ribbon; Mary Tyson, The Gambler; Lena Ward, The Japanese Nightingale; Jennie Harris as Becky Sharpe.

Roy Bramble, The Masquerader; Athol Brainard, The Gambler; Fred Dickinson, Dr. Jeykell and Mr. Hyde; Earl Luce, A Soldier of the Civil War; Seymour Boyd, Three Feathers; Wade Frost, The Doctor; Percy Bowen, The Doctor's Double; Roger Waring, The Bishop's Shadow. Vernor Crane, Little Minister, and Louis Kenyon as The Prospector.

The guests were invited to the dining room where dainty refreshments, carried out in the class colors, were served, Mr. Hicks acting as toastmaster. The following responded:

The High School—Miss Mills.
Class of 1907—Mary Tyson.
The Past of the Class—Athol Brainard.
The Future—Vernor Crane.

Following the supper hour the boys' quartette sang, Miss Mingay read and Miss Lelah Rogers rendered a piano solo which completed an extremely pleasant evening and will long be remembered by the class of '07.

In Memoriam of Mrs. Elona Anderson.

So the journey has ended. The long pathway has dipped into the harbor. The traveler has embarked for that fair city from which none ever return. What a journey her life was. If I remember rightly—ninety years. It was a great thing to have been counted worthy to live such a long life. It was a greater thing to live it as she did. She was a child of God's by birthright—a handmaid of His by reason of her own choice.

From childhood, throughout the four score and ten years, she held to the hand of Him, who sustains, guides, keeps and finally takes His loved ones to His own home What a store-house of good cheer her soul was. On dark and dismal days she always saw sunlight. When others would be discouraged she sang the song of happiness and helpfulness. Her life held no minor chord. In the midst of trial and trouble she was an anchorage of great encouragement. Faithful to her loved ones and true to her friends she endeared herself with inseparable ties of loving sympathy.

She was distinctively a home body. Of quiet disposition, possessing those rare qualities of heart, which commanded respect and love Like unto the vast majority of mankind she knew the meaning of affliction and was acquainted with trouble. In the early sixties she gave up a son to die for his country. The wound caused by his going never healed.

After a happy married life of 66 years she bid farewell to her husband, he having died in 1901. It was a crushing blow. But with a smile on her face and a cheer in every act, she went steadily about life duties, holding her sorrow but always manifesting a calmness and peace, the gift of her Heavenly Father. Many times during the long journey, until the shadows lengthened, she found hard traveling and places where she must stand alone. There was always fortitude and courage and hopefulness

Every experience sweetened. The darker the night, the heavier the trial, the sweeter and more peaceful was the life she manifested. There at ninety she awaited the ferryman, who should ferry her across to the country of her hopes and her prayers. To embark after such a life was only a delight. For years she had been a faithful member of the Presbyterian church and a constant attendant. A source of strength and joy to her pastor. How fitting it was that she should go Sabbath morning. How often she had answered the summons to worship her Lord and Master in His earthly tabernacle.

The Sabbath comes again, the summons came as in the days of yore. This time she is to be promoted. She is to worship with her Lord in that tabernacle not made with hands. She is to join voice with those of olden days, she is to clasp hands she knew long ago, she is to see her Lord and Savior, she is to hear him say, "Come ye blessed of my Father." At ninety she enters into that wider and more blessed life. She receives the reward for her strivings, she knows the meaning of her conflicts, she has met her savior face to face. Blessed be such a life and such a reward hereafter.

WRECK

On Lake Shore at Riga Sunday Evening.

WARD GREGG

Of Manchester. Killed. Fourteen Others Severely Injured.

A wreck occured on the Lake Shore Sunday night about 9:45 at Riga. The smoker on the passenger train which passes Tecumseh at 9:06 bound for Toledo was derailed, caused by the brake beam dropping on the rails. The car crashed into the cars on the siding and tore the entire side of the smoking car out. Fourteen passengers were injured and Ward Gregg of Manchester, who had been home to visit his family and was returning to his work in Toledo, was instantly killed.

Conductor Robb of Adrian, was in charge of the train. He suffered compound fractures of both limbs besides internal injuries. Express Messenger McIntosh and Baggageman Whittman had severe bruises on face and body and their clothes were torn in shreds. They both passed through Tecumseh yesterday afternoon on northbound passenger at 1:35 able to work but their faces were patched with court plaster.

Among Tecumseh people who had been here over Sunday were Sam McClure and Carl Kaiser. Telegrams received from them yesterday stated that the former had only a slight cut on his face while the latter escaped unhurt. James Hogan of Clinton, right knee sprained. Soon after the wreck the injured passengers were taken to St. Vincent's hospital and a wrecking crew from Toledo had the track cleared away by one o'clock yesterday afternoon.

D. T. & I. Trains.

Two more trains have been put on the D T & I. thus making four passenger trains a day. The first one passes Tecumseh at 7:45, northbound. At 10:56 two passengers one going each way, meet here. The evening train, southbound, passes Tecumseh at 6:47.

NOVEL CURE FOR COLDS.

It seems just as ridiculous to put medicine into the stomach to cure a cold in the head or lungs as it does to go out in the rain if we want to keep dry.

The fact that many people right in Tecumseh cough and hawk and snuffle for days and weeks after they treat a cold with the usual stomach dosing, shows how valueless are the ordinary cough and cold cures.

The right way to cure a cold in the head or a cough and irritation in the throat and lungs, is by breathing Hyomei's medicated air. Put a few drops of Hyomei in the neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit and breathe this healing air for a few times and immediate relief will be noted. The medication goes right to the spot where the disease germs are located and renders them harmless in the future.

At the same time the soothing and healing effects of Hyomei on the irritated mucous membrane give quick relief and the cough or cold is broken up.

The best evidence of the great value of Hyomei in curing coughs, colds and all bronchial troubles is the fact that C. A. Wright gives an absolute guarantee with every outfit he sells, that if it does not give satisfaction, the money will be refunded.

A complete Hyomei outfit, consisting of a bottle of Hyomei, the inhaler and a medicine dropper, costs but $1, while extra bottles of Hyomei, if needed, can be obtained for only 50c.

Anti-Carbon Soot Destroyer

This new and useful composition, when placed on a red hot fire, creates and expels the chemical fumes during combustion and these fumes destroy and disperse all soot in the stove, pipes and chimney, and will extinguish it at once if on fire.

What is the use of giving a chimney sweep a dollar or two and then cleaning your entire house after he is gone, when you can buy a box of Anti-Carbon large enough to last a long time for the small sum of 25 cents. Recommended by all insurance companies. Try a package and be convinced.

TESTED AND PROVEN.

There is a heap of solace in being able to depend upon a well-earned reputation.

For months Tecumseh readers have seen the constant expression of praise for Doan's Kidney Pills and read about the good work they have done in this locality. Not another remedy ever produced such convincing proof of merit.

Wm. C. Witherell, living on Pottawatamie street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "In 1901 I gave a statement for publication telling how Doan's Kidney Pills had helped me and today, Dec. 12, 1906, I still hold the same opinion of them. When I first used Doan's Kidney Pills I was troubled with severe pains across my back. If I attempted to stoop or to straighten sharp pains would follow. One time I was in bed for several days just from my kidneys. I think the trouble was caused years ago by being in a bent-over position when I used to shear a great number of sheep. I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and bought a box. I received great benefit from the first few doses so I continued using them when they had effected a cure which has proven permanent. I have recommended the Pills and will continue to do so."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's, and take no other.

GUARANTEED REMEDY FOR INDIGESTION.

Interesting statement by John J. Orr.

When a man comes into this store and calls for any particularly indigestion remedy, we always give him what he asks for, but in case he leaves it to us, we usually recommend Pepsikola tablets.

Here is a preparation we have been selling right over the counter for years, and from actual observation we know it must do good, and really does relieve and cure indigestion and dyspepsia or there would be a steady stream of people coming back for their money, as every 25c box is sold with the understanding that you must be decidedly benefited or there is nothing to pay.

You simply try Pepsikola tablets with the understanding that they will steady your nerves, improve your appetite, relieve wind belching, coated tongue, sour stomach, fullness after eating, weakened energy and other symptoms of indigestion or John J. Orr is ready at any time to pay back your money without the least argument.

Good intentions should have asbestos covers—for reasons unnecessary to mention.

It's Charming

To possess a healthy glowing complexion. Dainty Laxakola tonic tablets obliterate all eruptions of the skin—by their mild, but active influence on the bowels. Forty tablets 25c.

DAMAGE TOTALS $1,000,000.

Death List Numbers Four as Result of Storm in Buffalo.

Buffalo, Jan. 22.—The hurricane which swept the Niagara frontier Sunday has subsided and a more extended examination of the damage to shipping lowers the original estimate. In the port of Buffalo alone, however, it will be about $1,000,000.

The high waters of Lake Erie have receded, leaving some of the stranded lake liners high and dry on the sandy beaches. None of them appear to be seriously damaged, but the expense of getting them afloat again will be very heavy.

The death list totals four. Three persons were killed in the collapse of buildings and another was drowned.

Line of transportation and communication were restored to a normal basis again Monday. Niagara Falls power is again running the trolley cars and lighting the city.

Arrangements have been begun to float the stranded vessels. Their cargoes are undamaged. The United States government sustains a loss of from $100,000 to $200,000 from destruction of breakwaters. Much of the government's equipment used in the harbor work was sunk.

TRUTH IS UNSTABLE.

Only in Religion Do Men Claim it Is Fixed, Declares President Eliot.

Boston, Jan. 22.—President Charles W. Eliot, of Harvard university, speaking before a meeting of congregational ministers in this city, on the subject of "Ecclesiasticism, Ritualism and Creeds," emphasized his position against anything and everything that stands for finality in religion. Outside of what is called religion, he said, there is no place where absolute truth is fixed. There is an irresistable trend toward the belief that truth cannot be fixed. In the region of philosophy and metaphysics, there is an incessant flux; in chemistry, zoology, botany, no one for a moment believes that the end has been reached.

"Why should the theologian say he has reached the fixed point in his research?" President Eliot asked.

The speaker likened the theme of science to the mariner feeling his way slowly into a harbor overhung with fog.

"That is precisely what the men of science are doing," said President Eliot. "They know how slowly, painfully, patiently they must make their way. The theologian takes a different attitude. He sees in the fog of mystery a thing to be believed. The scientific man is going to rule. Before long it will be only his way that will command the respect of thinking people."

Gomez Fined for Cock Fighting.

Havana, Jan. 22.—Gen. Jose Miguel Gomez, the liberal presidential candidate, ex Congressmen Mendieta and General Monteagudo, the two latter also being liberals, were fined $50 each Monday morning for cock fighting. Gen. Pino Guerra, the ex-revolutionary leader, was to have appeared in court on the same charge, but excused himself on account of illness. The defendants claimed that they did not intend to break the law, but only wished to make a demonstration of Cuba's national sport to some high American army officers.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Jan. 22.—Before a large assemblage, C. N. Smith, M. P. P., last night presented William Fitzgerald, in behalf of the Royal Canadian Humane society, a bronze medal for bravery in saving the lives of two men from drowning at the Algoma Mills. The speaker and hero were wildly cheered by the audience.

Shea Jury Disagreed.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—The trial of President Shea, of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, and thirteen other defendants, ended Monday, the jury failing to agree. When discharged, the jurors stood seven for acquittal and five for conviction. The jury went out Saturday noon, and after being locked in the jury room for 55 hours, reported to Judge Ball that it was not possible for them to reach an agreement. The judge then ordered their discharge. Notwithstanding the fact that the trial just closed has been the longest and most expensive trial in the history of Cook county, the announcement was made by the state's attorney's office that arrangements will be made at once for a second trial.

My Breath.

Shortness of Breath Is One of the Commonest Signs of Heart Disease.

Notwithstanding what many physicians say, heart disease can be cured.

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure has permanently restored to health thousands who had found no relief in the medicines (allopathic or homoeopathic) of regular practicing physicians.

It has proved itself unique in the history of medicine, by being so uniformly successful in curing those diseases.

Nearly always, one of the first signs of trouble is shortness of breath. Whether it comes as a result of walking or running up stairs, or of other exercises, if the heart is unable to meet this extra demand upon its pumping powers—there is something wrong with it.

The very best thing you can do, is to take Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure. It will go to the foundation of the trouble, and make a permanent cure by strengthening and renewing the nerves.

"I know that Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is a great remedy. For a number of years I suffered from shortness of breath, smothering spells, and pains in my left side. For months at a time I would be unable to lie on my left side, and if I lay flat on my back would nearly smother. A friend advised using Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, which I did with good results. I began to improve at once, and after taking several bottles of the Heart Cure the pains in my side and other symptoms vanished. I am now entirely well. All those dreadful smothering spells are a thing of the past."—F. P. DRAKE, Middletown, O.

The water tore away four hundred feet of the embankment, and a torrent poured into Taylorville, a suburb on the west side of the river. Thousands of dollars' worth of property will be damaged.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY.

Standard Oil Company Means to Fight Indiana Indictments.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—The trial of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, on the charge of receiving concessions upon shipments of oil from Whiting, Ind., as set forth in one of the eight indictments recently sustained by Judge Landis in the United States district court, was set Monday by the judge for March 4, 1907, after John S. Miller, attorney for the oil company, had entered a formal plea of not guilty in behalf of his client, to the first count of the indictment.

The indictment contains a total of 1,903 counts, and Attorney Miller attempted to have quashed all but the first count of each of the eight indictments against the company, thus reducing from $28,000,000 to $20,000 the possible maximum fine against his client upon conviction.

The motion to have those counts quashed was promptly overruled by Judge Landis, and then Attorney Miller declined to enter any plea upon the counts in question. He was ordered to plead instanter to the supplementary counts in the case set for trial on March 4, and when he failed to do so, the court ordered the clerk to enter a plea of not guilty. In connection with his plea to quash, Attorney Miller contended that the Elkins law did not provide for an offense upon each shipment of oil made under the alleged unlawful concession, holding that the arrangement for the concession questioned and the acceptance of it constituted the violation, no matter how many shipments were made upon the concession.

Noted Tramp Is Dead.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—Joshiah Flynt Willard, whose experiences as a tramp, author and sociologist under the name of "Josiah Flynt," have given him a wide reputation, died Sunday night at a hotel here. Mr. Willard had been afflicted with pneumonia for several days, but it was not until he became utterly helpless that he permitted a nurse or doctor to enter his room. Mr. Willard had tramped into every civilized country, wearing the costume of the working class of each particular nation he wandered through. He was a friend of Ibsen and of Tolstoi. He was born in Appleton, Wis., on Jan. 23, 1869. Francis E. Willard was his aunt. Willard was a graduate of the University of Berlin, which he attended from 1890 to 1895.

Snow Buries the Houses.

St. Paul, Jan. 22.—Heavy snow covers North Dakota for miles and miles, and is piled in drifts of unprecedented depth, covering in some cases, houses and barns. Not a train on any line has arrived in St. Paul for three days. The blizzard, which swept over the northwest on Saturday, was the worst recorded in fifty years. The weather, however, has moderated, and everywhere gangs of men are at work striving to clear the snow from houses and from railroad tracks.

Arrested at Prison Gates.

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 22.—After having served five years for burglary at the Marquette penitentiary, Geo. W. Davis was re-arrested at the prison gate by Sheriff Ryan, of Midland county, and has been taken back to southern Michigan to answer for an alleged crime against a woman. Davis had a bad record, having served two terms in other state penitentiaries.

Old People

NEED VINOL

It strengthens and vitalizes

With old age comes feebleness and loss of power; the blood is thin and digestion weak.

Vinol repairs worn tissues and checks the natural decline. It tones up the digestive organs, aids assimilation, makes rich, red blood, and strengthens every organ in the body. In this natural manner Vinol replaces weakness with strength.

Vinol contains all the medicinal elements of cod liver oil in a concentrated form, taken from fresh cods' livers, the useless oil eliminated and tonic iron added.

Try it on our guarantee.

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, uric acid, catarrh of the bladder and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work and in private practice, and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all good druggists. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not in itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and Indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific Nerve sickness—nothing else.

It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Without that original and highly vital principle, no such lasting accomplishments were ever to be had.

For stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, bad breath and sallow complexion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend

ABOLISH PENSION AGENCIES.

House Endorses Gardiner's Amendment to Pension Appropriation Bill.

Washington, Jan. 25.—The house Thursday voted to abolish all the pension agencies throughout the country, eighteen, in number, and centralize the payment of pensions in the city of Washington. This action was taken on the pension appropriation bill after a spirited opposition on the part of those having pension agencies in their states.

By a vote of 58 to 114, an amendment offered by Mr. Dalzell of Pennsylvania, restoring the number of agencies to eighteen, as at present, was defeated, and then an amendment offered by Mr. Gardiner, of Michigan, consolidating all the agencies in one, was adopted without division.

The pension appropriation bill, carrying $138,000,000 in round numbers, was passed.

A message from the president was read relative to insurance, and at 2:30, out of respect to the memory of the late Senator, Alger, of Michigan, the house adjourned.

Woman Had Peculiar Hobby.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 25.—Mrs. William Allen, aged 60 years, died suddenly on a Main street car here Thursday morning. She was a member of a widely known family. She had a hobby of riding on street cars, and every morning, immediately after rising, she boarded a car and rode all day, leaving only for meals.

Another Blizzard in West.

St. Paul, Jan. 25.—Another blizzard, the severest of the winter, is raging over North Dakota. On the Great Northern not a train is moving west of Grand Forks, N. D. The Soo line is completely tied up. The Northern Pacific is making slight progress on the main line. In some places entire barns are completely snowed over.

CHILD LABOR IN AMERICA.

More Are Engaged in Agricultural Pursuits Than Any Other.

Washington, Jan. 25.—The extent to which child labor is employed in the United States is set forth in a bulletin issued by the census bureau on Thursday. The statistics presented are for 1900, and relate to the employment of children as bread-winners, of whom 1,750,000, in round numbers, between the ages of 10 and 15, were so employed. Bread-winners are defined as those earning money regularly by labor, contributing to the family support or appreciably assisting in mechanical or agricultural industry.

By far the most important occupation for children is that of agricultural laborers, the number of children 10 to 15 years old so employed being 1,054,446. About two-thirds of the total number of child bread-winners were employed on the farm and most of these children were members of the farmers' families.

Taken From Sinking Ship.

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 25.—Eighteen shipwrecked Japanese seamen, taken from the sinking Japanese schooner Kayama Maru, 146 tons, about 200 miles off the Japanese coast, were landed here Thursday by the steamer Lydgus, which reached port from Liverpool via the Orient. The Japanese had been without food for ten days, and had been living on a few grains of rice scraped from the hold. They were emaciated and suffering from lack of food and water. The schooner left Maiko December 18 for Kobe, and had been blown off shore and badly strained in a southwest gale. She was abandoned and fire was put to her to remove the derelict from the path of shipping. Captain Uyegaki and crew were taken in charge by the Japanese consul, and will be returned to Japan by him.

KILLED IN HIS STORE.

Prominent London Merchant Shot by Young Man, Who Then Attempted to Take His Own Life.

London, Jan. 25.—A dramatic tragedy startled London Thursday when William Whiteley, one of the most unique, and at the same time, one of the most prominent figures in the business world, was shot dead in his store by a youth claiming to be his son. The assassin then attempted to blow out his own brains.

The name of Whiteley has become a household word in England, owing to the enormous department store in London run by a company, of which Mr. Whiteley was president, and which was the pioneer in such enterprises.

The crime occurred shortly after midday. An unknown young man was accorded a private interview with Mr. Whiteley in the latter's private office, where the two men remained closeted for a few minutes. As Mr. Whiteley emerged from his office it was observed that the young man was following and importuning him, while Mr. Whiteley was waving his visitor off and threatening to call the police. Suddenly the young man whipped out a revolver and fired two shots, point blank, at Mr. Whiteley. The bullets lodged in Mr. Whiteley's head and he fell dead. Before the assassin could be secured, he turned his weapon upon himself, and inflicted what is believed to be a mortal wound. He is lingering between life and death, with little hope of surviving.

The personality of the assassin and the motives for his crime are enveloped in much mystery. He gave his name as Cecil Whiteley, but relatives of William Whiteley disclaim all knowledge of him.

Car Kills Mail Route Man.

Jackson, Mich., Jan. 25.—Elwin S. Hanford, aged 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. U. Hanford, of this city, received fatal injuries Thursday morning when his mail wagon on route No. 5, was struck by a Jackson & Battle Creek interurban car. His skull was fractured and he received other injuries which caused his death. His horse was killed and the wagon demolished. Hanford was muffled on account of the cold weather, and didn't see or hear the approaching car.

Wandered Away Into Cold.

Owosso, Mich., Jan. 25.—While mentally unbalanced, Allen Wilcox, aged 23 and single, disappeared from the home of his sister, Mrs. M. D. Corey, at 9 o'clock Tuesday night. He was without hat or coat, and unless he found shelter, which seems improbable, he may have been frozen to death.

A Tune or a Joke.

"Was that a bonafide piece that Ethelinda was playing?" asked Mr. Cumrox.

"Certainly," answered his wife. "That was a selection from Wagner."

"Well, of course I wouldn't express any doubts in company, but half the time I can't tell whether Ethelinda is playing a tune or a practical joke."—Washington Star.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's catarrh cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's catarrh cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

PROVES DREARY TASK

Only Three Jurors Selected Second Day of Thaw Trial.

QUESTION TWENTY-THREE MEN

Difficult Now to Predict Just When Actual Proceedings Will Begin—Defendant's Mother and Countess-Sister Were Absent.

New York, Jan. 25.—After trying in vain for more than four hours of the morning and afternoon sessions Thursday, to secure an additional juror to try Harry K. Thaw, for killing Stanford White, and just when counsel and spectators, and even the defendant himself were drowsy from the monotony of the proceedings, there came a sudden change in the tide, and within the last three-quarters of an hour, three new jurors were accepted and sworn in. When court adjourned for the day, five jurors had been accepted.

Twenty-three talesmen had been examined without success when the unexpected happened, and two talesmen in succession proved acceptable to both District Attorney Jerome, representing the people, and the defendant's attorneys. Then followed the drawing of five more talesmen, who were excused for one reason or another. Henry C. Harney, a piano dealer, about

BOGUS'S GALLERY PICTURE OF HARRY THAW.

55 years of age, was the thirty-first talesman to be called, and as he had never formed an opinion in the case and had read but little about it in the papers, he was quickly accepted.

The other jurors chosen Thursday were George Pfaff, 34 years of age, a dealer in machinists' supplies, and Arthur S. Campbell, 42 years old, a superintendent of telegraph and telephone construction.

Defense Not Particular.

The tedious manner in which the selection of jurors proceeded Thursday, makes it difficult to predict just when the trial panel of twelve will finally be filled. The nineteen talesmen examined Wednesday, and the thirty-one Thursday, brings the total thus far called for examination up to fifty. If the ratio continues, it will require two or three days yet to complete the jury. Of the thirty peremptory challenges each allowed the prosecution and the defense, the former has used eight and the latter six. The defense seemed willing to accept any talesman who made reasonable answers to the questions.

The fact that Thaw's attorneys asked several of the talesmen if they had any prejudice against any particular line or character of defense, was taken by many to indicate that the defense may be either the so-called "unwritten" law or emotional insanity, or a combination of both.

Mrs. Wm. Thaw, mother of the defendant, was not in the court yesterday. She was greatly fatigued by the long sessions of Wednesday, and was on the verge of a collapse at one time. She remained in her apartments on Thursday, where she was attended by her daughter, the countess of Yarmouth. The other members of the family were in their accustomed seats in court, behind the defendant. Howard Nesbit, a brother of Mrs. Thaw, also was in court.

Russian City Destroyed by Fire.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 25.—The central part of Polotsk, one of the most ancient cities of the empire, has been destroyed by fire. The damage done is very heavy. Polotsk is situated on the River Duna, about 325 miles south and a little west of St. Petersburg. It was the seat of a mediaval principality which was swallowed up by Lithunia and under the Polish kings was a flourishing center of trade.

Must Pay 'Frisco Losses.

San Francisco, Jan. 25.—The earthquake clause upon which many of the insurance companies based their refusal to pay the full amount of policies on losses arising from the April, 1906, disaster, was considered not sufficient for exemption by the jury which heard the evidence in the case of Thomas Deggin against the Commercial Union Assurance Co., of London. The verdict was rendered Thursday before Judge Whitson in the circuit court, and judgment was in favor of the plaintiff for $6,778.

Many of the inhabitants of the sea are good jumpers and some have become famous. Among them should be mentioned the tarpon or silver king, a huge fish with scales that gleam like silver. In the Pacific waters the tuna, an ally of the horse mackerel, is noted for its leaps. Sometimes a school sweeps up the coast, and the powerful fish, often weighing 800 pounds, are seen in the air in every direction. They dart like an arrow, turn gracefully five or six feet in the air and come down, keeping the water for acres in a foam, and, if not the greatest, they are certainly the most graceful of the jumpers of the sea.

The Whirling of a Bullet.

Bullets from the thirty caliber rifles of the United States army whirl with great rapidity. The riffing gives one revolution of the bullet about its axis in ten inches. At the muzzle the velocity of the bullet is 2,800 feet a second, which means 2,700 turns a second, assuming that the bullet does not strip in the rifling. The circumference of the bullet is .942 inch, which gives a peripheral velocity of 2,600 inches each second, or 13,000 feet a minute.

TAKE OFFICE FROM HIM

That Is What British Will Likely Do to Gov. Swettenham.

EXPLAINS HIS RECENT ACTIONS

English Authorities Do Not Make Them Public—Admiral Davis Was Asked to Land Troops at Kingston—Conditons There Are Improving.

London, Jan. 25.—The colonial office has received several telegrams from Sir Alexander Swettenham, the governor of Jamaica, explaining the incident with Rear-Admiral Davis, but not one is of such a character that the authorities are prepared to give it to the public. The foreign office says it has had no further communication from Washington, and that with the receipt of President Roosevelt's telegram, through Assistant Secretary of State Bacon, the international side of the question is regarded as settled. At the same time, it is possible, however, that when Gov. Swettenham's explanation is received in full there will be further communication with the government of the United States. The Associated Press gained the general impression at the government offices that Gov. Swettenham's career is at an end.

Kingston, Jamaica, Jan. 25.—Gov. Swettenham has written a letter to John F. Stevens, chief engineer of the Panama canal, thanking him for the tents and supplies sent in here from the isthmus by the steamer Advance. The governor said:

"Convey my grateful and heartfelt acknowledgements to the citizens of the United States and the officials and employes of the canal commission, who so promptly testified their sympathy with suffering Kingston."

William H. Orrett, the American vice consul here, has published a letter setting forth the facts relative to the landing of marines from the American warships, under command of Rear-Admiral Davis. This letter is as follows:

Davis Vindicated.

"I met Rear-Admiral Davis at Headquarters house, and introduced him to Colonial Secretary Bourne. The admiral offered his service to land immediately such food and medical supplies as were needed, and to detail all his men to help generally. While in the midst of this interview, the deputy inspector-general arrived hurriedly and reported to the colonial secretary that there was a serious mutiny at the general penitentiary, and added it could be quelled only with an armed force. The aid of the American admiral was invoked and he arranged that a party be landed at once. The admiral, in the presence of the colonial secretary, the deputy inspector-general and myself, gave instructions to his flag lieutenant to return at once to the flagship, to order the Indiana to anchor off the penitentiary and to land an armed party, and to land any other parties the authorities might need.

"Only a small guard was landed with the working party, which saved the archives at the consulate, and when these men had completed their work they joined the general working party.

"Everything that Admiral Davis did was with the full knowledge and consent of the authorities."

Conditions here are slowly improving. There is no scarcity of food. Cash allowances to the needy are being made by the archbishop and the relief committee. There are two thousand persons destitute and without homes.

Many bodies are being recovered daily; forty were found yesterday. The exact number of bodies buried or cremated is not known, but it probably will reach 600, and it is believed that the total fatalities will reach 500 persons.

Pursuing Raisuli.

Tangier, Jan. 25.—Raisuli, at nightfall Wednesday, was surrounded by Kaid Mehalla's forces, in Zeilal's stronghold. A courier who arrived here Thursday reported that Mehalla's troops advanced and burned a number of villages of the Beni-Mesnis tribes before striking the Monsours in force. The latter were dislodged from their position by the government artillery, losing 15 men, captured by the troops. El Ghainit, brother of Zeilal, made a stand in one of the villages, but was driven out after two hours' fighting, abandoning a dozen dead and a score of wounded men. The loss of the government forces was two men killed and several wounded. El Ghainit was wounded. Toward night Kaid Mehalla reached Zeilal's fortress, where Raisuli had assumed personal command. An attempt was made to storm the stronghold, but it was unsuccessful. Darkness then intervened.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 25.—Reports of heavy loss of life and great suffering are arriving from the Akomolinsk steppes, central Russia, with which communication was interrupted. During the recent blizzard the temperature fell to 47 degrees below zero. Fifteen bodies were recovered in one day in the vicinity of the village of Akomli. Thousands of cattle perished. The winter grain crop is killed in mid-Russia, where the snow fall was light.

SENATOR ALGER DEAD

Michigan's Distinguished Soldier-Statesman Enters Last Sleep.

IS STRICKEN DOWN SUDDENLY

Passes Away at His Home in Washington—Remains to Be Removed to Detroit for Burial—Both State and National Legislatures Adjourn.

Washington, Jan. 25.—Senator Russell A. Alger, of Detroit, died at 8:30 Thursday morning, of heart failure. His death was entirely unexpected, although his health has been poor for a long time. He had remarked several times during the past few days that he was feeling better than he had in years.

When he awoke at 7 o'clock, suffering from the shock of an attack upon his weakened heart, he arose and stepped into Mrs. Alger's apartments to tell her that the hour to which they had both been compelled to look forward for the past year, was perhaps at hand. In a few minutes he suffered a second attack, and lapsed into unconsciousness, from which he never recovered.

Drs. W. G. Morgan and Clayter were summoned, but their efforts were without avail. The worn-out heart had failed and after an hour, without apparent suffering, he entered the last sleep, the end being so peaceful that the watchers hardly realized when it came.

Funeral Arrangements.

Through the efforts of Hon. Truman H. Newberry, assistant secretary of the navy, and Sergeant-at-Arms Randell, of the senate, arrangements for funeral have been about completed. At the request of Mrs. Alger, there will be no state ceremony at the capitol, and the remains will not be taken there.

The services will be conducted at the Alger residence, 1401 Sixteenth street, at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, and at 4 o'clock the cortege will leave on a special train for Detroit, arriving there about noon Sunday. The burial services at Detroit will occur at 2 o'clock Monday. The war department also tendered a funeral with full military honors, but Mrs. Alger declined, accepting only a cavalry escort for the remains from the house to the train.

All day, from the hour when Gen. Alger's death became generally known, the most distinguished men in the nation were callers at the house to give personal expression to their feelings. Senators, members of the cabinet, distinguished members of the diplomatic corps and others came in increasing numbers, a great heap of cards in the drawing room testifying to the throng.

Congress Adjourns.

At the capitol both houses of congress adjourned as a token of respect for the dead senator's memory, the senate through the motion of Senator Burrows, and the house upon the motion of Congressman Bishop, chairman of the Michigan delegation. Appropriate resolutions were adopted by both houses.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 25.—Detroit suffered a distinct shock when the news of Senator Alger's sudden death reached the city at 9 o'clock Thursday morning by way of a private wire to the senator's office, and was later announced to the public by extras of newspapers.

As the city's chief executive, Mr. Thompson issued a statement in which he said:

"Senator Alger was a prominent type of our older, distinguished citizens and statesmen. He served his country well as a soldier, and in his mature years the nation profited by his knowledge and experience during another crisis, while he was secretary of war. Michigan honored him and herself by selecting him as her senator.

"The city of Detroit owes much to Mr. Alger."

City's Council Called.

Mayor Thompson has issued a call for a special meeting of the common council to be held at 12 o'clock noon, Friday, to take action on the death of Senator Alger.

Detailed arrangements for the funeral will be announced today. Owing to a slight indisposition, Col. Hecker, placed in charge of the ceremonies in Detroit at the request of Mrs. Alger, was unable Thursday night to give out anything definite, no plans having yet been decided on.

"A formal reception of Senator Alger's remains at the depot, will be arranged for," said Col. Hecker, "and the body will probably be taken to the family home, 150 Fort street, west, where the services will take place at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. I cannot, at present, say whether the body will be permitted to lie in state."

Many of the old soldiers in Detroit, members of the various G. A. R. posts, have indicated their desire to attend the funeral enmasse, but the matter will be left entirely in the hands of Col. Hecker. Many members of the old Fifth Michigan cavalry, the regiment in which the senator was colonel, are expected in Detroit to attend the funeral.

His Biography.

Russell A. Alger was born on a farm in Lafayette township, Medina county, O., Feb. 27, 1836. Both of his parents died when he was 11 years of age, and for some years thereafter he worked upon a farm and attended school winters. In March, 1857, having just reached the age of 21, he entered the law office of Wolcott & Upson, at Akron, O., where he remained for the term of two years. In the spring of 1859 he went to Cleveland and entered a law office, where he remained until fall. He had been admitted to the bar in Akron, but his term of practice was short. His health would not stand the confinement to the office, and so late in 1859 he went to Grand Rapids, Mich., to engage in the lumber business. There, April 2, 1861, he married Annette H. Henry, daughter of W. G. Henry, of that city, who survives him. The honeymoon had scarcely time to wane before the young husband responded to the call to arms and entered upon the career that was to make his fame. On Aug. 19, 1861, he enlisted in the Second Michigan cavalry, going to the front as captain of Co. C. He was promoted frequently for conspicuous gallantry and meritorious service. He was involved in 66 different battles and skirmishes and was wounded several times. He was given private and confidential commissions by President Lincoln, and won that eminent statesman's friendship and esteem.

Becomes a Colonel.

He was made lieutenant-colonel of the Sixth Michigan cavalry, which was ordered to join the army of the Potomac. On June 30, 1863, he was promoted again to be colonel of the Fifth Michigan cavalry, a regiment attached to Gen. Custer's brigade. He remained in command of this regiment for the succeeding 16 months, until he retired from the service by resignation, Sept. 19, 1864.

He was appointed brevet-brigadier-general and brevet-major-general, United States volunteers, June 11, 1865 for gallant and meritorious services during the war. He was elected commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, in 1889.

In 1884 he was elected governor of Michigan, declining a renomination in 1886. He was made secretary of war by President McKinley in 1897, and resigned in 1899. On September 27, 1902, he was appointed United States senator by the governor of Michigan to fill a vacancy and took his seat Dec. 2, 1902. In January, 1903, he was elected by the legislature of Michigan for the term which will expire March 3, 1907.

Accumulates Fortune.

After the war, in 1863, General Alger returned to Michigan; then began his business career, which resulted in the accumulation of a large fortune. He re-engaged in the lumber business, and as years wore on, he saw a vast enterprise built up. He has acquired interest in mines and various other enterprises besides lumber.

In March, 1901, it was stated authoritatively that Gen. Alger was president and treasurer of Alger, Smith & Co. and of the Manistique Lumbering Co. He was president of the Manistique Railway Co., Duluth & Northern Minnesota Railway Co., of the Michigan Condensed Milk Co., of the Volunteer Iron Co., and of the Alger-Sullivan Lumber Co., of Alabama. He was vice-president of the Marais Lumber Co. He was, of course, a director in all of these companies, but he was also a director in the Laurentide Pulp Co., of Grand Mere, Quebec; of the State Savings bank, Detroit, and of the United States Express Co.

Gen. Alger had five children: Caroline, wife of Henry D. Sheldon, of Detroit; Fay, wife of William B. Bailey, of Harrisburg, Pa.; Frances, wife of Charles B. Pike, of Chicago; Russell A. Alger, Jr., and Frederick Moulton Alger.

SENATE FORCED INTO SESSION.

Senator Alger's Death Brings About a Peculiar Situation.

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 25.—The death of Senator Alger means that the legislature must meet according to law one week from next Tuesday, Feb. 5—to elect a senator for the 26 remaining days of the six years term to which James McMillan was elected Jan. 15, 1901, and Russell A. Alger on Jan. 20, 1903.

It is the only instance in Michigan's history where a senator died during his term of office and the man elected to finish his term also died before the term expired.

The law on the subject says that when a vacancy occurs in the United States senate during the session of the legislature the legislature must meet on the second Tuesday after receiving formal notice and proceed to ballot. This will be Feb. 5, the date to which it had been agreed to adjourn before news of the senator's death was received.

The formal notice of the death was conveyed to both houses in a message by the governor immediately after convening at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. A joint resolution which had been previously drafted, was at once introduced by Representative Weiss, of Detroit, and adopted. The house adjourned for ten days last night.

The senators who are opposed to Dairy and Food Commissioner Arthur C. Bird carried out a plan by breaking a quorum Thursday afternoon and preventing confirmation of his re-appointment for a second term. An hour before the senate was to convene at 2 p. m., but 16 senators were to have responded to roll call. This was one short of a quorum.

An awkward situation was then threatened. Without a quorum the senate could not be officially notified of Senator Alger's death, and without such notification the senate could not be represented officially at the funeral. Further, the senate could not ballot for senator until two weeks from Feb. 5, instead of on that day as the law designed.

The governor's friends then offered to make a temporary truce with Senator Crapsey, the only insurrecto who hadn't caught an outgoing train, but was headed for one. He was urged to attend and make a quorum, the pledge being given him that Bird's nomination would not be called up if he did so.

He returned and a quorum was recorded. Bird's nomination will not be called up till after Feb. 5.

LUCIUS LILLEY

Deposited with the Tecumseh Cemetery Association a

FIVE HUNDRED DOLLAR BOND

For the perpetual care of his lot in the cemetery, Lucius Lilley, the well-known banker of this city, has taken out a long time bond. It runs 454 years. He has placed it in the hands of the local cemetery board.

Mr. Lilley recently wrote the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad Co. in regard to securing such a bond, and was advised to write the West Shore Railroad Co. The bond arrived a few days ago. It was for $500 and is guaranteed by the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad Co. The interest, 4 per cent, takes care of the lot. The bond is due in 2361.

Though Lucius Lilley is 85 years old he is still active in business. He spends [illegible] each day looking after the affairs of the Lilley bank of which he is president. He started in the banking business in Tecumseh in 1855 and has been in the same business and in the same room up to the present time.

Mr. Lilley is one of the oldest and is considered one of the best known and conservative bankers in the state. He is also one of the directors of the Detroit Trust Co.

Eugene Ellis.

Willett Ellis received word Wednesday morning of the death of his son, Eugene Ellis, which took place Tuesday night at his home in Milan of pneumonia. Mr. Ellis is a brother of Mrs. Lavern Hopper of this place, and leaves a wife and daughter, the latter, Miss Vera being about 15 years of age.

The funeral will take place at Cone at 12 o'clock on Saturday, services being in charge of the Modern Woodmen of which deceased was an honored and respected member.

Ward Gregg.

The remains of Ward Gregg, who was killed in the Lake Shore wreck at Riga Sunday, were taken to Bronson Wednesday morning, his parents' home, for burial. His wife and little son, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Coleman, of Manchester, accompanied the remains.

Mrs. Robert McGill.

The death of Mrs. Robert McGill, formerly of Tecumseh, occurred at her home in Detroit Thursday morning. The remains will arrive here Saturday morning on the 10:56 and will be taken directly to Brookside for burial.

Lavern Eugene Hagadorn.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hagadorn died last evening at 7 o'clock, aged 4 months and 21 days. The funeral will be held in the Methodist church parlors Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The parents have the sympathy of all in this community.

Miss Ida M. Taylor in charge of Mt. Vernon Collegiate Institute.

Mt. Vernon Collegiate Institute was organized July 20, 1869. Jas. Hook, J. J. Williams, M. Bowers, D. N. Williams, Dr. A. J. Lovell and J. W. Brown directors; C. C. Williams, president. The institution is now known as the Brown Memorial school and is under the patronage of the church of that name at Baltimore. The school has progressed since its inception and improves as the years pass along in educational facilities.

The school is now in charge of Miss Ida M. Taylor, the most energetic principal ever at the head of the school's affairs. Langdon dormitory was built in 1905 from funds furnished by an enterprising and philanthropic lady of Baltimore, Mrs. John P. Langdon. In the erection of this dormitory Miss Ida M. Taylor had entire charge in planning, supervising, etc., and paying of the builders and workmen. Miss Taylor is endowed with remarkable executive ability as is evidenced by her superior and successful management of the Brown Memorial school and the discharge of other manifold duties.—Mt. Vernon Signal, Rockcastle county, Ky.

Miss Taylor is the daughter of M. H. Taylor of Tecumseh, and graduated here from the high school in 1883.

D. T. & I. Trains.

Tecumseh is certainly in good luck for trains to and from Detroit since the last change of time in the D. T. & I. Since last Sunday trains pass Tecumseh going south at 10:56 and 6:47 p. m. Going north at 7:49 and 10:56 a. m. Now one can go to Detroit at 7:49 or 10:56 in the morning and come home, getting here at 6:47 in the evening, by far the most convenient arrangement Tecumseh has ever enjoyed on the D. T. & I. road. All Tecumseh especially thank the D. T. & I. management.

Order of the Eastern Star.

Last evening occurred the regular meeting of the order of the Eastern Star. The following program was given:

Chas. M. Dewey.

Charles Henry Dewey died at his home Saturday, January 19, at the advanced age of nearly 84. In his death Lenawee has lost one of its most distinguished and conspicuous citizens.

He was born under the shadow of Dartmouth college, Hanover, N. H., of hardy New England stock and in early boyhood about 1830, came with his parents who settled in Tecumseh. While scarcely 20 he married Miss Alvira, daughter of Dr. Arba Moulton, and settled in Cambridge, where for more than 60 years he has been an honored citizen.

He was for 20 years supervisor of the town and most of that time chairman of the board. He was 25 years postmaster and many years justice and successively president of the Agricultural society of Lenawee county. In 1861-5 he was appointed by Gov. Blair recruiting agent with rank of captain and performed most conspicuous service. Indeed, his experiences and hair-breadth escapes in Kentucky and Tennessee were most thrilling.

He was always an advocate of true Democracy in its broadest sense, but never a partisan. He was even up to advanced age, a most earnest, forceful logical and eloquent speaker—strong in debate as well as quick at repartee. He was an extensive reader and as a result was a sort of encyclopedia for the people. He was in demand as speaker of the day for every kind of public gathering and never disappointed his hearers.

While nominally a farmer his principal attention was given to mercantile pursuits and particularly to the handling of wool on a large scale, in which he was very successful.

The statue of Gov. Blair before the capitol at Lansing is, in expression, features, pose, everything, almost an exact likeness of Mr. Dewey on the platform.

For nearly sixty years he has been in a very broad sense Lenawee's mentor and few men in any community have more indelibly stamped a controlling influence.

Mr. Dewey is an uncle of L. D. and Jacob Dewey of this place.

Bible school at 11:00. C. E. society at 6 o'clock. Mid-week prayer service at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening.

The second annual boys' conference of the Lenawee county Y. M. C. A. will be held in Clinton Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 2 and 3. The conference will be open to boys 12 to 18 years of age and all adults who are interested in the work are invited to attend. E. L. Moore, secretary of the Coldwater Y. M. C. A., Frank Angell of the Allegan county associations and C. L. Rowe will speak. These men who have had experience in boys' work will be a great help to the conference. A banquet will be served to the delegates in the Congregational church Saturday night. The conference will close with a union church service Sunday evening.

IN SORE STRAITS.

Grand Rapids May Fight Floods for Another Weeks.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 26.—The ice gorge which began forming here Wednesday in Grand River, now practically extends from a half mile north of the city to within five miles of Grand Haven. While the water is slowly falling below the city, it is rising hourly above. An ice gorge is now forming above which threatens to flood nearly all of the west side of the river. All the river streets on the west side are under water.

Weather Director Schneider thinks the fall below the city is due to the water spreading over lowlands. There it will soon freeze over at the low temperature prevailing here, and leave the situation here as bad as ever, with hardly and diminution of danger from flood.

Speaking of possible relief from the flood, he said: "I do not want to appear sensational, but I anticipate the most serious flood conditions for about a week. It seems to me that there can be no relief from the flood with the river a solid mass of ice, practically, all the way down from Grand Rapids to Lake Michigan, a distance of over 40 miles. The present conditions seem to be liable to continue for some time, and I cannot anticipate any relief for at least a week, and perhaps for two weeks more. I am fearful of serious results."

Many factories and business houses on the west side are shut down, causing idleness to not less than 1,500 persons and more will be forced to close if the ice gorge above the city forces a further rise, which appears probable.

Consciousness of error is to a certain extent a consciousness of understanding, and correction of error is the plainest proof of energy and mastery.—Landor.

Cured of lung trouble.

"It is now 11 years since I had a narrow escape from consumption," writes C. O. Floyd, a leading business man of Kershaw, S. C. "I had run down in weight to 135 pounds and coughing was constant, both by day and by night. Finally I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery and continued this for about six months, when my cough and lung trouble were entirely gone and I was restored to my normal weight, 170 pounds." Thousands of persons are healed every year. Guaranteed at C. A. Wright's drug store. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

TO ENJOY A GOOD DINNER.

How to avoid distress and indigestion after eating.

Let us tell you how you can enjoy a good dinner, so that the heartiest meal will set well on your stomach and cause no unpleasant and disagreeable after effects.

We will show you how to regain the appetite of your childhood and the enjoyment of food, so that it will taste as well as when mother cooked the dinner.

There is no hard work necessary to do this; no need of a rigid and self-denying diet list; no call for nasty and disagreeable medicines. Simply take a Mi-o-na stomach tablet before each meal and before going to bed and it will so strengthen the stomach that before long a hearty meal will give you gratification and comfort, without the least fear of distress and suffering.

The strongest proof we can offer of our faith in this advice, is the fact that C. A. Wright gives an absolute, unqualified guarantee (applying to two 50c boxes of Mi-o-na), that your money will be refunded unless Mi-o-na cures. A guarantee like this gives you confidence in Mi-o-na. He takes the whole risk and the remedy will not cost you a penny unless it cures.

Mi-o-na is not a mere digestive, giving only temporary relief, but a specific for all diseases of the stomach, strengthening the digestive organs and making a permanent cure.

Anti-Carbon Soot Destroyer

This new and useful composition, when placed on a red hot fire, creates and expels the chemical fumes during combustion and these fumes destroy and disperse all soot in the stove, pipes and chimney, and will extinguish it at once if on fire.

What is the use of giving a chimney sweep a dollar or two and then cleaning your entire house after he is gone, when you can buy a box of Anti-Carbon large enough to last a long time for the small sum of 25 cents. Recommended by all insurance companies. Try a package and be convinced.

The average woman would rather marry a man to reform him than not be able to pose as a reformer of some kind.

Beauty more than skin deep.

Every one who wants a good healthy color and a clear skin free from biliousness, sluggish liver and chronic constipation should get a package of Dainty Laxakola tonic tablets, nature's sweet restorer. JOHN J. ORR.

Next to dodging the custom house a woman seems to like best not having the street-car conductor collect her fare.

Charming Women.

Nothing lends more to personal charm than a clear rosy skin and nothing is so sure to free the skin from moth spots, sallowness and the effects of chronic constipation as the dainty Laxakola tonic tablets, 25c. JOHN J. ORR

TESTED AND PROVEN.

There is a heap of solace in being able to depend upon a well-earned reputation.

For months Tecumseh readers have seen the constant expression of praise for Doan's Kidney Pills and read about the good work they have done in this locality. Not another remedy ever produced such convincing proof of merit.

Wm. C. Witherell, living on Pottawatamie street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "In 1901 I gave a statement for publication telling how Doan's Kidney Pills had helped me and today, Dec. 12, 1906, I still hold the same opinion of the When I first used Doan's Kidney Pills was troubled with severe pains across my back. If I attempted to stoop or to straighten sharp pains would follow. One time I was in bed for several days just from my kidneys. I think the trouble was caused years ago by being in a bent over position when I used to shear a great number of sheep. I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and bought a box. I received great benefit from the first few doses so I continued using them when they had effected a cure which has proven permanent. I have recommended the Pills and will continue to do so."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's, and take no other.

A bushel of fun is sometimes followed by a peck of trouble

Stops earache in two minutes; toothache or pain of burn or scald in five minutes; hoarseness one hour; muscleache two hours; sore throat, twelve hours—Dr. Thomas Eclectric Oil, monarch over pain.

If you haven't the time to exercise regularly, Doan's regulets will prevent constipation. They induce a mild, easy healthful action of the bowels without griping. Ask your druggist for them. 25c.

A bartender says that none are so blind as those who refuse an eye-opener.

Croup can positively be stopped in 20 minutes. No vomiting—nothing to sicken or distress your child. A sweet, pleasant and safe syrup, called Dr. Shoop' croup cure, does the work and does it quickly. Dr. Shoop's croup cure is for croup alone, remember. It does not claim to cure a dozen ailments. It's for croup, that's all. Sold by all dealers.

The size of a preacher's congregation is of more consequence than the architectural beauty of the church.

GUARANTEED REMEDY FOR INDIGESTION.

Interesting statement by John J. Orr.

When a man comes into this store and calls for any particularly indigestion remedy, we always give him what he asks for, but in case he leaves it to us, we usually recommend Pepsikola tablets.

Here is a preparation we have been selling right over the counter for years, and from actual observation we know it must do good, and really does relieve and cure indigestion and dyspepsia or there would be a steady stream of people coming back for their money, as every 25c box is sold with the understanding that you must be decidedly benefited or there is nothing to pay.

You simply try Pepsikola tablets with the understanding that they will steady your nerves, improve your appetite, relieve wind belching, coated tongue, sour stomach, fullness after eating, weakened energy and other symptoms of indigestion or John J. Orr is ready at any time to pay back your money without the least argument.

Good intentions should have asbestos covers—for reasons unnecessary to mention.

It's Charming

To possess a healthy glowing complexion. Dainty Laxakola tonic tablets obliterate all eruptions of the skin—by their mild, but active influence on the bowels. Forty tablets 25c.

CHAS. CRAIG.

Chas. Craig was born in Antrim county, Ireland, Oct. 21, 1833 and passed to his heavenly home Jan. 18, 1907, age 73 years, 2 months and 21 days and was married to Jane Montgomery May 26, 1857. They came to America in April '65. To them were born 9 children, 3 sons and 6 daughters all of whom are living except the eldest daughter, Margaret Wright, who died March 6, '03.

Having known the deceased about 40 years, have always regarded him as one whom the scripture declared, "Thou shalt not see the righteous forsaken." When he and his faithful companion resolved to leave the land of their birth we can imagine their feelings of sorrow at forsaking all former associations. But they were sustained with the hope and determination of finding a home and friends across the sea, all of which were realized.

The maladies causing the death of our neighbor, while not persistently painful caused much continuous suffering and it became evident a few weeks ago that his life could not be prolonged. He was resigned and uncomplaining always appreciating every care and kindness, during all his affliction being sustained by the unseen power divine.

CARD OF THANKS.

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the conditions of payment of a certain mortgage executed and delivered by Vincent Ella to Eliza A Campbell and Eva M. Gray, dated the 31st day of August A. D. 1904 and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Lenawee, State of Michigan, on the 7th day of September A. D. 1904 in Liber 153 of Mortgages on page 1 6, which mortgage was by mesne assignments given to said parties of the second part in joint estate, and of said parties said Eva M. Gray being now the survivor, said Eliza A Campbell having departed this life since the giving of instrument, and which mortgage provided that should any payment of principal or interest secured by the same remain unpaid and in arrear for the period of ninety days after its maturity, the holder thereof should have the right to declare all the unpaid portion of said mortgage debt to be due and payable forthwith and more than ninety days having elapsed since the maturity of an installment of principal and interest of said indebtedness and the same remaining yet unpaid there is claimed, and now declared, at the date hereof, to be due to the undersigned the whole unpaid portion of said indebtedness amounting to the sum of five hundred fifty-six and 60-100 dollars, and no suit or proceeding at law or in equity having been instituted for the recovery of said indebtedness, or any portion thereof;

Notice is therefore hereby given that, by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained (now operative by said default), for the purpose of realizing the amount of said mortgage debt with interest thereon to accrue and costs of this foreclosure, including a lawful attorney fee, I will, on Monday the 4th day of March A. D. 1907 at ten in the forenoon of said day, at the east front door of the Court House in the city of Adrian, in the county of Lenawee and state of Michigan, (that being the place where the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee is holden), sell at public vendue, to the highest bidder, that parcel of land in the village of Tecumseh, county of Lenawee and state of Michigan, bounded by beginning at the intersection of the south line of Chicago street with the east line of Wyandotte street, and running thence east in south line of Chicago street six rods to Mahaney's land; thence south parallel with east line of Wyandotte street twelve rods; thence west parallel with first course six rods to east line of Wyandotte street; thence north in that line twelve rods to beginning.

The Best Laxative for Children.

Parents should see to it that their children have one natural, easy movement of the bowels each day. Do not dose the child with salts or griping pills, as they are too powerful in effect, and literally tear their little insides to pieces, leaving the bowels weakened and less able to act naturally than before. Laxative Iron-ox Tablets tone and strengthen the bowels, and stimulate all the little organs to healthy activity. Chocolate coated tablets, easy to take, never gripe or nauseate. 10c, 25c and $1.00.

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, uric acid, catarrh of the bladder and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work and in private practice, and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all good druggists. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not in itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and Indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific Nerve sickness—nothing else.

It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Without that original and highly vital principle, no such lasting accomplishments were ever to be had.

For stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, bad breath and sallow complexion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend Quickly made friendships are quickly ended.

An Insidious Danger.

One of the worst features of kidney trouble is that it is an insidious disease and before the victim realizes his danger he may have a fatal malady. Take Foley's kidney cure at the first sign of trouble as it corrects irregularities and prevents Bright's disease and diabetes.

Most of the things we learn from experience come under the head of compulsory education.

A corner in grain isn't necessarily on the square.

To stop a cold with "Preventics" is safer than to let it run and cure it afterwards. Taken at the "sneeze stage" Preventics will head off all colds and grippe and perhaps save you from pneumonia or bronchitis. Preventics are little toothsome candy cold cure tablets selling in 5 cent and 25 cent boxes. If you are chilly, if you begin to sneeze, try Preventics. They will surely check the cold and please you. Sold by all dealers.

Animals In Mohammedan Heaven.

According to the Mohammedans, ten animals have been admitted to paradise—the dog Kratim, the follower of the seven sleepers, Balaam's ass, Solomon's ant, the honeybee, Jonah's whale, the ram which was offered in sacrifice in place of Isaac, the camel of Saleh, the cuckoo of Balkis, the ox of Moses and Al Borak, the monstrosity which conveyed Mohammed from earth to heaven and back again in a very short time. These creatures were all sainted for some special services which they had rendered to man.

English Railway Signals.

An observant traveler on English railways could tell you at once the railway upon which he is traveling by merely looking at the first signal he passes. It may surprise many to know that there are hardly two styles quite alike in this country in station architecture and fittings, color of rolling stock, design and color of the locomotives, uniforms of the servants, style of the signal cabins and signal appliances and many other details.—London Mail.

Adder Stones.

The singular superstition of the value of adder stones for curing a variety of ills has continued in many countries from the time of the Romans. These celebrated charms are nothing more than antique green or blue glass striped in various designs and perforated. The virtues of these stones are sung in the poems of the ancient Druids and are mentioned by Pliny and other classical writers.

A Warning.

"See here!" said the theatrical manager. "You want to quit your overbearing behavior toward the other members of this company"—

"Indeed?" haughtily replied the Thespian. "I am the star, am I not?"

"Well, yes, but you want to remember that you're not a fixed star."—Philadelphia Press.

Queer Names.

There are some queer nooks and corners in the state of Maine, and many of the titles of the smaller towns and localities are worthy of special mention. Near Otisfield is Pugleyville, while Hog valley is a certain picturesque retreat located near Raymond. Dog Corner, Hencoop cove, is a well known place in Winthrop, while out on the Coon road strange things have sometimes happened. A mile long is Pin Hole hill, the steepest ever, and all the way up are little rests "to hang the pins on," people say. Over Poland way is the hunger inspiring name of Beeftown, while highly suggestive of negligee was the old name of Saccarappa. One does not have to die to pass through Purgatory, and some of the most prominent men in the state have hailed from this sinful region. Neither are the gates of Eden closed to all mortals, but nowadays one journeys via an ancient toll bridge that leads the traveler straight to this enchanted land.—Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

The Interior of the Earth.

A frequent remark is that mankind dwells on a thin crust encircling a molten mass and that the journey of life is practically on a fire ball incased in a fragile shell that has cooled and that, as it cools further, contracts with earthquake shocks. Much virtue in rhetoric, if the purpose is to elevate the hair and induce cold thrills and gooseflesh. The internal fire of the earth is an inference and, in any large sense, historically harmless if true. Persons who worry over cosmic problems might also keep awake of nights over the palpable truth that the earth moves through space without any visible means of support. On the planet are the plain marks of epochs of ice as well as of intense heat. Scientists agree that glacial ages will come again, but geology teaches that they are gradual and of limited extent geographically.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Yes, We Are Restless.

"We are a restless people," observes the Sedgwick (Kan.) Pantagraph. "Every thin woman longs to be fat. Every fat woman wants to grow thin. Every town man longs for the time when he can retire to the quiet of the country, and every farmer hopes to some day quit work and move to town, where he can take life easy. Country newspaper men would like to try their hand on a city daily. The fellows on the big dailies dream of a time when they can own a paper of their own. In youth we long for maturity. In age we yearn for the happy days of childhood. There is no excuse for it other than that we all seem to be built that way. The grass seems to be just a little bit greener and thriftier most any direction from the place you occupy right now. Contentment is as near to happiness as you can get in this world."

Boy Was a Good Listener.

The Smiths were not overcautious in discussing neighbors' faults in the presence of their little son. A van one day backed up to the curb, and, much to Mrs. Smith's disgust, her boy Tommy assisted an objectionable neighbor to move. The little fellow worked hard and made himself very useful. When the last wagonload had been hauled away and the doors of the vacant house locked Tommy returned home, tired and disgusted. His mother could not reconcile the boy's early enthusiasm with his present dejection, and she asked him what was the matter.

"I worked and watched around the house all day," whined the tired little fellow, "but I didn't see them take any skeletons out of the closets."—New York Times.

The Iconoclastic Baroness Howe.

After Pope's death the villa at Twickenham belonged successively to Sir William Stanhope, who enlarged it considerably; to Mr. Welbore Ellis, afterward Lord Mendip, and lastly to Baroness Howe. This lady was so much annoyed at the number of pilgrims who came to see the place that she razed it to the ground, cut down the trees and endeavored to obliterate all vestiges of its former distinguished occupant.—London Notes and Queries.

No Use For Them.

Customer (being measured in a fashionable tailor's shop)—By the way, what's your price for a suit? Tailor—Sixty dollars, sir. How many pockets would you like? Customer—No pockets at all. I shan't need any when I've paid your bill.

Poverty.

Poverty is very terrible and sometimes kills the very soul within us, but it is the north wind that lashes men into vikings; it is the soft, luscious south wind which lulls them to lotus dreams.—Ouida.

There is something on earth grander than arbitrary power. The thunder, the lightning and the earthquake are terrific, but the judgment of the people is more.—Daniel Webster.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's catarrh cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's catarrh cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Elsie's Little Miracle

By Anna Steese Richardson

Copyright, 1906, by May McKeon

It was pretty generally understood that the Billy Daltons were drifting apart. There was no particular reason for this state of affairs, save the lack of something better to do.

You see, they had just enough money so that Billy did not have to work nor Janet to worry about making both ends meet. They had danced their way through several seasons into a lazy, good humored and comrade-like engagement, thence into matrimony. After that Billy had continued to lead cotillions and Janet to dance them, but generally with other partners.

Matters between them had reached the point where the rumor laden society papers had suggested covertly that when Billy went to England and Scotland, where he had nothing in particular to do, Janet would probably take up her home in Nevada or South Dakota, there to remain until Norman Stanley returned from Africa, where he was fighting ennui by hunting big game. It was even whispered that Billy Dalton had insinuated to Stanley that it was rather better taste to stalk big game than another man's wife, especially when the other man was perfectly willing to make it clear sailing for his wife if it would make her any happier.

Of course, this sounds a bit strong on paper, particularly to the old fashioned folk who still believe that marriage is a contract for life and not a mere episode. In the set to which the Billy Daltons belonged the situation was accepted as a matter of course, and when Janet asked a lot of people down to their Long Island place for the automobile races and the week end no one thought of refusing just because the Daltons might separate within a fortnight after the gathering.

Such was the situation when the Dalton car broke down on the Jericho turnpike, and its occupants—Janet, Mrs. Greenwalt, Joe Jeffreys and "Marsh" Huntoon—decided to cut through the woods to the Dalton place and leave the car for a farmer to guard until the mechanic who handled the Dalton garage could be dispatched to the scene of the accident.

Perhaps it was not entirely impatience which led them to take the short cut through the woods, but the call of a hundred autumn voices in rustling leaves, rich, warm colorings and the chatter of squirrels laying up winter stores. And thus it was that they suddenly stopped in their tracks and listened to a sound that was not of the woods, but of the nursery—the plaintive wail of a child. Janet it was who found it—a bit of white faced, staring eyed humanity rolled up snugly in a great shawl of Iceland wool.

While she held the baby in her arms and tried to silence its wails with uncertain and awkward little pettings the quartet held a conference. The child was too young to have walked there. Mrs. Greenwalt said it was not a day over two months old. It was too far from the road to be heard by passing travelers. Ah—there was the answer, a wisp of paper tied to the end of the shawl:

"Please take care of little Elsie. It was not her fault that she came into the world, and I can do no more."

"I've always said that the government ought to regulate the question of marriage among the poor," remarked Mrs. Greenwalt severely. "Here is a case in point."

"You are jumping at conclusions," said Huntoon dryly. "Let's take it to the town marshal"—

"And what then?" asked Janet without lifting her gaze from the child's face. The baby had clutched her finger with its tiny fist and settled down as if it had found anchorage.

"Oh, there are asylums and homes for youngsters like this. You'd better hurry along home with it before it begins to howl. One of your men can take it to town before dark. Shall I carry the little beggar for you?"

"Oh, no. She's not a bit heavy, and she is quiet now. She might cry if we changed her position."

They trudged on through rustling leaves and soft Indian summer haze, three of the party chatting gayly; two, the young wife and the baby, looking into each other's eyes as if searching for a new key to the problem of life. Sometimes Janet wished that the child would close its eyes. She did not like to meet that trustful, clear eyed gaze.

* * * * * * *

"Have you disposed of the youngster?" asked "Marsh" Huntoon as they sat down to dinner that night.

Janet started and looked across the table at her husband. He lifted his eyebrows inquiringly.

"What? Don't you know that our party was increased by one during our ride this afternoon? Rather a small 'one,' but, my, what lungs it has!"

Janet drew in her breath sharply.

"I wish you would not talk any more about it at present, good people," she said, trying to speak lightly. "I've started inquiries in a quiet way. I don't want the thing to get into the papers—because if no one claims little Elsie I think I—I shall keep her."

"Keep her!" gasped Mrs. Greenwalt. "Why, my dear girl, the place for a child without a name is a foundling asylum."

Janet spoke very softly, yet every word was heard, so complete was the silence.

"I shall give her a name because—since—just once—I saw a line of children walking, rows and rows, by twos, from an orphan asylum. I can't send her there."

Mentally she saw again those clear, trusting blue eyes.

"And I know you will all be kind enough to keep this very quiet until"—there was just a slight, tense hesitation—"until we decide what shall be done."

Naturally it was talked about, however. In boudoirs and at clubs the question was raised as to what name little Elsie would acquire. Was it not bad enough to be facing a divorce residence in the far west without acquiring an unnecessary incumbrance at the crucial moment?

Within the Dalton bungalow on Long Island stranger things were happening. No clew to the baby's parents had been found. When Billy Dalton dropped down occasionally, as he had been doing for a year past to keep up appearances, his first question was, "Anything new?" and this always meant "anything new about the baby's history." And little Elsie would look up at him with reproachful blue eyes as if asking, "Why do you care?" And the worst of it was that Billy Dalton began to realize that he did care. Janet had changed, and, with an odd sort of jealousy, he realized that it was little Elsie and not he who had brought about the marvelous and altogether desirable change. She was no longer bored. How could she be with Elsie cutting a new tooth every few days and such wonderful hampers of clothes to be bought, fine handkerchief linen, narrow val and convent embroidery? A more fastidious customer had never entered the shops which specialize on layettes, and with her own hands Janet made covers for down pillows, silk tufted afghans and other foolish things, while the tongue of gossip wagged gayly over the whole absurd episode.

One frosty December afternoon Dalton ran down to the bungalow and found Janet standing at the window. The low spreading evergreens on the west side of the house were powdered lightly with snow, and Janet turned to him with kindling eyes.

"Billy, I shall have a Christmas tree for Elsie. She is so bright for her age. I do believe she will notice it."

"Quite likely," responded Billy, with assumed carelessness, as she laid aside his storm coat, "but in making your plans you seem to have overlooked one important fact. As yet Elsie is not really yours. The law"—

Janet turned on him sharply:

"She is mine by right of—everything. I found her, and I love her."

"Yes, but you must formally adopt her. I thought perhaps you'd better see to that before I leave. I've changed my plans a bit. I'm going to meet mother and Grace in Rome for Christmas. The mater has not been feeling very fit. I am not fond of England in winter, and"—

Janet crossed to his side, and her hand rested lightly on his arm.

"Don't you think you'd enjoy much more seeing Elsie have her first tree? And—and I think—I need you—more than your mother does."

Something rose in Dalton's throat and threatened to choke him. It was a sensation he had never felt before, not even during the good natured, lazy run of his wooing. Janet wanted him! He thought he had not cared. Now he knew that he had cared all along. But it was characteristic he did not express his fierce joy in words. He held Janet very close and whispered:

"Well, I rather did hope you'd give the little beggar the name of Dalton. It's a pretty good name after all, eh?"

* * * * * * *

Norman Stanley heard the news when he landed in London. He sent a lion's skin captured by his own hand for little Elsie to roll upon. Then he went to the Nile country for the winter.

Not Too Abrupt.

Radical changes in clothing are seldom safe, at least so the old time grandmothers held. The putting off of winter underwear was likely to be a gradual and prolonged process. That this belief in deliberate adjustment was widespread and inclusive is shown in W. P. Frith's story of his life. He was engaged in painting a portrait of Mrs. Birt, the wife of a prominent business man, who used to bring her little dog to share her sittings.

Mr. Birt was a great lover of dogs, but he entertained a strong aversion to dog collars, so I was surprised one day when Mrs. Birt brought her favorite dog, Ducky, to see a band around the little animal's neck.

"I thought you objected to dog collars, Mrs. Birt," I said. "I see Ducky sports one today."

"Oh, no, that's not a dog collar," returned the lady. "It's only a piece of flannel. The poor dear has had a dreadful cold and a sore throat. She has worn flannel night and day."

"Surely that is too narrow to do any good. The strip is no wider than a collar."

"Oh, it was wider, of course. We have gradually lessened it. She is leaving it off by degrees."

Nothing but the Truth.

Buncum—My physician tells me I am working too hard.

One Way to Get a Dog.

"There are ways and ways of getting things," said the old secret service man, "but I wouldn't recommend some of them to a Sunday school class. Now, I knew professionally a reformed confidence man. I won't say how deep the reform went, but officially he was reformed and occupied a pretty respectable position in the community. One day I met this chap on the street, and I had something to say to him. 'See here,' I demanded, 'is this your advertisement in the paper offering a reward of $5 for the return of a lost dog?' 'Sure!' said he. 'But you don't own a dog,' said I. He grinned. 'You mean I didn't own a dog,' he corrected. 'But I do own one now—the handsomest English bulldog you ever laid your eyes on, and he cost just $5.'"

Imagination and Judgment.

Dr. Eaton, president of Madison university years ago, was beloved by the students and his good opinion courted above all things. One commencement day the student who had delivered the valedictory approached the doctor and timidly asked him what he thought of the effort. The doctor looked at him a moment and then said slowly, "Edward, if you would pluck a few of the feathers from the wings of your imagination and stick them in the tail of your judgment, you would make better speeches."

The Man Fish.

Mathew Buchinger, mentioned in old English wonder books as the "man fish," was the most remarkable monstrosity of his time. He had neither hands, arms, feet nor legs. From his shoulders grew two finlike excrescences, and along his back there were several rows of scales. He had the lidless eyes characteristic of the fish species and a queer puckered mouth and no ears.

The right name.

August Sherpe, the popular over-seer of the poor at Ft. Madison, Ia., says: "Dr. King's New Life pills are rightly named; they act more agreeably, do more good and make one feel better than any other laxative." Guaranteed to cure biliousness and constipation. 25c at A. A. Wright's drug store.

The Status of a Meteorite.

A meteorite fell on a Vermont farm in 1896. It was a valuable meteorite, and the landlord at once stepped up and claimed it. "All minerals and metals on the land belong to me," he said. "That's in the lease."

But the tenant demurred. "This meteorite," he said, "wasn't on the farm, you must remember, when the lease was drawn up."

The landlord perceived the justice of that claim. He thought a moment. Then he said decisively, "I claim her as flying game."

But the tenant was ready for him. "She's got neither wings nor feathers," he said. "Therefore, as ground game, she's mine."

They continued their argument, and in the heat of it a revenue officer, arriving with a truck, proceeded to put the meteorite aboard. "I claim her for the government," he said, "as an article introduced into the country without payment of duty."

The Red Howling Monkey.

The red howler (Mycetes seniculus) is a rare monkey of the forests of tropical America. It is an extremely delicate animal and is chiefly remarkable for the extraordinary noises it makes. The cries it utters comprise almost any sound from a subdued moan to an angry roar, and it is hardly conceivable that they should proceed from a single animal. This is the animal called red monkey by Waterton in his "Wanderings in South America," where an admirable description of its weird cries may be read. These sounds are produced in a bony cavity formed by an enlargement of the hyoid, or tongue bone. In appearance the red howler is an elegant little creature, well clothed with hair of a reddish brown color. Like the spider monkeys, it is provided with a long, prehensile tail, the under surface of which is naked toward the tip, but it differs from those monkeys in having well developed thumbs.—Westminster Gazette.

A western editor has come to the conclusion that those desiring "puffs" in his paper must pay for them and has established the following schedule of prices: For telling the public that a man is a successful citizen when everybody knows he is as lazy as a government mule, $2 50; referring to a deceased citizen as one who is mourned by the entire community, when he is only missed by a poker circle, $10 18; referring to some gallivanting female as an esteemable lady whom it is a pleasure to meet when every business man in town would rather see the devil coming, $8 10; calling an ordinary pulpit pounder an eminent divine, 60 cents; sending a doughty sinner to heaven, $3 00.—Albion Recorder.

A broken feminine heart is best mended by a young man who feels very lonesome.

Scott's Emulsion, which is Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites in easily digested form, is the greatest strength-builder known to medical science.

It is so easily digested that it sinks into the system, making new blood and new fat, and strengthening nerves and muscles.

One of the severest wind storms, accompanied by a downpour, passed over this part of Michigan Saturday night about 8 o'clock, certainly a cyclone of a few minutes duration, doing a great amount of damage. A large barn on Lloyd McWilliam's farm, sheltering 24 head of fine cattle and a valuable colt, was picked off the foundation and dropped after being carried about half off and literally torn to pieces burying the stock in the debris, killing three steers outright and bruising many, the colt crawling out unharmed while the rescuers were at work. Porches were removed from the residences of R. E. Burnett and Fred Stearns, wind mills responded to the call, bowed their heads and toppled over, chimneys lost their bearings on the residences of Dr. Bliss, H. C. Osgood and Henry Rueling, trees were uprooted, electrical and telephone wires put out of commission, about one-half of Chas. Zweidinger's orchard destroyed, the cupalo on E. K. Bliss' barn was blown off. This storm came without a moment's notice and made things jingle while it lasted. Nearly everyone hurried home to see how they were served but all are busy at work straightening out the tangle and soon will be in tip top shape again. No lives were lost and most of the people carry cyclone insurance which will be a great help to those who were damaged.—Deerfield Times Journal.

B. J. PULVER.

One of the eye-sores to the good people of this community has been the manner in which Henry Pullen has conducted his billiard-room for the past several months. He has allowed boys ranging in age from 11 years up to frequent his establishment and spend hours playing pool, and in every instance it has has not only been a detriment to the boys but to their school duties. Pullen has been closed up and will never run a billiard-room in Chelsea again.—Chelsea Standard.

Wise counsel from the South.

"I want to give some valuable advice to those who suffer with lame back and kidney trouble," says J. R. Blankenship of Beck, Tenn. "I have proved to an absolute certainty that Electric Bitters will positively cure this distressing condition. The first bottle gave me great relief and after taking a few more bottles I was completely cured; so completely that it becomes a pleasure to recommend this great remedy." Sold under guarantee at C. 25 cent Coffee Value

IF YOU are paying 25c the pound for coffee you ought to be enjoying good cup quality. The price you pay does not fix the quality you receive; different sellers give different qualities for the money.

LOWRY'S BLEND at 25c the lb. is a little bit better for the money. Years of experimenting has fixed our standard high and this coffee is now no experiment. Its increasing sale together with it's ever repeating orders from old time users is mighty convincing proof that it contains everything in the quality line that is claimed for it.

You are the judge. We ask your consideration of the evidence contained in a cup of this delicious coffee.

Don't "get along" with a coffee that doesn't suit your taste because you think it as good as you ought to expect for the money. Make your next order for LOWRY'S 25c BLEND. Your money back if you are not satisfied.

OUR INDUSTRIAL EDITION.

The Tecumseh HERALD is glad to announce the early publication of an illustrated trade edition consisting of about 5,000 copies which in point of thoroughness and design is destined to eclipse anything of the kind ever attempted in Tecumseh.

There are scores of capitalists looking for a place of investment. Scores of manufactures are looking for plant sites and every capitalist and manufacturer that locates here brings consumers in his train and it is the consumers who keep our mercantile interests alive. Every dollar invested in the manufacturing line in our village adds its rate of percentage pro rata to property. All kinds of property are benefitted in proportion to the increased activity of local commerce.

A trade edition, handsomely illustrated, is one of the most far-reaching and practical methods of drawing attention to a place and enlists the considerate attention of every capitalist as well as it attracts the trade of the surrounding community by presenting the advanced business facilities of our town.

Only this present month the Grand Rapids Press got out an illustrated edition of that city when but two months previous or in November the Grand Rapids Times had just issued a 50 page handsomely illustrated edition of their city thus showing plainly that this is the only sure way of calling attention to the city or town we live in, is by calling attention to the place through the newspaper printed in the place.

Those who have not yet signified their desire to be represented in the issue are asked to do so as soon as possible and we wish to thank the representative firms who have already made arrangements through our agent, Mr. Workman, to be represented. We are pleased to state that the issue will be a credit to our town and to the publisher of the HERALD.

Notice.

We hereby give notice that Messrs. Slayton & Son, implement dealers of Tecumseh, have secured the agency and exclusive sale of Anthony fence for the townships of Raisin, Adrian, Franklin, Tecumseh, Clinton, northwest corner of Ridgeway, and southwest corner of Macon, in Lenawee county. No orders from this territory will be filled or accepted at factory and we refer all customers to Slayton & Son.

Ridgeway—Albert Kniffen.
Tecumseh—Albert Waring.
Woodstock—A. Comfort.

After the elections H H. Fergeson asked to have a rule stricken out of Division 1, horse department of the premium list, which will give the fancy and work horse exhibitors an equal show with the speed entries and it carried. The Grange resolutions in regard to concessions were then read by O. H. Bramble of Tecumseh. After a great deal of discussion the resolutions were adopted. This simply means that the executive committee will take up the matter and see that all objectional concessions or gambling devices are left out. On motion a committee of three was appointed to look into the advisability of electing a president and secretary for two years, alternately.

The People's Lobby.

Washington is watching with interest the working out of a new idea in public affairs. This is the People's Lobby—a non-partisan organization designed to foster a wider knowledge of national legislation and to indorse or oppose such bills as affect the general welfare of the people.

The basic idea is that, if the people know the facts on legislative matters, public opinion will find such wide expression that it cannot be disregarded. Channels of publicity are not lacking. The People's Lobby has the support of Success, Collier's and Ridgway's magazines

An important branch of the work is careful compiling of the public record of every senator and representative. The people have a right to know from an unprejudiced source what their legislators are doing. The influences brought to bear on members of Congress will be looked into, this means a history of the secret lobbyists who influence legislation for the benefit of the "special interests" which employ them.

The plan seems broad enough and practical enough to augur great public good if intelligently carried into effect. The personnel of the Governing Committee and of the men in charge of the bureau in Washington would seem to promise this result, and the willingness of the people to indorse the project and to support it with their subscriptions is attested by hundreds of communications received from every state in the Union and from Panama, Hawaii and the Philippine Islands. Enthusiastic letters are still being received daily, and the organization continues to make its appeal for subscriptions for any amount from $1 00 upward

Henry Beach Needham, whose experience as a journalist in Washington led him to suggest the formation of the People's Lobby, is the secretary in charge of the Washington bureau, located in the Munsey building.

A thoughtful farmer has the sheep feeding deal solved in pretty good shape. When he cultivates his corn for the last time each year he sows the field broadcast to turnips After the corn is cut he gets it off the field as quickly as possible and then turns in a large number of western sheep that can feed upon the turnips scooping them out and fattening up in good shape. When the turnips are gone he ships the sheep to the eastern markets, not being bothered at all with housing them, as he has them off his hands before the cold weather sets in Last year he increased the sheep an average of 17 lbs. apiece. This year he had 45 acres of corn, which he planted to turnips and has about a 1 000 western sheep fattening on them, which will net him a good sum, with very little trouble.—Onsted News.

WILLARD ROBB

Died this morning at

ST. VINCENT'S

Hospital, Toledo at 9 o'clock.

News of the death of Conductor Willard Robb of Adrian, which occurred at St. Vincent's hospital in Toledo this morning at 9 o'clock, was a shock to his many Tecumseh friends. One week ago Sunday he received injuries in a wreck on his train at Riga which have proved fatal.

Several others were injured in this wreck and one man instantly killed. Conductor Robb never left the scene of the wreck until all had been properly cared for. He was a man with a genial disposition, extremely popular with all the trainmen and one of the best known conductors on the Lake Shore road. Arrangements for his funeral have not been completed.

Joe Davis met with a singular but painful accident the latter part of the week. He was driving a nail into a board over his knee. The nail not moving he struck it an extra heavy blow which broke the board and drove the nail far into the knee cap. Mr. Davis persists in keeping about the house but he still has a bad knee.—Dundee Reporter.

A practical woman remarked the other day, says an exchange, that the most interesting things in a newspaper to her are the advertising columns. "Long ago," she said, "I quit buying of those who did not advertise It always seems to me that the merchant who advertises invites me to trade with him; while the one who does not advertise impresses me with the idea that he don't care enough for my trade to ask for it. Then, too, I have found that the merchant who adverseises has fresher goods, for the reason, I suppose, that he sells more goods."—Ex.

NATURE'S CATARRH CURE.

Nearly everyone suffers at one time or another with catarrh.

In no other way can this be done as naturally as by the use of Hyomei, breathed through the neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit.

Put several drops of Hyomei in the inhaler and then for a few minutes, four or five times a day, let the air you breathe come through it. In that way all the air that enters the nasal passages, the throat or the lungs, is filled with Hyomei's healing medication, reaching the most remote air cells of the respiratory organs, destroying all catarrhal germs and soothing and healing the irritated mucous membrane.

A few days' use of Hyomei will show how quickly it relieves all catarrhal conditions and you will not have to use it long before you find it has effected a complete and lasting cure.

So strong is C. A. Wright's faith in the power of Hyomei to cure catarrhal troubles that with every dollar outfit he gives a guarantee to refund the money unless the remedy gives satisfaction. He takes all the responsibility and you cannot afford to suffer longer with catarrh when an offer like this is made to you

Should extra bottles of Hyomei be needed they can be obtained for 50c, making this one of the most economical as well as the most reliable remedies for catarrh that is known.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys

Tecumseh people endorse this.

Mrs. Mary Edwards, of Logan street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I feel that I cannot praise Doan's Kidney Pills too highly as they have been of great benefit to me. I had suffered a great deal from kidney trouble for some time brought on by lifting and a heavy cold which settled on my kidneys. It kept getting worse until I was confined to my bed most of the time and when I did get up, required assistance. The pains in my back and shoulders were very severe and caused me much misery. At night I was restless and could not sleep. The action of the kidneys were too frequent. I tried nearly every known kidney remedy but received no benefit until I tried Doan's Kidney Pills. They proved to be what my condition required, and the use of three boxes effected a complete cure. I advise all sufferers from kidney trouble to try Doan's Kidney Pills."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's, and take no other.

GUARANTEED REMEDY FOR INDIGESTION.

Interesting statement by John J. Orr.

When a man comes into this store and calls for any particularly indigestion remedy, we always give him what he asks for, but in case he leaves it to us, we usually recommend Pepsikola tablets.

Here is a preparation we have been selling right over the counter for years, and from actual observation we know it must do good, and really does relieve and cure indigestion and dyspepsia or there would be a steady stream of people coming back for their money, as every 25c box is sold with the understanding that you must be decidedly benefited or there is nothing to pay.

You simply try Pepsikola tablets with the understanding that they will steady your nerves, improve your appetite, relieve wind belching, coated tongue, sour stomach, fullness after eating, weakened energy and other symptoms of indigestion or John J. Orr is ready at any time to pay back your money without the least argument.

The most sincere person in the world does not mean it when he says: "I don't care."

Queer Things About Flames.

There is a relation between the color of flame and the energy of the combustion causing it. The more vigorous and complete the combustion the higher the refrangibility of the light. A flame burning in a tardy and restricted way emits rays that are red. When burning in a more complete and effective manner the emitted rays change to violet. The flame of a candle or a lamp consists of a series of eccentric luminous shells surrounding a central dark core. These shells of flame emit light of different colors, the innermost one—that in direct contact with the dark core—being red and having a temperature of exactly 977 degrees F. Upon this and in their proper order of refrangibility are shells of light which are orange, yellow, green, blue, indigo and violet. The reason that such a flame does not appear to us as a nest of cones of different colored light is this: When we look upon such a flame all of the rays issuing from the different layers or strata of concentric luminous shells are received by the retina of the eye at one and the same time. This can only impress with the sensation of neutral or white light.

Rubies.

The finest rubies are still kept in Asia. The Great Mogul had 108 large rubies in his throne, and among them was one weighing two and one-half ounces. Of European rubies Charles the Bold, that luckless son of a fortunate father, had three rubies called the Three Brothers, of perfect color and worthy size. They passed into the possession of James I., who sent them to "Baby Charles." There is a large heart shaped balas ruby in the English crown. It has been neither cut nor polished, is only semitransparent and is of a dark red, like a morello cherry. Austria had, or has, an oriental ruby the size of a hen's egg, and Queen Elizabeth showed Sir James Melville one as big as a racket ball. Runjeet Singh had a large ruby with the names of many kings engraved on it. Among them was that of Aurangzeb. A king of Persia had one which he prized at the value of a city or even a kingdom. It was a table cut balas ruby of a beautiful color of at least a finger's breadth.

The Ship's Log.

The record of a ship's voyage is called its log because the observations of its speed, usually taken hourly, by the log line are a very important factor in the record. The log line is so called because the float attached to the line was originally a small log or stick of wood. This "log" is now a square or triangular piece of board weighted so that it sits upright in the water. The log line is divided by knots or marks into lengths of fifty-one feet, which is about one one-hundred-and-twentieth of a marine mile, so that the ship is going as many marine miles or knots in an hour as the number of knots or lengths that run off the reel in half a minute when the "log" is thrown overboard.

Leather Breeches.

A hundred and fifty years ago the farm hands and house servants of England were clothed in leather. A good pair of leather breeches was said to pass from father to son as an heirloom. Then a boy went to school as well protected as an armored cruiser. The author of "Diddisburye in the '45" offers some observations upon these articles of common wear: The test of a good pair was to try if they would stand upright of themselves when nobody was in them. If they would do so they were good, strong stuff, and likely to last for many years. My father remembered a prentice lad coming to his father, whose fond mother had provided him with such a pair, and they were the means of a "vast of fun" in a game that is unknown in these days—that is, for the boys to set the breeches upright and then jump into them without touching them with the hands. It was probably a pair of such leather breeches that the Windsor boy was wearing when George III. asked him if he did not know that the man before him was the king.

"Yes," said the boy.

"Then why don't you go on your knees, and you might kiss the king's hand," said the king.

"Because I'd spoil my breeches."

The First Armored Ship.

According to the best authorities on curiosities of the navy and warfare in general, the first armored vessel was launched in the year 1530. It was one of the fleet manned by the Knights of St. John and was entirely covered with sheets of lead. The accounts of the times leave us in darkness as to the thickness of this lead armor, but they are very positive in the statement that they were of sufficient strength to "successfully resist all the shots of that day." At the siege of Gibraltar in 1782 the French and Spaniards used war vessels which were armored with "light iron boom proofing over their decks and to the water's edge." The very first practical use of wrought iron plates as a defense for the sides of vessels was by the French in the Cri-

Finding Most Interesting Chapters.

Women as a class are credited with having no scruples about opening a book at the middle or end or anywhere else they may expect to find the most interesting chapter. A frequent feminine visitor at libraries was overheard revealing to a friend of her own sex her secret of locating at once the most thrilling chapter in any book, no matter how unfamiliar one may be with it. "You simply close it tight," she said, "and glance along the edge of the leaves. It is seldom, indeed, that you do not notice a distinct line, or even more than one, caused by a number of edges soiled slightly more than those about them. Open the book there and you have the best chapter." A librarian explained this by saying that the reading and rereading of the particularly interesting chapters of a book naturally cause certain pages and their edges to be more soiled. Of course the longer the book has been in circulation the more distinct are the marks.—Philadelphia Record.

A Bit of Fairyland.

Cruising down Milford sound, New Zealand, when the clouds are clearing after a shower, the mountains are like fairyland. No longer grim and black and fearful, they are laced everywhere with the streaming silver of cloud born cascades. One day we watched the giddy journey of one of these cataracts. It sprang from the very top of the Lion rock, a 3,000 foot perpendicular wall. Long and slender and glinting like glass in the sun, it fell straight down over us, but never reached us. It had dropped, say, 1,000 feet, when it was caught by the wind, swayed this way and that, and finally blown clean away, dissolving in misty rain. We steamed right under it, or, rather, under the place where it ought to have been, and experienced the peculiar sensation of looking straight up at a waterfall that, as the launch skipper put it, "never fell anywhere."—Four Track News.

Butter as a Food.

Butter is a hydro carbon, and all excesses of it are stored up as fat in the body. It gives energy and power to work to those who eat heartily of it. For any one afflicted with consumption butter cookery, if plenty of fat can be digested, is one of the best ways of curing the disease should it be in its early stages or of keeping it at bay if advanced. It is not economy to spare the butter at table even to the healthy people. Butter is not a simple fat composed merely of one sort. It is a mixture of no less than seven different sorts of fats, and no more complex oil can be taken than this. For dyspeptic and liverish people good bread and butter, along with fruit, should invariably take the place of pie, pastry and biscuits. Pastry for such people is only another name for poison, and biscuits are as often as not baked with lard.

Elizabeth Carter, Bluestocking.

Elizabeth Carter (1717-1806) was one of the original "blue stockings," of whom a biographer says: "A perfect knowledge of French, acquired at an early age from a Huguenot refugee minister at Canterbury, was the foundation of Elizabeth Carter's education. Her father taught her, together with her brother, Latin, Greek and Hebrew, though the slowness of her apprehension tired out his patience. Italian, Spanish and German she taught herself without any assistance, and later in life she set herself to learn Portuguese, but for want of books she made no great progress. Lastly she taught herself Arabic and made an Arabic dictionary, containing various meanings of words which elsewhere had been improperly translated."

Ladies Only.

It Is Women Who Need Most Relief From Little Irritating Pains and Aches.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills are for women.

Woman's delicate nervous organism tingles to the least jarring influence, and some ache or pain is the result.

The remedy is at hand—

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills.

They act most marvellously on woman's nervous organism, and relieve and cure the pains to which she is a martyr.

Headaches, neuralgiac pains, monthly pains, and all kinds of pains disappear, as if a gentle hand had lightly soothed them away. Dizziness, Rush of Blood to the head, Toothache, Backache are all cured by these "Little Comforters."

Cured without danger of disagreeable after-effects; cured quickly; cured without unnatural action on liver, stomach, or other internal organs.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills please the women, and the children take them because they are easy to take and soothe all their sufferings.

"For years I had spells of sick headache, at times suffering untold agonies. I could not endure any excitement. Going to church, and even visiting, brought on these terrible spells. I tried numerous remedies without relief until I tried Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills, and they have cured me. When I feel symptoms of sick headache I take a pill and ward off the attack. A Peculiarity of the Crow.

Most birds cannot carry anything which their mouths are too small to contain. The crow is an exception at times. In Vermont, near Manchester, five crows were seen to come down into an apple orchard. They came daily and after a time the owner discovered that they were taking apples from a tree bearing the mellowest fruit. Each crow jammed its closed bill into an apple, raised its head and flew to a tall pine tree, where the fruit was eaten. More remarkable still is the fact that crows will sometimes carry turkey and hen eggs from a nest in the same manner.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. Constipation

Baked sweet apples, with some people, bring prompt relief for Constipation. With others, coarse all-wheat bread will have the same effect. Nature undoubtedly has a vegetable remedy to relieve every ailment known to man, if physicians can but find Nature's way to health. And this is strikingly true with regard to Constipation.

The bark of a certain tree in California—Cascara Sagrada—offers a most excellent aid to this end. But, combined with Egyptian Senna, Slippery Elm Bark, Solid Extract of Prunes, etc., this same Cascara bark is given its greatest possible power to correct constipation. A toothsome Candy Tablet, called Lax-ets, is now made at the Dr. Shoop Laboratories, from this ingenious and most effective prescription. Its effect on Constipation, Biliousness, Sour Stomach, Bad Breath, Sallow Complexion, etc., is indeed prompt and satisfying.

No griping, no unpleasant after effects are experienced, and Lax-ets are put up in beautiful lithographed metal boxes at 5 cents and 25 cents per box.

The Girl From the West

By OTHO B. SENGA

Copyright, 1906, by C. H. Sutcliffe

Paul Alger looked firmly into Mrs. Elliott's face.

"You don't realize what you're asking, Aunt Ruth," irritatedly.

"I'm not asking," calmly. "I'm simply telling you what I expect of you. The girl will be here tomorrow. My will is made with these plans in view. If you don't fall in with them, you're disinherited absolutely; that's all."

Alger rose.

"Aunt Ruth, you've been more than a mother to me, and I'd like to do everything I can to please you, but this is expecting too much. I must reserve the right to select my own wife."

Mrs. Elliott was stubbornly silent, and after a moment the young fellow said earnestly, "Aunt Ruth, give the money to the girl if you want to, but don't let her come between you and me!"

"Don't talk to me, Paul," impatiently. "I shall give it to you two—together or not at all!"

"Who is this girl," Alger demanded with heat, "that she should be thrust upon me in this style?"

"She is the daughter of my husband's brother. When this girl and my Frederick were little children the brothers promised each other that the children should marry when they were old enough. Frederick died, and after your mother's death I adopted you. You have taken Frederick's place in everything else. You must in this. Promise, Paul!"

"It is utterly impossible!" firmly.

"Paul," temptingly, "she is very pretty."

Alger smiled and shook his head.

Music was Alger's passion.

"Yes?" indifferently.

"Yes," emphatically. "She plays the violin."

"What insufferable presumption!" impatiently. "A girl from the wild west, brought up on a cattle ranch, you said. Doubtless she can ride a broncho or lasso a steer, but she shouldn't meddle with the violin. She probably never heard of Bach or Mendelssohn and wouldn't know a sonata from a sandwich. Aunt, I can fancy her bringing her violin in her arms and playing for the delectation of the other passengers in the"—"Iman. Ugh!"

"You refuse, then?"

"Most decidedly."

"Very well," icily. "I accept your decision as final."

The next day Alger from his desk in the library saw the girl as she entered the adjoining room, where Mrs. Elliott waited to greet her. She was tall and graceful, with a high bred air of ease that surprised him. Her voice was clear and well modulated.

"Upon my word," he muttered, "I expected her manner of speech to be a cross between a cowboy's yell and an Indian warwhoop."

He saw the servant come in with a violin case.

"Will madam have this in the music room or"—

"Oh, no; here." And Vera held out her hands.

"You brought this yourself, Vera?" Mrs. Elliott's tone held the slightest suggestion of annoyance.

"In my arms literally," laughed Vera.

Alger in his dim corner smiled.

Vera gently placed the case on the floor and lifted out the instrument as tenderly as a mother lifts her babe from its cradle.

"Oh, Aunt Ruth," fervently, "when you see it you will understand—my beautiful violin!"

She clasped it to her bosom with a gesture of tenderness. The beauty of the girl, the unaffected grace of her pose and her evident artistic appreciation stirred Alger to instant admiration.

He met the girl at dinner. She gave him one long, earnest look that he felt at once an inquiry and a challenge, and then she directed her conversation to Mrs. Elliott.

Alger was piqued. He was accustomed to more attention from young women. She related some of the incidents of her trip.

"We had a concert each evening. There were three girls in our Pullman coming to Boston to study music. They sang well."

"And you played, I suppose, Miss Elliott?" Alger could not forbear the question.

She turned her glance upon him briefly. "Oh, I scraped my little best," coolly.

Alger felt the rebuff, but he shot a triumphant glance at his aunt.

As the evening progressed Alger began to wish that he could win some pleasant look or word from the girl and to deeply resent his inability to do so.

"Will you play for us, Miss Elliott?" he asked, more humbly than was his habit.

She was about to decline, but Mrs. Elliott added quickly: "For me, Vera, dear. I am so anxious to hear you."

The instrument with which Vera returned to the room caught Alger's discriminating eye at once.

"Where did you get this, Miss Elliott?" almost abruptly as he recognized its rarity and value.

"It is a gift from my master. He had owned it for many years. He has also a Guarnerius and an Amati. But this was his 'sweetheart.' He always called it so."

"A master of the violin does not present the instrument he loves best—a Stradivarius almost beyond price—to a pupil who merely 'scrapes,'" thought Alger.

"Did he have many pupils, Miss Elliott?" experimentally.

"No one but myself. He is old and can no longer play. Age has stiffened his fingers. But he played once—oh, how he could play! He taught me from a little child, and when I could play—to please him—he gave me this."

"Your teacher was a German?" tentatively.

She tuned the strings and played. There was certainty of chord fingering, a strength, an almost manliness, combined with emotional warmth, about her interpretation of the difficult Bach sonata that amazed Alger.

"Bach's D Minor Sonata is not for amateurs," he said gravely to his aunt. "Miss Elliott's gift is beyond question. She would rank with the great violinists of the present day."

"I think John possessed some musical ability," replied Mrs. Elliott serenely.

The girl raised her bow with an indescribable gesture of reverence. "My mother," proudly, "was a De Beriot. My master is my grandfather. I did not wish to seem to boast. He is Francis Auguste de Beriot."

As the days went by he found himself desperately in love with the girl and unable to win from her anything more than the most chilling courtesy. He had not even the satisfaction of confiding in Mrs. Elliott. Once when he tried to speak of Vera, meaning to confess his love for the girl, his aunt interrupted him coldly: "Say no more, Paul. I accepted your decision as final, you will remember, and a later will leaves all I possess to the Home For Aged Men."

She swept angrily from the room. Alger stood for a moment as if stunned; then he laughed aloud. "That's good news! Now there's no money in the way, and I'll move heaven and earth to win the loveliest girl that ever"—

"Came out of the west," quoted a merry voice, and the portiers parted and Vera stepped from the window seat into the room.

Alger sprang forward hastily.

"Vera," eagerly, "you've known all the while that I love you"—

"A girl from the west, brought up on a cattle ranch?" she questioned, holding him back with her hand on his breast.

"I don't care where you're from, or anything else, if you'll only say you love me, Vera," pleadingly.

"A girl who doesn't know a sonata from a sandwich?" mischievously.

"Vera, forgive me for that and say you love me."

"Paul," seriously, "I've loved you ever since I was a little girl. See!" She drew a locket from her bosom and pressed back the cover.

Alger gazed in bewilderment. It was his own face that looked up at him.

"Aunt Ruth sent that to my father. I claimed it as mine and have worn it always."

"Vera," with his arms about her, "why have you been so cruel to me when I've tried so hard"—

"I feared you might propose to me to please Aunt Ruth and—and because of the money."

"Here, here! What's all this about?" Aunt Ruth's voice sounded harshly at the door.

They turned toward her together.

"Vera has promised to marry me, Aunt Ruth."

"And my latest will"— She fairly hurled the words at them.

"We don't mind!" they cried together rapturously.

—"was never signed," added Aunt Ruth in a changed voice, and they heard her laughing as she softly closed the door and left them to their happiness.

The Purser's Confidence

By HUNTLEY WEYMAN

Copyrighted by E. C. Parcells

It was spoken of as the slickest robbery ever perpetrated on a London jewelry house. Lady Stanton was looking at a diamond tiara and being waited on by one of the partners when a gentleman lounged forward, familiarly addressed her and, picking up the tiara, walked out of the store with it. The act was so audacious that he was given time to mix with the throng in the street and get safely away.

It was a jewelry house that had never been robbed before, and the decision was immediate to spare no expense to run the robber down. The case was given to the police, with a grand reward attached, and Scotland Yard put its best detectives at work. Two or three private agencies took up the trail for the reward there was in it, and when a clew seemed to lead to Paris a French detective prepared to follow it. From some line of reasoning not made public all the officers came to an agreement that the robber was an American and that he would seek to get away on the Blue Star liner Monarch. The press didn't say anything about trails, but four of the detectives followed their noses at least and secured passage on the Monarch. Had one of the male passengers come to them half an hour before sailing and admitted that he was the robber and held out his hands for the bracelets none of the four would have sailed. As it was, no one came forward, and they felt it a duty to make the voyage to New York and keep an eye on every fellow passenger. They knew nothing of each other's presence in an official way. If any one of them was to give his confidence to any one, the purser was the man to unbosom to, and it was not long before he had a call. It was a Scotland Yard man. He was wearing false side whiskers and passing himself off as a retired English retail grocer who was making the trip to see his sister in New York.

"I think I have a clew already," he said as the purser promised to respect his confidence and assist him in any way he could. "There is a Frenchman aboard calling himself Dubois. He speaks English passably well and claims to be going over in the interests of the wine business, but he isn't fooling Inspector Saunders a little bit. He's my man or I don't know a crook when I see one."

The next burst of confidence came from Dubois. He identified himself as belonging to the Paris bureau and added:

"Pist! It was easy enough. I picked him out from the 300 passengers almost at a glance. He is an English man and claims to be a retired grocer, and I shall give him rope until we reach quarantine on the other side. Should he suspect me and try to jump overboard I hope I may have your assistance."

Mr. Dubois was assured that the purser and all the other officers of the boat stood ready to lend justice all possible assistance, and he then made way for a detective from a private London agency. The man wore a false stomach and a wig and used the Lancashire dialect. He introduced himself as John Stone and asked for the purser's confidence at once.

"I've got him right between my thumb and finger, this way," he said, with a grin. "The trail led me as straight as a turnpike. I can't ask the Monarch to turn back, of course, but I'll have the darbies on the fellow as soon as we sight Sandy Hook. Lord, but it was dead easy! He calls himself a French name and tries to disguise his English, but any child could spot him off. Help me to keep an eye on Dubois and there will be something in it for you."

The purser smiled inwardly and gave his promise. He thought there were others to come, and he was not mistaken. Mr. Hiram Wilkinson next introduced himself as being from a private Liverpool agency. He had a wig and goggles and was trying to talk through his nose and he taken for a New Englander. He felt that he had come to the right party in coming to the purser, and he didn't shut his mouth until his secret was out.

"It's the feller as calls hisself Stone," he whispered. "I spotted him the instant he came up the gangplank, but I dasn't tackle him on sight. I am making the voyage to play my fish. I'll bet pounds to shillings I make him trap hisself in less than three days.

A valuable lesson.

"Six years ago I learned a valuable lesson" writes John Plessant of Magnolia, Ind. "I then began taking Dr. King's new life pills and the longer I take them the better I find them." They please everybody. Guaranteed by C. A. Wright, druggist 25c.

He claims to have a brother in the butcher business at Albany, but of course that's all in your eye."

"You think he's the man?" queried the purser in an absent way as he began to see the humorous side of the situation.

"Say, now, take a good long look at him yourself. He looks the thief from head to heel. Haven't you noticed his nervousness? He's afraid he's been followed. He'll make a fight of it when we sight the American coast, but I'll have the irons on him before he can say Jack Robinson. Mum is the word, and you will get your whack of the reward."

There was no fifth detective aboard to ask the purser for his confidence and assistance, but after a day or two Mr. Abijah Absalom Barnes, as he gave his name, asked the official to take charge of a package for him.

"It's only some gimcracks I've been buying abroad," he explained, "but Martha and the children will be looking for presents when I get home. That Yurup is a great country, but I hain't seen no spot like old New Hampshire since I went away. Ever get up that far?"

"I never have," replied the purser as he wondered how Uncle Abijah had escaped the pitfalls that must have been set for his feet.

"If you ever have a chance, come up and stay with me for a week, and it shan't cost you a red cent. If you've got a wife and children, bring 'em along. If you could come in the winter, I'd take you to half a dozen spelling schools, and we'd slide down hills on hand sleds. I own a hill over a mile long, and my old woman can make buckwheat cakes to beat the band. Say, now, is there any danger of any one stealing my package from you?"

"Not the slightest."

"Because there are some suspicious characters aboard. I've run across four different men that I wouldn't trust to go to my barn and get a peck measure of oats. They call themselves Stone, Dubois, Saunders and Wilkinson. We've got tin peddlers up in my state that look more honest than these men do. I'm right on to 'em, however, and they can't fool me."

At least once a day during the rest of the voyage each of the four detectives sought out the purser and reported progress and planned what should be done when quarantine was reached. While each one had only suspected one another on the start, only three days had passed when each man's suspicions included the three others in the quartet. Uncle Abijah bothered them from the start. He insisted on butting in at all times and under all circumstances. If one detective had another aside to pump him, the old man from New Hampshire presently appeared and carelessly said:

"Gentlemen, I hope I don't intrude, but were either of you ever up in Sock county, N. H.?"

"Never," was the reply.

"Then you've missed a great thing. We hain't got no Niagara falls up there, but sliding down hill in the winter beats anything you can find outdoors. You load up a big shed with gals and boys and head her down hill and let her go, and the first thing you know you are two miles away. I hain't got but one spare bed in the house, but Martha and me will sleep on the floor if you'll come up."

Sometimes the four sleuths would play cards together and pretend to be very jovial and friendly. Before the game was fairly under way Uncle Abijah would stroll into the smoking room and say:

"I dunno whether any of you fellers heard about that big robbery in London or not, but it was a corker. Feller walked into a jewelry store and picked up a bushel of diamonds and walked out agin as cool as a hired man going to work. I happened to be right nigh the store at the time, and I didn't know but what they would arrest me. The feller got away, but I'm purty sure I saw him and would know him agin."

He would then lounge out on deck, and the game would soon break up, and one of the officers would hunt up Uncle Abijah to get further particulars. He would intimate that he had seen the robber among the passengers aboard and that he might give him away on landing, and thus the four officers would be further puzzled and mystified. Each one was invited up to New Hampshire over and over again, and before Sandy Hook was sighted each one knew the old man's history from the day he was born. No arrests were made at quarantine. It had been left to the purser, and he had telephoned up. Four interviews had been held with him, and as a result four different men were arrested when the steamer made her dock. The victims were Messrs. Saunders, Dubois, Wilkinson and Stone. Uncle Abijah saw them taken into custody and smiled and winked. He had also worked out a little plan.

Three hours later the four men, accompanied by two detectives from headquarters, boarded the Monarch to ask of the purser:

"What do you know of the old fellow who called himself Barnes?"

"Nice old man and innocent as a child," replied the official. "Say, now, he's gone off and forgotten his pack

What Fishing Develops.

To those who are satisfied with a superficial view of the subject it may seem impossible that the diligence and attention necessary to a fisherman's success can leave him any opportunity while fishing to thoughtfully contemplate any matter not related to his pursuit. Such a conception of the situation cannot be indorsed for a moment by those of us who are conversant with the mysterious and unaccountable mental phenomena which fishing develops. We know that the true fisherman finds no better time for profitable contemplation and mental exercise than when actually engaged with his angling outfit. It will probably never be possible for us to gather statistics showing the moving sermons, the enchanting poems, the learned arguments and eloquent orations that have been composed or constructed between the bites, strikes or rises of fish. But there can be no doubt that of the many intellectual triumphs won in every walk of life a larger proportion has been actually hooked and landed with a rod and reel by those of the fishing fraternity than have been secured in any one given condition of the nonfishing world.—"Fishing and Shooting Sketches," by Grover Cleveland.

Calling the Chickens.

In England the calls chuck, chuck, or coop, coop, prevail; in Virginia, coo-che, coo-che; in Pennsylvania, pee, pee. This latter call is widely employed, being reported from Germany, Spain (as pi, pi), Bulgaria, Hungary, Bavaria and the Tyrol. In the Austrian province the term is used in combination—thus: Pulla, pi, pi. The call pullele, pul, pul, also occurs there. In some parts of Germany the poultry are called with tick, tick; in Prussia, put, put, and young chickens with tuk, tuk (Grimm), and schip, schip, the latter being an imitation of their own cry. In eastern Prussia hens are called with kluckschen, kluck, kluck; also tippchen, tipp, tipp. Grimm records also pi, pi, and tiet, tiet. Weinhold reports from Bavaria bibi, bibell, bidli; pi, pi, and pul, pul. In Denmark the call is pootle; in Holland, kip, kip; in Bohemia, tyoo; in Bulgaria, tiri, tiri.

An Old Medicine.

"Ground oyster shells," said the physician, "were used as a medicine by the mediaeval doctors—a medicine for the rickets and scrofula."

"How absurd!"

"Absurd? Not at all. Oyster shells contain lime, nitrogen, iron, sulphur, magnesia, bromide, phosphoric acid and iodine. Those are all excellent tonics. You know how hens eat ground oyster shells and thus produce eggs with good, thick, strong shells? Well, as the oyster shell powder acts on eggshells so I have no doubt it acted in the middle ages on the bending, crumbling bones of the rickety, putting strength and firmness into them. Ground oyster shells, I am convinced, would be good things for frail children today. They would strengthen the frame, increase the appetite and have a splendid effect on the teeth."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

A Curious and Rare Book.

The most curious as well as one of the rarest books known to collectors is the edition of the Vulgate issued by Pope Sixtus V. some time between 1585 and 1590. The book, as Disraeli described it, "fairly swarmed with errata." So numerous were they that a number of printed paper slips containing the proper words were pasted over the errors, and, this device proving inefficient on account of the immense number of mistakes, as many of the copies as could be found were called in and destroyed. Only a few remain, and the book with its paper patches commands an extremely high price.

Scott's Narrow Escape.

The world had a narrow escape of never having known a Sir Walter Scott. When a tiny babe he was left in charge of a maid, but the girl's heart was in Edinburgh, whither she wanted to go to rejoin her lover. She was, however, compelled to stay and look after the infant at Sandy Knowe. The girl regarded her charge as an obstacle to be removed and afterward confessed that she carried young Scott up to the Craigs (under a strong temptation of the devil, as she expressed it), fully intending to cut his throat with her scissors and bury him under the moss.

Historic Grapevines.

The celebrated "king's vines" at Fontainebleau, planted under the reign of Henry IV., grow against a wall in the park not far from the castle, and the grapes [illegible] d by gourmets. Since the republic was established the grapes have always been sold by auction, the proceeds going into the coffers of the minister of finance.

Her Intense Sorrow.

He—I called to see you last evening and the servant told me you were not in. She—Yes; I was sorry to have missed you. He—I thought you must be; I heard you laughing upstairs in such grief stricken tones that I almost wept myself out of sympathy.

The Obstinate Cook.

Father—Cooking schools are of some use after all. This cake is delicious. Daughter—Is it? I thought it would be a terrible failure. Father—Why? Daughter—I told the cook exactly how to make it, and she went and made it some other way.

The Freshman.

"Is Reggy improving by his life in college?"

"Oh, yes; he's already learned to toe in with one foot!"—Detroit Free Press.

A Cholera Belt.

"The cholera belt," said a pale Anglo-Indian, "is not an imaginary girdle, like your pie belt, but a real girdle, which every foreign resident of India wears day and night. In winter the belt is made of heavy wool. In the summer it is made of light wool. It is never taken off. Even when you are sleeping in a temperature of 105 degrees, tossing and moaning and perspiring, despite the punkah that fans you from above, you still keep on your cholera belt, no matter what else you shed. Every Anglo-Indian has a couple of dozen cholera belts. They are said to prevent cholera, and I have no doubt they do so. At any rate, I never heard of any wearer of a cholera belt whom cholera ever seised upon."

The Light That Failed.

It was by an accident that Mr. Kipling got his famous title, "The Light That Failed." He had almost decided to call the novel "The Failure," although he was dissatisfied with this. One evening as he was sitting in his study reading by lamplight the light went suddenly down—almost failed, in fact. In a second Kipling jumped up, exclaiming excitedly, "By Jove, I've got it!" Pointing to the lamp, he said, "The Light That Failed."—London Standard.

The Two Garricks.

George Garrick, brother of the celebrated David, was the latter's most devoted slave and laborious pack horse. On coming behind the scene he usually inquired, "Has David wanted me?" It being asked once how George came to die so soon after the demise of his famous brother, a wag replied, "David wanted him."

Love and Dyspepsia.

Young Wife (sobbing)—I am afraid, Karl, you have forgotten what the Herr Pastor said so beautifully at our wedding—how love believes anything, suffers anything— Young Husband—Oh, no; I haven't, but I didn't hear him say that love can eat anything.—Fliegende Blatter.

MACCABEES

Held joint Installation in Witherell Hall

WEDNESDAY EVENING.

Four hundred guests witnessed the Event, work of both Lodges being well done.

A joint installation of the Tecumseh Hive and Tent, Modern Maccabees was held in Witherell hall Wednesday evening and proved to be a very interesting meeting. About four hundred were present to witness the work which was performed by both teams in an able manner.

The Sir Knights occupied the floor first [the installing officers, Comfort Chase, with Roy Codling as Grand Master at Arms and Guy Belding as Grand Chaplain, went through the work of installing their officers. Their work was perfect and the Knights are deserving of a vast amount of praise. Their officers for this year are:

P. Com.—Arthur Harding.
Com.—Floyd Freeman.
Rec. K.—A. Titus.
F. K.—H. S. Waring.
Chap.—O. C. Wood.
Physician—Dr. Conklin.
Serg.—M. C. Broas.
M. of A.—B. G. Swist.
1st M. of G.—Fred Steinhoff.
2nd M. of G.—Earl Updyke.
Picket—Floyd Smith.

The lady officers were installed by Mrs. Guy Belding, assisted by Mrs. Lizzie VanNess as Great Mistress at Arms and Mrs. Carrie Bryan as Grand Chaplain, all of whom did the work in a most competent manner.

The officers were installed as follows

Past Com.—Etta Smith.
Com.—May Henderson.
L. C.—Lulu Colson.
R. K.—Ethelinda Church.
F. K.—Jennie McClure.
Chaplain—Lena Chiverell.
Serg.—Alta Powell.
M. of A.—Lillian Hunt.
Sentinel—Eugenia Powell.
Picket—Belle Matthews.

The ladies gave their drills, which were beautifully done and many compliments were paid them at the close of the entertainment. The work seemed more impressive and beautiful as those taking part were gowned in white.

The following program was then given:

Music—Heidenrich Bros.
Rec.—Floyd Waring.
Solo—Vera Tunison.
Solo—Miss Westerman.
Rec.—Anna Ferguson.
Song—Bertine, Florence and Ella Titus.
Solo—Bessie Pool.
Song—Miss Westerman.

Those present were appreciative and every number on the program thoroughly enjoyed. The floor was soon cleared and dancing enjoyed until a late hour, music being furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Mellon, Metta McKinney and Edna Gaston.

W. P. STOCKING

Writes another very interesting letter from

LONG BEACH, CAL.

Discusses the Climate.

Well here we are well launched on another year. We stopped from the old to the new without any jar or friction. Were not even jarred out of the old grooves in which our lives have been running for lo these many years. There was some blowing of whistles, ringing of bells, firing of guns and cannon crackers as a farewell to the old and a welcome to the new year. In one sense the old year has passed from our lives, in another sense it can never pass from them.

The new year is bringing a great blessing to California in the bountiful rains that have prevailed most of the time since Christmas. The rain has been pretty general all over the state but the fall has been greater in some localities than in other. Los Angeles and Pasadena in this country had a greater fall than Long Beach though here the fall has been double that of the last year at this date. Some little damage has been done in the foothill sections and in the extremely low and flat sections where there is no natural drainage but the drainage sinks into insignificence when compared with the almost untold amount of good it has done the ranches, farmers and dairies.

Of course, it is a disappointment to the tourists who have come here expecting nothing but sunshine and summer heat but they must remember that this is the only season of the entire year when we have rain and that what we get now, whether much or little is all our crops will get until next winter's rain, while in their eastern homes they have rain many times during and often when it is deterimental to crops and a drawback to pleasures.

A man on our street said one day that he had lost more crops in the east from too much rain than he had lost here in the same length of time. If our tourist friends will only be patient with our disagreeable weather for only a few days or weeks at the longest the natural beauties of this fair land will more than pay them for their present disappointment.

I have often said that one cannot rightly judge California by a winter or a summer sojourn but a year should be spent here to enable one to properly understand the natural conditions. At Long Beach the climate of winter and summer does not differ to such a marked degree as in some other sections of the state including some of the other beaches.

I see by the old home papers and by the letters from friends that you are having a very mild and open winter. This used to be considered unhealthy there and the old superstition fears that "a green Christmas means a fat graveyard" are being to some extent awakened but there is another old saying which has been quite true in general, it is, "as the days begin to lengthen the cold begins so strengthen" which overcomes the bad effects of a green Christmas.

Our mountains have been covered with a heavier fall of snow extending farther down their sides than for years before and some sections have more snow than ever before but the weather has not been as cold as might be expected. So much snow means more water for irrigation. And now what is the new year likely to bring to us.

"A little bit of mopin' and of grief an average share?
Some storm clouds scattered o'er the land with sunshine here and there?
Some little hours of careless glee and now and then some tears—
Oh! I kind o'reckon it will be, about like other years."

But here is what it may bring to all old time friends, and all who chance to read this may the New Year bring to you—peace and joy and gladness. May the New Year take from you—any thought of sadness.

CINCINNATI PEOPLE EXCITED

The Great Cooper as he is called, has stirred up that City to a Remarkable degree.

Cincinnati, O., Jan. 31. This city is at present in the midst of an excitement beyond anything that it experienced in recent years.

Old and young, rich and poor, all seem to have become beside themselves over an individual who was a stranger to Cincinnati up to two weeks ago.

The man who has created all this turmoil is L. T. Cooper, President of the Cooper Medicine Co., of Dayton, Ohio, who is at present introducing his preparation in this city for the first time.

Cooper is a man about thirty years of age and has acquired a fortune within the past two years by the sale of some preparations of which he is the owner.

Reports from eastern cities that preceded the young man here were of the most startling nature. Many of the leading dailies going so far as to state that he had nightly cured in public places deafness of years' standing with one of his preparations. The physicians of the East contradicted this statement, claiming the thing to be impossible, but the facts seemed to bear out this statement that Cooper actually did so.

Many of these stories were regarded as fictitious in Cincinnati and until Cooper actually reached this city little attention was paid to them. Hardly had the young man arrived, however, when he began giving demonstrations, as he calls them, in public, and daily met people afflicted with deafness and with a single application of one of his preparations actually made deaf people hear again.

In addition to this work Cooper advanced the theory that stomach trouble is the foundation of nine out of ten diseases and claimed to have a preparation that would restore the stomach to working order and thus get rid of such troubles as rheumatism and affections of the kidneys and liver, in about two weeks time.

This statement seems to have been borne out by the remarkable results obtained through the use of his preparation, and now all Cincinnati is apparently mad over the young man.

His headquarters resemble a veritable stampede. Thousands of people are visiting him each day, and the druggists are selling his medicines in enormous quantities.

What seems to make Cooper still more popular is the fact that he practices extensive charitable work and has already dispensed a small fortune among the poor of the city.

How long the tremendous interest in Cooper will last is hard to estimate. At present there seems to be no sign of a let-up. Reputable physicians claim it to be a fad that will die out as soon as people leaves.

In justice to him, however, it must be said that he seems to have accomplished a great deal for the sick of this city with his preparations.

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the conditions of payment of a certain mortgage executed and delivered by John Bailey to Jonathan Roouse, dated March 1st, 1867, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in the county of Lenawee, State of Michigan, on the 6th day of March A. D. 1867, in Liber 43 of Mortgages on pages 607 and 608, which said mortgage was by said Mortgagee Roouse, assigned by said Bailey to Robert Boyce by due instrument in writing, dated June 17th, 1869, recorded in said Register of Deeds' office on the 7th day of September A. D. 1869, in Liber 57, of Mortgages on pages 346 and 347; assigned by said Boyce to Robert McHenry by due instrument in writing, dated August 6th, 1883, and recorded in said Register of Deeds' office on the 1st day of September A. D. 1883, in Liber 118 of Mortgages on pages 18; assigned by said McHenry to W. D. VanTuyle and Charlotte O. Silvers by due instrument in writing dated October 9th 1840, and recorded in said Register of Deeds office on the 25th day of February A. D. 1890, in Liber 125 of Mortgages on pages 577; assigned by said W. D. VanTuyle and Charlotte O. Silvers to Peter B. Smith by due instrument in writing dated February 1 d, 1901, and recorded in said Register of Deeds' office on the 25th day of February A. D. 1899, in Liber 136 of Mortgages on page 973; assigned by said Smith to Albert L. Brewer by due instrument in writing dated April 29th, 1902, and recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds on the 6th day of May A. D. 1902, in Liber 141 of mortgages on page 97; and assigned by Percival W. A. Pitsimmons as administrator of the estate of said Albert L. Brewer deceased (said Albert L. Brewer having meantime departed this life and said Pitsimmons having been duly appointed administrator of said estate) to the undersigned, as Hettie W. Brewer (now by marriage Hettie W. Lawrence), by due instrument in writing dated October 15th, 1906, and recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds on the 16th day of November A. D. 1906, in Liber 143 of Mortgages on page 297; there being claimed to be due to the undersigned at the date hereof upon said mortgage, and she hereby is owed, thereby, the sum of five hundred fourteen and 36—100 dollars and no suit or proceeding at law, or in equity, having been instituted for the recovery of said indebtedness, or any part thereof:

Notice is therefore hereby given that, by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained (now operative by said default) I will, on Monday the 4th day of March A. D. 1907, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the east front door of the Court House in the city of Adrian, in the County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, (that being the place where the Circuit court for said County of Lenawee is holden), for the purpose of realizing the amount of said mortgage debt with interest thereon to accrue and costs of this foreclosure, including a reasonable attorney fee, sell at public vendue, to the highest bidder, the lands and premises in said mortgages described, viz:—Those lands in the township of Clinton (formerly Tecumseh), County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, known as the west half of the south-west quarter of section two, town five south, range four east, containing eighty acres of land more or less.

25 cent Coffee Value

If You are paying 25c the pound for coffee you ought to be enjoying good cup quality. The price you pay does not fix the quality you receive; different sellers give different qualities for the money.

LOWRY'S BLEND at 25c the lb. is a little bit better for the money. Years of experimenting has fixed our standard high and this coffee is now no experiment. Its increasing sale together with it's ever repeating orders from old time users is mighty convincing proof that it contains everything in the quality line that is claimed for it.

You are the judge. We ask your consideration of the evidence contained in a cup of this delicious coffee.

Don't "get along" with a coffee that doesn't suit your taste because you think it as good as you ought to expect for the money. Make your next order for LOWRY'S 25c BLEND. Your money back if you are not satisfied.

OUR INDUSTRIAL EDITION.

The Tecumseh HERALD is glad to announce the early publication of an illustrated trade edition consisting of about 5,000 copies which in point of thoroughness and design is destined to eclipse anything of the kind ever attempted in Tecumseh.

Regardless of the fact that the car shops have left us, we must now endeavor to substitute another factory to take its place. It must be remembered that there are scores of capitalists looking for a place of investment. Scores of manufactures are looking for plant sites and every capitalist and manufacturer that locates here brings consumers in his train and it is the consumers who keep our mercantile interests alive. Every dollar invested in the manufacturing line in our village adds its rate of percentage pro rata to property. All kinds of property are benefitted in proportion to the increased activity of local commerce.

A trade edition, handsomely illustrated, is one of the most far-reaching and practical methods of drawing attention to a place and enlists the considerate attention of every capitalist as well as it attracts the trade of the surrounding community by presenting the advanced business facilities of our town.

Only this present month the Grand Rapids Press got out an illustrated edition of that city when but two months previous or in November the Grand Rapids Times had just issued a 50 page handsomely illustrated edition of their city thus showing plainly that this is the only sure way of calling attention to the city or town we live in, is by calling attention to the place through the newspaper printed in the place.

Those who have not yet signified their desire to be represented in the issue are asked to do so as soon as possible and we wish to thank the representative firms who have already made arrangements through our agent, Mr. Workman, to be represented. We are pleased to state that the issue will be a credit to our town and to the publisher of the HERALD.

Try to live right and don't worry about how you are going to die; you'll die all right.

GUARANTEED STOMACH REMEDY.

C. A. Wright Will Refund money if Mi-o-na Fails to cure.

You may ask why it is that Mi-o-na stomach tablets are sold by C. A. Wright under a guarantee to refund the money unless they cure, when no other treatment for stomach troubles is sold in this manner.

The answer is simple and conclusive. Other medicines for stomach troubles merely digest the food, while Mi-o-na strengthens the whole digestive system so that it soon becomes able to care for all the food that is eaten.

If you do not use your arm or leg for a month, the muscles become flaggy and weak and you have to resort to artificial help. It is the same way with the stomach muscles. If they are not used, they become so weak that it is necessary to continue using a digestive with the food you eat.

On the other hand, when you use Mi-o-na, your stomach soon grows so strong that you can give up the use of medicine.

Mi-o-na costs 50c a box and does more real good than a dozen boxes of ordinary digestive tablets. The proof of this is shown in fact that a guarantee, absolute and unqualified is given by C. A. Wright with every box of Mi-o-na.

Queer about some people—they claim to like coffee, and yet they are always roasting it.

Beauty more than skin deep.

Every one who wants a good healthy color and a clear skin free from biliousness, sluggish liver and chronic constipation should get a package of Dainty Laxakola tonic tablets, nature's sweet restorer. JOHN J. ORR.

There wouldn't be so many marriages if a man had any idea his wife would ever resemble her mother.

Charming Women.

Nothing lends more to personal charm than a clear rosy skin and nothing is so sure to free the skin from moth spots, sallowness and the effects of chronic constipation as the dainty Laxakola tonic tablets, 25c. JOHN J. ORR

IF WOMEN ONLY KNEW.

Hard to do housework with an aching back

Brings you hours of misery.

If women only knew the cause,—that Backache pains come from sick kidneys.

Twould save much needless woe.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys Tecumseh people endorse this.

Mrs. Mary Edwards, of Logan street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I feel that I cannot praise Doan's Kidney Pills too highly as they have been of great benefit to me. I had suffered a great deal from kidney trouble for some time brought on by lifting and a heavy cold which settled on my kidneys. It kept getting worse until I was confined to my bed most of the time and when I did get up, required assistance. The pains in my back and shoulders were very severe and caused me much misery. At night I was restless and could not sleep. The action of the kidneys were too frequent. I tried nearly every known kidney remedy but received no benefit until I tried Doan's Kidney Pills. They proved to be what my condition required and the use of three boxes effected a complete cure. I advise all sufferers from kidney trouble to try Doan's Kidney Pills."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's, and take no other.

GUARANTEED REMEDY FOR INDIGESTION.

Interesting statement by John J. Orr.

When a man comes into this store and calls for any particularly indigestion remedy, we always give him what he asks for, but in case he leaves it to us, we usually recommend Pepsikola tablets.

Here is a preparation we have been selling right over the counter for years, and from actual observation we know it must do good, and really does relieve and cure indigestion and dyspepsia or, there would be a steady stream of people coming back for their money, as every 25c box is sold with the understanding that you must be decidedly benefited or there is nothing to pay.

You simply try Pepsikola tablets with the understanding that they will steady your nerves, improve your appetite, relieve wind belching, coated tongue, sour stomach, fullness after eating, weakened energy and other symptoms of indigestion or John J. Orr is ready at any time to pay back your money without the least argument.

The most sincere person in the world does not mean it when he says: "I don't care."

It's Charming

To possess a healthy glowing complexion. Dainty Laxakola tonic tablets obliterate all eruptions of the skin—by their mild, but active influence on the bowels. Forty tablets 25c.

D. 1891, in Liber 114 of Mortgages on page 561 said mortgage was assigned by said Smith to Albert L. Brewer by due instrument in writing dated April 22d, 1891, and recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds on the 8th day of May A. D. 1891 in Liber 135 of mortgages on page 456, and assigned by Percival W. A. Fitzsimmons as administrator of the estate of said Albert L. Brewer, deceased, (said Albert L. Brewer having died intestate) to us, the undersigned, as Hettie W. Brewer (now by marriage Hettie W. Lawrence), by due instrument in writing dated October 19th, 1906, and recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds on the 11th day of November A. D. 1906, in Liber 150 of Mortgages on page 597, there being claimed to be due to the undersigned at the date hereof upon said mortgage, and the note secured thereby, the sum of fifteen hundred fifty-four and 50-100 dollars, and no suit or proceeding at law or in equity having been instituted for the recovery of said indebtedness, or any part thereof:

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained (now operative by reason of default) we will on Monday the 4th day of March, A. D. 1907, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the east front door of the County House in the City of Adrian, in the County of Lenawee and State of Michigan (that being the place where the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee is holden) for the purpose of realizing the amount of said mortgage debt with interest thereon as accrued and costs of this foreclosure, including a lawful attorney fee, sell at public vendue to the highest bidder, the lands and premises in said a mortgage described, viz.—Those lands in the Township of Blissfield County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, known as the west half of the south west quarter of section two, town five south, range four east, containing eighty acres of land more or less.

HETTIE W. LAWRENCE,
(formerly Hettie W. Brewer),
Assignee of said mortgage.

Dated: November 30th, 1906.
Fred'k. B. Wood, Attorney for Assignee.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss. Probate Court for said county.

At a session of the Probate Court for the county of Lenawee holden at the Probate Office in the city of Adrian, on the 7th day of January, in the year one thousand nine hundred and seven.

Present, Harry L. Larwill, judge of probate.

In the matter of the estate of WILLIAM BRADLEY, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition, of Frank E. Bradley, executor upon the estate of said deceased, alleging that the funeral expenses and debts of said deceased, and the expenses of administration thus far incurred, have been fully paid, and praying that his first administration account may be allowed and for such other order and decree as to this court shall seem proper.

It is ordered, that Monday, the 4th day of February next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said petition.

And it is further ordered, that a copy of this order be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee, for three successive weeks, previous to said day of hearing.

HARRY L. LARWILL,
(A true copy.) Judge of Probate.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Troubles.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition, strength, vigor and energy. Sometimes it is nervousness, sometimes it is weak kidneys, sometimes when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle [illegible] by mail free, also a book of [illegible] pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Constipation

Baked sweet apples, with some people, bring prompt relief for Constipation. With others, coarse all-wheat bread will have the same effect. Nature undoubtedly has a regulable remedy to relieve every ailment known to man, if physicians can but find Nature's way to health. And this is strikingly true with regard to Constipation.

The bark of a certain tree in California—Cascara Sagrada—offers a most excellent aid to this end. But, combined with Egyptian Senna, Slippery Elm Bark, Solid Extract of Prunes, etc., this same Cascara bark is given its greatest possible power to correct constipation. A toothsome Candy Tablet, called Lax-ets, is now made at the Dr. Shoop Laboratories, from this ingenious and most effective prescription. Its effect on Constipation, Biliousness, Sour Stomach, Bad Breath, Liver derangement, etc., is indeed prompt and satisfying.

No griping, no unpleasant after effects are experienced, and Lax-ets are put up in beautiful incorroded metal boxes at 5 cents and 25 cents per box.

MORE MINERS KILLED

Another Frightful Explosion in West Virginia Diggings.

POSSIBLY THIRTY ARE DEAD

Rescuers Unable to Reach Imprisoned Men—Driven Back by Poisonous Gases—Bodies of Several Victims Recovered.

Elkins, W. Va., Feb. 5.—The third mine explosion in West Virginia within two weeks occurred Monday at the Davis Coal & Coke Co.'s mine, No. 25, at Thomas, near here, and 25 or 30 miners are said to have been killed.

The disaster occurred shortly after 7 o'clock in the morning. Late in the afternoon the first rescuing party entered the mine. The bodies of six foreigners and one American were recovered at a distance of 100 feet from the shaft. Before further progress could be made a deadly wave of poisonous fumes enveloped the rescuing party, which was composed of General Manager Ott, D. M. Boyd, Supt. Henry Milne, Daniel Jones, Mine Boss Arthur Stewart and John Jenkins. Before the rescuing party could reach the surface Jones, the mine boss, died from suffocation.

The air fans were demolished by the explosion, and the mine is full of the dangerous after-damp.

There is no possible hope that the men still in the mine are alive. While the exact number of entombed men is not known at this time, the number is estimated at about 30, and it is thought probable that there might be more.

Pitiful scenes are being enacted around the mouth of the mine. The families of the missing men are frantic with grief, and continuous efforts are necessary to keep them from throwing themselves into the mouth of the mine.

Just a few minutes before the explosion a large party of miners had entered the mine by way of an unused opening at Coalton. When they heard the muffled report they retraced their steps at top speed, and thus saved their lives.

The mines were owned for many years by Henry Gassaway Davis, former United States senator and vice-presidential candidate on the democratic ticket, and are now the property of the Western Maryland railroad.

SAYS HOTEL WAS FIRED.

Brimmer Claims Enemies Had Access to the Cellar.

Ashley, Mich., Feb. 5.—G. C. Brimmer, proprietor of the Brimmer hotel of this city, which burned to the ground early Sunday morning and in William Thomas lost his life, said:

"I firmly believe that my hotel was set on fire. The boiler room, where the fire started, was fire-proof, cement floored and there were no combustibles near the fire. Several of my enemies knew how to get into the cellar and had done so before, stealing my liquors."

Mr. Brimmer had had considerable trouble with a number of people of Ashley, who finally tried to run him out of business.

Japs Kick on Big Budget.

Victoria, B. C., Feb. 5.—The steamer Empress of China, which arrived from the Orient Monday, brought advices that the new Japanese budget for 1907-8 is severely criticized by Japanese newspapers. Apart from the fact that the total sum of $305,000,000 is required, $60,000,000 more than last year, and twice as large an amount as was required to cover all expenses prior to the Russo-Japanese war, several extraordinary appropriations are made for which provision is not in sight. The budget provides large appropriations for naval and military increases. Schemes abandoned during the war are being revived and appropriations of about $140,000,000 ar included for improvement of rivers and harbors, extension of railways, telephone lines, iron foundries and the establishment of new colleges and technical schools.

Negroes Plan National Fair.

Mobile, Ala., Feb. 5.—A negro national fair will be held in this city in November, 1907. A feature will be the exhibit of inventions and craftmanship of negroes. An invitation will be extended to the president of the United States to open the fair.

WHO OWNS ISLANDS?

The Lack of Decision on This Question Blocks Soo Improvements.

THE COURTS HAVE CASE IN HAND

Congress Unable to Tackle Problem of Appropriating Funds to Improve the Locks—Mariners Will Be a Disappointed Lot.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 5.—Unless some clause protecting the government in the much mooted question of the ownership of islands Nos. 1 and 2 in the St. Mary's river, can be inserted in the rivers and harbors bill before it finally passes the senate, the gigantic improvements planned at Sault Ste. Marie will be held up for a year, perhaps several years. The improvements include the new $6,200,000 lock and the widening of the present canal, which will represent an outlay of about $1,250,000 and which sum is already available.

This is the statement given out by Col. C. E. L. B. Davis, United States district engineer, Monday, and it will prove a disagreeable surprise to vessel-men, who have been turning heaven and earth for several years to secure a new lock at the Soo.

The information comes to Col. Davis from Rep. T. E. Burton, chairman of the congressional committee on rivers and harbors, and is therefore official. The department of justice now has the matter in hand.

Defects in Titles.

It is the old question involving the riparian rights of the Chandler-Dunbar Co., of Sault Ste. Marie. The company claimed ownership to islands Nos. 1 and 2, but gave the government a quit-claim deed to them. The attorney-general says the titles to the islands contain defects, which he terms incumbrances, and which he says must be removed before the government can accept them.

To explain the case more fully, it may be stated that the Chandler-Dunbar Co., under a certain grant, secured a strip of the mainland on the river front at Sault Ste. Marie some years ago. They claim riparian rights, which include islands Nos. 1 and 2.

The case involving the ownership of the islands was originally tried before the late Judge Wanty in the United States court in Grand Rapids. He decided that if the Chandler-Dunbar Co. owned the land abutting on the river front the company also owned the islands. He thus ignored the vital question of the validity of the firm's title to the strip of mainland. The case was next taken to the United States court of appeals in Cincinnati, and was recently completed, but the judge has as yet handed down no decision, having the case under advisement at the present time.

Will Go to Supreme Court.

It is authentically stated that it will be carried to the supreme court no matter which way it is decided in the court of appeals, and here is where the long delay will occur.

One of the main questions to be decided is whether the St. Mary's is a river or a strait, and if the court upholds this theory no riparian rights could be claimed, as the lake rule would be invoked. The other side contends that the stream is a river, which carries the riparian rights to midstream. The Chandler-Dunbar people appear anxious to have the government accept the quit-claim deed, which leads some interested mariners to allege that there is something behind their anxiety. If a warranty deed to the islands had been given, the entire matter would have been settled.

The project of widening the Soo canal has already been delayed two years through the controversy.

Edward D. Magoon, deputy treasurer of Muskegon county, is drafting game law revisions to be presented to the legislature and which are intended to abolish "pot hunting" and include all game protected by a closed season under the license law, the same as deer now are.

At the annual meeting of the Chase Benjamin Gun club, at Alpena, the revision of game laws was discussed and it was proposed to ask that a bounty of $1 be paid on fox, skunks, owls and chicken hawks, which were pronounced to be most destructive to partridge and quail.

The annual convention of the State League of Republican clubs of Michigan has been called for Wednesday, Feb. 13, at the Lincoln club rooms, Grand Rapids, for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year, presentation of reports and for the transaction of such business as may properly come before the said convention.

HEREDITARY INSANITY

On This Plea Will Lawyers Seek to Save Thaw's Life.

EACH SIDE STATES ITS CASE

Prosecution Consumed Only Two Hours' Time—Mother and Wife of Prisoner Will Be Witness—Son of Thaw's Victim Put on Stand.

New York, Feb. 5.—The state laid its case against Harry K. Thaw Monday—a plain, unemotional story of the shooting on the Madison Square Garden roof, leaving the malice and the motive to be inferred from the act—and the defense replied with a plea of hereditary insanity. It was asserted that Thaw, in slaying Stanford White, believed he was acting as an agent of providence; that real or fancied wrongs committed against him by the architect and former friend of his wife, had boiled and bubbled in his brain until at last there came the explosive impulse to kill. When the deed was done, Thaw made no move to escape its consequences, but holding the fatal revolver aloft, he stood as if mutely proclaiming to the world: "The deed is done; it was right; it was not wrong."

Thus Thaw's counsel outlined his case to the jury Monday afternoon, after the prosecution had occupied less than two hours of the morning sitting of the court in relating, through eye-witnesses, the narrative of the tragedy. When the defense had interposed its plea and outlined its case, an adjournment was taken for the day, and today the first witness in Thaw's behalf will be heard.

Hereditary Insanity.

"You will hear the story of this man's insanity," Attorney John B. Gleason, for the defense, promised the jury, "from his mother, from his wife, from his relatives and from his physicians. You will judge him by his acts, by the heredity and stress which entered into his madness, and wen you come to judge him you will say to yourself that his act may have been one of insanity, but it was not one of crime."

That Thaw's wife was to be one of his most important witnesses has long been known; that his mother, Mrs. William Thaw of Pittsburg was to take the stand only became known positively Monday when the court enforced the rule excluding from the court room all witnesses save experts. Thaw's mother, at the command, left the room after a moment's hesitation. She seemed unwilling to be parted from her son in the hour of his need. His wife, too, reluctantly left the room, bestowing a last radiant smile of hope and courage on her prisoner husband. May MacKenzie was the third of the women who have been daily included in the Thaw party to leave the court house. Thaw seemed dejected.

During the opening address by Mr. Gleason, in which he entered the defense of insanity, Thaw sat with his flushed cheeks buried in his hands, and with eyes cast down upon the table before him. He seldom looked up.

White's Son on Stand.

There was another period—during the morning session—when Thaw again looked only at his hands, clasped before him on the table. This was when Lawrence White, the 19-year-old son of Stanford White, occupied the stand as the first witness for the prosecution. Young White, who is a Harvard student, was not a material witness. He was with his father at dinner the evening of the tragedy but left him before he went to Madison Square Garden. White was alone, it was testified, when Thaw approached slowly from behind, wheeled, faced him, and sent three bullets into his body and brain.

Thaw's counsel told the story of the prisoner's love for the girl he was to make his wife. He met Evelyn Nesbit in 1901, and there then began in him an honorable love and regard for the girl. In 1903, he asked her to marry him, and she refused. The reason for this refusal you will hear from her lips," announced Mr. Gleason. "Suffice is to say the reason had to do with an incident in her life with reference to Stanford White."

Thus laying the ground work for the plea of insanity, the defendant's lawyer declared the brain disease had laid hold of Thaw some three or four years ago.

A valuable lesson.

"Six years ago I learned a valuable lesson" writes John Pleasant of Magnolia, Ind. "I then began taking Dr. King's new life pills and the longer I take them the better I find them." They please everybody. Guaranteed by C. A. Wright, druggist 25c.

DENIES CHRIST'S DIVINITY.

Kalamazoo Preacher Creates a Big Sensation.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Feb. 5.—The utterances of Rev. Jos. MacCarthy, the pastor of the People's church, have caused a sensation.

Rev. MacCarthy opened a series of sermons Sunday which are to be in the nature of replies to things said by Rev. Dr. James Gray, of the Moody institute in Chicago, and Prof. D. B. Towner, a singing evangelist. The latter have been holding revival meetings in the Evangelical church. Sunday Rev. MacCarthy said:

"You cannot be a christian by being ransomed by the blood of Jesus, because to accept such a theory is to make God a sort of Macedonian brigand, but without the willingness of the brigand to accept good deeds, service or money. You make him so bloodthirsty that nothing but the death of some good man will appease him."

Further he said:

"To allege the divinity of Christ is blasphemy. The Holy Ghost, as a person of the Godhead, is ecclesiastical fiction. That the Virgin Mary, a Jewish maid, should be at one and the same time the daughter, wife and mother of God is absurd, and the depth of blasphemy."

THIRD CHILD SUCCUMS.

Deaths of Livingston Children Must Be Withheld From Insane Mother.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Feb. 5.—Helen Livingston, aged 10 years, died at 6 o'clock last night in the U. B. A. hospital as a result of asphyxiation. She was found in the alcove off the front room, when the discovery of the dead bodies of her aunt Emma and her two brothers was made by Jennie Livingston, another aunt, Sunday afternoon. There has been but little hope for her recovery from the first.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Feb. 5.—As a result of the freezing to death of the Livingston children and their maiden aunt, Helen Livingston, in Grand Rapids, a pathetic situation has developed at the Michigan asylum in this city.

Mrs. Sarah Park Livingston, mother of the frozen children, is an inmate of the asylum. She was brought here about six months ago. She had become insane over the death of her husband.

Mrs. Livingston has so improved that she is now in the convalescent department, and physicians were confident of her full recovery soon. Realizing that it would be fatal to her mental condition, the news of the tragic end of her children and sister has been withheld from her.

Liquor Men Making Threats.

Marshall, Mich., Feb. 5.—The crusade against the alleged open saloons on Sunday in this place, started some weeks ago by Albion ministers, appears to be assuming complicated phases. The latest development is the threat of the defense that, inasmuch as it has been admitted on the stand by the prosecution, liquor claimed by Albion students to have been obtained by them on Sunday was turned over to ministers on a Sunday, for which they were reimbursed, that the students would be liable to arrest for violation of the liquor law.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

Marshall, Kalamazoo and Lansing high school athletic associations are taking action towards discontinuing athletic relations with Battle Creek.

James H. Vincent, aged 77 years, declares that the main street at Lapeer, called Nipissing street, which extends from Flint river to Lake Nipissing, was originally a blazed Indian trail.

Great interest is manifested by tillers of the soil about Niles over the three-day farmers' institute to be held at Niles beginning Feb. 11. The state's most able agriculturists will be present.

Friends claim that leaving the parental roof for work in a large city caused the insanity of Mrs. Harry Blackwell, formerly Ollie Nell, of Battle Creek. She will be confined to the asylum at Kalamazoo. She is a widow and a mother.

Shippers at Saginaw are resting easy since the advent of some 1,500 new cars on the Saginaw branch of the Pere Marquette railroad. Traffic has resumed normal conditions, although all available rolling stock is kept on the move.

Chase S. Osborn and wife of Sault Ste. Marie sail Tuesday from New York for a trip through South America and will return in May. It is expected his health will be entirely recovered by the time the end of the journey is reached.

An Abrupt Finale.

Joaquin Miller had just won recognition as the poet of the Sierras and was working on a paper in Oregon. He had been contributing verses and short stories and had just begun a tale about the soldiers on the frontier who suffered with scurvy. The editor wanted the scurvy story for the morning publication, but Joaquin Miller could not concentrate upon his work. His mind leaped to the anticipated joy of a great social function occurring that evening, for at this time he was a social lion. However, he had proceeded in his story up to the point of the conditional cure for the disease where all the soldiers suffering with scurvy had been buried, with only their heads exposed to view. The editor was yelling "Copy!" The poet's mind refused to work. He could not finish the tale, leaving his soldiers in such a plight. Suddenly an inspiration came to him. He grabbed his pencil and wrote rapidly the following words:

"And a she wolf came along and ate off all their heads." Then he made a bee line for the door and was not seen again until the next day. His story was not published.

A Cause of Divorce.

"What is the most frequent cause of divorce?" the lawyer was asked.

"It is nearly incredible," he said, "but a thing that causes divorce oftener than you'd imagine is married people's quarreling over their right to open one another's letters. The husband will claim that he is entitled to open the wife's mail. The wife will claim that she is entitled to open the husband's. In the letters of neither will there be anything of a private or compromising nature, but nevertheless they both want to get their mail inviolate—it enrages them to have it opened and read. Quarrels over this letter opening question vex, I suppose, 90 per cent of married couples. Of this 90 per cent a distressingly large proportion go on from bad to worse till they wind up in the divorce court. So, young man, when you come to marry, leave your wife's mail alone, no matter how she may pry into yours."—New York Press.

Quick Wit Saved His Life.

"The strangest and most thrilling piece of swordsmanship I ever saw," said the fencing master, "was in Vermont. I was spending the autumn in a mountainous part of the state, and there was a military encampment near my hotel. One morning an officer's horse started to bolt with the man during parade and made at breakneck speed toward a precipice. The officer tried to stop the horse, tried to turn his head—no use. On dashed the frantic animal straight for the abyss. We all held our breaths. In another instant we expected to see horse and rider go over the cliff. But the officer when within fifty feet of the edge drew his sword and plunged it twice deep into the horse. The horse staggered, slowed, keeled over, dying. The man had sacrificed the animal's life to save his own."

Ages in the Animal Kingdom.

A great variance as to length of life appears among different animals. Some insects live for only a few hours, while fish, elephants and turtles are frequently centenarians. The average life of the mosquito is three days. Toads usually live to the age of about fifteen years, while carp have been known to reach 150. Chickens live from twelve to fifteen years, dogs to the age of ten and occasionally fifteen and parrots to extreme age. These birds have been known to pass the age of 200 years. Turtles are also frequently centenarians, as are storks, and elephants are said to reach the age of 300 years. Whales have been known to live for 400 years.

Postage Stamps.

The largest postage stamp ever issued was a five cent stamp of the United States intended for newspaper postage. It was 4 by 2 inches in size. The smallest postage stamp, on the other hand, was a twenty-five pfennig stamp of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, issued in 1856. It was one-fourth the size of an ordinary postage stamp. Incidentally it has been calculated that about 13,000 different kinds of postage stamps have been issued by the various countries of the earth.

Fate.

A strange comedy and tragedy was woven into the lives of Ibsen and Bjornson. As young men they were great friends; then politics flung them apart; they quarreled and never met for years and years. Strange fate brought the children of these two great writers together, and Bjornson's daughter married Ibsen's only child. The fathers met after a quarter of a century of separation at the wedding of their children.

Age and Years.

The man of forty must not think himself old. He is only beginning really to live. A man's usefulness is gone only when he ceases to grow. Age is not a matter of increasing years so much as of waning enthusiasm.—Milwaukee Journal.

Measures.

Teacher—Now, you have all studied about liquid measure, and I think you know it. Johnny, you may now tell me what measure treats of inches, feet and yards. Johnny—Tape measure, teacher.

The Lobsters.

"Well," said the first lobster in a bored tone, "what are you going to do now?"

"Get dressed for dinner," the second lobster answerd, yawning.

The Wife's Reproach.

In an address to a temperance society a lecturer told how drink had once caused the downfall of a brave soldier. In the course of the sad story he said:

"Sometimes, after a debauch, the man would be repentant, humble. He would promise his wife to do better. But, alas, the years taught her the barrenness of all such promises. And one night, when he was getting to be an old man, a prematurely old man, thin limbed, stoop shouldered, with red rimmed eyes, he said to his wife sadly:

"'You're a clever woman, Jenny, a courageous, active, good woman. You should have married a better man than I am, dear.'

"She looked at him, and, thinking of what he had once been, she answered in a quiet voice:

"'I did, James.'"

His Character.

A cook has been going round a station in the south of India with the following "character" and is somewhat surprised he is not engaged: "Abdul has been my cook for three months. It seems much longer. He leaves on account of ill health—my ill health."

Intellectual Drinks.

"Tea and coffee are drugs—drugs solely," said a chemist. "They stimulate the brain, and the reaction from the stimulation is not perceptible; hence tea and coffee are excellent brain spurs. For a little while they do actually make us more intelligent than we naturally are. That is why they are so popular. It is why we chemists call them intellectual drinks. Alcohol, whether it be taken in the form of champagne or beer or whisky, is not an intellectual drink, but the opposite. From the beginning alcohol stupefies instead of enlivening the brain. But it makes us talk! If it were not enlivening how should it make us talk? Alas, alcohol makes us talk, but we say under its influence the things we should not. Alcohol deadens the inhibitory, the prohibitive centers of the brain. It stupefies the brain muscle, which knows what things should not be told, and hence, while drinking we talk; but, oh, the things we say, and, oh, how we blush in the cold gray light of the morning after to remember what we said!"

A Bright Boy.

"Your son, I believe, made some experiments while at college?"

"Yes; he discovered what he calls his 'scientific paradox.'"

"What is the nature of it?"

"He succeeded in demonstrating that debts are expanded by contracting them."

Given and Taken Away.

A tiny bridesmaid at a wedding the other day surveyed the departing bride and groom with a gloomy brow. "Oh, dear!" she pouted. "Sister was going to get married today and have lots of fun! And now that man's taken her away!"

Too Many.

"And David had five kings before him," read the pastor.

"Gosh!" exclaimed the man in the rear pew. "I'm glad David wasn't in the game last night!"

The first regular serial newspaper was printed at Antwerp in the year 1605 and bore the name of Niewelijdinghe.

Big Differences.

"What!" said the judge. "You expect me to send your husband to prison when you acknowledge that you threw five flatirons at him and he only threw one at you?"

"Yes; that's all right, judge," said the irate woman, "but, then, the one he threw hit me."

Counterfeits.

"That's all a bluff."

"Then you think they are only mock turtledoves?"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

GIVE ME THE COUNTRY GIRL.

Words by MARY WARE. Music by GEORGE J. ZOLNAY.

Give me the Country Girl.—a

Soap as a Medicine.

"When I was a boy," said the old man, "they often made me take a little soap as a medicine. It did me good.

"Soap was prescribed in the village for cramps, for sick headache, for a half dozen complaints. The people admitted that it was a nauseous dose, but on the other hand they pointed to its efficacy.

"When I was taken down my mother would cut from the cake of yellow soap in the kitchen a chunk about as big as a chestnut.

"'Now, sonny,' she would say, 'swallow this,' and she'd hold the yellow morsel in thumb and forefinger close to my lips.

"I'd begin to whimper. The smell of it and the idea of the lather that would form in my mouth—the lather I'd have to swallow—would fill me with despair. But my mother was inexorable. With stiff lips I'd take the soap into my mouth, I'd chew the soft and slippery stuff a little and then, with a groan and a dreadful gulp, I'd swallow it. Horrors!

"Horrors!" said the old man, smiling. "I can still taste those doses of soap that were so common in the village in my boyhood."

Jewish Thrift.

The Allgemeine Rundschau, Vienna, in an article on the Jewish question and anti-Semitism, has this to say as to Jewish thrift: "If we could only induce our own lower class to acquire the Jew's thrift, his industry, his sense of order, his scrupulous exactitude, his religious loyalty and love for his family the Jew on his darker side would appear far less dangerous to them than is at present the case. If one Sunday, by way of interesting experiment, one were to conduct an inquiry into the station, wealth and religion of visitors to the various public houses, the following result would transpire: A large number of the guests would be Christians who would do far better to save than spend their money in alcoholic refreshments, gaming and tobacco. There might be a few Jews, but at the most they would content themselves with a cup of coffee."

An Ancient Hebrew Bible.

The highest amount ever offered for a single volume was tendered by a number of wealthy Jewish merchants of Venice to Pope Julius II. for a very ancient Hebrew Bible. It was then believed to be an original copy of the Septuagint version made from the Hebrew into Greek in 277 B. C., careful copies of the Hebrew text having been prepared at that date for the use of the seventy translators. The offer to Julius was £20,000, which, considering the difference between the value of money then and now, would in our day represent the princely sum of $600,000. Julius was at that time greatly pressed for money to maintain the holy league which the pope had organized against France, but in spite of his lack of funds he declined the offer.

Weight of a Lion.

"What does a lion weigh?" Ask that question of any acquaintance and see what he will say. Those who best know the look of the king of beasts and how small his lithe body really is will probably come furthest from the truth. About 300 to 350 pounds is a usual estimate. But this is below the mark. A full grown lion will tip the scales at no less than 500 pounds. Five hundred and forty pounds is the record for an African lion. His bone is solid and heavy as ivory. The tiger runs the lion very close. A Bengal tiger killed by an English officer scaled 520 pounds. A tiger of this size has, however, considerably greater muscular strength than the biggest lion.

A Bit of English Humor.

"Wanted.—A nurse for night duty only; one thoroughly accustomed to bottle babies."

This called forth the remark from the British Journal of Nursing:

"To bottle babies? How is it done and for what purpose are these innocents used when 'bottled?'"

ROUND ABOUT US.

The son of Thos. Gittus had a lively time Saturday morning here in the village. He had one horse, a young animal hitched to a stoneboat and had delivered his load and started back. In going over a crosswalk the boat slide onto her heels and this started things. He hung on and the ride matter [illegible] and before the rig was stopped the horse was on the cement walk in front of Lenardson's store. No damage was done but it looked at one time as though the boy would be badly hurt.—Britton Citizen.

A dry goods clerk became confidential with a reporter today and said: "During the dull days the women all seem to appear at the same time from 2:30 to 3:00. I believe they telephone to each other before they start in order that they may visit. Sometimes they get to visiting with each other while trading and one clerk is kept busy with one woman an hour. After awhile these afternoon social at the dry goods stores will require tea, cakes and ices."—Adrian Telegram.

Mrs. David Thomas was returning to the house from the barn at her home in Allen township and started to walk across a platform over the cistern when a portion of the bank at the side caved in, letting her fall 10 feet into the water. She was unhurt but as no one was on the premises and she did not expect her husband to return from Hillsdale until late, she was greatly frightened. She began to call for help and was answered by Mrs Eva Price, a neighbor, who summoned several men. A long pipe was brought from the barn, one end let down into the cistern and Mrs. Thomas was pulled out, exhausted but unharmed.—Hudson Post.

A little accident took place at the coal dock at the Lake Shore yards Thursday night which may result in the coal dock being taken away from this station a step which has long been under consideration by the company. The tackle used in raising the big bucket which raises 1,200 pounds of coal is mounted upon trucks and is supposed to move back and forth on tracks to suit the convenience of the men. Freight No. 90 stopped to take on coal and it became necessary to move the crane to a fresh position but instead of stopping at the place desired it ran off the end of the dock and fell to the ground 6 or 8 feet below. The wreck was complete and it is now about an even thing whether the coal will be replaced with a modern one or taken away altogether.—Coldwater Courier.

LITERARY NOTES.

Steady progress is always pleasing, and the department of the world at large in the Metrogolitan magazine is well worth watching. The February number is full of news items from all the world, thoroughly illustrated with unusual photographs. It presents the news of the entire world, which has been carefully collected and edited.

* * *

Gertrude Lynch is the author of a striking novel, "Winds of the Worlds," which opens the Februory Smart Set, and r story with a more orginial plot has not recently appeared. Two women reared in the same country town are thrown together in an extraordinary way after many years of separation, the one poor, the other fabulously rich. Following this seemingly old situation is an entirely new and unexpected denouement. Miss Lynch's gift or searching character analysis has never been more in evidence, and this piece of work will, beyond question, give her a lasting place among modern fiction writers.

* * *

The February Everybody's makes a wide appeal to Americans—to every one in fact, who is "awake." There is a remarkable group of six special articles and for entertainment seven fiction contributions of the highest order of excellence. In addition, there are special drawings, poems, and the usual departments of book reviewing, humor and publishers' "straigh talk." "Our Industrial Suggernaut," by Arthur B Reeve, is an astonishing exposition of the yearly sacrifice of life in America to the twin gods of speed and greed.

* * *

In McClure's for February, the Christian Science serial steadily increases in interest and power. Mrs. Eddy's relations with P. P. Quimby, the mental healer of Portland, are taken up in this instalment, and a thoroughly convincing and able presentation of the man who was so potent an influence in her career is given. Mrs Eddy's first visit to Quimby, her letters and verses in praise of him, and Mrs. Crosby's account of Mrs. Eddy's performances as the medium of her dead brother, Albert Baker, are presented, together with striking fac similes and portraits.

* * *

It is safe to say that the February Atlantic will make its first claim upon the reader's attention because of its unusually effective array of serial features. May Sinclair's novel, "The Helpmate," which goes this month into its second installment, has already proved its right to be counted among the "big" novels of the year, evincing, as it does, a remarkable insight into one of the most dramatic and vital situations of modern life.

* * *

As usual, Lippincott's magazine for February opens with a first quality complete novel—"Nance," by Robert Adger Bowen. This is a fascinating, rapid-acting tale of modern society in the South. The men and women who figure in its pages are bright and agreeable and well bred and not the so called "smart" people of questionable reputation—though of course there is the inevitable commingling of saint and sinner one expects to find in a well-balanced story. The leading character is a young and handsome widow, who has come into possession of her late husband's millions, and how she uses them and the power they bring her is told by the author in a manner which is both ingenious and realistic.

The police commission of Ypsilanti made a tour of the different saloons of the city in order to ascertain if they have in any way been violating the law. They discovered a number of slot machines and other gambling devices in their places of business which will have to be taken out. The proprietors were also notified that they must not keep open after hours or pay the penalty. They promised to obey the law—Saline Observer.

Rising from the grave.

A prominent manufacturer, Wm. A. Fortwell of Lucama, N. C., relates a most remarkable experience. He says: "After taking less than 3 bottles of Electric Bitters I feel like one rising from the grave. My trouble is Bright's disease in the diabetes stage. I fully believe Electric Bitters will cure me permanently for it has stopped the liver and bladder complications which have troubled me for years." Guaranteed by O. A. Wright, druggist. Price 50c.

The Ladies' World for February is the most attractive number yet issued of this popular magazine, which is now edited by Charles Dwyer, who recently resigned from the Delineator. There are a larger number of features than is usual and every one appeals directly to the feminine heart, except the fiction, which is good for all the family. Mme. Schmann Heink, the great singer, contributes an article on the Responsibility of Children, that is written simply yet is full of sound sense—the sound sense of the German mother who has brought up eight children amid the distractions of a most exacting profession.

* * *

In the pages of the February American Boy there is everything to please and delight its readers. The serials by Tomlinson, Shute, Sprague, Stratemeyer and Alger continue with added interest. February being the birth month of many great men, there are timely articles on: "The Longfellow Centennial, 1807 1907," by J. L. Harbour, and "Why Lincoln Became President," by Frank H Sweet. The interview with Jacob A. Riis, President Roosevelt's friend, will appeal to every boy who wants to make something of himself. The practical boy will be sure to find matter to please him in the many articles devoted to school, travel, electricity, mechanics, amateur journalism, stamps coins, and curios, tangles and poultry keeping and other hobbies of boys.

* * *

The February number of Style & American Dressmaker has just been received. It is called the Carnival Number and has two beautiful girls in brilliant fancy dress on the cover. The story which begins on the first page is very entertaining. A new and unique form of entertainment is described. It is called a St. Valentides party. A story illustrates its amusing possibilities and the centre page gives suggestions for costumes.

* * *

The leading article in Putnam's Monthly for February will be a paper on Longfellow, by Francis Gribble, apropos of the centenary of the poet's birth which falls on February 27th. While full justice is done to the merits of an enormously popular writer, the fact is not blinked that his name does not belong among those of the great masters of English [illegible]

The railroads are no longer able to get their freight cars in and out of the yards and terminals of the larger cities. They cannot get their cars loaded and unloaded or returned to the place where they belong. The business of the country has been to a great extent paralyzed for weeks past on account of what is called the "freight car famine." Yet freight cars by the hundreds of thousands are standing on side tracks and packed into freight yards, all in one weltering chaos of hopeless mismanagement.—From "The Progress of the World," in the American Monthly Review of Reviews for February.

* * *

The February number of the Century is always rich in Lincoln interest, a topic of which the American public never wearies. In the current number there is fresh light on the personality of the great American in Silas W. Burt's reminiscence of "Lincoln on His own Story-telling."—"It is not the story itself, but its purpose or effect, that interests." Mr Burt quots Lincoln as saying in the course of a memorable meeting. Clark E. Carr tells "Why Lincoln Was not renominated by acclamation," and there is a sympathetic glimpse of Lincoln's character in Myrta Lockett Avary's "A Lincoln Souvenir in the South."

Mrs. David McNair.

Mrs David McNair was born at Elyria, Ohio, in 1840. Her father, Rev. Peter Sharp, was one of the pioneer ministers of the Methodist Episcopal church, thus early in life were the lessons of sacrifice and devotion imparted to the daughter.

The family moved to Michigan in 1853. Mrs McNair was deeply interested in educational matters from childhood. She graduated from the Tecumseh high school with honors. A partial course was received from the State Normal at Ypsilanti, which course she relinquished that she might accept a position in the Tecumseh schools. Her work here met with high appreciation, her fine personality could not help but leave its impress upon those who studied with her. She was a student to the last, receiving a diploma in the Chautauqua Course at the age of 54.

She joined the first Presbyterian church of Tecumseh under the ministry of Dr. Wishard of which she was a consistent and devoted member. She taught in the Sunday school and sang in the choir, working wherever needed with cheerfulness and ability. Her loss was keenly felt by the church when her family moved to Colorado 13 years ago

Her marriage to David McNair occurred Feb. 7th, 1866. To this union four children were born, Herbert L., William S., Fred J., one dying in infancy. Her home was her throne, motherhood her crown. Only those who knew her in her home fully appreciated her.

Delos Love.

The death of Delos Love, who has been in poor health for several years, occurred at his home in this village this morning at 7:30 o'clock of heart failure. He was a veteran member of Co. E., 18th Michigan Volunteer Infantry in the Civil war and was a successful farmer. He was highly respected in this community.

He leaves a wife, two sons and a daughter to mourn his loss, Willis Love of Angola, Ind., Mrs L. E. Stanford of Akron, O., and A. S. Love of Newberry, Mich., all of whom are here to attend the funeral which will be held from the house Thursday morning at 10:30, Rev Fox officiating Burial at Tipton.

Charlotte Knight Burns.

Charlotte Knight was born in the township of Franklin, Lenawee county, June 9th, 1843, and died in Chicago, Ill., January 26th, 1907, aged 64 years, 7 months, 17 days. In 1864 she was united in marriage to James M. Burns and resided at Tipton until the death of her husband in 1896 since which time she has lived with her only daughter, Mrs. W. B. Gibbs.

For the last three years Mrs Burns has been failing in health, having suffered two slight strokes of paralysis, but on the day of her death, arose feeling better than usual. About 10 a. m. while engaged in her usual household duties she was stricken with paralysis and later with apoplexy, becoming unconscious soon after 11 a. m. Two physicians were quickly summoned, but notwithstanding their united efforts she passed away at 3 p. m. without regaining consciousness. Mrs. Burns is survived by a son, Chas E. Burns, who is in California, and a daughter, Edith M. Gibbs, residing in Chicago, also a sister, Mrs. Ezra Simmons of Tipton. The funeral was held at the home at Tipton at 2 p. m. Tuesday, Jan. 29th, and was largely attended.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to express our sincere thanks to the friends, neighbors and lodges who so kindly assisted at the burial of our dear mother, also for the beautiful floral offerings

Twenty-eight from Tecumseh were present at the boys' Y. M. C. A. conference held in Clinton Saturday and Sunday, 63 delegates from different associations in Lenawee county were in Clinton to attend this conference, which was the largest ever held in the county. A great deal of interest was manifested.

Vernor Crane, Roger Waring and Lynn Rogers of Tecumseh, were on the program Saturday afternoon. Sunday morning Carry S. Hicks gave the conference an address on "Some Fundamental principals in Boys' Work," which was intensely interesting. At the banquet Saturday evening Kenneth Ward, Dr. North and Frank Hurst gave toasts, C. L. Rowe of Jackson, acting as toast master. The conference closed Sunday evening with a union meeting at the congregational church.

Neighbors got fooled.

"I was literally coughing myself to death and had become too weak to leave my bed and neighbors predicted that I would never leave it alive but they got fooled for thanks be to God I was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery. It took just four one dollar bottles to completely cure the cough and restore me to health," writes Mrs. Eva Uncapher of Grovertown, Stark Co., Ind. GUILTY

FIRST DEGREE.

Jury out but thirty minutes.

It took the jury but 30 minutes to render a verdict in the murder trial of Joseph Erhlich last Saturday afternoon. Judge Chester called Ehrlich to the bar and said:

"Mr. Ehrlich, you have been found guilty of a most heinous crime. I don't know that there is anything I can say to you that would bring comfort to you or anyone else. Your punishment is a lesson that we must always conduct ourselves according to the law and not allow our passions to be our undoing. The sentence of the court is simply a living death. The court sentences you to the State's Prison at Jackson to solitary confinement and hard labor for the rest of your natural life. You may stand aside."

Ehrlich was taken to Jackson yesterday morning, passing through Tecumseh at 8:56

Mrs. Wm. Cummins.

Mrs. M. Evelyn Cummins died at her home in this village Saturday evening at 7 o'clock, of uraemic poisoning, aged 38 years. The funeral was held today at one o'clock from the house with burial at Ridgeway. Rev. Kamm officiated.

Oscar Downey, junior proprietor of the Hotel Downey at Lansing will go to Mason on the noon train to serve his sentence of 30 days imposed by Judge Wiest for keeping the hotel bar open on New Years day to accomodate a crowd of politicians. He will be accompanied by his mother, widow of the late H. J. Downey, and a colored valet. Five days of his sentence have been passed while he was in bed in the hotel while his attorneys sought to invalidate the sentence. Downey is still ill but his condition will permit his removal, it is said.—Detroit Journal.

CATARRH GROWING LESS.

Due to the use of Hyomei. Cures without stomach dosing.

Inquiry at the local drug stores shows that the sale of remedies for catarrh has decreased very much in the last year. Some medicines which were formerly bought a gross at a time are now purchased in half dozen lots and are rarely called for

There is one notable exception to this decrease in sale and that is Hyomei. This remedy is, in fact, responsible for the decrease in sale of catarrh medicines, as it has made so many cures of catarrhal troubles that naturally there is much less demand for remedies for that disease.

People who have been trying different medicines for catarrh during many years were induced to begin the use of Hyomei by C. A. Wright's guarantee, that the remedy would cost nothing unless cured. Much to their surprise, they found that Hyomei did what it claimed (if it did not C. A. Wright could not sell it under this guarantee) and they soon become ardent advocates of the use of Hyomei.

There is no disagreeable stomach dosing with Hyomei; it is used by being breathed through a neat pocket inhaler. The complete outfit costs but one dollar, extra bottles, if needed, fifty cents.

With every Hyomei outfit C. A. Wright gives his personal guarantee that the money will be refunded unless the treatment cures, so that you run no risk at all in buying this reliable remedy.

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL

Many people take their lives in their hands by neglecting their kidneys when they know these organs need help. Sick kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of ill health but there is no need to suffer or remain in danger when all diseases due to weak kidneys can be permanently cured by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. Here is the statement of a Tecumseh citizen who has reclaimed good health by the use of this remedy.

E. H. Hyde, living on West Chicago street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I had suffered from kidney trouble for about two years. While working for the Lake Shore Ry. I was exposed to all kinds of weather and contracted a cold which settled in my kidneys. The pains were so severe that it was impossible for me to stoop or lift anything. I did not take care of the trouble at first. At times it was difficult for me to sit down or get up again on account of the twinges of pain in my back, similar to a knife thrust. I used a number of remedies but failed to receive more than temporary relief. Finally I began using Doan's Kidney Pills receiving great benefit from the first box so I continued until I was cured. I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to others and will continue to do so."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's, and take no other.

Some men can never turn the key of success because they can't get a woman to find the lock for them.

Farmers, mechanics, railroaders, laborers rely on Thomas' Eclectric Oil. Takes the sting out of cuts, burns or bruises at once. Pain cannot stay where it is used

Summer "house parties" are so called because the house is about the only thing that stays on the place.

GUARANTEED REMEDY FOR INDIGESTION.

Interesting statement by John J. Orr.

When a man comes into this store and calls for any particularly indigestion remedy, we always give him what he asks for, but in case he leaves it to us, we usually recommend Pepsikola tablets.

Here is a preparation we have been selling right over the counter for years, and from actual observation we know it must do good, and really does relieve and cure indigestion and dyspepsia or there would be a steady stream of people coming back for their money, as every 25c box is sold with the understanding that you must be decidedly benefited or there is nothing to pay.

You simply try Pepsikola tablets with the understanding that they will steady your nerves, improve your appetite, relieve wind belching, coated tongue, sour stomach, fullness after eating, weakened energy and other symptoms of indigestion or John J. Orr is ready at any time to pay back your money without the least argument.

Quit Dowies Church.

Cincinnati, Feb. 5.—By a vote of sixty to six, the Cincinnati congregation of Zion, founded by Dowie and nurtured by Voliva, Sunday determined to cut loose entirely from the parent church in Zion City, according to an announcement just made. A letter was mailed to Overseer Voliva notifying him of the action of the church. Elder W. H. Cossum, who sent the letter, at the same time said that the action taken was final, and that there could be no change back to the old allegiance. The Cincinnati church was one of the earliest and strongest of those which joined the Zion City movement, and both Dowie and Voliva have been honored guests of the congregation.

Spectacular Fire in London.

London, Feb. 5.—A fire involving damage estimated at from $250,000 to $500,000, occurred last evening in the most dangerous fire zone of London, namely, that block of narrow and tortuous streets, which is the home of the Manchester trade. The fire destroyed several buildings on Wood street, stocked with silks and other merchandise. The whole city was brilliantly illumined by the flames and the towering dome of St. Paul's cathedral presented a striking spectacle, silhouetted against the sky. All the traffic in the neighborhood was stopped. The firemen soon got the flames under control, however.

Found With Their Throats Cut.

Ottawa, Kas., Feb. 5.—The bodies of Mrs. Frank Smeck and her two children, a boy aged 7, and a girl, aged three were found in the home of Mrs. Smeck, at Centropolis, a village 12 miles northwest of here Monday. The throats of all had been cut. It is not known whether it is a case of murder and suicide or of triple murder. Mr. Smeck has not been at home for several months and his whereabouts are unknown.

Disappointed in the Boy.

"I don't know what kind of figure that boy'll cut in life," said the old man, with a sigh. He's gone an' shattered all my hopes!"

"Why, what's he been a-doin' of?"

"He's been a-doin' of nothin'," was the reply. "'cept writin' poetry on barn doors when I had set my stakes to make a carpenter or a congressman out o' him!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Nothing will relieve indigestion that is not a thorough digestant. Kodol digests what you eat and allows the stomach to rest—recuperate—grow strong again. Kodol is a solution of digestive acids and as nearly as possible approximates the digestive juices that are found in the stomach. Kodol takes the work of digestion off the digestive organs and while performing this work itself does greatly assist the stomach to a thorough rest. In addition the ingredients of Kodol are such as to make it a corrective of the highest efficiency and by its action the stomach is restored to its normal activity and power. Kodol is manufactured in strict conformity with the National Pure Food and Drug Law. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

Croup can positively be stopped in 20 minutes. No vomiting—nothing to sicken or distress your child. A sweet, pleasant and safe syrup, called Dr. Shoop' croup cure, does the work and does it quickly. Weak Lungs its cod liver oil elements heal and strengthen the lungs

Many people inherit weak lungs which are likely to be attacked by consumption. So also are lungs weakened by disease or by a stubborn hacking cough.

Vinol, which is a real cod liver preparation with all the useless oil eliminated and tonic iron added, strengthens weak lungs and gives one the power to throw off wasting diseases.

We ask every person suffering from weak lungs, stubborn hacking coughs or any wasting disease to try Vinol on our guarantee.

Wakeful?

Sleeplessness Is a Sign of Nerve Trouble and Should Be Looked To.

There are three different manifestations of sleeplessness.

First, hardly to sleep a wink all night, second, to lie awake a long time before falling asleep; third, to fall asleep soon, waking up after several hours and then find it hard to sleep again.

They mean that somewhere in the nerve fibres, somewhere in the brain cells, somewhere in the blood vessels that carry blood to the brain, something is radically wrong, and must be righted, or the end may be worse than death.

To right it, take Dr. Miles' Nervine.

They indicate diseases which may lead to Epilepsy, Fits, St. Vitus' Dance, Nervous Prostration, Paralysis, Insanity.

Nothing will give such quick and lasting relief as Dr. Miles' Nervine.

"My husband had been sick for weeks, could not sit up to have his bed made. With all the medical help we could get he continued to grow worse. He could neither sleep or eat. Our baby girl was sent away, and all callers barred, because he could not stand a bit of talking. I read of a case of nervous prostration cured by Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. We began giving it to him, and in a few days he was able to be dressed. From that time he steadily improved. Nervine saved his life."—MRS. A. G. HASKIN, Freeville, N. Y.

Sour Stomach

No appetite, loss of strength, nervousness, headache, constipation, bad breath, general debility, sour risings, and catarrh of the stomach are all due to indigestion. Kodol relieves indigestion. This new discovery represents the natural juices of digestion as they exist in a healthy stomach, combined with the greatest known tonic and reconstructive properties. Kodol for dyspepsia does not only relieve indigestion and dyspepsia, but this famous remedy helps all stomach troubles by cleansing, purifying, sweetening and strengthening the mucous membranes lining the stomach.

"Mr. S. S. Pall, of Rawlswood, W. Va., says—"I was troubled with your stomach for twenty years. Kodol cured me and we are now using it in milk for baby."

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

Weak Kidneys

Weak Kidneys, surely point to weak kidney Nerves. The Kidneys, like the Heart, and the Stomach, find their weakness, not in the organ itself, but in the nerves that control and guide and strengthen them. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach these controlling nerves. To doctor the Kidneys alone, is futile. It is a waste of time, and of money as well.

If your back aches or is weak, if the urine scalds, or is dark and strong, if you have symptoms of Brights or other distressing or dangerous kidney disease, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative, mouth—Tablets or Liquid—and see what it can and will do for you. Druggist recommend and sell

THIRTY-TWO MILLIONS

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER GIVES THIS FOR EDUCATION.

SECURITIES ARE TURNED OVER TO NEW YORK BOARD.

THE LARGEST SINGLE GIFT EVER MADE FOR SUCH PURPOSE.

New York, Feb. 8.—Thirty-two millions of dollars' worth of income-bear- securities was the gift which John D. Rockefeller, through his son, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., announced to the General Education board, when it assembled for a special meeting in this city late Thursday afternoon.

For general education purposes throughout the country, is given as the purpose of this donation—the largest single prize ever handed out for such purposes.

Mr. Rockefeller previously had given the board $11,000,000 for the same work, his contributions now amounting to $43,000,000.

The General Education board apparently was not prepared for this gift, which was announced simply in this letter:

New York, Feb. 5, 1907.

Gentlemen: My father authorizes me to say that on or before April 1st, 1907, he will give to the general board, income-bearing securities, the present market value of which is about thirty-two million dollars, ($32,000,000); one-third to be added to the permanent endowment of the board; two thirds to be applied to such specific objects within the corporate purposes of the board, as either he or I may from time to time direct, any remainder not so designated at the death of the survivor to be added also to the permanent endowment of the board.

Very truly,
JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER, JR.

Board Was Amazed.

Most of the members of the board were surprsed at the announcement and amazed at the size of the gift. Mr. Buttrick, the secretary, said he did not know the gift was to be made until he received the letter. Other members did not know of the donation until the letter was read.

A special meeting of the board was called for Thursday to consider a communication from Mr. Rockefeller, the purport of which was not known. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., acting for his father, appeared shortly after the meeting was called to order, and handed the letter to the secretary, Dr. Wallace Buttrick.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., remained throughout the session of the board. Asked if he had anything to add to his letter, he replied he did not believe he could add anything of importance to it, as the letter explained itself.

Members of the board, when asked what the "specific purposes" referred to in Mr. Rockefeller's letter meant, said that it was in the line of educational work, and was intended, in their opinion, to give Mr. Rockefeller the right to direct the disposition of the fund to such institutions, within the province of the board as he may deem proper. The elder Mr. Rockefeller, is not a member of the board, but his son is a member, and the active direction doubtless will come from him.

The board voted to accept the gift, and, in appreciation, drafted a letter of acknowledgement to the elder Mr. Rockefeller. The letter said in part:

"This the largest sum ever given by a man in the history of the race, for any social or philantrophic purposes. The board congratulates you upon the high and wise impulse which has moved you to this deed, and desires to thank you, in behalf of all educational interests whose developments it will advance, in behalf of our country, whose civilization for all time it should be made to strengthen and elevate, and in behalf of mankind everywhere in whose interests it has been given, for whose use it is dedicated."

Sues Detroit for $20,000.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 8.—Jay E. Kreiger, who lost his right arm as the result of an accident at the pumping station of the city water works at the time the big new pumps were being set up in October, 1905, has begun suit against the water board and the city, for $20,000 damages.

Hunting for trouble.

"I've lived in California 20 years and am still hunting for trouble in the way of burns, sores, boils, cuts, sprains or a case of piles that Bucklen's arnica salve won't quick'y cure" writes Chas. Walters of Allegheny. No use hunting Mr. Walters, it cures every one. Guaranteed at C. A. Wright's. 25c.

NOT UP TO STANDARD

LAPEER COUNTY SUPERVISORS WON'T ACCEPT NEW ATLAS.

SERIOUS LITIGATIONS WITH THE PUBLISHERS MAY RESULT.

ALLEGED COMPANY ATTEMPTED TO DEFRAUD FARMERS.

Lapeer, Mich., Feb. 8.—The board of supervisors of Lapeer county, who have been enjoying a period of refreshing peace and quiet, since the county investigation in the spring of 1905, again find themselves up against a difficult proposition.

The new trouble has assumed proportions that indicate serious litigation before the matter is adjourned. At the October session in 1905, the board awarded a contract to the George A. Ogle Co., of Chicago, for the publishing of a new standard county atlas. The contract was made on the condition that if upon inspection by a committee appointed by the board the books were approved as they would be accepted.

When the present board was in session in January a communication was received by them from the atlas company, saying that the books were ready for delivery. A committee consisting of Supervisors George Moore, John Roberts and B. F. Kingsbury was appointed by the board, and Ogle & Co. were notified to forward the books for inspection. Last week the books arrived, and soon after an agent of the company appeared to confer with the committee.

Wouldn't Accept Them.

After carefully inspecting the atlas the supervisors informed the agent that they would be unable to use the books, as they were not up to the standard. The agent stated that he did not think that the company would do anything in the matter as the whole edition had been run off, and it would be impossible to change the edition.

The man returned to Chicago to consult with the company and the committee is anxiously awaiting the outcome. Ther easons given by the supervisors for not accepting the books is that the paper used is of very poor quality and that on the township maps the school districts are not shown by printing them in different colors as is usually done, but instead the maps are printed all in one color, rendering them useless. It is also claimed that the map of Lapeer city, instead of showing the present boundaries, is a crude affair which merely shows the original plan of Lapeer city, instead of showing the present boundaries. County Drain Commissioner Walker also declares that the map is of no use to him.

The agent has also discovered another difficulty. When he left Chicago he was instructed by the company to call on a number of farmers living near this city and deliver some of the books and collect $15 from each whose address he was given. The farmers on whom he called, refused to accept the books, declaring that they had never ordered them, but that the men sent out by the company to get a description of each farm in the county had asked their names and address, saying nothing about sending an atlas.

Lighted Gas One Too Often.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Feb. 8.—A habit of holding a lighted match over the vent of a gasoline tank, from which the highly inflammable fluid had just been emptied, leaving a quantity of gas which would burn a vivid blue flame for a few minutes, finally caused the tragic death of Frank Roek, in the village of Vriesland, near here. Frank was employed in his father's store, and this frequent feat of lighting the gas in the empty tanks seemed to hold a fascination to him. He had often been cautioned, but became fearless. But the fatal moment came Wednesday afternoon when Frank held the match once too often. There was more gasoline in the tank than he thought. There came a flash, a roar, as the top of the tank blew off and struck the boy, crushing his head and killing him.

Benton Elected President.

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 8.—The annual election of president of the state association of supervisors, in session here, precipitated a hot fight. Rep. Case Benton, of Wayne, won out, beating Andrew J. Tripp, of Oakland county, by a vote of 32 to 31. Tripp was reelected vice-president, and the other officers were re-elected.

Seven Drown.

Sacremento, Cal., Feb. 8.—A steam launch containing seven persons, struck a pier of the Sacremento river bridge late Thursday. All were thrown into the water and drowned.

TELLS STORY OF HER LIFE

YOUNG WIFE OF HARRY THAW PLACED ON THE STAND.

RECOUNTS EVENTS AND HER ACQUAINTANCE WITH WHITE.

BOTH WITNESS AND DEFENDANT CONVULSED WITH SOBS.

New York, Feb. 8—Evelyn Nesbit Thaw told her story Thursday. To save the life of her husband, charged with murder, she bared to the world the innermost secrets of her soul—a portrayal for which a sanctuary were a more fitting place than the crowded, gaping court room. It was the same story she told Harry Thaw in Paris in 1903, when he had asked her to become his wife—the confession of one who felt there was an insurmountable barrier to her ever becoming the bride of the man she loved.

In the big witness chair she appeared but a slip of a girl, and she told the pitiful story of her eventful life in a frank, girlish way. When tears came unbidden to her big, brown eyes and slowly trickled their way down scarlet cheeks, she strove in vain to keep them back. Though the lump in her throat at times seemed about to smother her, she forced the words from trembling lips and by a marvelous display of courage, which took her willingly to her staggering ordeal, she shook off a depression which once threatened to become an absolute collapse.

As the young wife unfolded the narrative of her girlhood and told of the early struggles of herself and her mother to keep body and soul together; of how gaunt poverty stood ever at the door, and how she finally was able to earn a livlihood by posing for photographers and artists, she won the murmured sympathy of the throng which filled every available space in

Then came the relation of the wreck of that girlhood at sixteen years of age. It was the story of her meeting with Stanford White, the story of the sumptuous studio apartment, whose dingy exterior gave no hint of the luxurious furnishings within; of a velvet covered swing in which one could swing until slippered toes crashed through the paper of a Japanese parasol swung from the ceiling; the story of a glass of champagne, of black whirling sensations, and of mirrored, bedroom walls. In short, she told al the story.

The stiffness of the crowd which was big, bustline, shoving and snarling over some especially coveted seat when court convened, was its own tribute to the effect of the girl's story. Into the narrative there entered nothing of the woman of the world. A girl in face and figure, Mrs. Thaw was still a girl as she withstood an ordeal which might will have startled into terror a woman of mature years and harsher experiences than hers. Into the narrative she injected many little touches of a young girl's hopes and disappointments.

Accepts Invitation.

Of her early life she related how her mother had gone from Pittsburg to Philadelphia to secure assistance. She told of her arrival in New York, of her life here, and eventually the acceptance by her mother of the thrice refused invitation of a girl of the theatre to meet some of her friend at luncheon. The girl's mother told Evelyn's mother they were people in New York society and perfectly proper, else she would not let her girl go with them.

"When she came for me in the hansom," said the witness, "I remember hoping we were going to the Waldorf. I had heard so much about it, and wanted so to go there. But the hansom stopped in front of a dingy-looking building in West 24th street, and I was told to get out. Mother had dressed me. My skirts were just to my shoe tops then.

"This was in August, 1901.

"He was a big and fat and ugly man —I remember him meeting us at the head of three flights of stairs," she continued. "He gave me presents an' my mother let me go to other parties. Then he said my mother should visit some friends in Pittsburg. She said she could not leave me. He said I would be all right; that he would look after me. Finally she went. Then came an invitation to a party, but no one else was there—just two. 'They all seem to have turned us down,' he said. After we had dined, and I wanted to go home, he said I hadn't seen all of the apartment, and we went to the bedroom with the mirrors all over the walls."

Had Told Her Husband.

Thus the story ran, with just here and there an interruption by Mr. Delmas to advise the girl to fix the dates of the various happenings, and always to tell just what she had told Harry Thaw when he asked her to become his wife. It was through the fact that she had "told everything to Harry" that she was permitted under the rules of law to give her story to the jury.

Thaw sat, pale, but brave-faced beside his counsel when his wife took the stand. The two exchanged glances. She was not veiled for first time. Her youth and beauty were remarked by everyone.

In the sympathy-impelling story of the girl, the girlish fasination of a voice of softest quality yet ringing clear in enunciation, the court room lost view of Thaw. But when there came a halt in the girl's fight against the tears, the people who had gazed unceasingly at her, lowered their eyes, as if the relief from their stare might bring her the composure she finally won. Then they saw Harry Thaw again.

Thaw Wept.

His whole frame shaking, he sat with his head buried in his hands, a handkerchief covering the eyes. Where the defendant sits he is all but shielded from the jury. Bent over the table as he sobbed he could not be seen at all. Thus Thaw sat for many minutes and when he finally lifted his head his eyes were red and swollen.

Even if they could have seen, the jurors would have had no eyes for the prisoner. They, too, had turned their gaze from the witness as the tears came to her voice as well as her eyes, and each man of the twelve seemed intent upon some object on the floor before them. Justice Fitzgerald looked out through the long grated windows. The scene and the story marked a new precedent in the history of criminal proceedings in New York city.

Mrs. Thaw was still on the stand, her direct examination uncompleted, when the day was done. Only during the afternoon she was excused for an hour while Lawyer Frederick Longfellow was sworn to fix tht date of certain letters written to him by Harry Thaw subsequent to the revelations Miss Nesbit had made to him in Paris. The girl had identified the writings, but the court held that the date must also become a matter of competent evidence.

Letters Admitted.

The letters which eventually were offered in evidence, after much objecting by Mr. Jerome, are regarded as corroborative of Mrs. Thaw's testimony, which she often declared, in response to objection offered from time to time by the district attorney, was a repetition of the reasons she had given Thaw for refusing to become his wife. The letters were written by Thaw to Mr. Longfellow as his attorney.

They told of his coming marriage with Miss Nesbit and of the "row they want to raise." Disconnected and jerky, jumping from subject to subject, they nevertheless breathe the love he bore the girl, and he wanted among other things, that provision should be made that in the event of his death all his property should go to her. The letters constantly refer to "that blackguard who poisoned her as a girl," and say that her name was falsely connected with two others besides "that blackguard." Only two of a half dozen offered in evidence were read during the afternoon session. The others probably will be presented later.

TRUST IS AGAINST IT.

Governor Sends Message to Legislature Dealing With Binder Twine Project.

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 8.—Governor Warner formally charges the binder twine trust with an attempt to defeat a proposal to establish a binding twine plant in Jackson prison. In a special message to the legislature Thursday he renews emphatically his recommendations in favor of the plan, and says that statements made in the anonymous pamphlet sent to the legislators are false and unreliable. He refers the members of the house and senate to the reports of officials of prisons in which plants are in operation.

Minnesota, the governor states, has cleared $1,100,000 in two years with its plant, and Gov. Johnson of that state has recommended that it be enlarged. North Dakota's report of the fine showing made in a similar institution is also presented in answer to the trust's assertions that none of the prison plants is successful.

Governor Warner then says: "Another very strong point in favor of the establishment of a binder twine plant in the Michigan prisons is the fact that it has been thoroughly demonstrated that raw material, flax, is employed successfully in the manufacture of flax twine, and can be grown in Michigan profitably.

"Senator Jenks has informed me that last year there was shipped from his district to the Minnesota plant fully 350 cars of Michigan grown flax."

NURSE WANTS $25,000.

Says Her Patient Promised Marriage and Neat Dowry Sum.

Battle Creek, Mich., Feb. 8.—The old story of the attractive nurse girl and the man with the money bags is being told again in Attorney D. C. Salisbury's private office. Miss Josie Morrow wants $25,000 in stock left by the death of George W. Taylor, secretary of the National Cereal Co.

Miss Morrow was a pink-gowned nurse of the Phelps sanatorium when Taylor met her at a boarding house. She became engaged to Taylor, she says, and was soon to be married when he was taken sick. Although the pluckY nurse stood by him almost night and day, Taylor died. Packing up his effects, Miss Morrow ran into a packet of love letters from a woman of Owensboro, Ky., and her grief turned to a desire for remuneration.

The nurse girl laid claim to the $25,000 held by Taylor in the National Cereal Co., as her wedding dowry-to-be, but now Taylor's brother, J. C. Taylor, of Mint, Penn., has arrived to fight the case. He will concede nothing for Miss Morrow except that she was a nurse and deserves pay for her services. He agrees that Taylor may have acted as her escort, but will admit of no marital intentions, and says the girl must take what wages is due her as a regular nurse, or go without.

Five Overcome by Gas.

Alpena, Mich., Feb. 8.—The entire family of U. H. Brown, captain of the local Salvation army, were partly asphyxiated by fumes from coke gas. Two children were rendered unconscious, and the mother with a week-old baby, was unable to call for assistance. Brown's parents were unable to call help. The 10-year-old son, returning from the grocery, opened doors and called doctors and all were saved. The gas came from an automobile garage on the first floor of the building.

Child Drank Hot Water.

Menominee, Mich., Feb. 8.—The three-year-old daughter of Arseno Tousignant, living ten miles from this city, was probably fatally burned Wednesday by drinking a cup of hot water while at play. The little one was so badly injured that her father thought she could not live and made no effort to get a physician, wishing to be with her when the end came. She suffered all night and a doctor was called Thursday morning.

Chief Neuman Claps on Lid.

Owosso, Mich., Feb. 8.—Acting Chief Neuman made the rounds of the saloons Thursday afternoon and formally notified the proprietors that the "lid is on." He declared that they must comply strictly with the law or suffer the consequences. "It will be their own fault now if they get into trouble," said the chief. "The next time a man with a jag complains that he was given liquor after hours, he will be given full opportunity to get revenge if that's what he desires."

Fell From 60-Foot Pole.

Muskegon, Mich., Feb. 8.—Fred F. Lewis, 20 years old, of Greenville, Mich., was probably fatally injured on Thursday by falling from the top of a 60-foot telephone pole. Lewis was in the employ of a local company and was working on the pole when he lost his hold and fell to the ground. He landed in a snow bank, which is thought to have saved him from instant death. He is not expected to live.

Actress Isabella Urquhart Dies.

Rochester, N. Y., Feb. 8.—Isabella Urquhart, the actress, who has been ill at the homeopathic hospital for two weeks, died suddenly last night of internal hemorrhages. Miss Urquhart was playing the part of Aurora with Arnold Daly in "How He Lied to Her Husband," when she was taken ill. She was to have appeared here at the Cook opera house, but when she reached the city her condition was so serious that she was taken to the homeopathic hospital, where she was operated on for appendicitis.

UNCOOKED MEAT IS VERY DANGEROUS

Fearful suffering caused by eggs of Parasite which it may contain—Statement by a Priest.

Cincinnati, O., Feb. 7. Probably the most unusual feature of the excitement that has been created by L. T. Cooper's visit to this city is the removal of parasites or tape-worms by his preparations.

During the early part of Cooper's stay in Cincinnati individuals who were taking "New Discovery," as it is called, brought either to himself or to physicians throughout the city immense parasites that had left the system after using the medicine.

Many of these people were frightened and cases of this sort became so numerous that Cooper finally made the following statement for publication:

He said: "In every city I visit these things are brought to me within a few days after my medicine is sold in the city. They are what is known as the tape-worm and grow to an enormous size."

"Few indeed realize how prevalent these creatures are. I think I have been the first to demonstrate what a large factor they are in the poor health of this generation. I believe that fully one-half of the chronic stomach trouble so universal is caused by these parasites."

"Individuals may have them for years and not be aware of the reason for the continued ill health but attribute it to many different diseases, when in reality one of these creatures is robbing them of their vitality."

"These parasites are taken into the system in uncooked food or raw meat, in the form of an egg, which hatches almost immediately. People suffering from them experience a feeling of lassitude and are extremely nervous. The action of the 'New Discovery' seems to be fatal to these great worms and in most cases a few doses of the medicine drives the creatures from the system. I will have hundreds of them brought to me before I leave the city."

This grewsome prophecy has been amply verified, for not only hundreds but thousands of Cincinnati people have been relieved of some of these fearful parasites since taking Cooper's preparation and the entirecity has been aroused by the fact.

Some of these parasites are of such enormous size as to startle the imagination. The statement of Father John Baptist Arnolis, one of the best known and best beloved priests in this section of the country verifies this. His statement, among others given to a reporter, was as follows:

"For years I suffered from what I thought was a general run down condition of the system caused by stomach trouble. I felt extremely tired all the time and it was a great effort to attend to my duties. I would wake up in the morning feeling as worn out as when I went to bed. If I stood for any length of time I would have pain in the lower part of my back and would have to sit down."

"I was very nervous and depressed in spirits and was troubled with dizzy spells. I would see spots before my eyes when I stooped over and raised up quickly. I had a very irregular appetite and would have palpitation of the heart after ascending the stairs."

"The talk about Cooper's preparation was so universal that I decided to try some, although I do not take patent medicine as a rule. I took four doses of the 'New Discovery' as it is called, and a tape-worm about ninety feet in length left my system."

"I am very thankful for this great relief and now I know what has been the cause of all my sufferings."

This story of Father Arnolis is a fair sample of the experience of an astonishing number of Cincinnati people and Cooper's preparations are selling here in immense quantities. It is now estimated that he has sold one hundred thousand bottles to date in this city alone and the sale is still increasing.

"BO" SLEAR

A Real Hero.

MODERN MACCABEE

Contained the following write-up under the head of "Real Heroism."

"Bo" Slear is just a ball player, living at Tecumseh, Mich. In the winter he puts in his time as a clerk in a modest hotel. He has no typewriter to extol his deeds of valor, nor advertising agent to announce his successes at the psychological moment. He is just a despised ball player.

The other day "Bo" was skating on the river which runs through the pretty little village of Tecumseh. The ice was thin, and the water a dozen feet deep. A little boy, ten or twelve years old, ventured out too far, and in an instant went through the ice. "Bo" heard his cry of distress. Those trained eyes like a flash took in the situation. It was up to him.

Now "Bo" isn't pious. He sometimes plays ball on Sunday. But he never jumps a contract or a board bill, nor shirks a hard chance. He sometimes even cusses a little bit, and isn't afraid of a fellow who is bigger than he is. He can pull down a fly after a long chase, and make the dust fly between bases. He has been known to talk naughty to the umpire on rare occasions. He wears spikers in his shoes, and is liable to step on a first baseman's toes if he doesn't look out when "Bo" crosses the sack.

Sure, "Bo" knocks around the world a good deal, and some good souls say he is rough. But "Bo" knows when a little boy falls through the ice into twelve feet of cold water something has got to be done for that boy, right quick, or there will be a funeral in town very soon.

Yes, it was up to "Bo". His calling had trained him to think quick. He didn't stop to figure up his life insurance; to imagine how that ice-water would feel in his boots or to speculate on just where he was going to spend eternity. It was enough for him to know that a little boy who could not swim was through the ice and in the river. After that boy he went as though he were corraling a fly at the center field fence. Never stopping to take off skates, coat, pants or anything, down through the ice and water he went. He failed and came to the surface alone. Shaking the water out of his hair down he went again after that boy. He got sight of him, but could not reach him. Did he quit? Not on your life. It was a game until darkness put an end to it with him. Down he dived again but could not reach his boy. The fourth time he plunged down through that icy drink and with a last desperate effort he caught him and brought him to the surface stark and limp. With some help he got him to the shore and, himself half frozen, helped to resuscitate the little fellow, then walked a mile and a half to his own room, thinking all the time of the little boy whose life he had saved.

"Bo" Slear is a hero. He may be what some might call rough, but he is a hero. He has the right fiber, and his heart is made of the right kind of stuff. His head may go wrong sometimes, but his heart is dead right. There can be no mistake in that test. He had no time to plan a grandstand act. He acted automatically.

It was in his heart and he had to do it, no matter what the consequences might be. The cry of that little boy, set his soul on fire, and the terrors of a watery grave, could not restrain him.

"Bo" Slear, we take off our hat to you. The world does not seem so cold and merciless since you did that little stunt. It is a credit to the race, and all the more so because you did not expect reward. You can justly lay claim to pretty good society, for "greater love love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends." All polite society may be shocked at the blunt words of a ball player but it could be made a sight more God like and useful if it had injected into it a little more of the golden spirit of "Bo Slear. But for his hazardous occupation he would make a good Maccabee. He would feel at home contributing to the widow and orphan. The world needs more "Bo" Slears.

The Best Laxative for Children.

Parents should see to it that their children have one natural, easy movement of the bowels each day. Do not dose the child with salts or gripes pills, as they are too powerful in effect, and literally tear their little insides to pieces, leaving the bowels weakened and less able to act naturally than before. Laxative Iron-ox Tablets tone and strengthen the bowels, and stimulate all the little organs to healthy activity. Chocolate coated tablets, easy to take, never gripe or nauseate. 10c, 25c and $1.00.

MACON.

Chas. Slaght has been spending a few days at Lansing and Grand Blanc.

Mrs. Lavern Randall returned to her home in Adrian last Saturday.

Miss Ada McCollum went to Saline last week on account of the illness of her aunt, Mrs. Will Rhodes.

Henry Camburn is in Ann Arbor having his eyes treated.

The subject for E. L. meeting Sunday evening is "The Blessings of Helpfulness." Leader, Ellen Penington.

Mr. Peters and family of Britton, have moved onto Dr Hendershot's farm.

Supt.—Delos Biddle.
Asst. Supt.—G. D. Ellis
Sec. and Treas.—Mrs. Hadie Burdett.
Organist—Mrs. Fred Camburn.
Chorister—E. Gaskell.

Miss Sarah Marshall is quite ill at the home of Duncan Rosison.

Mr. and Mrs. Will McClue's children are ill of measles.

J. S. Bramet and B. S. Scudder were Ridgeway visitors Tuesday afternoon.

Ernest Towler of Saline, visited at Walter Bailey's Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Foster entertained a company of friends and neighbors last Friday night. A fine time is reported.

An Ideal Laxative.

Physics and Cathartics which purge, unload the bowels, and give temporary relief, but irritate and weaken the digestive and expulsive organs. Laxative Iron-ox Tablets are as different as night and day from the above class. They nourish the bowel muscles and nerves, giving them strength and vigor to do the work nature intended, thus effecting a permanent cure by perfectly safe and natural means. The best laxative for children. Chocolate coated tablets, easy to take, never gripe or nauseate. 10c, 25c and $1.00 in all drug stores.

A CUP OF GOOD COFFEE
LIKE MOTHER USED TO MAKE ARBUCKLE'S COFFEE
"Fresh Roasted Coffee?—bah! Mother didn't use fresh roasted coffee, she had Arbuckles."
The way to get a good cup of coffee that tastes like Coffee with all the delicious flavor and aroma intact, is to buy a package of the old original Arbuckles' ARIOSA Coffee, and grind it as you want to use it, first warming it a little to develop the flavor and make the grinding easy. Coffee loses its identity as Coffee after being ground or exposed to the air and is easily contaminated by handling.
Arbuckles' was the first roasted packaged coffee.
The pores of each coffee berry are sealed after roasting with fresh eggs and granulated sugar to hold the goodness in and make the coffee settle clear and quickly; an actual application by machinery, of "Mother's" methods—as patented by this firm.
Sold only in packages, sealed for the consumer's protection, containing one pound full weight. Sales for 37 years exceed the combined sales of all the other packaged coffees. The best coffee for you to drink, and save your money books.
Same old firm, same old coffee. If your dealer won't supply, write to ARBUCKLE BROS., New York City.

Mrs. B. J. Gerlinghouse has a family of three fine boys. Ben, aged, let's see, he is now past the time when he desires to have this fact mentioned, and two younger ones, Burton and John. It can be said of the two younger boys that two better brought up children never were seen in Tecumseh or any other town and perhaps this can be accounted for, for the reason of Ben's help in assisting them along thus far in life. Wednesday afternoon I went home a little earlier than usual and when at the Baptist church corner I heard noise that sounded to me much like a circus and the cause was a toboggan slide which Ben had constructed for the two younger boys in the lot between Gerlinghouse's and Williamson's and at that time it was running in full blast making good hearty fun for Ben and Burton and John and all the neighboring children. As long as this weather lasts it will no doubt, be in operation in the afternoons daily. No man can be in better business than to be one of the boys in his own family.

IF YOU TOUCH your tongue to ALUM and look in the glass—you will see the effect—You can't help puckering—it makes you pucker to think of tasting it.

By the use of so called cheap Baking Powders you take this puckering, injurious Alum right into your system—you injure digestion, and ruin your stomach.

AVOID ALUM

Say plainly—

OUR ILLUSTRATED INDUSTRIAL TRADE EDITION.

Tecumsehs' advantages as a residence and business city.

An edition in which every business man should be interested.

The Special Illustrated Industrial Trade edition of the semi-weekly HERALD, of which mention was made last week, will be issued in a few weeks, the preparatory work of which is in the hands of a thoroughly competent man and already well under way. No pains or expense will be spared to make this edition of especial interest to outside capitalists by pointing out the many advantages our city possesses for industrial ventures, its educational advantages and delightful residental sites. The enterprise should command the support of all interested in the success and growth of the city on the ground that it is a truly local work, issued by a paper whose interests have long been identical with those of Tecumseh and her citizens, and that has always endeavored to promote their interests.

A short but concise historical sketch of Tecumseh from an early day to the present will be followed by a general review of the business interests, recent improvements and public buildings, churches, etc., showing the great strides our city has been making, while the financial, manufacturing and industrial interests will be generously treated. The encouragement already received by the gentlemen having the matter in charge is sufficient to warrant the prediction of the semi weekly HERALD, that the enterprise will be a complete success and exceed any other effort of the kind attempted in our city.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our deep thanks and gratitude to the kind friends and neighbors who assisted us during the death and burial of our husband and father.

BEWARE OF "DIGESTIVES"

The ordinary pepsin tablet has ruined more stomachs than all other causes combined. While it gives temporary relief, it leaves the digestive system weaker than ever, and the tablets must be continued with increased frequency.

The only way to permanently cure stomach troubles is by strengthening the digestive organs with Mi-o-na stomach tablets taken before meals. In this way the remedy prepares the stomach for the food and excites the secretion of gastric juices so that when the food is eaten, the stomach is prepared to digest it.

If Mi-o-na was a mere digestive, it would be taken after eating, so as to mix with the food, but then permanent relief would not be gained.

Mi-o-na stomach tablets are sold only in a neat metal box, convenient for the purse or vest pocket, and cost but 50c. C. A. Wright has seen so many cures made by Mi-o-na stomach tablets that he gives a guarantee with every box that the money will be refunded if the remedy fails to give satisfaction. You run no risk in using Mi-o-na for you are sure to be cured at trifling expense, or else your money will be returned.

Nothing lends more to personal charm than a clear rosy skin and nothing is so sure to free the skin from moth spots, sallowness and the effects of chronic constipation as the dainty Laxakola tonic tablets, 25c. JOHN J. ORR

Many people take their lives in their hands by neglecting their kidneys when they know these organs need help. Sick kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of ill health but there is no need to suffer or remain in danger when all diseases due to weak kidneys can be permanently cured by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. Here is the statement of a Tecumseh citizen who has reclaimed good health by the use of this remedy.

E. H. Hyde, living on West Chicago street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I had suffered from kidney trouble for about two years. While working for the Lake Shore Ry. I was exposed to all kinds of weather and contracted a cold which settled in my kidneys. The pains were so severe that it was impossible for me to stoop or lift anything. I did not take care of the trouble at first. At times it was difficult for me to sit down or get up again on account of the twinges of pain in my back, similar to a knife thrust. I used a number of remedies but failed to receive more than temporary relief. Finally I began using Doan's Kidney Pills receiving great benefit from the first box so I continued until I was cured. I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to others and will continue to do so."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's, and take no other.

Some men can never turn the key of success because they can't get a woman to find the lock for them.

Farmers, mechanics, railroaders, laborers rely on Thomas' Eclectric Oil. Takes the sting out of cuts, burns or bruises at once. Pain cannot stay where it is used.

Summer "house parties" are so called because the house is about the only thing that stays on the place.

GUARANTEED REMEDY FOR INDIGESTION.

Interesting statement by John J. Orr.

When a man comes into this store and calls for any particularly indigestion remedy, we always give him what he asks for, but in case he leaves it to us, we usually recommend Pepsikola tablets.

Here is a preparation we have been selling right over the counter for years, and from actual observation we know it must do good, and really does relieve and cure indigestion and dyspepsia or there would be a steady stream of people coming back for their money, as every 25c box is sold with the understanding that you must be decidedly benefited or there is nothing to pay.

You simply try Pepsikola tablets with the understanding that they will steady your nerves, improve your appetite, relieve wind belching, coated tongue, sour stomach, fullness after eating, weakened energy and other symptoms of indigestion or John J. Orr is ready at any time to pay back your money without the least argument.

Some girls visit the peach orchard just to see if there is anything there that matches their complexion.

Nothing will relieve indigestion that is not a thorough digestant. Kodol digests what you eat and allows the stomach to rest—recuperate—grow strong again. Kodol is a solution of digestive acids and as nearly as possible approximates the digestive juices that are found in the stomach. Kodol takes the work of digestion off the digestive organs and while performing this work itself does greatly assist the stomach to a thorough rest. In addition the ingredients of Kodol are such as to make it a corrective of the highest efficiency and by its action the stomach is restored to its normal activity and power. Kodol is manufactured in strict conformity with the National Pure Food and Drug Law. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle of common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

Weak Kidneys

Weak Kidneys, surely point to weak kidney Nerves. The Kidneys, like the Heart, and the Stomach, find their weakness, not in the organ itself, but in the nerves that control and guide and strengthen them. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach these controlling nerves. To doctor the Kidneys alone, is futile. It is a waste of time, and of money as well.

If your back aches or is weak, if the urine scalds, or is dark and strong, if you have symptoms of Bright's or other distressing or dangerous kidney disease, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative a month—Tablets or Liquid—and see what it can and will do for you. Druggist recommend and sell

PRISONS AND ASYLUMS

Cost State $1,972,434.25 to Maintain Them Past Two Years.

ASYLUMS WANT MORE ROOM

Expense of Prisons Decreased During Past Two Years—Asylums Cost More—Ways and Means Committee Introduce Appropriation Bill.

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 12.—Representative Charles E. Ward, chairman of the ways and means committe, introduced last night an appropriation bill aggregating $1,972,434 25, to cover the expense of maintaining the state prisons and asylums for the past two years. This is an increase in the grand total of $152,237 79 over the previous two years.

The cost of conducting the state prisons, however, has decreased during the past two years over the previous two years. The appropriation this year is $232,000, while in 1903 and 1904 it was $259,000.

Under the present system the various state institutions draw on the state treasury for the amount required for the care of the inmates, and at the end of every two years the legislature makes an appropriation covering the amount expended. This plan is necessary, because it is impossible to estimate in advance how much money will be required.

According to the figure in the auditor-general's department the cost of the Eastern Michigan asylum, at Pontiac, for 1905, was $198,220 61. For 1906, $195,149 66; Michigan asylum for the insane, at Kalamazoo, $246,130 76. For 1906, $246,794 67. Northern asylum, at Traverse City, for 1905, $197,731 30. For 1906, $198,664 93. Criminal asylum for the insane at Ionia, 1905, was $53,373 96; for 1906, $56,128 12. Upper Peninsula asylum, at Newberry, in 1905, $99,474 28; in 1906, $104,626 98. Wayne County asylum, for 1905, $71,275 14, and in 1906, $72,813 34; making a total of $1,740,434 25.

The state prison at Jackson cost in 1905, $54,000; in 1906, $66,000. Upper Peninsula prison, at Marquette, in 1905, $42,000; and in 1906 it was $24,000. The reformatory, at Ionia, in 1905, cost $24,000; in 1906, $22,000; [illegible]

All the state insane asylums will ask for additional appropriations for building more rooms. It is stated that at the Northern asylum, at Traverse City, they are obliged to place four beds in one room in order to accommodate the 1,500 patients. This asylum asks for $117,000 this year.

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 12.—Senator Andrew Fyfe, of Grand Rapids, will introduce during the week his bill for establishing a railway commission in Michigan. His measure is planned after the laws in effect in Wisconsin and Ohio, and he made a trip to Madison recently to secure data.

The senator proposes a commission of three members at an annual salary of $5,000 each. He has not decided whether it is best to make the offices elective or appointive. In regard to the duties of the commissioner, Senator Fyfe says his bill will outline a commission similar to the interstate commission, with similar powers, so far a is possible, for state instead of far as is possible, for state instead of

If the commission is made an appointive one, it is understood Governor Warner will favor the bill. He desires, so it is said, that Railway Commissioner Glasgow, the president of the proposed body, and will not favor an elective board.

SHEEP MEN OPPOSE IT

Do Not Care to Have Grazing Lands Controlled by Government.

CATTLE MEN IN FAVOR OF IT

Important Hearing Held Before Senate Committee on Agriculture—President Wants to See Such Law—He Arraigns Sheep Men in Letter.

Washington, Feb. 12.—Government policy in regard to the control of grazing land in the public domain, and the interests of large and small cattlemen and the sheep men, and the effect of protection of stockmen upon the homesteaders were considered Monday, at a public hearing before the senate committee on agriculture. The hearing was had on an amendment by Senator Burkett, of Nebraska, to the agricultural appropriation bill authorizing the secretary of agriculture to district the unreserved lands of the United States and charge and collect reasonable fees for grazing.

The cattlemen were represented by a number of members of the American National Livestock association, and spoke for the measure, while the sheep men, represented by members of the National Wool Growers' association, opposed the policy proposed.

During the proceedings a letter from President Roosevelt addressed to Senator Warren, was read. It endorsed the policy of general control by the government of all grazing lands, but insisted upon the protection of the homesteader, and it arraigned the sheep men severely.

The cattle men and sheep men criticized each other and defended their own motives. The cattle men made no defense of the charges that they had been violaters of the law, and the sheep men asserted that it was necessary for fencers of public lands to make their peace with the government for "they would be convicted if ever brought to trial."

A. E. De Ricqueles, of the American National Livestock association, outlined the position of the cattlemen in favor of government control.

After a number of cattlemen were heard, Dr. J. M. Wilson of Douglas, Mont., as the spokesman for the National Wool Growers' association of which Senator Warren is president opposed the amendment. Mr. Walsh said that to turn loose an army of special agents to enforce the proposed law would be to invite corruption.

Walks 1,600 Miles on Water.

New Orleans, Feb. 12.—Captain W. Oldrieve Sunday accomplished the feat of walking on water from Cincinnati to New Orleans, a distance of 1,600 miles, in 40 days, lacking 45 minutes, thereby winning the world's championship and a bet of $5,000. Oldrieve left Cincinnati Jan. 1 at noon on a wager that he would walk to New Orleans in 40 days. He was in motion only during daylight, staying over night at various landings. Oldrieve was equipped with shoes made of cedar wood, four feet five inches long, five inches broad and seven inches deep. In a gasoline boat preceding the water-walker were Capt. J. W. Weatherington of Dallas, Tex., who backed Oldrieve, and Arthur Jones, representing Edward Williams of Boston, who laid the wager.

Hotel Caught Fire.

Boston, Feb. 12.—One persons was killed, two persons were overcome by smoke and the lives of 150 persons were placed in jeopardy by a fire in the Waverly house, a family hotel in City Square, Charlestown, last night. One third of those in the hotel found their usual means of exit cut off, and were forced to gain the street by the fire escapes or over ladders which the firemen raised to the second and third story windows. The dead man was John Harrigan. He fell from the fourth story to the sidewalk.

Expert Alienist Believes Thaw Didn't Know His Deed Was Wrong.

JEROME PUTS UP A HARD FIGHT

New York, Feb. 12.—Answering a hypothetical question covering every detail of the testimony up to this time in the Thaw trial, including Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw's narration of her life history to the defendant, Dr. Chas. G. Wagner, superintendent of the state hospital for the insane at Binghamton, N. Y., declared on the witness stand late yesterday, that in his opinion Harry K. Thaw did not know that the act was wrong when he shot and killed Stanford White. Dr. Wagner stepped aside for later cross-examination by District Attorney Jerome, and as court adjourned for the day it was announced that the defense would proceed with the testimony of other alienists today.

The taking of Dr. Wagner's opinion Monday, of a hypothetical question, the man under consideration being the author of the letters which have been introduced as emanating from Harry Thaw during the period of his estrangement with Evelyn Nesbit after their return from Europe in 1903, followed a day of almost contiuous legal sparring between Delphin M. Delmas, for the defense, and Mr. Jerome for the prosecution.

Mr. Jerome effectually blocked the completion for the time being of the direct testimony of Mrs. Evelyn Thaw, by insisting that before she should go further, competent testimony as to Thaw's unsoundness of mind should be placed before the jury.

Mr. Delmas tried to carry forward the young wife's story, but the district attorney was on his feet with an objection to every question asked. Mrs. Thaw had been re-called as the third witness of the day. One of her predecessors was J. D. Lyon, vice-president of the Union National bank of Pittsburg, who stated that he had received Harry Thaw's will from the latter's own hands some time prior to April 1, 1905, and had held it in a safe deposit box until late in November, last, when he directed his secretary to forward it to John B. Gleason, of Thaw's counsel.

Mr. Gleason followed Mr. Lyon on the stand and said he had received the will by mail on Dec. 11, 1906, and that absolutely no changes had been made in the instrument during the time it had been in his possession. The will was not offered in testimony.

When young Mrs. Thaw was called to the stand she was dressed precisely as when she occupied the witness chair last week. As she was taking her seat Mr. Delma turned to the district attorney and renewed his demand of Wednesday last, that the note which was passed by Mrs. Thaw to her husband at the Cafe Martin the night of the tragedy, should be produced. Mr. Jerome, upon the occasion of the first demand, had remained silent. Monday he was on his feet at once, saying he would send for the slip of paper. It was brought from his office, was identified by Mrs. Thaw and then read by Mr. Delmas, as follows:

"The B——— was here a minute ago, but went out again."

The contents of the note caused a surprise only as to the exact wording. It had generally been supposed that the note read: "The B——— is here."

Mrs. Thaw testified that "the B———" meant "the blackguard," as Thaw always referred to Stanford White, whom she had seen on the balcony of the cafe.

The only other essential point Mrs. Thaw was allowed to bring out in her testimony was the statement that the defendant never carried a pistol except in New York city. She was asked many other questions, embodying various stories she had discussed with Thaw, including the alleged fate of a girl known to them as "the pie girl," at the hands of Stanford White, but Mr. Jerome blocked every question with a sustained objection.

After compelling the defense to go into the taking of expert testimony as to Thaw's insanity, by his objections to Mrs. Thaw's testimony, Mr. Jerome next proceeded to block the testimony of Dr. Wagner as to the results of his six visits to the defendant in the Tombs and his tests as to the latter's mental condition. Dr. Wagner was not allowed to go into the conversations he had had with Thaw, nor the conclusions he had reached from these conversations. He was confined by Mr. Jerome's continual fusilade of objections to stating what he actually observed, and he declared his observations were so closely interlaced with his questioning of the defendant that he did not know if he could separate them.

A long argument over the point resulted in Mr. Delmas withdrawing any further questions as to the tests, contending himself with asking Dr. Wagner to give his opinion of the hypothetical question covering the evidence in the case. The question was almost record-breaking in length—a comprehensive resume of the entire case, including Mrs. Thaw's personal narrative.

In his hypothetical question Mr. Delmas accused Stanford White of having "drugged" the Nesbit girl and of having attempted to renew "communication or relations" with her subsequent to her marriage. Mr. Jerome objected to these features of the question and it was amended to embrace the evidence of record as to the disputed points. It was on the amended question that Dr. Wagner gave it as his opinion that Harry Thaw did not know, because of defective reason, that his act in killing Stanford White was wrong.

A new rule by Justice Fitzgerald, barring from the court room all women not engaged in active newspaper work, went into effect Monday. Many of these, who, bedecked in gay costumes, occupied front seats heretofore, were there bright and early Monday morning, but to no avail. The court officers had direct orders this time and obeyed them implicitly. As a result there were empty benches in the court room all day.

Quarrel Ends in Murder.

Bellaire, O., Feb. 12.—William Goff, night cashier in the Capital restaurant, was shot and instantly killed at 1 o'clock this morning, by O. T. Borham, deputy state game warden for Belmont county. A quarrel preceded the murder, leading to a blow by Goff, upon which Borham pulled out his revolver and fired. Borham has served a term in the Columbus penitentiary for killing a man.

A Coincidence.

Peggy Hall sat among her shattered household idols and wept.

The particular idol which she had elected to moisten with bitter tears was a small desk of mission wood, around which had centered her happy household interests. How she had kept her accounts, calculating with infinite pains her steadily reduced living expenses! And she had written to the little town in New England letters which fairly brimmed with the contentment she had found in her life in the bustling city which would have terrified most girls from her native village.

For she had been content—nay, more, she had been happy. She had done her best, too, to make things move smoothly, but now

No, she would not say that she hated Kit and Lucy, but she did think they were playing a very small part. Then she dried her eyes, pulled out her bank book and a sheet of blank paper and began to figure. At the end of five minutes down went her head again, and this time a sheet of paper sprinkled all over with relentless figures received the flood of tears.

Perhaps at this time Kit and Lucy, who worked in the suit department of Keith & Blank's store, felt a bit unhappy too. It was a rainy, depressing day, and customers were few. The floorwalker went downstairs to consult with the head of the advertising department, so Kit and Lucy stood shoulder to shoulder in the big square window overlooking the rain swept street.

"I never dreamed she'd take it so hard," remarked Kit, with slight asperity in her voice.

"Why, she just acted as if we were cheating or doing something dishonest," asserted Lucy in aggrieved accents. "I'm sure we haven't hurt the furniture, and the company has had more than rent on it. They'll polish it up and sell it for new."

"I don't think it was the furniture exactly," said Kit. "Peggy is just crazy about keeping house, but for my part I don't think girls in business have any right to do housework. I got so I just hated to think of going home and waiting on myself."

"Mrs. Hopkins says we can have our old room back at the same figure. She knew we'd get sick of light housekeeping. She says the head bookkeeper at Ainsley's has the second story back, and he plays the piano splendidly. Maybe we can get up some Friday night dances."

"Well, anyhow, I'm glad we're giving up the apartment. Peggy makes lovely salad dressing and fudge, but I can't make a bed decently, so housekeeping was a mistake so far as I am concerned."

Talking in this strain, each imagined that she was convincing herself, if not her companion, that they had treated Peggy in a perfectly fair way and were altogether justified in their position. Down in their hearts they did not feel quite comfortable, and neither could forget the pathetic figure they had left in their small living room.

Peggy, Kit and Lucy had met at a noonday lunch room in the days when Peggy was working in a fashion syndicate office for $10 a week. A kindred spirit of homesickness had brought them together, and when Peggy had pushed her way to the point where she could afford a tiny studio of her own and command regular orders she had fled the offices of the fashion syndicate and had asked the girls to start up a small establishment with her. They had selected an apartment with a northern exposure for Peggy's work, furnished it on the installment plan, and for a time all went well.

Peggy, being most domestic in her instincts, picked up the burden of household management, and in time the other two girls not only depended upon her for managing the little establishment, but failed to do their share of the work. In her first enthusiasm Peggy bore this meekly, but very soon she found that the housework interfered with her work at the easel. She ran behind on her orders, and then, diplomatically and kindly, she took up the question with her housemates. Kit and Lucy promptly announced that they were disappointed in the housekeeping scheme, and they would be only too glad to return to boarding, where working girls belonged. If she wanted to pay the rest on the furniture and keep the flat open for herself, they would not begrudge what they had spent.

And that was just what Peggy found she could not do—meet the rent and furniture payments. She sat up, wiped her eyes and figured some more. The girls were leaving Saturday, the rent was paid for two weeks longer, and the collection day for the furniture company was ten days distant. She would enjoy it while she might. Perhaps within the fortnight— She shook her head. It was no use to depend upon girl chums.

She felt somehow that the furniture company would get the best of the bargain, and yet she would be breaking her word for the first time in her brief business history, and this hurt.

* * * * * * *

Henry Brightwell, with a clipping from the want ad. columns of a morning paper, stepped into the collection office of the Jones & Grab Furniture company.

"I don't know what your job is," he said easily as the chief collector motioned him to a chair and looked him over shrewdly, "but I'm sober, industrious and strong, and I want work—any kind to get a start."

"You look as if you might do," replied the collector dryly. "But looks don't count much in this business. It's your ability to get the money or the goods. We sell furniture on the installment plan. A lot of people forget the last few installments. That's where our profits come in. You get the last payments or the furniture. We don't care which. Want to try it?"

"Yes," replied Brightwell promptly. "When do you want me to begin?"

"Right now."

And after a brief discussion of terms, hours, etc., Brightwell sallied forth, armed with the book of his predecessor.

He ran down the list. "Moore, Greenwich, Hall," all within a block of each other. Moore and Greenwich were marked as "slow." The name of Hall had this memo. written after it: "Hear that two of the family have skipped out. Expect trouble."

It was characteristic of Brightwell that he started at the hard end of the game and rang the bell marked "Hall."

He climbed the narrow stairs and flung back his shoulders as he rang the private bell on the second floor.

"Is Mrs. Hall in? Peggy—why, Peggy Hall!" he exclaimed. Then he stepped quietly inside and closed the door behind him.

"I—I thought it was the furniture—Henry Brightwell, what are you doing here? However is your mother getting along without you?"

She had led the way into the tiny living room and now stood regarding him with a severe look not at all in keeping with the song her heart was singing.

"I decided that Alf was big enough to look after mother and that if I ever won you I'd have to follow you to New York and make good, as you have done, or you'd grow away from me."

Peggy's gaze fell. Henry had never told her he loved her or wanted to win her, but of course she had thought—

He drew her very close. Perhaps he had recognized this as the psychological moment.

"I struck a job the first place I went, Peggy, dear. I think I can make my way here. Will you help me?"

Fifteen minutes later he remembered the firm of Jones & Grab.

"I guess I'd better be moving on. I was looking for a family by the name of Hall that owes my firm some money."—

Peggy turned scarlet.

"I'm the Hall, and I can't pay you. The girls," her eyes snapped—"the girls went back on me."

Henry Brightwell sat down very suddenly on the sofa on which $7.50 was yet due.

"Well, what do you think of that?"

Then his face cleared. Yankee shrewdness asserted itself. He began to figure, and Peggy helped him.

That afternoon he walked into the office of the collection department and laid down his book and a roll of bills. "Moore and Greenwich paid up to date. Miss Hall is up against it. Her two partners skipped and left her with all the furniture on her hands. She wants to keep it if she can. There's $97.50 still due. Will you let me compromise with her for $75 cash?"

"Sure," said the collector.

"I kind of thought you would, so I took the $75 while she was in the frame of mind. You never can tell how women will jump, you know."

"You're all right, young man. You can have a berth here as long as you keep up this pace."

The head bookkeeper from Ainsley's did not find Mrs. Hopkins' select boarding house to his liking, and the Friday evening dances never materialized, but sometimes when Kit and Lucy want a real pleasant evening they go to the Brightwell apartment, where there are always guests worth meeting. Then they go back to the third story front, with its cheap brass beds and moth eaten hangings, and one says to the other:

"Well, of course we get no credit for it, but we helped to pay for Peggy's pretty things."

NO AGREEMENT REACHED.

California Delegation Now Awaits the Action of President in Japanese School Question.

Washington, Feb. 12.—As a result of an hour's conference at the White House Monday afternoon, at which President Roosevelt, Secretary of State Root, Mayor Schmitz of San Francisco, and the members of the school board of that city participated, Mayor Schmitz, late last night, made a statement summarizing the situation.

When asked the direct question whether the proposition submitted by the San Francisco delegation called for the exclusion of Japanese coolie labor from this country, Mayor Schmitz replied:

"We are not making a treaty and have not discussed with the president the question of excluding the Japanese from this country by treaty. On Saturday we heard the president's views and yesterday we presented our side of the question at issue. It now remains for us to modify our views in order for each an agreement with the president, or for Mr. Roosevelt to modify his views to reach an agreement with us. Monday's conference adjourned subject to the call of the president, and I do not believe that we will be called to White House again until Thursday or Friday."

FIVE PERISH IN FLAMES.

House Caught Fire While Baker Was Frying Doughnuts.

Allentown, Pa., Feb. 12.—Edwin W. Reidnauer, a baker, and his four children, Percy, aged 8 years; Fannie, aged 6; Pauline, aged 4; and Arthur, 2 years old, were burned to death last night in a fire which destroyed their home. Reidnauer was frying doughnuts when the fat boiled over on the floor setting the house on fire.

The children and their mother were asleep in an upper room. Reidnauer rushed upstairs and endeavored to rescue his family, but was overcome by smoke, and before the firemen reached the scene all of the inmates, with the exception of Mrs. Reidnauer, had been burned to death. The latter rushed from the burning dwelling to summon the firemen, and she would probably have met the fate of the other members of the family.

OVER MAYOR'S VETO.

Chicago Council Passes Ordinances Granting Franchises to Street Railway Companies.

Chicago, Feb. 12.—The city council last night, by a vote of 57 to 12, passed, over the veto of Mayor F. F. Dunne, the ordinance granting 20-year franchises to the present street railway companies of Chicago. The ordinances will become valid if ratified by referendum vote at the city election in April, thus settling finally the street car franchise question which has been a foremost subject in Chicago for 10 years.

The ordinances were originally passed last Monday night by a vote of 56 to 13. Mayor Dunne vetoed the measure last night, because, as he averred, they did not sufficiently provide for the immediate municipal ownership of the street railways.

Under the ordinances, franchises are to be granted for 20 years to the Chicago City railway and the Union Traction company.

One Way of Saying No.

Beerbohm Tree was once endeavoring to get a well known actor back into his company. Tree received the man in his dressing room as he was making up. "How much would you want to come back to me?" inquired Mr. Tree, busy with his paint pots. The other named an exorbitant salary, to which Tree merely retorted as he went on making up, "Don't slam the door when you go out, will you?"

Osana San's Adventure

By Constance D'Arcy Mackay

Copyright, 1906, by Homer Sprague

It was a bright spring noon. Sunlight poured down over the quaint glistening roofs of the little town of Yacco. Mists rose and melted from the encircling rice fields. The perfume of cherry blossoms was upon the wind—an erratic wind that blew in breath snatching puffs and twirled the little fans in the black polished coiffure of Osana San as she toddled daintily along the street in her lacquered sandals. Her blue and gold kimono caught the sunlight with a gleam. Her huge red sash, tied in a butterfly bow, added a daring note of color, and her gayly flowered paper parasol made just the background for her delicate oval face. Her skin was the cream of ivory faintly tinted with rose. Her mouth was like a scarlet lily, and her slanting eyes were like dark jewels—very somber, but with a brilliant glint in their depths.

"She looked as if she had stepped straight out of the 'Mikado' or off a Satsuma vase," declared Mrs. Carrington, the wife of the American consul, glancing up from the luncheon table to watch the passing of Osana San. "She is the very essence of this beautiful Japan."

"She's delicious," agreed Mr. Carrington. "And the American words and phrases you have taught her make her doubly so. She gives a twist to them that is all her own. I tell you, Alice, she could teach our American women a good many things—she's so demure and quiet and contented."

Yet, had Mr. Carrington but known it, contented was precisely what Osana San was not. A perfect crater of unrest burned in her little soul. Her blood raced in time to the pulse of spring, and as she walked through the sleepy, half deserted streets of Yacco there was nothing in the world for which she longed so much as for an adventure, and she had her wish. As she passed the door of a teacup shop the wind gave a sudden gust, blowing her paper parasol inside out and wrenching it from her hand. A whirl of dust filled her eyes, and she shut them with a quick blink. When she opened them, she saw a tall man in blue serge standing in front of her. He was holding her parasol.

"OAI! OAI!" SHE CRIED IN JAPANESE. "STOP ME! STOP ME!"

"I think this is yours," he said, smiling pleasantly.

"A thousand thank yous," murmured Osana San in her very best English. "I fear my humble parasol has given your illustrious self a great trouble."

"A great pleasure, believe me," he answered. Then, with a long look at Osana San, he raised his hat and went back into the teacup shop.

"Oh!" breathed Osana San, rubbing her smooth fingers up and down the bamboo handle where his hands had touched it. How tall and handsome he was and how broad shouldered! She had seen few American men save Mr. Carrington, for Yacco, though not far from Tokyo, was off the main line and so inaccessible that travelers seldom came there. Mr. Carrington, moreover, was old, with a wrinkled face and white hair, while this stranger was young—divinely young, with a way of looking. The rose deepened in her cheek as she remembered it. It was a day of marvels. And there were more to come, for, standing near by, so near that it was a wonder she had not noticed it, was a strange object such as Osana San had never seen before. She guessed it to be one of the horseless carriages of which Mrs. Carrington had told her. She gazed at it, fascinated. And then a wild idea took possession of her. She wondered how it would seem to sit on the cushioned leather seat! She gave a hurried glance up and down the street. There was no one in sight. In the teacup shop the young American was busily selecting china. His back was turned toward her. He would never know. Swiftly she made up her mind and stepped into the motor.

"Now I am like an American girl," she said to herself, intoxicated with the newness of the thing. She heard a heavy step in the shop behind her and started up guiltily. Her moment of stolen sweetness was over. But alas for Osana San! In her haste the wide sleeve of her kimono caught on the lever of the machine. She jerked it, and the mischief was done. Quietly the machine began rolling along the street. For awhile she was too dazed to scream, and when she found voice she was already on the outskirts of Yacco. The road stretched on miles ahead, as straight and white as a long ribbon. A laborer toiling in the rice fields raised his head to look at her.

"Oai! Oai!" she cried in Japanese. "Stop me! Stop me!" The man stared at her stupidly, too amazed to move, and she sped past him. Her hands fluttered about the nickel plated wonders of the motor like a pair of frightened birds. Perhaps if she pressed something it would stop! Very cautiously she tried. The result was a loud "Honk, honk!" ear piercing and terrible. Osana San crouched on the seat with a sob of utter despair and helplessness. On and on she went, past rice fields and low lying marshes where cranes flew, calling dismally to one another; past little thatched farmhouses sheltered from the midday glare by clumps of graceful bamboo. Osana San was becoming desperate. Something must be done. Gathering her courage together, she pushed, and pulled at all the contrivances she could lay hands on, and luck favored her. In front of a lonely wayside temple the motor came to a sudden stop. With a great breath of relief, Osana San alighted. Tears were still glistening on her cheeks. "Here in the shadow of the temple I will be safe," she said, "and I will wait till the august and honorable stranger comes for his most terrifying machine."

But when the stranger, whose name was Douglass Morton, arrived in a jinrikisha some hours later he found Osana San cuddled up on the temple steps, fast asleep.

"Poor little frightened butterfly!" he murmured. "Thank heaven she's safe! It's a pity to waken her."

Osana San opened her eyes and saw him bending over her.

"Most august," she faltered, "my name is Osana San, and my unworthy curiosity"—

"That's all right," Morton said heartily. "I understood how it happened and all you're going to tell me, except how in thunder you had wit enough to stop the machine. Since you're safe, nothing else matters, and I bless all the gods of Japan that this road is as straight as a string. Otherwise—well, we won't think of that. Besides, there is much else to talk of. Do you believe in love at first sight, Osana San?"

Osana San shook her glossy head.

"My poor intelligence does not comprehend your illustrious words," she answered.

Morton laughed.

"I haven't time to pick it out of the phrase book now," he said, "but I'll explain it later if it takes me all the rest of my life to do it, or perhaps Mr. Carrington, the American consul, will explain it for me. He knows my family, and he ought to do me a good turn. You won't be afraid to ride back with me, will you, Osana San? The auto can't run away with you now, you know."

So back they went to Yacco, while the shadows of night deepened among the bamboo, and the moon rose, looking as large and red as a paper lantern. And a week later, in the Carringtons' pretty drawing room, Douglass Morton urged his impetuous suit. When Osana San finally understood his meaning she grew as pink as a cherry blossom.

"I be most afraid to live in your honorable and illustrious country, where everything go so fast—the motor carriages and the lovemaking."

"Osana San, do you mean that you will not marry me?" demanded Douglass Morton.

"Most august," she answered, "how could I be so rude?"

"It is 'Yes' then?" cried Morton joyfully.

"It is 'Yes,'" whispered little Osana San.

Genuine Eloquence.

Appeals from the organized charities are coming in from all directions. And there are sources of appeal which are not organized, yet quite worthy. One of the raggedest, dirtiest, most dejected of mendicants, sitting on the curbstone, appealed to me by his appearance. I had passed him in disgust, then conscience drove me back to him to see if he really suffered. "If in want, why don't you beg?" I demanded in anger. "Why don't you say something?" "Sure it's begging I am," he replied. "But you don't utter a word, man!" "I don't? Look at this"—picking up his nasty remnant of a coat—"and can't you see the skin speaking through my trousers? And ain't the bones cryin' out through my skin? Look at my sunken cheeks! See the famine that's starin' in my eyes! Man alive, ain't it beggin' I'm doin' with a hundred tongues?"—New York Press.

Our Billions of Ancestors.

Has anybody ever stopped to think how many male and female ancestors it took to bring us into the world? First, of course, it was necessary to have a father and mother, and our father and mother must have had a father and mother, and so on back to the time of Christ. A careful calculation of all these ancestors shows that there must have been 139,235,017,439,534,976 births to bring one of us into the world. And this is only from the time of Christ and not from the beginning of the world. According to one authority, if from a single couple for 5,000 years each husband and wife had married at the age of twenty-one and there had been no deaths the population of the earth would be 2,199,915, followed by 144 ciphers. To hold such a population it would take several worlds the size of ours.

The Value of Lifeboats.

Considerably more shipwrecked sailors are saved by their own boats than by any other means, says London Answers. Thus of 2,159 persons saved on the coasts of the United Kingdom in 1903-04, 165 were saved by the rocket apparatus and assistance from the shore, 423 by lifeboats, 143 by coast guard boats and other craft, 641 by passing ships and 735 by their own boats.

The total number of seamen and passengers saved from wrecks of British vessels everywhere and of foreign vessels on or near the coasts of British territory during the year 1903-04 was 8,086, of whom 2,159 were saved on the coasts of the United Kingdom, 1,782 on the coasts of British possessions abroad, 1,343 on the coasts of foreign countries—all from British wrecks, be it remembered—and 802 on the high seas. Of the 3,927 persons saved from British wrecks abroad 2,852 were saved by their own boats and 959 by passing ships, while only 28 were saved by lifeboats and 149 by rocket apparatus.

An Impression.

"Did that lawyer get a clear view of the case?" inquired the litigant's friend.

"No. I'm afraid he didn't. I told him that my trouble was about money, and he seemed to be proceeding on the theory that by relieving me of my money he would cause the trouble to disappear."

Hospitality.

While the reportorial representative of a great news bureau was in San Antonio, Tex., whence he had posted in such haste as to have little luggage, he met with a charming bit of southern hospitality. He had no cuffs, and a local reporter promptly drew off his own and said to the guest within the city gates: "Here, take mine. I've more at home." Later it was learned that the donor of the cuffs worked for the San Antonio Daily Express, and the superintendent of the news bureau upon hearing of the incident immediately wrote to Frank Grice, owner of the Express, in appreciation of an act peculiarly southern in its frank good fellowship. Here is Mr. Grice's reply: "If you can send me the name of the member of the Express staff who offered his cuffs to your man he will be discharged for not offering his shirt as well."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Franklin on Catching Cold.

It is well known, says the New York Evening Post, that Franklin made a particular study of colds and had his own theory about them, which we believe is pretty much the theory of today. One of his assertions was that catching cold does not come from mere cold, but from unequal temperature over the body and from undistributed moisture. To prove this he made a number of observations on occasions when he did and did not suffer. A few of these follow:

By putting on a damp shirt on a dry body—yes.

By putting on a dry shirt on a wet body, though this wets the body ten times more—no.

By sitting in a room where the floor has been newly washed—yes.

By going into a river and staying there an hour (no sheets so wet)—no.

By wetting the feet only—yes.

By wetting all the clothes through the body and wearing them a whole day—no.

By sitting in a room against a crevice—yes.

By sitting as long in the open air—no.

How Cyanide Was Discovered.

Scheele in 1783 laid the foundations for the manufacture of cyanide of potassium. With prussiate of potash for its base, dried animal matter of any and all kinds was dumped into the superheated vessels containing the potash, together with iron filings and borings. A stonelike black mass resulted from the cooling, and other processes brought the final lemon colored crystals which resulted from evaporations of the solutions. From these crystals prussic acid was evolved, of which a 2 per cent solution is the pharmaceutical preparation, yet so powerful that four drops will kill a large dog. A chemist, putting a cyanide solution in a gold lined dish in 1844, discovered that the gold was dissolved in the liquid. This was the beginning of the gold plating process by the use of cyanide and the further involvement of the poison came about in electroplating, in photography and in treating refractory gold ores.—Technical World.

A Canadian Paradise.

Temagami is shaped like an octopus, with long stretched out arms, and its shores are indented with deep circling bays, island strewn and culminating in sharp points and curves that add to the beauty of this magical scene. "The lake of deep waters" is the meaning of the Indian word, and they lie very deep and cool in their bed of granite, in stillness a perfect mirror, in storm darkly menacing, with foam edged waves showing fanglike teeth. Being a hundred square miles in area, Temagami forms one of Canada's great natural reservoirs. Mighty rivers from the height of land to the north flow into it, and it in turn feeds the streams that flow southward, carrying their life giving waters through the forests to the peopled lands below. There are 1,400 islands in the lake, and the government has included the whole area in a magnificent forest reserve of a million and a half acres.—Kate Westlake Yeigh in Four Track News.

Jammed Fingers.

Few people have escaped jammed fingers, and as the pain caused when the finger is jammed in a door is excruciating in the extreme for the first few minutes it is well to know of some means of relief. The finger should be plunged into water as hot as can possibly be borne. This application of hot water causes the nail to expand and soften, and the blood pouring out beneath it has more room to flow. Thus the pain is lessened. The finger should then be wrapped in a bread and water poultice. A jammed finger should never be neglected, as it may lead to mortification of the bone if it has been badly crushed, and amputation of the finger must follow. Jammed toes are usually caused through the falling of heavy weights and should be treated in the same way as a jammed finger.

New York's First Sidewalk.

The first sidewalk in New York was laid by a woman, Mrs. Samuel Provoost, about 1716. She was an importer and merchant and laid the sidewalk for the convenience of her customers. She had importuned the authorities to do it, but they refused, saying it was impossible. After her object lesson paving and curbing gradually came in, but for some time her sidewalk was so famous that people journeyed open from Philadelphia to see it.

Knew It.

"Well, after the dinner Boresome told a story about his exploits in Africa and then one about an Irishman he met in Switzerland."

"But I thought you were not at the banquet."

"Nor was I at this particular one, but have attended sixteen others where Boresome told these stories."

Mother Goose.

The most popular children's book ever written was "Mother Goose's Melodies." Mrs. Goose, or Mother Goose, as she was familiarly called, was the mother-in-law of Thomas Fleet, a Boston printer early in the century. When his first child was born his mother-in-law devoted all her attention to the baby and, it is said, greatly annoyed Fleet by her persistent and not particularly musical chanting of the old English ditties she had heard in her childhood. The idea occurred to Fleet of writing down these songs and publishing them in book form. The oldest extant copy bears the date of 1719. The price marked on the title page was "two coppers." This account of the origin of Mother Goose is discredited by some critics, who declare that in 1697 Perrault published "Contes de ma Mere l'Oye," or "Stories of Mother Goose." The name Mother Goose was familiar in French folklore, being used by writers of this literature over a century before the time of Perrault.

Rising from the grave.

A prominent manufacturer, Wm. A. Fartwell of Lucama, N. C., relates a most remarkable experience. He says "After taking less than 3 bottles of Electric Bitters I feel like one rising from the grave. My trouble is Bright's disease in the diabetes stage. I fully believe Electric Bitters will cure me permanently for it has stopped the liver and bladder complications which have troubled me for years." Guaranteed by C. A. Wright, druggist. Price 50c.

Don't neglect your cough.

ROUND ABOUT US.

About 8 o'clock Monday morning Chas. Dresser's farm house east of this place caught fire from sparks on the roof and in spite of the efforts of Mr. Dresser and neighbors who came quickly was burned to the ground. Except all articles in the cellar nearly all the household effects were saved. There was an insurance of $600 on the house and contents. Mr. Dresser and family have moved to Brooklyn and are now occupying the Jones house on schoolhouse street.—Brooklyn Ex.

Regent Levi L. Barbour of the University of Michigan has just presented to the University of Michigan Union a lot in the city of Detroit. It is Regent Barbour's intentions that this lot be sold as soon as practicable and that the proceeds go toward the furnishing of the proposed Michigan Union Club House. The lot was deeded directly to the Regents of the University, who have taken charge of it for the Union.—U. of M. News letter.

Dr. and Mrs. D. M. Matteson are a couple of the happiest people in town, unless it is her parents, Dr. and Mrs J. L. Tuttle, Sr. All this good feeling is occasioned on account of the stork making them a visit Tuesday afternoon and leaving a fine little lad of the male persuasion. Doc says he is a short stop, and when we suggested that he was a dentist he denied the allegation promptly and would not have it anything but a short stop.—Clinton Local.

Mildred, young daughter of N. W. Davis, died Tuesday afternoon at the family home. Immediate cause of death being given as acute nephritis. She was one of the twin daughters born to Mr Davis's former wife, the late Mrs Nora Tucker Davis, and would have been 10 years of age next April. She was an exceedingly winsome and bright child and in their grief at the sudden and sad bereavement, the parents and family have the sincere sympathy of the community.—Petersburg Sun.

Mrs. Jane Ann Bidwell who was taken to the Branch county poor house from her Coldwater home two years ago on account of age infirmities, died last Tuesday at the ripe old age of 77 years, 2 months and 10 days. She was a prominent character about Coldwater during her active life, being a great religious enthusiast, spending most of her widow's pension in publishing tracts which she distributed about the vicinity. She was also a great advocate of women's suffrage.—Hudson Post.

A large wolf was brought to the county clerk's office today which was shot by Warren Spaulding in Sharon yesterday. It was a handsome animal and opinions differed as to whether it was a timber wolf, a berry wolf or a kiote. Anyhow, it had made its home in Sharon and in Jackson counties for at least five years past and had destroyed many sheep. A large party and four hounds went hunting for it yesterday, as it had been hunted before. The wolf paid no attention to the hounds as it was more than a match for all of them. It was shot three times before it was brought down. There is a state bounty of $25 on wolves, half to be paid by the county. It has been many years since a wolf bounty was collected in Washtenaw.—Ann Arbor Times.

Talleyrand's Thirteen Oaths.

Talleyrand took thirteen oaths of fidelity—to Clement XIII. when he entered holy orders, to Clement XIV. when he became bishop of Autun, to Louis XVI. in 1789, to the kin and the constitution, to the directory in 1795, to the directory in 1796 as minister of foreign affairs, to the three consuls, to Bonaparte sole consul, to Napoleon emperor, to Louis XVIII. in 1814, to Louis XVIII. at the second restoration in 1815, to Charles X. in 1824, to Louis Philippe in 1830.

A Generous Cardinal.

Cardinal Bonaparte was a grandson of Lucien Bonaparte. He was a very charitable man. During one of his illnesses a servant came to him and said that a poor person at the door begged for alms. "Give him what money you will find in my purse," said the cardinal. "There is no money, eminence. The silver spoons are all given away. We have nothing left but pewter spoons." "Well, bring him in and give him a good meal."

Self Made Man.

"But those with whom you did business had something."—Independence Roemaine.

Macon Grange.

Macon Grange No 167 met in regular session Feb. 8 h with Worthy Master Baker in the chair, the usual routine of business was disposed of after which the following program was presented:

Song—Grange.

Grange closed in form after which we were ushered to the dining room where the the ladies served refreshments.

Someone borrowed John O'Leary's overcoat the other day at the stock yards. John isn't finding fault because they returned it but because he did not notice that they hung it on the scales. He figures that he paid the price of veal calves for it at least four times and H. A. Ladd, his partner, now thinks he has a valid claim to part of the coat.—Brooklyn Ex.

A particularly sad death was that of Miss Florence Davis, the chief operator of the Ulesh Telephone Co., which occurred Saturday night at 11:30 o'clock at the home of her parents, Mr and Mrs. Isaac Davis on Pearl street. Death followed an operation for appendicitis and was due to blood poisoning which set in after the operation was performed.

Last Monday afternoon Andrew DeForest and his son, Frank, were at work taking down the tower of the old Catholic church. Andrew was standing inside the doorway, and supposed there was no danger, when Frank loosened a timber and the tower collapsed, about one and one-half tons of brick falling. Fortunately Andrew was just at the outer edge of the mass of debris, which knocked him over and pushed him out of serious danger, but he had a fractured ankle and many bruises. It was a narrow escape for had he been standing half a dozen feet further south, he would have been crushed by the falling brick. But he will be laid up for some time as a result of the accident.—Hudson Post.

Delos Love.

This community was shocked and saddened early Monday morning, Feb. 4, 1907, to learn of the sudden death by heart disease of Delos Love. Mr. Love had not been in the best of health for some time past but his affliction had not been of such a nature as to give any warning of his sudden demise.

Sidney Delos Love was born in Franklin township, Lenawee county, April 29, 1845 He was one of eight children born to the union of Austin and Clara Ann Love. His boyhood days were spent on the farm of his father faithfully performing whatever duties were assigned him.

July 30, 1862, at the early age of 17, he enlisted in Co. E 18th Michigan Infantry to give his life if need be for the preservation of his country. After a continued service of three years he was honorably discharged June 26, 1865 at Nashville, Tenn. He was a member of Beers Post No 140 G. A. R. under whose auspices the funeral services were held at his late residence Feb. 7, 1907 at 10 a m. Rev H K. Fox conducted the services assisted by Rev. Blanch Young. Miss McKinney and Mrs. Hodges very ably furnished the music.

Deceased was married Dec. 4, 1866 to Sarah Rebecca Pawson. To this union five children were born, Arch S. Love of Newberry, Mich.; Harvey E. Love; Willis W. Love of Angola, Ind, Mrs Leland Stanford of Akron, O., who survive and Bertha B. Love who together with the mother, have passed to the great beyond. April 16th, deceased was again united in marriage to Jessie L. Spafford, who together with the children are left to mourn their great loss. One brother, D. W. Love of Adrian, Mich., two sisters, Mrs Armenia Alexander of Chicago, Ill, Mrs Chas Hampton of Fowler Ind, and one grandchild, little Edith Love of Newberry, Mich, also survive.

The high esteem in which he was held in the community was evidenced by the ministration of his many friends and by the numerous and beautiful floral tributes tendered him As a son he was ever dutiful; as a husband, faithful and true; as a father, kind and loving; as a neighbor, honest and obliging; as a citizen, loyal and patriotic; as a friend, helpful and sympathetic. What better tribute could we wish; what thought more consoling to those who mourn? Mr. Love passed from this life at the age of 61 years, 9 months and [illegible] days. Burial at Tipton cemetery.

We miss thee from our home, dear father,
We miss thee from thy place,
A shadow o'er our life is cast.
We miss the sunshine of thy face,
We miss thy kind and willing hand,
Thy fond and earnest care,
Our home is dark without thee—
We miss thee everywhere.

ELECTRIC ROAD

Another Electric Road is proposed for

TECUMSEH

Looks like a sure thing.

There are recent indications that the Toledo & Western Electric Railway Co is getting busy in a northerly direction, and again are revived rumors of that Toledo & Western and Toledo & Michigan combination. Nothing can be learned by railway people, but it is certain that Toledo & Western surveyors are laying out several routes between this city and Tecumseh. One of the propositions, we hear, is to leave the main Toledo & Western tracks near the subway and run north around by the fair grounds and St Joseph's Academy, striking a bee line as nearly as possible toward Tecumseh Another proposition, we hear, is to come north into the city from the north on the North Main street route.

All of these are stated to be problematical, but on the other hand, it has been told that some one route will be adopted right away and that the road to Tecumseh will be completed before next fall'—Adrian Telegram.

Surveyors were through here last week.

Library Notes.

One hundred and ninety five new books have been added to the library including the newest, fiction, travel, biography, science and children's books.

Two new magazines have been added to the reading room list this year, The Craftsman and the Technical World The Craftsman in addition to other interesting matter, has each month plans and suggestions for house building which, it is hoped, may prove useful to the mechanics of the town

The thanks of the patrons of the library are due to a few of the business men of Tecumseh through whose liberality a beautiful four volume history of Michigan costing $30 has been placed on the library shelves and also to Mrs Hettie Snyder, who has given a number of books of fiction, travel and poetry.

The influence of the public library as a factor in the education of the young people can scarcely be overestimated. Many leave school before or soon after reaching the high school but if through the library they have learned to use reference books and the reading habit be formed, it may do much in after life to supplement an otherwise imperfect education That the library is used and appreciated by the young people of Tecumseh, is evidenced by the number daily to be found in the reading and reference rooms.

Resolutions.

Resolutions passed by the unanimous vote of Macon Grange No. 167. Feb. 8, 1907.

Whereas, it has been the will of our Great Master above that our Grange is called to mourn the loss of our sister, Bessie Russell, who departed this life Jan 19, '07. Therefore, be it

Resolved, that we, her fellow patrons of husbandry, do hereby express by resolutions our high appreciation of her stirling character. As a Granger she has always been loyal and faithful until sickness confined her to her room and unable longer to preform active duties. It is also

Resolved, that we, as a Grange, tender the bereaved family of our departed sister our heartfelt sympathies and condolences, recommending them in this sad crisis of their lives to seek help from that Higher Power, whom they have so long trusted in past sorrowful occasions as a Healer of all sorrows believing that He alone can, and eventually will wipe all tears from their eyes and give them a joyful entrance into that delightful "Haven of Rest" where their dear relative has preceeded them.

Resolved, also that these resolutions shall be recorded in the minutes of this Grange and a copy presented to the family. Committee

Base Ball Meeting.

At a meeting of the base ball association last Friday night, the following officers were elected:

Pres.—R. A. Heesen.
Sec.—J C. Mahaney.
Treas.—J H. Smith.

They have decided to have a playing manager.

John Hastings, a farmer of Woodville is lying awake nights, in an effort to devise a contrivance which will be of benefit to a heifer calf which came to this farm on Wednesday. The little thing has no tail and what bossy will do in fly time is what is agitating the grey matter of his owner.—Jackson Citizen.

"WHISKY" COLD CURES.

Danger of using alcoholic mixtures or coal tar tablets.

The most dangerous thing that one can do when affected with a cough or cold is to use a medicine that contains whisky or a tablet that is made of some coal tar product. Putting aside all moral objections to filling up with whisky or drugs because one has a cold, the injurious physical effect should be sufficient to keep one from using these strong medicines.

The most sensible as well as the only scientific way to treat a cough or cold is by inhaling medication that will kill the germs and give relief to the irritated mucous membrane in the nose, throat and lungs

Among the few remedies that are used in this way, Hy mei stands preeminent. It is breather through a neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit and the first breath of its healing air relieves the irritation and its continued use soon effects a thorough cure

The best people in Tecumseh always keep Hyomei at hand in the winter months and at the first symptoms of a cold or bronchial trouble, use the remedy and prevent serious and lasting illness If you have any doubts as to the effects of Hyomei in curing coughs, colds and all bronchial troubles, the guarantee C. A. Wright gives with every outfit should convince you of its curative powers. A Hyomei outfit costs $1 and if it does not give satisfaction C. A. Wright will return your money.

Extra bottles of Hyomei, if needed, can be obtained for 50c, but the complete outfit is usually enough to cure several colds.

If you suffer from bachache.
From urinary disorders.
From any disease of the kidneys
Be cured to stay cured.
Doan's Kidney Pills make lasting cures.
Tecumseh people testify
Here one case of it.

Orson Austin, retired, living on Logan street, Tecumseh, Mich., says:

"I hold the same high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills today, (Dec. 10th, 1906) as when I gave a statement for publication some 5 years ago. Prior to that time, I had been troubled with a very bad case of kidney disease. The distressing pains I had in my back and shoulders, were at times almost unbearable Rheumatism also settled in my hips and limbs which greatly increased my misery. I could not get my proper rest or sleep during the night on account of the too frequent action of the kidneys and the passages were attended by burning and smarting sensations which were very painful. I think my trouble was brought on by an injury which I received in the in the army and had gradually become worse. I knew Doan's Kidney Pills were good for such troubles so I began using them. I soon felt the good effects in a very short time and thus encouraged I continued on until a complete cure was effected. My advice to all kidney sufferers is to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial and I know they will not be disappointed the results."

GUARANTEED REMEDY FOR INDIGESTION.

Interesting statement by John J. Orr.

When a man comes into this store and calls for any particularly indigestion remedy, we always give him what he asks for, but in case he leaves it to us, we usually recommend Pepsikola tablets.

Here is a preparation we have been selling right over the counter for years, and from actual observation we know it must do good, and really does relieve and cure indigestion and dyspepsia or there would be a steady stream of people coming back for their money, as every 25c box is sold with the understanding that you must be decidedly benefited or there is nothing to pay.

You simply try Pepsikola tablets with the understanding that they will steady your nerves, improve your appetite, relieve wind belching, coated tongue, sour stomach, fullness after eating, weakened energy and other symptoms of indigestion or John J. Orr is ready at any time to pay back your money without the least argument.

No man goes to a banquet for the sake of the speeches he will hear.

Baby won't suffer five minutes with croup if you apply Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil at once. It acts like magic.

If your brake fails to work at a critical moment, run into something cheap.

Nothing will relieve indigestion that is not a thorough digestant. Kodol digests what you eat and allows the stomach to rest—recuperate—grow strong again. Kodol is a solution of digestive acids and as nearly as possible approximates the digestive juices that are found in the stomach. Kodol takes the work of digestion off the digestive organs and while performing this work itself does greatly assist the stomach to a thorough rest. In addition the ingredients of Kodol are such as to make it a corrective of the highest efficiency and by its action the stomach is restored to its normal activity and power. Kodol is manufactured in strict conformity with the National Pure Food and Drug Law. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

SWORN IN AS SENATOR.

William Alden Smith Takes His Seat in Upper House.

Washington, Feb. 12.—William Alden is now plain Senator Smith. He was sworn in at noon Monday and is now occupying his seat in the rear row on the democratic side, the republican side being too full to afford a place for him.

Senator Smith came to the senate chamber accompanied by Rep. McCall, of Massachusetts. Presently Senator Burrows entered and led the new senator to a vacant seat beside his own. Then the senate came to order and after prayer by Dr. Hale, Senator Burrows moved that the reading of the journal be dispensed with, which was done. Then he sent to the chair Senator Smith's credentials for the expiration of Senator Alger's term and the vice-president ordered the same read.

The reading was done by Henry M. Rose, of Grand Rapids, assistant secretary, whose sonorous voice rang out in marked contrast to the subdued tones in which Senator Burrows asked that his new colleague be sworn in at the command of Vice-President Fairbanks. Senator Burrows gave his arm to Wm. Alden and led him up on the dias, where Fairbanks himself administered the oath. He then shook hands with Smith and turning to Root, ordered him to proceed with the rest of the morning business, which was done.

Senator Smith signed the form of the oath and was then escorted to his seat by Senator Burrows. The ceremony was a matter-of-fact piece of business, as is usual in the senate.

ANN ARBOR ENJOINED.

Judge Kinne Says the City Uses Mob Law.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 12.—Judge Kinne has granted an injunction against the city to the water company on the ground that the recent action of the former in tearing up the tile on Eighth street was mob law. The injunction restrains the city from interfering with the water company in repairing or replacing the tile.

The city was ordered to show cause why the injunction should not be issued, but instead City Attorney Frank A. Stivers made the objection that Judge Kinne was prejudiced, as he was city attorney when the contract was drawn, and he asked that Judge Rohnert or some other judge hear the case.

Judge Kinne replied that it was not a matter of contract and that he did not see why the whole plant wasn't destroyed so as to end the whole matter.

No Leniency for Drunkards.

Mason, Mich., Feb. 12.—"The greater share of this court's time is taken up in disposing of cases caused in the first place by drink," said Judge Wiest Monday in delivering a half-hour lecture to Lloyd Bailey, about to be sentenced for arson. Bailey was pleading for leniency for his mother's sake, saying that he was drunk at the time and did not realize the seriousness of his crime. Bailey has served time and was pardoned from the Detroit house of correction a few months ago by Gov. Warner so as to attend the funeral of his little daughter. He was in for assaulting his wife with a beer bottle. Judge Wiest sentenced Bailey to Ionia for from seven to 15 years. Bailey set fire to his father-in-law's home in Lansing.

Falls From Pole to Death.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 12.—Falling backward from the top of an electric light pole at Elizabeth and River streets in River Rouge about 7:30 o'clock Monday night, Thomas Saunders, village electrician, plunged 20 feet to the ground, breaking his neck. Death was instantaneous.

MICHIGAN HAPPENINGS.

The custom house report for the port of Cheboygan shows a splendid gain in business for this port in the past year, the largest, in fact, in its history.

As a result of a fall from his haymow two weeks ago, Henry C. Beach, a prominent and wealthy pioneer farmer of Huron county, is dead, aged 65 years. His home was near Bad Axe.

Thirteen-year-old "Inez" Henderson of Kalamazoo, stuck his foot out while coasting and struck a tree with such force that the impact crushed his ankle. The foot will have to be amputated.

From injuries received by being run down by the Michigan Central train Saturday night, Louis Zoeller, aged 17, is dead at Jackson. His companion, Clarence Barlow, was killed instantly.

When Benjamin English, who is in Battle Creek jail, awakens from a sluggishness occasioned by several days' indulgence in "squirrel" whisky, he will face a charge of attempting to kill his wife.

MRS. SARAH J. WINDROM

Mrs. Sarah J. Windrom of Chicago, cousin of Zachary Taylor, twelfth president of the United States, and grandniece of Alexander Hamilton, who signed the Declaration of Independence, says:

"Vinol is a Godsend to old people. I am 76 years old, but have a hearty appetite, sleep soundly, and feel active and well today, thanks to Vinol. When I was young cod liver oil was dispensed in a greasy, unpalatable form, and it fairly gagged me to get it down. Vinol is entirely different, very palatable and nourishing to impoverished blood. It is the finest tonic and strength creator I ever used in my life."

Vinol is a real cod liver preparation, from which the useless oil has been eliminated and tonic iron added.

KNOCKS DOWN WRONG MAN.

Mistaken Jackson Man Picks Up Victim, Begs His Pardon and Flees.

Jackson, Mich., Feb. 12.—As Walter Davenport was walking home late on Monday night, a large man stepped out of a dark alley, and without speaking a word, "smashed" Davenport in the right eye, knocking him to the ground. The man then stood back until his victim attempted to rise, when he received a similar application on the left eye.

Seeing that he was not going to rise, the assaulter evidently became inquisitive, and stooped over to see the extent of the damages and as he scrutinized Davenport's face, a look of mystification spread over his.

"Well, I'll be d——," was his exclamation, as he seized the prostrate man in both arms, picked him up and said very politely:

"I beg your pardon, sir. I mistook you for another man. Sorry I hit you so hard." But Davenport heard no more, for the man disappeared into the shadow of the alley.

Nicaraguan Minister Weds.

Washington, Feb. 12.—The marriage of Mr. Louis Corea, the Nicaraguan minister to Miss India Bell Vedder Fleming, of this city, will occur at the home of the bride's parents, Col. and Mrs. Robert I. Fleming, Wednesday, February 27, at noon. The ceremony will be performed by Rev. Dr. Teunis S. Hamlin, rector of the Church of the Covenant.

McKinley Club Banquet.

Adrian, Mich., Feb. 12.—The Lenawee County McKinley club's sixth annual banquet last night was its most successful one from every standpoint. Six hundred participated. Congressman W. W. Your Heart.

When Your Heart Fails to Pump Your Blood, Trouble Results.

Have you heart trouble?

You have, if you find it hard to breathe after walking up stairs, exercising, etc. If you have pain in your left side, in chest, back or shoulder. If you suffer from cold extramities, pale face, blue lips, dry cough, swollen ankles.

If you have fainting spells, breast pang, palpitation, redness of the face, discomfort in sleeping on one side.

The only scientific treatment for this whole train of troubles is Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure.

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is the prescription of a famous specialist, whose great success in treating obstinate nervous heart disease has made his name pre-eminent in the medical and scientific world.

The medicine will cure you. We know it. We want you to prove it. If first bottle does not benefit, your druggist will give you back your money.

"I have for several years suffered at times with heart trouble. I got so bad I could not sleep half the night, and had to sit up on the side of the bed lots of times to get breath. Three of my brothers have died of heart trouble, and I thought I was going the same way, but about two and a half years ago I got a pamphlet about Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and thought I would try a few bottles. After using them I recovered, and have had better health since then than before for several years. I can heartily recommend them for heart trouble."—REV. Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn bony growths back to flesh again. That is impossible. But I can now surely kill the pains and pangs of this deplorable disease.

In Germany—with a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—I found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfected, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient, I successfully treated many, many cases of Rheumatism; but now, at last, it uniformly cures all curable cases of this heretofore much dreaded disease. Those sand-like granular wastes, found in Rheumatic Blood, seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual excuse to suffer longer without help. We sell, and in confidence recommend

JUROR'S WIFE IS DEAD

Famous Thaw Trial Is Adjourned for Several Days.

THE JURY IS GIVEN LIBERTY

Custody of Bailiffs Removed After the Judge Admonished Men to Be Guided by Their Honor — Juror Bolton Reaches Wife Just Before She Passes Away.

New York, Feb. 15.—Another tragic chapter in the history of the Thaw-White episode was written Thursday when grim death stepped in to halt the famous trial in its fourth week. The wife of Juror No. 11, Mrs. Joseph B. Bolton, passed away Thursday afternoon, soon after her husband had reached her bedside. He had been summoned from the court room where the trial had been in progress for 15 minutes.

Formal announcement of Mrs. Bolton's death was made in court shortly after 2 p. m., the hour set for the afternoon session, and Justice Fitzgerald immediately ordered an adjournment of the case until next Monday morning. The court also ordered, with the consent of counsel, that the other eleven jurymen be given their liberty and that they no longer be held together. He admonished the jurors to be guided by their honor and their oaths, and not to read the newspapers or discuss the Thaw case with anybody.

Gloom Cast Over Court.

The death of Juror Bolton's wife cast a gloom over the criminal courts building and had a particularly depressing effect upon every one connected with the trial. The prisoner seemed to feel the matter quite keenly when he was brought into court in the afternoon to hear the formal announcement of the order for a postponement of his further hearing.

Mrs. Bolton suffered from double pneumonia. Her condition became serious Wednesday when the morning session of the trial was abandoned to allow the juror to visit his home, which is far up in the Bronx. Bolton was accompanied by two other jurymen and by two court officers. The law which was evoked at the beginning of the trial to keep the jury together, provides that no one juror shall at any time be separated from the others. Mrs. Bolton rallied Wednesday afternoon, her husband returned to his place and the trial went on. When court convened at 10:30 o'clock Thursday morning, Mr. Bolton was again in seat No. 11, but it was stated that his wife' condition was critical and he might be called away at any moment.

Alienist Took Stand.

Dr. Britton D. Evans, superintendent of the New Jersey state hospital for the insane, was recalled as an alienist to continue his direct examination. The witness was asked to detail the conversations he had had on various occasions with Thaw in the Tombs. He was about to detail the evidence of his first visit on August 4, when the summons for Juror Bolton came. Capt. Ricketts, of the court police squad, was seen to whisper to Justice Fitzgerald.

A recess was taken until 2 p.m., and the juror, still accompanied by two of his associates and two court officers, hurried to the little home in the Bronx, where Mrs. Bolton was being kept alive only by the use of oxygen. She died soon after her husband's arrival. Juror Bolton is 57 years of age and is a clerk.

When court again convened at 2:28 p. m., there had been a conference of the attorneys with Justice Fitzgerald, and the agreement had been reached to release the remaining jurors from further confinement.

In announcing the adjournment until Monday, Justice Fitzgerald expressed the "hope" that the trial might then proceed.

Coal Slide Kills a Foreman.

CASTOR PAYS PENALTY

Flint Man Is Electrocuted in the Ohio Penitentiary

FOR KILLING OF A POLICEMAN

Parents and Sister of Doomed Man Visit Him for Last Time Before His Execution—Father Made Final Plea to Governor, But to No Avail.

Columbus, O., Feb. 15.—Fred Castor, convicted of killing Police Officer Dan E. Davis, while fleeing from a Columbus residence which he had robbed, in June, 1905, was electrocuted in the annex at the Ohio penitentiary, at a few minutes past midnight.

Gov. Harris received many appeals for a respite for the condemned man, and shortly before he gave his final decision not to interfere, this telegram came from Amos Castor, father of the young man, who lives at Flint, Mich.

"Please respite my poor boy and give him a chance to have the supreme court review his case. Two supreme judges of Ohio dissented at first hearing. Do not send him to death without a fair chance. Have mortgaged my home and am making an earnest effort to raise funds, with every prospect of success."

The governor could not get any assurance from Castor's attorneys that they would appeal the case if a respite were granted.

Castor's father and mother and sister arrived here Thursday afternoon from Flint, Mich., and saw him for a few minutes.

DEMOCRATS HEAD 'EM OFF.

Washington, Feb. 15.—The sudden development of a full-fledged filibuster resulted Thursday in the senate when an attempt was made to force the adoption of the conference agreement on the immigration bill. This report carries a provision intended to aid in the settlement of the California-Japanese problem, and speedy action was desired by administration senators.

Expressing sympathy with this object, yet regarding the report with suspicion on other points, Messrs Bacon and Tillman first endeavored to have action delayed one day that they might study the report. When this was refused, the filibuster began. Mr. Bacon held the floor for two and a half hours. Mr. Tillman remarked that he was preparing to make a ten-day fight on the floor against the report, because he objected to being run over as with an automobile.

Mr. Bacon objected that the report changed existing law in respects which he believed, on hurried examination, would deprive southern states from obtaining even the meagre labor supply from abroad which was available under the present immigration laws.

A truce was declared for a day at the suggestion of Senator Spooner, when the report will again come up for consideration.

Administration senators interested in the adoption of the report were alarmed by apparent democratic hostility.

All of the democratic leaders when questioned as to their attitude, disclaimed the adoption of a party policy in regard to the report, and the senators making the objections insisted that they were actuated wholly by resentment of what they thought was an attempt to force immediate action. They said that their statements that they had not had an opportunity to examine the report were sincere and that there were no ulterior motives involved.

Perish During Blizzard.

Sturgis, S. D., Feb. 15.—Word was received here last night that Bessie Seim, aged 30, and her 12-year-old sister were lost in the recent blizzard and frozen to death. Search has been made for the women, but no trace of them was found. Their bodies are believed to be hidden by the deep snow. Two women and one man, homesteaders, also are reported to have frozen to death north of Seim.

Boy Flags Train; Saves 100 Lives.

Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 15.—Madison Jones, 12 years old, discovering that a portion of a 600-foot trestle had been burned near Sparks Gap on the Southern railway, 20 miles from Birmingham, Thursday morning, left his wagon in the road, and taking off his red sweater, flagged an approaching passenger train from Birmingham. The passengers upon discovering the situation made up a purse for the boy. There were about 100 passengers on the train.

BARBOUR IS DEFEATED

Withdraws Regency Candidacy When Leland's Wayne Delegation Is Seated.

STATE CONVENTION PULLED OFF

NOMINEES.

Supreme court justices: WM. L. CARPENTER and AARON V. M'ALVEY.

For university regents: FRANK B. LELAND and JUNIUS E. BEAL.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Feb. 15.—Governor Warner won a hard fight Thursday in the republican state convention when his influence resulted in the nomination of Frank B. Leland of Detroit for regent of the university over Levi L. Barbour, also of Detroit.

The fight came over the seating of the Wayne delegation. Two delegations were here from that county, 116 in each. The credentials committee recommended, seven to four, that the Leland crowd be seated. A minority report gave each delegation half a vote. The majority report was adopted by a vote of 323 to 302. The seating of the Wayne delegation made things so overwhelmingly in Leland's favor that Barbour's name was withdrawn and Leland was nominated by acclamation.

Judges Carpenter and McAlvey were also nominated in this manner.

How Beal Won.

One of the surprises of the convention was the nomination of J. E. Beal, of Ann Arbor, over Regent Henry S. Dean of the same city. Beal was beaten in his county convention by a vote of 89 to 90, and had dropped out of the race. Thursday night his old friends in the legislature started a boom for him and by Wednesday it had assumed statewide proportions. Most of the old members were delegates to the convention, and they made a strong working for Beal. The Washtenaw delegation endeavored by all means to stay the flood, but were not successful, Beal being nominated by 417 to 324.

W. A. Cotton of Escanaba beat M. O. Graves of Petoskey for member of the board of education, easily, the vote being 579 to 130.

Resolutions endorsing the state and national administrations were adopted.

There was a slim attendance at all of the caucuses during the morning hours. The governor's forces elected the credentials committee member in the second, fourth, fifth, sixth, ninth, tenth and twelfth districts. The Barbour folks got the member of the third, seventh, eighth and eleventh.

Smith in Chair.

The convention assembled at 11:30 o'clock, with State Senator Charles Smith in the chair and reeled off the preliminary routine business in half an hour. At noon the credentials committee got down to business, with Charles B. Sweet, of Cass, a Leland man, presiding. The Wayne county contest was the only one before it. By a vote of seven to four it was decided that the Leland delegation's certificate entitled them to be considered the prima facie delegates. This meant putting it up to the Barbour side to prove that they weren't. Each side had an armful of affidavits and various other kinds of documents to support their claims. Henry M. Campbell made the principal talk for the Barbour side and George B. Yerkes for the Leland delegation.

The tale of the caucuses and convention at Detroit last week was told by both sides. One side flatly contradicted the other on many points. The committee didn't have time to examine even a small part of the documentary evidence, and the majority of seven for Leland held out until they won their point.

WHY RUSSIA WAS DEFEATED.

Kuropatkin's Suppressed Story of War With Japan Finally Becomes Public.

(Copyright, 1907.)

St. Petersburg, Feb. 15.—Gen. Kuropatkin's history of the Russo-Japanese war, which was confiscated by the Russian government, has at last become accessible, despite the most extreme precautions to prevent this galling official indictment from reaching the public. The work is remarkable for its historic value, as the closing chapter of the war from the pen of the commander-in-chief, and for the merciless criticism of the men and measures which, in Kuropatkin's estimate, swept Russia and its army to inevitable defeat.

The work consists of three bulky volumes, respectively devoted to the three crucial events of the war—the battle of Liao-Yang, the battle of the Sha river and the battle of Mukden.

The voluminous general orders, statistics, reports and other documentary matter have been collected by Gen. Belkhovetoneff, of the general staff.

These, with the "conclusions" which have been formulated, constitute most amazing revelations of disorganization and incapacity, and even of disobedience of specific and urgent orders on the part of certain general officers entrusted with high commands in the field, notably Gen. Kaulbars, against whom a formidable indictment is framed, saddling upon his shoulders practically the entire responsibility for the crushing defeat at Mukden.

Kuropatkin's reasons for the failure of the war are based chiefly on a comparison of the warlike spirit of the Japanese, their preparedness and valor, which, he says, had never been seen in any previous war, and their ability to maintain the numerical superiority necessary to assume the offensive with the disadvantages of Russia, owing to the inadequacy of the single-track railway from Europe in feeding her fighting strength, with commanding officers disobeying orders and in a hopeless state of confusion and at cross-purposes, with a low state of morale and confidence among the troops, and continuous news from home of internal troubles and insults and reproaches against the army.

The general closes his survey of the cause of the defeat of the Russians with the pathetic reflection that if Russia had been united and ready to make the sacrifices necessary to safeguard her dignity and integrity, the "valient Russian army would have striven 'till the foe was subdued."

QUESTION PUT TO JAPAN.

Secretary Root Asks Oriental Government if Separate Schools in California Are Objected To.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 15.—Mayor Schmitz and his associates are awaiting the action of congress on the immigration bill and the result of Secretary Root's negotiations with the Tokio government on the San Francisco school controversy. The exclusion provision in the bill, which the administration believes will solve the coolie labor problem, is said to be entirely satisfactory to the Japanese government, and another, and perhaps final conference will be held at the White House today, at which assurances of the passage of the bill at this session aid to have been given the republican leaders, are expected to be discussed.

The failure of congress to make some definite action on the immigration bill Thursday, was a disappointment to the members of congress from California and to Mayor Schmitz and the members of the school board, but they feel confident that the measure will be adopted without serious opposition.

Mayor Schmitz said that he looked for an amicable settlement of all the questions at issue at today's conference. His proposition for separate schools for the Japanese children has been submitted to the Tokio government, and the Japanese embassy hopes to be able to deliver the mikado's answer to Secretary Root today. If this suggestion is not acceptable to Japan, Mayor Schmitz and the members of the school board will agree to abolish the oriental schools in San Francisco.

Eleven Arrests for Woman's Murder.

Chicago, Feb. 15.—Eleven men are under arrest at the Maxwell street police station in connection with the murder of a girl known only as "Paulina," who was, Wednesday night, found dead in a yard in West Fourteenth street. The police claim that they have proof that the girl was drugged with ammonia which had been placed in beer, and was then attacked by the men.

Officer Saves Three Children.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Feb. 15.—Seeing that three little girls were paralyzed with fear and directly in the path of a runaway horse and cutter, Patrolman McDonald ran, grasped the horses's bridle, and was dragged 50 feet under the mad animal's hoofs. He was severely injured.

MAY ATTACH CARS.

State Officials Are Determined to Collect Taxes Due State.

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 15.—Attorney-General J. E. Bird and Auditor-General J. B. Bradley have gone to Chicago on a trust-busting expedition. The many big car loaning companies having headquarters there are being given a last opportunity to pay what they owe the state of Michigan in taxes. If they refuse or desire further delay, the two Michigan officials have announced that thereupon they will attach some of the companies' cars and chain up the wheels if necessary in order to hold them until the taxes are paid

Those Chicago corporations which it is said are used to discriminate between shippers and localities and force higher rates on certain classes of freight, owe the state of Michigan $10,084 21. This is exclusive of the penalty of one per cent a month for the period during which they have neglected to pay the taxes since the assessment was made. Some of the companies are in arrears since 1902.

SOCIALIST TICKET

Choose F. A. Kulp and J. A. McFarland for Justices.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Feb 15.—At the Michigan Socialists' state convention in this city Thursday the following nominations were made: Justices of the supreme court, F. A. Kulp, of Battle Creek, and James A. McFarland, of Flint, regents of state university: H. S. McMaster, of Dowagiac, and I Henderson, of Calumet; member of state board of education, A F Kowalski, of Detroit

Resolutions were passed protesting against the action of the state authorities of Colorado and Idaho for kidnaping Comrades Meyer, Haywood and Pettibone and asking for a congressional investigation of the matter. Copies of the resolutions were sent to the governors of Colorado and Idaho

Retail Grocers Elect Officers.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Feb. 15.—The Retail Grocers and General Dealers' association closed their convention on Thursday with the election of the following officers: President, Fred W Tuller, Grand Rapids; first vice president, John C. Curry, Detroit; second vice-president, M. L. DeBats, Bay City; secretary, J. C. Percival, Port Huron; treasurer, N. H. Branch, Jackson; board of directors, Charles Wellman, Port Huron; Walter H. Lewis, Saginaw; August Miller, Detroit; C. L. Miller, Ann Arbor, and H. C. Glasser, of Nashville.

Cement Business Is Booming.

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 15.—As an evidence of the enormous business transacted in the manufacture of Portland cement, the labor bureau gives out figures, showing that the output for 1906 was 4,032,418 barrels over 1905. Capitalists have invested in the Michigan product alone $8,300,000, and 17 factories have been erected. Inasmuch as there is enough marl in sight to run for at least 100 years, every plant will increase its output. Fully 2,037 men are employed in making Portland cement and $1,397,600 is paid out annually in wages.

Alleged Teacher Abused Boy.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Feb. 15.—A warrant was sworn out Thursday for the arrest of John Whitter, a school teacher in Wyoming township, on the charge of assulting Willie Fitzgerald, aged seven. The complaint was made by the mother of the boy, who alleges that the teacher became angry at the boy and struck him on the head, rendering him unconscious. It is alleged also that Whitter kicked the boy after he fell to the floor.

Saves Dog, But Loses Own Life.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Feb. 15.—Affection for his faithful old dog caused the death of Mathias Van Tasell, aged 60 years, near here. The aged man had gone to a patch of woods to cut down trees. Just as he had one ready to topple over, he noticed his dog lying directly in the path of the falling tree, asleep in the sun. Van Tasell jumped and kicked, saving the dog, but was caught and crushed. A widow and six children survive him.

Child Swallowed Morphine.

Traverse City, Mich., Feb. 15.—"Mamma, I'm sleepy," said the three-year-old daughter of Henry Kahis, Suttton's Bay. The mother put the child to bed, kissing her good night. Three hours later it was discovered that eight one-quarter grain morphine tablets, used by the child's grandmother, to relieve excruciating pain, were gone. A doctor was summoned, but could not arouse the little one.

Child Will Lose Hands and Feet.

Cheboygan, Mich., Feb. 15.—J. Haas' house in Inverness township, burned Wednesday night. The wife and two children were alone. A girl, aged seven years, ran barefooted, clad only in her night dress, a mile to a neighbor's and froze her hands and feet. Amputation probably will have to be resorted to.

Farmer Commits Suicide.

Eaton Rapids, Mich., Feb. 15.—William Boatman, a farmer, living about three and one-half miles south of this city, committed suicide Thursday, by shooting himself in the mouth with a long range rifle. Boatman was 73 years old and came to this locality about 60 years ago.

Took Wind Out of Their Sails.

WHAT SUN SPOT DID.

Pittsburg Gets Thunder and Lightning During Heavy Blizzard.

Pittsburg, Feb. 15.—The most phenomenal atmospheric disturbance ever witnessed in this city, occurred at 12:52 Thursday, when in the midst of an extraordinary heavy blizzard, several peals of loud thunder were heard and a vivid flash of lightning came from the heavens, causing a magnificent complication of atmospheric conditions and frightening many persons who saw the remarkable occurrence.

Professor John A. Brashear, of the Allegheny observatory, who announced through the Associated Press Wednesday night, the discovery of one of the greatest sun spots ever called to the attention of the astronomers, when seen again regarding the phenomenon, last night, said:

"The disturbance shortly after noon today was the most remarkable thing I have ever known. In view of the gigantic sun spot, I expected an electrical disturbance some time today. I thought, however, it would take the form of the Aurora Borealis or that telegraph and telephone communication would be seriously affected.

"Instead the disturbance was awe-inspiring and terrible to those who observed it. From an official standpoint I can say nothing definite regarding the matter owing to my inability to see the sun today, on account of the severe snow storm. If I had seen the sun, I could have studied the exact cause of the disturbance and probably made a comprehensive statement.

"As it is now, I do not want to stand sponser for any statement concerning the phenomenon. Unofficially, however, it was very remarkable considering the low temperature at the time

"At noon today the great sun spot, which is 118,000 miles long and 30,000 miles wide, covering an area of about 3,500,000 square miles, was directly facing the earth. This spot is very active. Taking these facts into consideration, it is not hard for one to stretch their imagination and connect the cause of today's disturbance with the sun spot."

THRUST HER ASIDE.

Survivor of Larchmont Disaster Says Captain Refused to Give Her Aid.

Block Island, R. I., Feb. 15.—One more grim harvest of 23 victims of the ill-fated steamer Larchmont, which the Block Island fishermen gathered Wednesday in near-by waters, was sent to the mainland Thursday. And as the death-laden boat left for Providence, still another victim was brought in by the fishing schooner Theresa, making in all 74 bodies that have been recovered here from the disaster off Watch Hill Monday night

The steamer Kentucky carried away 49 bodies Wednesday as well as 18 survivors. Thursday the tug Roger Williams, which came down especially from Providence, steamed back with 23 bodies on her decks. The body of Harry Eckels, a resident of this island, will be buried here, while that of an unknown negro waiter, which was brought in just before dark yesterday, will probably be sent to the mainland by the steamer.

One survivor, Miss Sadie Gallup, of Boston, still remains on the island where she is being cared for. She stated to several of the newspaper men that when she begged either the captain or Purser Young to take her in the boat, they pushed her aside, and the life boat left the Larchmont with only six in it, although it would have held 20 more. When the steamer went down, she found herself on a piece of wreckage and remained on it until picked up ten hours later by the crew of the fishing schooner Flsie. Miss Gallup was very emphatic in her charge against Captain McVey and the officers of the Larchmont.

Sharp, but Not Clever.

A London scientist says that life in a metropolis makes young children sharp, but not clever; that it often destroys their chance of ever being clever, for it hastens the development of the brain unnaturally. It makes them superficial, alert, but not observant; excitable, but without one spark of enthusiasm. They are apt to grow blase, fickle, discontented. They see more things than the country bred child, but not such interesting things, and they do not properly see anything, for they have neither the time nor capacity to get at the root of all the bewildering objects that crowd themselves into their little lives.

In the Eighteenth Century.

Women needed to be admonished regarding certain details of good manners in the eighteenth century quite as much as today. At the Handel festival at Westminster abbey in 1790 a notice was posted reading, "No ladies will be admitted with hats, and they are particularly requested to come without feathers and very small hoops, if any."

Lorenzo Fails to Pay Fine.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 15.—The term of Dr. George E. Lorenzo, who was convicted and sentenced to two years' imprisonment in the federal penitentiary at Moundsville, W. Va., on a charge of complicity in connection with the postal fraud cases, expired last Saturday, but the prisoner has not yet been released, because of his failure to pay a fine of $10,000 imposed upon him.

"Tarry" Gould's Long Cruise.

"Tarry" Gould was a well known character in and around Danvers years ago, but very few knew what gave him the nickname of "Tarry." He was very fond of telling about the long sea trip he enjoyed when a young man. It seems he thought he was tired living ashore, so he went to Danversport and shipped on a coasting schooner bound for Philadelphia. He used to say, in telling his story: "I did expect to enjoy that trip so much. Well, we cast off from the wharf and started down river. When we got to Beverly bridge (a mile or so from the wharf) I made up my mind that I had got enough of it, and as we passed through the draw I climbed to the bridge and started for home, and, if you will believe me, I could not get a wink of sleep that night until they threw water on the outside of my bedroom windows to make it seem I was aboard ship."—Boston Herald.

Scraps From the Sea.

"There is often found at sea a life belt or some sort of a life preserver floating on the water that bears the name of the vessel to which it belonged," said a veteran sea captain. "As soon as it is reported there is at once a great amount of speculation on the part of those interested in the ship as to whether the vessel is safe or not. This increases to alarm if the ship is any way overdue. In most instances the preserver has been washed from the deck by a wave or has fallen overboard, and the alarm is entirely without foundation. I remember an instance in which my boat broke a crank shaft. We were eleven days overdue, and we were given up for lost because a raft that should have been fastened on the deck was washed overboard and picked up by a faster liner. I have sometimes thought it would be a good thing if these minor articles were not marked."

South Sea Island Customs.

When a south sea island mother wishes to chastise her child she seldom resorts to slapping, and slippers, of course, she has none. Instead of using the forms of punishment customary among civilized mothers she pulls the child's hair or bites some part of the body, generally the fleshy part of the arm. In wandering about the village one sees many children having on their bodies scars produced by wounds inflicted by their mothers' teeth. When a mother wishes to caress her child she deftly draws her thumb across its eyebrow or cheek or gently seizes its cheek between her teeth. The rubbing of noses is also a mark of affection among the Kingsmill Islanders, as it is among the Maoris of New Zealand.

Hot Soda Baths.

Hot soda baths are recommended by some persons for rheumatism, and the way they are taken is this: Fill the tub half full of water as hot as can be borne, add half a pound of common baking soda and immerse the body for at least twenty minutes, keeping up the temperature by the addition of hot water from time to time. Vaseline or cold cream should be rubbed into the skin after the latter has been dried in order to replace the natural oil.

The Best Laxative for Children.

Parents should see to it that their children have one natural, easy movement of the bowels each day. Do not dose the child with salts or griping pills, as they are too powerful in effect, and literally tear their little insides to pieces, leaving the bowels weakened and less able to act naturally than before. Laxative Fruit-ola Tablets tone and strengthen the bowels, and stimulate all the little organs to healthy activity. Chocolate coated tablets, easy to take, never gripe or nauseate. 10c, 25c and $1.00.

Mortgage Sale.

Whereas default has been made in the payment of the money secured by a mortgage dated the 17th day of April, 1906 executed by Eva Biler of Riga Township, Lenawee County, Michigan, to Albert Collins of Macon township, Lenawee County, Michigan, and which said mortgage was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Lenawee County Michigan, in Liber 166 of Mortgages on page 190 on the 14th day of April A. D. 1906 at 10:10 o'clock A. M; and whereas the amount claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice is the sum of Four Thousand One Hundred Sixty Dollars and Fifty-four cents ($4160 44) of principal and interest and the further sum of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) as an attorney fee stipulated for in said mortgage, and which is the whole amount claimed to be unpaid on said mortgage and no suit or proceeding having been instituted at law to recover the debt now remaining secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the said power of sale, and in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises therein described at public auction, to the highest bidder, at the east front door of the Court House in the City of Adrian in said County of Lenawee, on the 25th day of April next, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day which said premises are described in said mortgage as follows, to-wit:—Being that part of section three (3) of Town Five (5) South, Range Five (5) East which is bounded as follows: Commencing at the North west corner of said section three, thence running East seventy-five rods and twenty-one links; thence South sixty-seven rods and seven and one fourth links; thence West seventy-seven rods and nine links; thence North sixty-six rods and twelve links to the place of beginning.

Also all that other tract or parcel of land situated in the township of Macon, Lenawee county, Michigan, bounded and described as follows to-wit:—By a line commencing sixty-six rods and twelve links South of the Northwest corner of section three (3) Town Five South, Range five East, thence running East one hundred and sixty rods; thence South forty and one half rods; thence West one hundred sixty rods; thence North forty and one half rods to the place of beginning. Containing in both parcels above described Seventy-three acres of land more or less.

Dated January 31, 1906.

SALES ARE ENORMOUS

Cincinnati, O., Feb. 14.—The most interesting feature of the enormous sale of the Cooper preparations, now going on in this city, is what the medicines are actually accomplishing among the people of Cincinnati.

At the commencement of his visit here Mr. Cooper prophesied that during the later part of his stay he would receive hundreds of callers daily who came simply to thank him for what the preparations had done. He also stated that stomach trouble is the foundation for a great many diseases and that his New Discovery as it is called, would prove very effective in all cases of rheumatism simply by setting the stomach in working order.

That this prophesy has been fulfilled cannot be doubted after a half hour spent at the young man's headquarters listening to what his callers have to say.

A reporter who watched to ascertain if possible, some light on the reasons for the immensity of Cooper's success interviewed about 30 of his callers yesterday afternoon. The statements made by those seen indicate that physicians who claim that Cooper is merely a passing fad, have not looked into the facts.

Some of these statements were as follows: Miss Sallie Middleton living at 1975 Central Ave., upon being questioned said:

"I have been troubled with general weakness, dizziness, headache, sleeplessness and stomach disorders for a number of years, suffering all the time with my kidneys and back. I had tried a number of medicines and visited several doctors but none helped me. I heard on all sides of these Cooper remedies and decided to try them. Any one who says that they are not wonderful medicines does not know what they are talking about. After I used the first bottle I noticed improvement. I have taken 3 bottles of the New Discovery and I now feel as well as I ever have in my life. I have come here to thank Mr. Cooper for what he has done for me."

The statement of Mrs. M. E. Emerson living at 630 W. Court St., was as follows;

"I have suffered with stomach trouble and constipation for a year. When I ate I would bloat, have sour stomach, bad taste in my mouth. In the morning I was tired and had a dull pain in my back. I have taken almost one bottle of the New Discovery and am so improved that I have come to thank Mr. Cooper and obtain more of the medicine."

Another statement was made by E. Luken living at 1906 Gest St., who said "I have been a sufferer with rheumatism for several years. I couldn't stand on my feet when Mr. Cooper came to Cincinnati. Nothing helped me and I despaired of finding relief in my run down condition. Hearing of his wonderful work my father consulted him as to my case and purchased a bottle of his New Discovery. After I had finished the bottle I was was able to walk down and see him myself."

"I have continued to take this medicine and am now free from rheumatism. My general health is better and I have not felt so well for years. I would not have believed there was such a medicine on earth that would do what this has done for me. I am very grateful to the man that has made it possible for me to regain my health."

Other statements taken from those who had previously used the medicines seem to prove that Cooper's success throughout the country is genuine.

D. 1891, in Liber 115 of Mortgages on page 501; assigned by said Sutfin to Albert L. Brewer by due instrument in writing dated April 22d, 1892, and recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds on the 9th day of May A. D. 1892, in Liber 125 of Mortgages on page 458; and assigned by Percival W. A. Fitzsimmons as administrator of the estate of said Albert L. Brewer, deceased, (said Albert L. Brewer having meantime departed this life and said Fitzsimmons having been duly appointed administrator of said estate) to me, the undersigned, as Hettie W. Brewer (now by marriage Hettie W. Lawrence), by due instrument in writing dated October 18th, 1898, and recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds on the 14th day of November A. D. 1898, in Liber 143 of Mortgages on page 387; there being claimed to be due to the undersigned at the date hereof upon said mortgage, and the note secured thereby, the sum of fifty hundred fourteen and 44—100 dollars and no suit or proceeding at law, or in equity, having been instituted for the recovery of said indebtedness, or any part thereof:

Notice is therefore hereby given that, by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained (now operative by said default), I will on Monday, the 4th day of March, A. D. 1907, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the east front door of the Court House in the City of Adrian, in the County of Lenawee and State of Michigan (that being the place where the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee is holden) for the purpose of realizing the amount of said mortgage debt, with interest thereon to accrue and costs of this foreclosure, including a lawful attorney fee, sell, at public vendue, to the highest bidder, the lands and premises in said mortgage described, viz:—Those lands in the township of Clinton (formerly Tecumseh), County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, known as the west half of the south-west quarter of section two, town five south, range four east, containing eighty acres of land more or less.

Saturday Evenings.

Many people are paying for the HERALD for 1907 now-a-days and to accommodate all for whom it is more convenient to come in the evening the HERALD office is kept open from seven till eight o'clock Saturday evenings.

Mrs. Robert Elliott.

At half past nine Wednesday morning Feb. 6, at her home in this village, Mrs. Robert Elliott passed to the higher life. She leaves besides her husband, two daughters, Mrs. John Mead of Detroit, and Miss Margaret, of Tecumseh, to mourn her untimely death. Mrs. Elliott's maiden name was Sarah Clement. She was a native of Antrim county Ireland, where she resided until she came to Tecumseh in 1882, whither Mr. Elliott had preceeded her some two years and where, after her arrival, they were immediately married by Rev. Babbitt of the Presbyterian church on Nov. 27

Though never very strong she had always administered the affairs of her household until last summer when she suffered her first severe attack of the illness that finally proved fatal. After several weeks, however, she appeared to wholly recover but early in January the symptoms returned gradually intensifying until the end came as stated above.

Funeral services were held at the house Friday afternoon in charge of the Lady Maccabees, Rev. Miss Young officiating, and were attended by a large concourse of relatives and sympathizing friends. Burial at Brookside cemetery. A devoted daughter, a cherished wife and mother, a faithful Maccabee sister, a loyal and beloved friend and neighbor has departed from our midst leaving behind a fragrant memory of good deeds and noble living, an inspiring influence to all who were intimately associated with her.

CARD OF THANKS.

We desire to express our grateful appreciation to all those who so generously assisted us in all needed ways during the last illness and death of our beloved wife and mother, remembering especially the gentle ministry of the Maccabee ladies; those who sent so many and such beautiful flowers; and those who comforted us with the sweet ministry of song.

MR. ROBERT ELLIOTT.

MISS MARGARET ELLIOTT.

VALENTINE PARTY

Pretty Dance given at the WITHERELL HALL

Last Evening. Willetts Orchestra furnishing the music.

Witherell hall was the scene of a pretty valentine party last evening, 40 couples enjoying the dances with music by Willett's orchestra of Adrian. Valentine decorations prevailed, the ball room being decorated with hundreds of red and white hearts and red bunting. The nation's colors were also used, the stage from which the orchestra dispersed the sweet strains of the waltz and two-step, was screened with flags.

The programs which were also pretty valentines, were given at 9:30 and the dancing commenced and continued till 2:30 in the morning. The Rebekahs served a delightful two course supper in their dining hall on the third floor. Those having the refreshments in charge were Mesdames Rogers, Broas, Zimmerman and Jinks.

Among those from out of town attending were Misses Orra Barnnaby of Toledo, Shirley Bowen of Adrian, and Mr. Turner of Adrian.

Should be for Life.

Tecumseh has been particularly fortunate in selecting men for street commissioners for a number of years. Albert Hyde was a good man. Wm. Jordan was also a good man and last year John Wells proved to be one of the best men Tecumseh has ever had. He has taken good honest care of the streets both summer and winter and now why won'd it not be a good plan to appoint him for life.

Good Cement Walk.

Jacob Mull, who built so many rods of fine cement walk in Tecumseh last season, bought a farm and now lives near Manchester. He wishes the HERALD to state that he will be back to Tecumseh early in the spring and prepared to build all the walk desired of him and same as always in the best possible manner. He gets his mail at Manchester rural route No. 2.

O'Haro-Molter.

Peter A Molter of Plymouth, Ind., and Miss Evah O'Haro of Tecumseh, were united in marriage at the Savage parsonage at Detroit, Feb 12th. Mr. Molter was a former brakeman on the D. T. & I road. Miss O'Haro has always made her home in Tecumseh

Sunday Trains.

It seems that it is not generally known in Tecumseh that the D. T. & I. runs a train to Detroit and return every Sunday, leaving here at 10:52 a. m. and returning passes Tecumseh at 6:47. No doubt this is caused by the time tables not being printed in either Tecumseh papers

It is hard to tell which is the most sensitive, the girl who is getting too thin, or the girl who is getting too fat

FOR STOMACH SUFFERERS.

Don't use any remedy that keeps its formula a secret.

People who are troubled with stomach weakness cannot afford to use any remedy unless they know what it contains.

Mi-o-na is not a mere digestive, giving only temporary relief, but a specific for all disorders of the digestive organs and so effects a permanent cure for stomach troubles.

Your physician will tell you that nothing is better than a combination of chemically pure bismuth subgallate to allay any inflammation of the stomach and bowels; cerium oxalate to strengthen the stomach nerves; sodium bi-carbonate, which neutralizes the poisonous acids that are present in stomach troubles, and nux vomica, which will restore vigor to the digestive organs and tone the whole nervous system.

This combination is found only in Mi-o-na stomach tablets and it so rarely fails to strengthen the digestive system and cure all forms of stomach disorders, that C. A. Wright sells the remedy under a guarantee to refund the money unless it cures.

If you suffer from indigestion, distress after eating, specks before the eyes, headaches, pains in the back and side, emaciation, bloating, nervousness, sleeplessness, or any of the other symptoms of stomach troubles, begin the use of Mi-o-na stomach tablets at once. C. A. Wright sells them in 50c boxes with a guarantee to refund money unless they cure.

CURED TO STAY CURED.

If you suffer from bachache
From urinary disorders.
From any disease of the kidneys
Be cured to stay cured.
Doan's Kidney Pills make lasting cures.
Tecumseh people testify.
Here one case of it:

Orson Austin, retired, living on Logan street, Tecumseh Mich., says: "I hold the same high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills today, (Dec. 10th, 1906) as when I gave a statement for publication some 5 years ago. Prior to that time, I had been troubled with a very bad case of kidney disease. The distressing pains I had in my back and shoulders, were at times almost unbearable. Rheumatism also settled in my hips and limbs which greatly increased my misery. I could not get my proper rest or sleep during the night on account of the too frequent action of the kidneys and the passages were attended by burning and smarting sensations which were very painful. I think my trouble was brought on by an injury which I received in the in the army and had gradually become worse. I knew Doan's Kidney Pills were good for such troubles so I began using them. I noticed the good effects in a very short time and thus encouraged I continued on until a complete cure was effected. My advice to all kidney sufferers is to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial and I know they will not be disappointed the results."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's, and take no other.

GUARANTEED REMEDY FOR INDIGESTION.

Interesting statement by John J. Orr.

When a man comes into this store and calls for any particularly indigestion remedy, we always give him what he asks for, but in case he leaves it to us, we usually recommend Pepsikola tablets.

Here is a preparation we have been selling right over the counter for years, and from actual observation we know it must do good, and really does relieve and cure indigestion and dyspepsia or there would be a steady stream of people coming back for their money, as every 25c box is sold with the understanding that you must be decidedly benefited or there is nothing to pay.

You simply try Pepsikola tablets with the understanding that they will steady your nerves, improve your appetite, relieve wind belching, coated tongue, sour stomach, fullness after eating, weakened energy and other symptoms of indigestion or John J. Orr is ready at any time to pay back your money without the least argument.

No man goes to a banquet for the sake of the speeches he will hear.

Baby won't suffer five minutes with croup if you apply Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil at once. It acts like magic.

If your brake fails to work at a critical moment, run into something cheap.

Nothing will relieve indigestion that is not a thorough digestant. Kodol digests what you eat and allows the stomach to rest—recuperate—grow strong again. Kodol is a solution of digestive acids and as nearly as possible approximates the digestive juices that are found in the stomach. Kodol takes the work of digestion off the digestive organs and while performing this work itself does greatly assist the stomach to a thorough rest. In addition the ingredients of Kodol are such as to make it a corrective of the highest efficiency and by its action the stomach is restored to its normal activity and power. Kodol is manufactured in strict conformity with the National Pure Food and Drug Law. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the conditions of payment of a certain mortgage executed and delivered by Vincent Eliz to Eliza A Campbell and Eva M. Gray, dated the 31st day of August A. D. 1904 and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Lenawee, State of Michigan, on the 7th day of September A. D. 1904 in Liber 153 of Mortgages on page 1 0, which mortgage was by express terms given to said parties of the second part in joint estate, and of said parties said Eva M. Gray being now the survivor, said Eliza A. Campbell having departed this life since the giving of instrument, and which mortgage provided that should any payment of principal or interest secured by the same remain unpaid and in arrear for the period of ninety days after its maturity, the holder thereof should have the right to declare all the unpaid portion of said mortgage debt to be due and payable forthwith and more than ninety days having elapsed since the maturity of an installment of principal and interest of said indebtedness and the same remaining yet unpaid there is claimed, and now declared, at the date hereof, to be due to the undersigned the whole unpaid portion of said indebtedness amounting to the sum of five hundred fifty-six and 89-100 dollars, and no suit or proceeding at law, or in equity having been instituted for the recovery of said indebtedness, or any portion thereof:

Notice is therefore hereby given that, by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained (now operative by said default), for the purpose of realizing the amount of said mortgage debt with interest thereon to accrue and costs of this foreclosure; including a lawful attorney fee, I will, on Monday the 4th day of March A. D. 1907 at ten in the forenoon of said day, at the east front door of the Court House in the city of Adrian, in the county of Lenawee and state of Michigan (that being the place where the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee is holden), sell, at public vendue, to the highest bidder that parcel of land in the village of Tecumseh, county of Lenawee and state of Michigan bounded by beginning at the intersection of the south line of Chicago street with the east line of Wyandotte street, and running thence east in south line of Chicago street six rods to Mahaney's land; thence south parallel with east line of Wyandotte street twelve rods; thence west parallel with first course six rods to east line of Wyandotte street; thence north in that line twelve rods to beginning.

Prevent Colds and Rheumatism.

If you do not have one natural, easy movement of the bowels each day, you are unconsciously poisoning your system to colds and rheumatism. Laxative Iron-ox Tablets tone and strengthen the bowels, so that they do the work nature intended.

Laxative
Iron-ox Tablets

Cure Biliousness

The most common causes of biliousness is some perversion of the functions of the liver, or the retention of bile in the bile duct.

YELLOW SALLOW SKIN IS AN INDICATION OF BILIOUSNESS.

"Laxative Iron-ox Tablets are the best laxative I have ever used. They have cleared up my pallid skin as no other remedy has ever done, and I am so thankful for them when I commenced using them." (CAPT. J. C. MILLER, Soldier's Home, Bath, N. Y.)

Laxative Iron-ox Tablets tone and strengthen the bowels, and stimulate the secretions of the liver. If the bowels and liver are active and working harmoniously, waste matter and poisons which cause biliousness, stomach trouble, headache, backache, colds and rheumatism cannot accumulate in the system.

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly" begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

PUT OUT OF BUSINESS

Lumbermen and Jobbers Fail to Receive Enough Cars.

NORTHERNERS HANDICAPPED

Lumber, as Result, Will Advance in Price—Great Quantity of Timber Cut, But Transportation Facilities Are Short.

Marquette, Mich., Feb. 19.—The inability of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway company to supply cars to the timber jobbers and lumber companies operating at points along its line between Negaunee and Escanaba is driving many of them out of business. When the season opened there were from 75 to 100 jobbers at work in the woods, but it is said that all but a few have suspended operations.

Some have not been able to ship a single carload of timber, and others have got out only a small portion of their cut. The contractors have made repeated requests for cars, but the supply is far short of the requirements.

"This season is the worst the operator in the territory south of Negaunee have ever experienced," said a timber dealer recently. "There is less than one-fourth as many cars available as last winter, when some jobbers were driven out of business because they could not ship their products. The amount of timber that will be shipped this winter is trifling compared with the quantity sent out in former years.

"The timber cannot be hauled from the woods during the summer, and the jobbers have found by experience that it does not pay to haul it out in the winter and bank it near the track, as the reloading it too expensive. The jobbers must have the cars on the siding, where they can load from their sleighs.

"The shortage of cars will result in an advance in the price of the forest products. There is a great quantity of timber cut in the district, but there is no telling when the owners will get it out. It is a condition that will hit Marquette range mining companies, many of which depend on the Negaunee-Escanaba region for their timber supplies, and all of which count on procuring a sufficient stock each winter to last throughout the summer.

"The car shortage is not the only obstacle that is bothering the railway people. There is a shortage of other equipment as well. The rolling stock is not in the best of condition, and there are not enough engines. However, probably the railways are not altogether to blame, as they are unable to get the equipment necessary to meet requirements in all departments."

FOUND HIS FATHER.

Old Man Finally Recalled He Had a Son Named Archie.

Bay City, Mich., Feb. 19.—Archie Hay, proprietor of the Arlington hotel, at Marshall, ended a 23-year search for his father Monday, when he found the old man working contentedly at the county farm for $8 per month.

The elder Hay left home nearly 30 years ago, and the family had never been able to learn his whereabouts. When the mother died, 10 years ago, a special effort was made to find the old man, without avail. Archie walked up to his father yesterday morning, and said:

"I am your son; don't you remember me?"

"Eh?—or—I don't quite," answered his father.

Then followed a recital of the family history, and after a time the aged father remembered that he did have a son named Archie.

It seems the old man is quite satisfied and may not return home with his son. They had dinner together at the farm, and the long-lost father appeared very proud of his new-found son.

A Choice of Evils.

Landlady—Would you advise me to send my daughter to a cooking school or to a music school? Boarder (reflectively)—Well, I think I'd send her to a cooking school. It may be more fatal in its results, but it isn't anything like so noisy.

BAR THE JAPANESE

Final Negotiations With Californians Result in It.

CONDITIONS ARE MADE PUBLIC

Orientals Given School Privileges Under Certain Conditions—President Gompers, of A. F. of L., Elated Over Outcome of the Conferences.

Washington, Feb. 19.—Japanese children are to be admitted to the white schools of San Francisco, under certain restrictions; skilled and unskilled laborers coming from Japan barred from the mainland of the United States, and American laborers, skilled and unskilled, are to be excluded from Japan. This is the basis of the agreement between President Roosevelt, Secretary Root, Mayor Schmitz and the San Francisco school board as an adjustment of the anti-Japanese agitation brought about by the segregation of Japanese children in the schools of San Francisco.

The agreement means that the school of San Francisco will be conducted in the same manner as they were before the board of education adopted the resolution last October providing for the segregation of the Japanese, except that adult Japanese who are in primary grades, must continue to attend the oriental schools, and that Japanese children under sixteen years of age will be admitted to classes with white children of their own age. While the resolution of the school board, as amended, reads "children of alien birth," it is freely admitted by Mayor Schmitz and his associates that the resolution will apply only to the Japanese children and that the change in the wording was to make it plain to the Tokio government that no discrimination was intended against Japanese children.

Attorney Williams Explains.

Assistant City Attorney Williams of San Francisco, who has acted as legal adviser to Mayor Schmitz and the board of education since negotiations have been pending in Washington, last night said:

"To understand the exact meaning of a statement given out by Mayor Schmitz, explaining fully the negotiations, it will be necessary for the newspaper men to read between the lines. The only concession we have made is to admit Japanese children to the white schools, while in return the administration has brought about the exclusion of Japanese laborers from this country."

Mayor Schmitz said:

"This is only a temporary agreement. President Roosevelt has given us direct and positive assurance that he will at once begin negotiations with Japan for the purpose of bringing about a new treaty that will exclude Japanese laborers, skilled and unskilled, from continental United States."

It was pointed out that where Japanese children cannot meet the educational requirements special classes will be organized for them in the white schools and also that the clause of the agreement which vests in the principal of the school the discretionary power to reject any application for admission to the school is the provision particularly aimed to meet the question of excluding Chinese children.

Labor Is Pleased.

The Central Labor union of this city last night gave a reception in honor of Mayor Schmitz and the school board. President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, who presided, paid a high tribute to Mayor Schmitz, and declared that in bringing about the exclusion of coolie labor from this country he won a victory for which the American Federation of Labor has been fighting for the past decade.

Mayor Schmitz and his associates will leave for San Francisco tonight.

Japanese Apparently Satisfied.

Tokio, Feb. 19.—The passage of President Roosevelt's passport bill by the senate of the United States, was semi-officially announced this morning. The leading newspapers today explained that this action by the United States government is perfectly legitimate and in accordance with treaty stipulations. It is also pointed out that the promise of success of the judicial procedure in the school question is lessening. The newspapers thus far have refrained from making comment on this latest news from Washington. It is believed that the emigration companies will combine to attack the government's attitude if an agreement is reached with America on the basis proposed. It is thought that the general public, while regretting the solution of the San Francisco school question in this form, will calmly resign itself to the situation.

DIDN'T WANT HIS LIFE

Thaw, in Tombs, Disclaimed Intentions to Kill White.

SO TESTIFIES DOCTOR EVANS

Alienist Visited Defendant in Prison Shortly After Architect Was Slain—Thaw's Will Admitted—Jerome Fights Much of Evidence.

New York, Feb. 19.—"I never wanted to shoot the creature. I never wanted to kill him. I knew he was a foul creature, destroying the mothers and daughters of America, but I wanted, through legal means, to bring him to trial. I wanted to get him into court—to bring him to justice. But Providence took charge of it; it was an act of Providence."

This is Harry K. Thaw's own story of the killing of Stanford White. It was told by him to Dr. Britton D. Evans, the alienist, last August, in the Tombs. Monday Dr. Evans repeated the prisoner's words to the jury which is trying Thaw for his life.

District Attorney Jerome fought hard last week against the introduction of this evidence, which the defense believes is conclusive proof that Thaw did not know his act was wrong. Once the testifying physician had declared that in their opinion Thaw was insane at the time he made the statements to them, however, the rules of evidence permitted the introduction of the prisoner's words.

Will Is Produced.

In further bulwarking their contention that Thaw was insane when he killed Stanford White, the defendant's counsel succeeded Monday in placing before the jury the will executed by Thaw the night of his marriage in April, 1905, and a codicil to the will executed at the same time.

Again Mr. Jerome fought the evidence but he significantly withdrew his objections after Dr. Evans had given it as his expert opinion that Thaw was insane at the time he executed the will. The fact that the district attorney seems disposed to let in testimony of every character provided there is a preliminary opinion from the witness that the man was of unsound mind at the time to which the testimony refers, was taken as further indicating that Mr. Jerome may at the psychological moment, if he deems his hand strong enough, demand the appointment of a commission to pass upon Thaw's state of mind at the present moment.

The will and the codicil, as read to the jurors Monday, were offered in evidence as cumulative testimony of Thaw's mental unsoundness prior to the killing of White. In his will Thaw provided that his executors should set apart the sum of $50,000 for the investigation of his death in case of a violent or suspicious end, and for the prosecution of the persons suspected of having had a hand in his taking off. In the codicil Thaw left to a lawyer in Pittsburg the sum of $7,500 to be used in securing legal redress from Stanford White and one other person, whose name was not allowed to be read, for the benefit of four young women, who, Thaw declared, had been the victims of "degrading assaults," in a house "furnished and used for orgies by Stanford White and other inhuman scoundrels." The names of the four young women were mentioned by Thaw, but were not made public. Thaw also bequeathed sums of $3,500 each to the Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst, Anthony Comstock and a lawyer named in his codicil, to be used in discovering further alleged misdeeds by Stanford White and securing redress for the women.

Other Physicians.

Two other physicians will take the stand today, Drs. Hammond and Jelliffe, and it is said that it will be part of their function to detail the improvement in Thaw's mental condition during the period of his confinement in the Tombs, declaring that the stress which caused the mental explosion was removed with the putting away of Stanford White. It is also said that Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw might go on the stand this afternoon to complete her story.

The trial Monday entered its fifth week. The opening of court found Attorney Delmas again in his accustomed place at the head of Thaw's counsel table. During the day there was no surface indication of the storm which, it is said, raged among counsel for the defense during the latter part of last week after the trial had been adjourned, because of the death of Juror Bolton's wife. Mr. Bolton was early at the criminal courts building, and said that he felt perfectly able to go on with the trial. It was decided that the jurors should not again be confined until they finally retire to make up their verdict.

Dr. Evans, who has been by far the most important witness for the defense among the medical experts, detailed at great lengths his conversations with Thaw in the Tombs. He told of how Thaw declared that his lawyers and physicians were in a conspiracy with the district attorney to "railroad" him off to an asylum, and to prevent his case from coming to trial. He declared that "they wanted to close this matter up." Thaw told the physician that in his attempts to bring Stanford White to justice he had complained to District Attorney Jerome, and that the latter had told him to let the matter drop; that there was nothing to it. He also complained to Anthony Comstock and to a detective agency.

Dr. Evans was corroborated as to most of Thaw's statements by Dr. Charles G. Wagner, of Binghamton, who first figured as a witness early last week.

Late in the afternoon District Attorney Jerome cross-examined Dr. Evans briefly on the one point of his opinion that Thaw was of unsound mind at the time of executing his will.

SEEKING THE CAUSE.

Four Investigations Into the New York Central Wreck Being Held.

New York, Feb. 19.—Four distinct investigations into the wreck of the Brewster express on the New York Central railroad Saturday, were in progress Monday and resolutions were introduced into the legislature for a legislative investigation. One of the investigations already under way was under the direction of the coroner, a second was made by the New York state railroad commission, a third by the district attorney's office of New York county and the fourth by the railroad.

Police lists show 21 dead as a result of the wreck, with a possibility that four or five others may die in hospitals or at their homes in this city or White Plains. It is expected that the final death list will not exceed 25. Most of the injured are doing well, about a dozen remaining under treatment in the hospitals in the Bronx.

Coroner Schwannecke Monday after taking the evidence of passengers and one railroad official in his court, conducted his jury to the scene of the disaster and they went over the ground with them and with several witnesses.

The state railroad commission Monday went over the scene of the wreck, accompanied by several railroad officials. No announcement was made, but it is said that the commissioners are inclined to the belief that the accident was due to a defect in the motors of one of the cars. It was intimated, though not officially, that the wreck was not due either to defective rails or the too great speed of the train. It was also determined, it is said last night, that the motor cars also left the track.

ADOPTS CONFERENCE REPORT.

Immigration Bill's Chances of Passing House Increase.

Washington, Feb. 19.—Under suspension of the rules, the house Monday adopted the conference report on the immigration bill although the democrats generally made a party issue against the passport provision as well as to that requiring increased air space in vessels.

The house refused to suspend the rule and pass the bill recommended by the interstate and foreign commerce committee as a substitute for the so-called LaFollotte bill, limiting employment on railroads to 16 hours, the democrats voting solidly against the substitute.

As the result of more than five hours' consideration of the agricultural appropriation bill Monday, the senate increased from $3,500 to $5,000 the salary of Gifford Pinchot, chief of the bureau of forestry. The debate was devoted mostly to the methods of administration and general policy of the forest service, and at times broadened to include the public land question generally. Practically no progress was made on the agriculture bill.

State Legislature In Session Half Hour—Several Bills Introduced.

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 19.—Both houses convened at 8 o'clock last night for the first time since last Wednesday. They were in session about half an hour and the members were far more busy in talking about last Thursday's convention than in transacting business.

Among bills introduced were those to require private detective agencies and those individuals who work on their account to take out a license once every five years from the secretary of state at a cost of $200, also to give a bond of $300; for a non-partisan constitutional convention of three members for each senatorial convention, only two of which can belong to any one party.

Rep. Knight introduced a measure for a commission of nine to investigate the tax system of Michigan and other states and report to the next legislature. Twenty-five thousand dollars is to be appropriated for the commissioners' salaries and expenses.

Representative Campbell had a bill providing that freight rates fixed by the interstate commerce commission shall govern on all roads wholly within the state, and Representative Davis one exempting credits from taxation.

Gets $11,000 Verdict.

Saginaw, Mich., Feb. 19.—The jury in the case of Moses V. Dupuis vs. the Saginaw Valley Traction Co., returned a verdict for $11,000 in favor of the complainant. This case has been before Judge C. H. Gage for the past three years and has been to the supreme court having been sent back for a new trial. Dupuis sued for injuries received by being thrown off a car platform in 1904.

Crushed by Elevator.

Dowagiac, Mich., Feb. 19.—Ralph Hodges, a patternmaker at the Round Oak shops, is dead from being crushed in an elevator in the shops Friday evening.

BRIEF DISPATCHES

The Italian government has issued instructions that the directors of all schools explain to their students on Washington's birthday, the meaning and importance of this day in the United States.

G. S. Corbion, a professional base ball pitcher, who played a portion of last season with the Philadelphia National League club, is under arrest in Kansas City, charged with passing worthless checks.

Two men were killed, five others were fatally injured and 20 more were less seriously hurt, as the result of an explosion of the boiler at the sawmill of L. M. Brouthers, at State Line, Ark., several miles north of Blytheville, Monday.

Prof. J. R. S. Sterrett, of Cornell university, has announced that he would lead a party of Cornell explorers into the unmapped regions of Asia Minor this spring. Andrew Carnegie, Jacob H. Schiff and W. K. Vanderbilt are among the financial backers of the project.

Mrs. Joseph Walrous and Mrs. Helen Ignat were instantly killed Monday night by a Baltimore & Ohio express train at Hackett station, one mile west of Finleyville, Pa. The women were walking on the railroad track and stepped off a side track to avoid a freight train and were run down by the express.

A jewelry company in Houston, Tex., was robbed of $50,000 worth of loose diamonds Monday. A man entered the store and asked for an unmounted diamond to match one he had. A box of loose stones was produced by the clerk. After looking them over the man did not appear to be satisfied, and said he would send his wife around in the afternoon. He left the store, and, as the clerk supposed, the box of diamonds was returned to the safe. There was occasion to take the box from the safe again in the afternoon, and it was then discovered that the box was substituted for one containing only tissue paper.

Friend Died; Took Her Own Life.

New York, Feb. 19.—Mrs. Bertha Bauduay, a handsome woman of 28 years, committed suicide in her apartments in a boarding house at 346 West 58th street, Monday, by shooting. In a note addressed to her father, C. H. Faymor, care of the United States Brokerage Co., room 710 Missouri Trust Co. building, St. Louis, Mo., Mrs. Bauduay wrote that she had received word that a dear friend had died and she "could not stand it any longer." Mrs. Bauduay was the wife of Louis Bauduay, a traveling man, whose occupation necessitated his being away from home a great deal of the time.

SUCCESSFUL OPERATION.

Bone of Dog Grafted Into Little Lad's Leg.

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 19.—Friends of M. J. Buck, well known furniture dealer of this city, at present in Los Angeles, have received word that Danny, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Buck, who underwent a remarkable operation in which a bone from a dog was grafted in the boy's leg, has made a fine recovery.

The operation was performed in Detroit last June, and Daniel and his parents went at once to California, where he could have the benefit of a congenial climate and plenty of outdoor air. The bone in one of Danny's legs had become diseased and decayed. The operation was watched by several eminent surgeons. It is considered a triumph in the art of surgery.

Justice Granger Not Guilty.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Feb. 19.—The jury sitting in the case against Justice Orley C. Granger, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses from Frank S. Gould, manager of the Postal Telegraph Co., here, brought in a verdict of not guilty. The case went to the jury shortly after 5 o'clock Monday afternoon. A verdict was reached in 40 minutes.

Rising from the grave.

A prominent manufacturer, Wm. A. Fartwell of Lucama, N. C., relates a most remarkable experience. He says "After taking less than 3 bottles of Electric Bitters I feel like one rising from the grave. My trouble is Bright's disease in the diabetes stage. I fully believe Electric Bitters will cure me permanently for it has stopped the liver and bladder complications which have troubled me for years." Guaranteed by C. A. Wright, druggist. Price 50c.

Burns and Picric Acid.

Dr. Thierry, one of the surgeons in attendance at the Paris Charity hospital, was in the habit of using picric acid as an antiseptic, and his hands were therefore impregnated with the solution. One day in lighting a cigarette a portion of the burning match fell on his hand; but, instead of feeling it, he did not notice the slightest pain. A short time afterward, while in the act of sealing a valuable letter, a portion of the burning wax stuck to his finger, and, though it cauterized the skin, it was no more painful to him than if it had fallen on an armored glove of steel. This curious lack of feeling set the doctor's wits to work, and he soon arrived at the conclusion that the acid had, to use his own words, acted upon the tissues and tightened them. He then began a series of experiments in treating burns with a saturated solution of picric acid. In every case he treated all pain was instantly suppressed.—Philadelphia Record.

Ireland's Coast Cliffs.

The finest cliff scenery in the United Kingdom is on the coast of the county of Donegal, at the northwest of Ireland, facing the Atlantic, where the variety and grandeur of the cliffs are most thrilling and impressive. Slieve League, south of Glen Columbkille, is a superb introduction to Donegal's coast splendors. In less than half a mile from the sea the mountain rears its height of nearly 2,000 feet. In the island of Achill, off the west coast of Ireland, the cliffs of Croghan, at Achill Head, rise sheer from the water's edge to the dizzy height of 3,000 feet.—London Standard.

Smoked Glass.

Murphy—Well, this bates the mischief. Dooley tole me that if I shmoked a piece of glass I'd be able to see the spots on the sun. Sure, ain't I fairly kilt wid thrying to make me pipe draw? 'Tis the way, I'm thinking, that either I haven't the right kind of glass or else Dooley's been fooling me.—London Opinion.

Bryce Best Paid Ambassador.

London, Feb. 19.—The British embassy at Washington is now the best paid post in the British diplomatic service, the salary of the ambassador having been raised with the appointment of James Bryce to $50,000 per year. Mr. Bryce is also given $10,000 to pay the expenses of installing himself in the embassy. The next best paid ambassador, the one at Paris, gets $45,000.

How Long the Bills Last.

A dollar bill has an average life of about fifteen months. Two dollar bills, not being quite so actively used, last on the average more than sixteen months. A five dollar bill lives on an average two years before it is worn out and the government is called upon to replace it. Ten dollar bills last about three years and twenty dollar bills more than four years.—Youth's Companion.

Ohio sends 412 students to the University of Michigan, or almost exactly 9 per cent. of the total number enrolled which was last year 1,571 students. Illinois sends 412, New York 268, Pennsylvania 200 and Indiana 186.—U. of M. News Letter.

David DeWaters of Manchester, has brought suit against Jas. Bacom of Norvell to get back a farm in Manchester township which he exchanged for 80 acres in Mississippi which he claims does not belong to Bacom.—Saline Observer.

While skating near where the men were cutting ice in the river Monday, Wade DeWolfe was unfortunate enough to venture too near the danger place and consequently took a headlong plunge into the drink. As the water wasn't particularly agreeable for pleasure bathing he was soon rescued and hustled to his home.—Dundee Reporter.

S. A. Foster who has been in this locality renewing right of way contracts over the survey of the Toledo & Jackson electric line was in Toledo over Sunday. Mr. Foster is also renewing assurances that the line will be built during the coming summer and is not dismayed at finding most of our residents willing but skeptical.—Brooklyn Ex.

As Mrs. E. H. Warner was passing along First street the other day, a man ran against her in such a manner as to cause her to turn partly around. In doing so she let go of the front of her cape on one side of which was a pocket containing several valuable papers. These she soon missed, but the man had disappeared. Mrs. Warner says she can identify him.—Milan Leader.

Burton Hart, prosecuting attorney of this county gives notice that all slot machines used as gambling devices must go and that any violators of the law in this instance will not only have the machines siezed and destroyed but will themselves be prosecuted. During the January session of the board of supervisors resolutions were adopted condemning these machines and asking that something be done to remedy the evil, consequently this act.—Adrian Press.

C. W. Pelham of Jackson, who now owns the old Pelham farm west of Napoleon started on a ten weeks' trip on the road Monday morning. He now receives $1000 a year as travelling salesman for a pattern house. In former days he accompanied his father, Henry Pelham, as one of the hands about a threshing machine that went from farm to farm about Brooklyn and Napoleon. Henry Pelham is still living with the older boys in Dakota.—Brooklyn Exponent.

The golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Wight, celebrated at their home 305 Military avenue, Detroit, last week, brought back many fond remembrances to the couple who, 50 years ago, were united in marriage in a log cabin in Sunfield, Eaton county, Mich. They were both married young, Mrs. Wight being 15 and Mr. Wight 19 years of age. He was born in Hillsdale county in 1837, and Mrs. Wight, whose maiden name was Matilda Hunt, was born in Detroit on Jefferson avenue near where the old Biddle house now stands, in 1841. Their only child, a son, died several years ago.—Chelsea Standard Herald.

Albert Smart for many years a resident of this city, but who for the past four years had been working for the Lake Shore at Air Line Junction, died suddenly Sunday night while in a street car and on his way to his boarding place in that city. He had been here for an over Sunday visit with his son, Fred, as usual, and was, when he left for Toledo that night about 9:30, in apparently the best of health. It was an awful shock to his son and wife. Fred went to Toledo on the early train Monday morning after the remains and returned the same day. Deceased was 65 years old and very highly respected by all who knew him. Heart disease was thought to be the cause of his death.—Adrian Times.

Geo. Mosher, a deputy sheriff of this county, had a narrow escape from being drowned in Saw Beese lake Monday. He was returning from serving legal papers on some of the men who are helping gather the ice crop on the lake and thinking to save himself a few steps by taking a short cut across the ice, walked where the ice was too thin to support his weight and down he went into the icy depths. When he came up he called lustily for help but no one heard him. Finally after a terrible battle with the ice which cut his arms and face in a frightful manner, he succeeded in dragging himself to where the ice would support him, crawled out and went to the city's pumping station where he secured warm dry clothing before returning home.—Hudson Post.

Are Book Reviews News?

There seems to be a difference of opinion among editors as to whether the appearance of an important new book is the arriving of any mention in a crowded newspaper. Is the review of a good novel or a great history a matter of real public interest, the Chicago Record-Herald is one of the comparatively few newspapers that answers this question in the affirmative by printing reviews and news of the latest books every day in the week. It believes that its readers are intelligent men and women who wish to keep up with the world's literary events as well as with other important news. Its literary department under the editorship of Edwin Shuman, is generally acknowledged to be the most ably conducted in the West. Mr. Shuman's reviews are sought and quoted all over the country and so are those of his brilliant corps of assistants. Walter Littlefield's news letter from New York every Saturday keeps the Chicago Record-Herald's readers informed on all the forthcoming books of importance and a cable dispatch from London every Sunday gives the latest book news of the English capital. Thus by covering the literary events of the world as thoroughly as those of every other field the Chicago Record-Herald has become the leading authority in that line west of New York. It is not strange that people of literary tastes prefer it.

"For over thirty years," writes a gentleman in Los Angeles, "I have used Arbuckles' Coffee. Many times my family has tried other coffee only to come back to our old reliable, unchangeable Arbuckles.' No other coffee has this uniform never failing aroma, I care not at what price. I have often wished I could tell you this." Many other people have the same opinion. Arbuckles' was the first roasted packaged coffee, and its sales exceed all the others put together. That it costs you less is due simply to our coffee business being so much greater than any competitors, in fact, it is larger than the next four largest firms in the world combined. We naturally can and actually do give better coffee in ARIOSA than anyone else can give for the price; Being the standard article it is sold at the narrowest margin of profit.

Some grocers will try to sell you instead loose coffee which the roaster is ashamed to sell in a package bearing his name.

Don't take it, neither the looks nor the price indicate its cup quality. No matter where you buy Arbuckles' ARIOSA, or what you pay for it, it's the same old uniform Arbuckles' ARIOSA Coffee.

If your grocer will not supply, write to ARBUCKLE BROS., New York City.

At the Universalist parsonage last evening the four children of Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon Teiry were dedicated to the Lord. They were Richard, Genevieve, Maud and Kenneth. A part of the baptismal service was the presentation to each one of an opening rose bud as a memento of the occasion and symbol of the unfolding of christian character. A large number were present to witness the event. The music was led by Mrs. Nisle.

About Anthony Fence.

The Anthony Fence Co. have orders ahead now for about 200,000 rods or 600 miles of fence. They also have orders for immediate shipment of 90,000 rods, which are held up to some extent because of car shortage at present. Have orders now for all the fence they have in stock and all they can make in 10 days and nights, running an all night force. From present indications they will be compelled to maintain an all night force until early summer.

The company's sales this year will reach nearly one million rods. They have 700 agencies now covering 5 states. While their business is largely done in Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Kentucky they make shipments to nearly all states and territories, having numerous inquiries from foreign ports, Mexico, Porto Rico, etc.

Miss Lena Smith, the young lady who won in the free trip to Cuba contest given by the Free Press.

CUBAN TRIP

Miss Lena Smith of this place wins in the contest given by the DETROIT FREE PRESS

For a trip to Cuba. Leaves Detroit March 2 for a three weeks' trip.

Saturday, Feb. 16th, closed a very interesting voting contest given by the Detroit Free Press, in which they offered to send 20 young ladies in Michigan, who received the largest number of votes given for subscriptions taken for the Free Press, to Cuba and Florida for an eighteen day trip. One hundred nine young ladies entered the contest, among them Miss Lena Smith of this place, who is one of the fortunate ones, having led her district during the entire contest.

The final count revealed the fact that she was leader not only in her own district, but led by several thousand votes all of the districts outside of the city of Detroit, her vote being 167,457. Miss Smith's opponents were young ladies from Monroe, Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti. Miss Lena Smith is not only a very affable and charming young lady but it can be imagined that to get this large number of votes, 167,457, it must be a very laborious and difficult task.

It took lots of grit and stick-to-itiveness beside the ability to get all her friends to work for and assist her. Beside her work for herself she did greater work for Tecumseh because as an advertisement she is better than a ball team would have been, from which Tecumseh has received such great renown in the last few years. The Free Press is the best paper in Michigan and her name has been in this paper constantly for the last three months and such an advertisement is certainly a great thing for the town. The little lady has certainly done her share for her old town, which should be greatly appreciated and no doubt is.

The HERALD extends to Miss Smith congratulations and best wishes for a delightful trip. An itinerary of the tour was printed in this paper a short time ago. They leave Detroit at noon Saturday, March 2nd, and returning arrive in Detroit Tuesday afternoon, March 19th. Miss Smith went to Detroit this noon to attend a reception given by Miss Hester Sage to the fellow members of the Tour to Cuba party at her home on 55 Butternut street, this evening.

SMELTZER-McCLURE

The marriage of two popular young people took place at the SMELTZER HOME

East of town Saturday evening.

The Smeltzer homestead was the scene of one of the principle events of the social season last Saturday evening, Feb. 16, when Bertha Florine Smeltzer was united in marriage to Samuel Wilson McClure in the presence of more than 100 relatives and guests. The spacious rooms were decorated under the direction of Lester Heesen, whose artistic taste was everywhere reflected. The parlor and dining room were in green, tempered in delicate white effects, of bridal ribbons, hyacinths and carnations. A magnificent canopy of lace and flowers added a pretty effect to the ceremony The reception room was in green with wedding bells.

The door was attended by Master Glenn Griswold, a cousin of the bride, with Mesdames James McCann, Richard Mead, S Wesselius and Ernest Coller in the receiving line. Promptly at vesper time the dulcet strains of the wedding march from Mendelssohn were rendered by Mrs. Ella Hodges. The ceremonies began by the ribbon bearers, Misses Margaret Freeman and Ruth Ward, Masters Dale Hodges and Harold McClure, opening the way through the throng to the altar for the wedding party.

Miss Helen Landgraf of Toledo, dressed in white chiffon over blue mousseline acted as maid of honor and Mr. Oliver D. Dales of Niagara, N. Y., as best man. Little Gladys Gertrude Griswold prettily dressed in white, daintily bore the ring on an American Beauty rose bud. The bride was beautifully attired in white mousseline over taffeta, trimmed with baby Irish lace. She carried a shower bouquet of ferns tied with green tulle. The pledges were taken and the words which made them man and wife were spoken by Rev. H. K. Fox of the Presbyterian church.

A sumptuous collation was served under the direction of Caterer Mattis, assisted by the bride's class of pupils in china painting The gifts in gold and silver, cut glass, mahogany and fine linen were, indeed, magnificent and reflect to a marked degree the high esteem and affection in which the young people are held.

The groom is popular and well known in the community, having lived here a number of years He is a graduate of the engineering department of the M. A. C., has worked his way through life and well merits the success he has attained. He now holds an important and lucrative position with the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern railroad with headquarters at Cleveland.

Among the out of town guests were, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Griswold of Milan, Mr. and Mrs. Landgraf and son, John Landgraf. Mr. and Miss Brengan of Toledo, Mr. and Mrs Geo. H. Stacy of Buffalo, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Howe of Milan. Mr. J Peters of Cleveland, Mrs. Fred Taylor of Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. Wesselius of Grand Rapids, Mich. Mr. and Mrs. McClure left that evening for a short trip through Illinois and will be at home to their friends in Cleveland after March 15.

Mrs. Ruth Taylor.

Ruth Rose Wheeler was born in the town of Wheeler, Steuben county, New York State, Feb. 2, 1823 and entered into rest Feb. 16, '07. She came with her parents to Michigan in 1831 and her home has been in or near Tecumseh nearly all these years. She was married to Mr. Taylor in 1879 and moved to Oceana county. After 12 years her husband died and since then she has made her home with relatives near Tecumseh, for the past nine years living at H. B. Eaton's.

She gave her heart to God in early life and has ever been a faithful consistent christian. Her life has been a benediction and her end is peace. One sister, Mrs. Philura Hood, at the advanced age of 87, survives her at her home in Detroit. The funeral was held at the house yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. Ward officiating. Burial at Brookside.

Neighbors got fooled.

"I was literally coughing myself to death and had become too weak to leave my bed and neighbors predicted that I would never leave it alive but they got fooled for thanks be to God I was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery. It took just four one dollar bottles to completely cure the cough and restore me to health," writes Mrs. Eva Uncapher of Grovertown, Stark Co., Ind. This king of cold cures and healer of throat and lungs, is guaranteed by C. A. Wright druggist. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

A full attendance is desired as there is important business to be considered.

Eva Fielder.

Eva, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs Chas. Fielder, died at their home last evening at 10 o'clock of brain fever, aged 10 months. The funeral will be held at the Friends church at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, Rev. Wollam officiating. Burial at Brookside.

CATARRH GROWING LESS.

Due to the use of Hyomei. Cures without stomach dosing.

Inquiry at the local drug stores shows that the sale of remedies for catarrh has decreased very much in the last year. Some medicines which were formerly bought a gross at a time are now purchased in half dozen lots and are rarely called for

There is one notable exception to this decrease in sale and that is Hyomei. This remedy is, in fact, responsible for the decrease in sale of catarrh medicines, as it has made so many cures of catarrhal troubles that naturally there is much less demand for remedies for that disease.

People who have been trying different medicines for catarrh during many years were induced to begin the use of Hyomei by C. A. Wright's guarantee, that the remedy would cost nothing unless cured. Much to their surprise, they found that Hyomei did what it claimed (if it did not C. A. Wright could not sell it under this guarantee) and they soon become ardent advocates of the use of Hyomei.

There is no disagreeable stomach dosing with Hyomei; it is used by being breathed through a neat pocket inhaler. The complete outfit costs but one dollar, extra bottles, if needed, fifty cents.

With every Hyomei outfit C. A. Wright gives his personal guarantee that the money will be refunded unless the treatment cures, so that you run no risk at all in buying this reliable remedy.

WEAK KIDNEYS MAKE WEAK BODIES.

Kidney diseases cause half the ills of Tecumseh people.

As one weak link weakens a chain, so weak kidneys weaken the whole body and hasten the final breaking down.

Overwork, colds and other causes injure the kidneys and the whole body suffers from the excess of uric poison circulated in the blood.

Aches, pains languor and urinary ills come and an increasing tendency towards diabetes and Bright's disease. There is no help for the sufferer except kidney help. Doan's Kidney Pills act on the kidneys and cure kidney ills. Tecumse cures are proof.

John B. Smith, deputy sheriff, living on east Chicago street, Tecumseh, Mich. says: "I have experienced a great deal of suffering from pains through the loins and about the kidneys and during an attack I could hardly work. I think the trouble was brought on by heavy farm work. On bending over I would be dizzy and spots of fire would continually flash before my eyes. I was restless at night and in the morning would get up tired and unrefreshed. I doctored a great deal but received no benefit. I read of Doan's Kidney Pills and the statements were so convincing that I tried them. I was benefited after taking the first box and this encouraged I continued on until they cured me. I now feel like a new man and I will always recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to those suffering from kidney trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's, and take no other.

All lives are beautiful in which the sovereign thought has been for the others.

Any skin itching is a temper tester. The more you scratch the worse it itches. Doan's Ointment cures piles, eczema—any skin itching. At all drug stores.

GUARANTEED REMEDY FOR INDIGESTION.

Interesting statement by John J. Orr.

When a man comes into this store and calls for any particularly indigestion remedy, we always give him what he asks for, but in case he leaves it to us, we usually recommend Pepsikola tablets.

Here is a preparation we have been selling right over the counter for years, and from actual observation we know it must do good, (and really does relieve and cure indigestion and dyspepsia or there would be a steady stream of people coming back for their money, as every 25c box is sold with the understanding that you must be decidedly benefited or there is nothing to pay.

You simply try Pepsikola tablets with the understanding that they will steady your nerves, improve your appetite, relieve wind belching, coated tongue, sour stomach, fullness after eating, weakened energy and other symptoms of indigestion or John J. Orr is ready at any time to pay back your money without the least argument.

MANY MINERS KILLED.

Explosion Occurs In Miners at Las Eperanzas, Mex.

Monterey, Mex., Feb. 19.—A dispatch to the News from Las Esperanzas, Coahuila, says that 39 men are known to be dead and 12 injured as a result of an explosion of gas in the coal mine at that place. The list of dead and injured may be extended to seventy, as that number of men are believed to have been in the mine at the time of the accident.

The explosion occurred at 7 p.m., in the Conquista mine No. 3. Thirty dead bodies have been taken out of the wrecked mine, and it is estimated that 75 more are yet in it.

Las Esperanzas is on the line of the International railway, about 75 miles from Eagle Pass, Tex. It is the principal coaling center in Mexico, and many men, including a large number of Japanese, are employed there.

"UNCLE JOE'S" MISTAKE.

Called House to Order Just One Hour too Early.

Washington, Feb. 19.—Last week the house of representatives decided to open its daily sessions at 11 o'clock this week, and voted to begin their day at 10 o'clock on Monday, Feb. 25, for the purpose of having eulogies until noon of that day.

At 10 o'clock Monday morning Speaker Cannon took the chair in the house and brought down the gravel with a thud that sent half a dozen scurrying pages to their benches. Two or three members who had arrived early stared in amazement at the speaker, who was looking in vain for the chaplain to offer the invocation.

Finally one of the house employes rushed to the speaker and told him that he was just a week too early with his ten o'clock session, and Mr. Cannon retired to his office leaving the few early comers in the house in great merriment.

TO PEACE ARBITRATION.

Differences of Honduras and Nicaragua Will Be Submitted.

Washington, Feb. 19.—The negotiations for settlement of the dispute between Nicaragua and Honduras has progressed to a point justifying the prediction at the state department that the issues soon can be submitted to a peace arbitration. But it is stated that it has been inexpedient to reconvene the arbitration which was interrupted in San Salvador recently, and, therefore, the present effort is to provide for another tribunal to settle all disputed questions between Nicaragua and Honduras, the location of the arbitration to be in Washington or the City of Mexico.

Senor Corea, the Nicaraguan minister, has entered a sweeping denial of the stories that have been published that his government or his people are opposed to a peaceful settlement of the difficulty, and he gave assurance that Nicaragua in fact had assented to the proposition to arbitrate the present difficulty.

FIVE BLOWN TO ATOMS.

Dynamite Explodes, Killing Men Working on Railroad.

London, Ky., Feb. 19.—Five men employed by the Louisville & Nashville railroad in laying a double track at Tunnel No. 6, north of Hazel Patch, were killed Monday by the explosion of one hundred sticks of dynamite, which they were thawing around a fire. The dead: Hugh Sutton, fireman; Frank Boles, Arthur Jones, Carr Eppes, Andrew Cleveland.

The last three named are colored. The bodies were blown to atoms, fragments of flesh being found in the tops of nearby trees.

Auto Industry Rapidly Develops.

Washington, Feb. 19.—The total production of automobiles in 1905, according to a census report, was 22,830, valued at $26,646,064, as against only 3,722 in 1900, with a value of $[illegible]748,011, an increase of 461.1 per cent. Of the 21,692 autos turned out by automobile factories, 18,699, or 86.2 per cent were propelled by gasoline; 1,568, or 7.2 per cent, by steam; and 1,425, or 6.6 per cent by electricity. The figures represent the output of 121 esablishments reporting the complete automobile. In addition there were 47 establishments engaged primarily in other lines of manufacture which turned out 1,138 automobiles, valued at 879,205; and 57 establishments which manufactured automobile bodies and parts to the value of $3,388,472.

Arranging Chrysanthemums.

In the arrangement of chrysanthemums the Japanese guard against seven faults. Their stems must not be of the same length, a single flower must not turn its back or present its full face, the flowers must not be hidden by leaves, or, should they be arranged in the way of steps, a full blown flower should never be placed at the base of the composition, and one odd one must not be allowed to fall between two others alike in color. Three flowers should not appear to form a triangle.

Nothing will relieve indigestion that is not a thorough digestant. Kodol digests what you eat and allows the stomach to rest—recuperate—grow strong again. Kodol is a solution of digestive acids and as nearly as possible approximates the digestive juices that are found in the stomach. Kodol takes the work of digestion off the digestive organs and while performing this work itself does greatly assist the stomach to a thorough rest. In addition the ingredients of Kodol are such as to make it a corrective of the highest efficiency and by its action the stomach is restored to its normal activity and power. Kodol is manufactured in strict conformity with the National Pure Food and Drug Law. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential.

Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the Local.

Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional.

The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucous membrane suppository remedy, while Dr. Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, seeking the repair of all nerve, all tissue, and all blood ailments.

The "Night Cure", as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, heals local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, eases nervous excitement, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—as a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well

FIVE TRAINMEN DEAD

Fast Express On Michigan Central Crashes Into Engine.

OCCURS WEST OF YPSILANTI.

Two Mail Clerks Among Those Killed —Men Engaged in Handling Ice Aid in Rescue—One Trainman Fatally Hurt, Removed to Detroit.

The Dead.

JOHN SCALLEN, engineer of express train, Detroit.

C. MILLER, fireman of ice train, Jackson.

SILAR H. M'ILLVAINE, mail clerk, Kalamazoo.

THOMAS LITTLE, head brakeman express train, Detroit.

ELLIOTT L. PARRISH, chief mail clerk, Detroit.

The Injured.

A. CALLON, fireman express train, Jackson.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 22.—Pounding through on the main line of the Michigan Central railroad at the rate of a mile or more a minute, train No. 31, known as the American Express, smashed into the engine of one of the road's ice trains near Shanghai pit, two miles west of Ypsilanti, about 3:40 p. m. Thursday. As a result of the wreck five men are dead, and a sixth so seriously injured it is feared he will die.

The American Express, train No. 31, leaves Detroit at 2:57 p. m. for Chicago. One of the huge 10-wheel engines, of the Pacific type, two express cars, a mail car and car for the crew make up the train. The engine and cars are badly wrecked and the track blocked, so trains over that line are being detoured over the Lake Shore via Hillsdale to Jackson.

"According to information received here," said Joseph S. Hall, local generala gent of the passenger department, "the cause of the wreck was the express train's running by the danger signal. The ice train with its crew was over in Shaighai pit and the engine had run out for switching purposes when No. 31 came along and the two met, the former catching the corner of the ice train engine."

A special carrying doctors was soon hurled out from Ypsilanti and a wrecking train sent from Jackson.

Engines Mass of Junk.

From appearances the two engines met full head on, the express engine telescoping the ice train engine about half its length, when it broke off, the remainder of the boiler rolling over on the opposite track, leaving the big drive wheels almost in their normal position on the west-bound track. The wrecking crew rolled the boiler down into the ditch, and where it had rested lay the remains of Engineer Scallen, crushed unrecognizably. Engineer F. Rowe, of the ice train engine, quickly saw the danger, jumped out of his cab and down the 12-foot embankment to safety. His fireman, Miller attempted to jump from the other side, but was an instant too late, and was killed. Fireman Callon of the express train was terribly, if not fatally, injured.

The tender of the freight engine was thrown 150 feet back. When the crane lifted the tender of the express engine the body of Little was picked up practically in pieces. These two bodies were taken to Ypsilanti in charge of Coroner Burchfield, who impaneled a jury. The remains were viewed and the inquest adjourned until March 2.

Icecutters to Rescue.

J. O. Havens and J. Hanson, icecutters, ran to the scene as soon as they heard the crash, and with axes and crowbars broke into the mail car. Inside they found mail bags in a great heap and from underneath came the sounds of moaning. They say they threw aside the bags and found Parrish and McIlvaine lying together, McIlvaine, with his teeth clenched to bear the frightful pain he was in and Parrish still moaning. Then with the words: "I am dying. Lord, have mercy," McIlvaine gave up the struggle and expired.

The icecutters say they found two clerks unhurt, but they did not learn their names. They took Parrish to a more comfortable place and also removed the body of his companion to one side.

Hunting for trouble.

"I've lived in California 20 years and am still hunting for trouble in the way of burns, sores, boils, cuts, sprains or a case of piles that Bucklen's arnica salve won't quickly cure" writes Chas. Walters of Alleghany. No use hunting Mr Walters, it cures every case. Guaranteed at C. A. Wright's. 25c.

GO TO WATERY GRAVES

Nearly 150 Persons Perish in Wreck Off Coast of Holland.

ONLY ONE PERSON SURVIVED.

Rotterdam Mail Steamer Berlin Strikes Ground While Entering Hook of Holland—Vessel Splits in Two—Members of Opera Company Drown.

London, Feb. 22.—The worst disaster for many years in the history of the busy cross-channel traffic between England and the continent occurred during a violent gale shortly before 6 o'clock Thursay morning, when the Rotteram mail steamer Berlin, from Harwich to Hook of Holland, having safely weathered the hurricane, was wrecked as she was entering the port. With one single exception, Capt. Parkinson, a passenger, all her passengers an crew, numbering altogether 143 persons, lost their lives.

The terrific seas broke up the steamer with such awful suddenness that all efforts to save life appear to have been utterly hopeless. It is reported that some few survivors were still clinging to the wreck, but as the heroic efforts of the lifeboat crews had failed to reach them, little hope that they will be saved remains.

Story of Disaster.

The story of the disaster is told with dramatic intensity by a series of brief but pregnant messages reaching Harwich Thursday from the agent of the Great Eastern Railway Co. at Hook of Holland. The first message was handed in at the Hook at half past six in the morning.

No cause has yet been assigned for the terrible accident, and it probably never will be known how the steamer came to miss the channel which, although 300 yards wide and well buoyed and lighted, is always difficult of access in rough weather. It is conjectured that some derangement to the engines or steering gear may have rendered the vessel uncontrollable.

The list of passengers on the ill-fated steamer was lost and all the name of those who were on board have not yet been learne, but as far as has been ascertained there were no Americans among the passengers.

Many doctors are waiting on the shore and have made attempts to resuscitate every one of thirty bodies so far washed ashore, but their efforts have been fruitless.

Captain Parkinson, who appears to be the sole survivor, was on his way to Amsteram to join his vessel, the Mymion, of the Holt Line, to bring her back to Liverpool. The captain, describing the disaster, says the night was the most terrible of all his experience. So terrific was the gale that he and others remained all night completely dressed on deck. The Berlin already was near the light at the Nieuler and the passengers, many of whom had not gone below, were beginning to breathe freely again after the terrible crossing, when the ship struck with a violent shock. Then suddenly the vessel broke in two. Captain Parkinson hurried to the bridge to offer Captain Precious help, but just as he put his foot on the ladder he saw the captain and the pilot swept away by the seas.

Is Rescued.

Of what followed Captain Parkinson cannot give a clear account. When he recovered himself he was in the water surrounded by floating timbers. One of these he seized, and he succeeded in keeping himself afloat until he saw the lifeboat. His cry for help was heard and he was picked up and brought ashore.

Among those drowned are 19 members of a German opera company, which had just concluded its season of Covent Garden. They include Fraulein Schoene of the Mannheim court opera, who last week sang the Wagnerian parts of Elsa and Elizabeth at Covent Garden; M. Orello, baritone, of Amsterdam, and M. Stellmach and Memmler, who all sang minor parts, and Fraulein Buttel, of the Court theater at Berlin, and Fraulein Gobel, of the Court theater at Dresden, who acted as leaders of the chorus during the Covent Garden season.

Shoots a Skunk, Shoots Self.

Davison, Mich., Feb. 22.—Wm. Fagan, farmer, accidentally shot himself in the head Thursday morning while trying to kill a polecat with a revolver. Fagan discovered the animal in his barn and, after having returned to the house for the revolver, was passing cautiously through the barn towards where the animal was lying when his foot caught in a wire, tripping him and causing the revolver to be discharged. The ball struck him on the right side of the scalp and plowed along the skull-bone, making a bad though not necessarily fatal wound.

MORE OF HER LIFE

Details of Mrs. Thaw's Career Dragged to Light By Jerome.

LITTLE WOMAN WEEPS ON STAND

Confesses Many Incidents Occurring in New York and Europe—Case Adjourns Over Until Monday—Mrs. Thaw Will Then Again Be on Stand.

New York, Feb. 22.—Under the stress of a cross-examination in which District Attorney Jerome gave no quarter, Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw broke down Thursday upon the witness stand. With blinding tears burning their way down cheeks which from ashen white had flushed to crimson, she admitted that after her first experience with Stanford White her relations with the architect continued for several months.

But this was not all. There were other confessions which, while damaging to her own character, accentuated all the more the terrible personal sacrifice she is making in the effort to save her husband from death in the electric chair. The case has progressed to the point where the defendant has been all but lost sight of. His girl-like wife is the figure about whom the storm lashes its fury. She it is, whose life is being searched out and who is being held up to scorn by the prosecuting officer.

Thaw, his face buried in his hands, might easily have been out of the court room picture and none would have missed him. All eyes were upon the witness chair and the slight figure in blue which occupied it.

At the close of the most eventful day of the trial. Mr. Jerome announced that he probably would keep Mrs. Thaw under fire for two more days. Adjournment was taken until Monday morning.

Questioned Her Closely.

There was no subject affecting the witness of so intimate a nature that the district attorney hesitated to haul it from its hiding place and hold it before the gaze of the world, all the while requiring that she should recognize and own the fault in her own words.

When Mr. Jerome was flaying the witness with questions to her relations with White, carrying her from place to place and demanding to know every detail, and while bitter tears were welling to her eyes two newspaper women, accustomed to harsher scenes of life, left heir places in the court room and made a hasty retreat out of the big portals. At last the prosecutor, himself, relented somewhat and suggested that the proceedings suspend. Mr. Delmas thought he detected an unfavorable slant to this and protested that the witness would be able to proceed. Mrs. Thaw wiped her eyes, stiffened up a bit and nodded to Mr. Jerome, and he proceeded.

After bringing out that her relations with White continued for some time, Mr. Jerome went deeper. Mrs. Thaw admitted that in 1903, after the return from Europe, she spent the night at Thaws apartments in New York and that for three weeks he and she occupied conecting apartments at the Grand hotel in this city. Mrs. Thaw admitted freely and with frankness that the champagne which she had tasted bitter the night she lost consciousness in the mirrored bedroom was no more bitter than any other champagne she had drunk. In fact, she declared, it tasted like all the rest. She denied that she had intended for the jury to assume otherwise.

Mrs. Thaw made what was considered perhaps was her most damaging statement to the defendant when she said he had showed her copies of cablegrams that were being sent to Stanford White from Europe asking him to use his influence with a certain man in London to prevent Mrs. Nesbit from "raising a fuss, and interfering with "Evelyn continuing in the company of Thaw."

Had Letter of Credit.

Mrs. Thaw also was forced to admit that when she and her mother went abroad with Thaw in 1903, they were still drawing upon the bounty of Stanford White. Evelyn declared that she had a letter of credit for $400 or $500 which was given to her by White and which she later turned over to Thaw. There was still a balance in the Mercantile Trust Co. to her order also.

"But mamma got all of that," said the witness.

Mr. Jerome dwelt for a long while upon the subject of the cablegrams which Thaw is said to have sent to White. He brought out that the cablegrams were sent after Thaw knew of the relations which had existed between Miss Nesbit and the architect. Mrs. Thaw would not admit that she knew positively who sent the cablegrams or whether her name was signed to them.

"Surely," remarked Mr. Jerome, "you don't mean to say that Thaw signed his own name?"

"No," she replied, "I don't mean that at all."

Letter Told of Gay Life.

A letter written by Mrs. Thaw in 1904 and telling of her gay life in Paris with Harry Thaw and a "bunch from the tenderloin" was read to the jury by Mr. Jerome. This brought out more testimony as to "the Dead Rat," a Parisian cafe. There seemed to be nothing to the witness' past life about which the prosecutor was not informed. He seemed to have been able to trace every step, largely due, doubtless, to the typewritten statement of the mother, which Mr. Jerome nearly always holds in his hands while hurling questions at the daughter.

The springing of sensations did not all rest with the district attorney. Mr. Delmas sent a genuine thrill through the court room by declaring that he had been informed it was the purpose of the district attorney to indict Mrs. Thaw. Mr. Jerome denied that any such statement had been made. He did not deny that purpose.

GIVEN CUP OF HONOR.

President Receives Beautiful Piece of Workmanship From Slavic Society of Moscow.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 22.—President Roosevelt Thursday was presented with a splendid cup of nonotwo feet high, a sample of slavonic art The cup was given by General Count Arthur de Tcherep-Spiridovitch, the president of the Slavic society of Moscow. The cup is of gold and silver, with an incrustation of enamel hand work. It is of old slavic style, standing on three lion legs and is capped with a helmet. Inside is a cylinder designed for holding parchments and other papers. In handing President Roosevelt the cup, the general expressed his great honor and pleasure in presenting a modest evidence of esteem, love and admiration of all the Slavonic people, "for his noble work in bringing about peace between Russian and Japan." If he said, in Russia there might have been different opinions about the advantage of peace, all the Slavonic people living outside of Russia, especially those in Macedonia, Bosnnia and Hersegovinia, who are suffering opression, regarded his efforts with the greatest enthusiasm, as they had looked to Russia as their defender for centuries. The general concluded by referring to the sincere and traditional friendship of Russia, for the United States and quoted the Russian proverb, "That one old friend is better than two new."

President Roosevelt, with warm expression of gratitude, asked General Spiridovitch to cordially thank the society for the gift.

Mrs. May Given Long Sentence.

Washington, Feb. 22.—Mrs. Jennie L. May, recently convicted of assault with intent to kill Lucien Conen, a member of the United States marine band, was Thursday sentenced to ten years in the Moundsville, W. Va., penitentiary. Conen lived for more than a year after receiving the wound, which precluded a charge of murder.

Gave Birth to Five Children.

Middlesboro, Ky., Feb. 22.—Mrs. Zabrowski, wife of Peter Zabrowski, a Polish miner at Fork Ridge, Thursday gave birth to five children, three girls and two boys. All are living.

What to the young man is a vision is to the old man a dream.

Foley's honey and tar cures the most obstinate coughs and expels the cold from the system as it is mildly laxative. It is guaranteed. The genuine is in the yellow package. For sale by all dealers in Tecumseh.

A man is not guilty until his wife catches him at it.

Any fool can catch on, but it takes a wise man to let go.

Habit is our heaven or our hell.

Special announcement regarding the National Pure Food and Drug Law.

We are pleased to announce that Foley's honey and tar for coughs, colds and lung troubles is not affected by the National Pure Food and Drug law as it contains no opiates or other harmful drugs and we recommend it as a safe remedy for children and adults. Sold by all druggists in Tecumseh.

Poverty is undoubtedly virtue's most persistent tempter.

Piles of people have piles. Why suffer from piles when you can use DeWitt's carbolized witch hazel salve and get relief. Nothing else so good. Beware of imitations. See that the name is stamped on each box. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

Faint heart never won the old man's consent.

If you are constipated, dull, or bilious or have a sallow lifeless complexion, try Lax-ets just once to see what they will do for you. Lax-ets are little toothsome candy tablets—nice to eat, nice in effect. No griping, no pain. Just a gentle laxative effect that is pleasingly desirable. Handy for the vest pocket or purse, Lax-ets meet every desire. Lax-ets come to you in beautiful lithographed metal boxes at 5 cents and 25 cents. Sold by all dealers.

Willie Wailed and Winnie wheezed while wintry winds whined weirdly. Willie wriggled while Winnie wheezed wretchedly. Wisdom whispers, winter winds work wheezes. Wherefore we write, "Use Kennedy's laxative cough syrup." Nothing else so good. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

An over polite man usually has an ax to grind.

Piles get quick relief from Dr. Shoop's magic ointment. Remember it's made alone for piles—and it works with certainty and satisfaction. Itching, painful, protruding or blind piles disappear like magic by its use. Try it and see! All dealers.

The editor of the Memphis, Tenn., Times writes: "In my opinion, Foley's honey and tar is the best remedy for coughs, colds and lung trouble and to my own personal knowledge it has accomplished many permanent cures that have been little short of marvellous." Refuse any but the genuine in the yellow package. For sale by all druggists in Tecumseh.

Many a good deed has died in intention for a lack of a little appreciation.

Use a little Kodol after your meals and it will be found to afford a prompt and efficient relief. Kodol nearly approximates the digestive juices. It digests what you eat. It is sold on a guaranteed relief plan. Sold here by B. J. Pulver.

Pacific Express Co. at Belcher's shoe store makes good time for all points as they do business over the Wabash system, which reaches all points east, west, south and north. Money orders sold and cashed, good anywhere in the world. J. J. BELCHER, Agent

Several of the county papers and nearly all the state papers on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week contained items of the death of S. A. Granger of Tecumseh, a wealthy and prominent man of the township. Investigations by this paper reveals the fact that Mr Granger was a resident of Tekonsha, Mich., and the article read in the paper was sent from that place instead of Tecumseh.

AVOID ALUM

AN UNSEEN DANGER IN FOOD

TO GUARD SHIPS against the unseen dangers at sea, the United States Government maintains lighthouses.

To guard your home against the unseen dangers of food products, the Government has enacted a pure food law. The law compels the manufacturers of baking powder to print the ingredients on the label of each can.

The Government has made the label your protection—so that you can avoid alum—read it carefully, if it does not say pure cream of tartar hand it back and

Say plainly—

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

ROYAL is a pure, cream of tartar baking powder—a pure product of grapes—aids the digestion—adds to the healthfulness of food.

BEWARE OF "DIGESTIVES"

The ordinary pepsin tablet has ruined more stomachs than all other causes combined. While it gives temporary relief, it leaves the digestive system weaker than ever, and the tablets must be continued with increased frequency.

The only way to permanently cure stomach troubles is by strengthening the digestive organs with Mi-o-na stomach tablets taken before meals. In this way the remedy prepares the stomach for the food and excites the secretion of gastric juices so that when the food is eaten, the stomach is prepared to digest it.

If Mi-o-na was a mere digestive, it would be taken after eating, so as to mix with the food, but then permanent relief would not be gained

Mi-o-na stomach tablets are sold only in a neat metal box, convenient for the purse or vest pocket, and cost but 50c C. A. Wright has seen so many cures made by Mi-o-na stomach tablets that he gives a guarantee with every box that the money will be refunded if the remedy fails to give satisfaction. You run no risk in using Mi-o-na for you are sure to be cured at trifling expense, or else your money will be returned.

WEAK KIDNEYS MAKE WEAK BODIES.

Kidney diseases cause half the ills of Tecumseh people.

As one weak link weakens a chain, so weak kidneys weaken the whole body and hasten the final breaking down

Overwork, colds and other causes injure the kidneys and the whole body suffers from the excess of uric poison circulated in the blood.

Aches, pains languor and urinary ills come and an increasing tendency towards diabetes and Bright's disease. There is no help for the sufferer except kidney help. Doan's Kidney Pills act on the kidneys and cure kidney ills. Tecumse cures are proof.

John B. Smith deputy sheriff, living on east Chicago street, Tecumseh, Mich. says: "I have experienced a great deal of suffering from pains through the loins and about the kidneys and during an attack I could hardly work. I think the trouble was brought on by heavy farm work. On bending over I would be dizzy and spots of fire would continually flash before my eyes. I was restless at night and in the morning would get up tired and unrefreshed. I doctored a great deal but received no benefit. I read of Doan's Kidney Pills and the statements were so convincing that I tried them. I was benefited after taking the first box and thus encouraged I continued on until they cured me. I now feel like a new man and I will always recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to those suffering from kidney trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's, and take no other

All lives are beautiful in which the sovereign thought has been for the others.

Any skin itching is a temper tester. The more you scratch the worse it itches. Doan's Ointment cures piles, eczema—any skin itching. At all drug stores.

Don't make a specialty of making mistakes unless you know where you can command a good salary for it.

Nothing will relieve indigestion that is not a thorough digestant. Kodol digests what you eat and allows the stomach to rest—recuperate—grow strong again. Kodol is a solution of digestive acids and as nearly as possible approximates the digestive juices that are found in the stomach. Kodol takes the work of digestion off the digestive organs and while performing this work itself does greatly assist the stomach to a thorough rest. In addition the ingredients of Kodol are such as to make it a corrective of the highest efficiency and by its action the stomach is restored to its normal activity and power. Kodol is manufactured in strict conformity with the National Pure Food and Drug Law. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

The sleeping church always awakes to shame.

Croup can positively be stopped in 20 minutes. No vomiting—nothing to sicken or distress your child. A sweet, pleasant and safe syrup, called Dr. Shoop' croup cure, does the work and does it quickly. Dr. Shoop's croup cure is for croup alone, remember. It does not claim to cure a dozen ailments. It's for croup, that's all. Sold by all dealers.

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the conditions of payment of a certain mortgage executed and delivered by James McCook, and Ora McCook, his wife, to Peter B. Smith, dated February 23d, 1891, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in the County of Lenawee, State of Michigan, on the 26th day of February A. D. 1891, in Liber 115 of Mortgages on pages 601 and 602; assigned by said Smith to Albert L. Brewer by due instrument in writing dated April 23d, 1894, and recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds on the 9th day of May A. D. 1902, in Liber 125 of Mortgages on page 458; and assigned by Percival W. A. Fitzsimmons as administrator of the estate of said Albert L. Brewer, deceased, (said Albert L. Brewer having meantime departed this life and said Fitzsimmons having been duly appointed administrator of said estate) to me, the undersigned, as Hattie W. Brewer (now by marriage Hattie W. Lawrence), by due instrument in writing dated October 18th, 1898, and recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds on the 11th day of November A. D. 1898, in Liber 141 of Mortgages on page 387; there being claimed to be due to the undersigned at the date hereof upon said mortgage, and the note secured thereby, the sum of fifteen hundred fifty-four and 32-100 dollars, and no suit or proceeding at law, or in equity, having been instituted for the recovery of said indebtedness, or any part thereof:

Notice is therefore hereby given that, by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained (now operative by said default), I will on Monday the 4th day of March, A. D. 1907, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the east front door of the Court House in the City of Adrian, in the County of Lenawee and State of Michigan (that being the place where the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee is holden) for the purpose of realizing the amount of said mortgage debt with interest thereon to accrue and costs of this foreclosure, including a lawful attorney fee, sell at public vendue to the highest bidder, the lands and premises in said mortgage described, viz:—Those lands in the Township of Clinton, County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, known as the west half of the south-west quarter of section two, town five south, range four east, containing eighty acres of land more or less.

HATTIE W. LAWRENCE,
(formerly Hattie W. Brewer),
Assignee of said mortgage.

Dated: November 8th, 1906
Fred'k B. Wood, Attorney for Assignee.

Mortgage Sale.

Whereas default has been made in the payment of the money secured by a mortgage dated the 19th day of April, 1895 executed by Eva Siler of Riga Township, Lenawee County, Michigan, to Albert Collins of Macon township, Lenawee County, Michigan, and which said mortgage was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Lenawee County Michigan, in Liber 166 of Mortgages on page 190 on the 14th day of April A. D. 1905 at 10:15 o'clock A. M; and whereas the amount claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice is the sum of Four Thousand One Hundred Sixty Dollars and Fifty-four cents ($4160.40) of principal and interest and the further sum of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) as an attorney fee stipulated for in said mortgage, and which is the whole amount claimed to be unpaid on said mortgage and no suit or proceeding having been instituted at law to recover the debt now remaining secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the said power of sale, and in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises therein described at public auction, to the highest bidder, at the east front door of the Court house in the City of Adrian in said County of Lenawee, on the 25th day of April next, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day which said premises are described in said mortgage as follows to-wit:—Being that part of section three (3) of Town Five (5) South, Range Five (5) East which is bounded as follows: Commencing at the North west corner of said section three, thence running East seventy-five rods and twenty-one links; thence South sixty-seven rods and seven and one fourth links; thence West seventy-seven rods and nine links; thence North sixty-six rods and twelve links to the place of beginning.

Also all that other tract or parcel of land situated in the township of Macon, Lenawee county, Michigan, bounded and described as follows to-wit:—By a line commencing sixty-six rods and twelve links South of the Northwest corner of section three (3) Town Five South, Range five East, thence running East one hundred and sixty rods; thence South forty and one half rods; thence West one hundred sixty rods; thence North forty and one half rods to the place of beginning. Containing in both parcels above described Seventy-three acres of land more or less

D. 1867, in Liber 43 of Mortgages on pages 626, 627 and 628; assigned by said Krouse to Robert Boyce by due instrument in writing, dated June 17th, 1869, recorded in said Register of Deeds' office on the 7th day of September A. D. 1869, in Liber 47, of Mortgages on pages 246 and 247; assigned by said Boyce to Herbert McHenry by due instrument in writing, dated August 24th, 1885, and recorded in said Register of Deeds' office on the 1st day of September A. D. 1885, in Liber 113 of Mortgages on page 42; assigned by said McHenry to A. D. VanTuyle and Charlotte C. Silvers by due instrument in writing dated October 8th 1890, and recorded in said Register of Deeds, office on the 25th day of February A. D 1891, in Liber 125 of Mortgages on page 217; assigned by said W. D. VanTuyle and Charlotte C Silvers to Peter B. Smith by due instrument in writing dated February 2 d, 1891, and recorded in said Register of Deeds' office on the 8th day of February A. D. 1891, in Liber 125 of Mortgages on page 216; assigned by said Smith to Albert L. Brewer, by due instrument in writing dated April 23d, 1894, and recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds on the 9th day of May A. D 1902, in Liber 125 of mortgages on page 458; and assigned by Percival W. A. Fitzsimmons as administrator of the estate of said Albert L. Brewer, deceased, (said Albert L. Brewer having meantime departed this life and said Fitzsimmons having been duly appointed administrator of said estate) to me, the undersigned, as Hattie W. Brewer (now by marriage Hattie W. Lawrence), by due instrument in writing dated October 18th, 1898, and recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds on the 11th day of November A. D. 1898, in Liber 143 of Mortgages on page 387; there being claimed to be due to the undersigned at the date hereof upon said mortgage, and the note secured thereby, the sum of five hundred fourteen and 24—100 dollars and no suit or proceeding at law, or in equity, having been instituted for the recovery of said indebtedness, or any part thereof:

Notice is therefore hereby given that, by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained (now operative by said default), I will, on Monday the 4th day of March A. D. 1907, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the east front door of the Court House in the City of Adrian, in the County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, (that being the place where the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee is holden), for the purpose of realizing the amount of said mortgage debt with interest thereon to accrue and costs of this foreclosure, including a lawful attorney fee sell, at public vendue, to the highest bidder, the lands and premises in said mortgage described, viz:—Those lands in the township of Clinton (formerly Tecumseh), County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, known as the west half of the south-west quarter of section two, town five south, range four east, containing eighty acres of land more or less.

HATTIE W. LAWRENCE,

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the conditions of payment of a certain mortgage executed and delivered by Vincent Elia to Eliza A Campbell and Eva M. Gray, dated the 31st day of August A. D. 1904 and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Lenawee, State of Michigan on the 7th day of September A. D. 1904 in Liber 153 of Mortgages on page 110, which mortgage was by express terms given to said parties of the second part in joint estate, and of said parties said Eva M. Gray being now the survivor, said Eliza A. Campbell having departed this life since the giving of instrument, and which mortgage provided that should any payment of principal or interest secured by the same remain unpaid and in arrear for the period of ninety days after its maturity, the holder thereof should have the right to declare all the unpaid portion of said mortgage debt to be due and payable forthwith and more than ninety days having elapsed since the maturity of an installment of principal and interest of said indebtedness and the same remaining yet unpaid there is claimed, and now declared, at the date hereof, to be due to the undersigned the whole unpaid portion of said indebtedness amounting to the sum of five hundred fifty-six and 80-100 dollars, and no suit or proceeding at law, or in equity having been instituted for the recovery of said indebtedness, or any portion thereof:

Notice is therefore hereby given that, by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained (now operative by said default), for the purpose of realizing the amount of said mortgage debt with interest thereon to accrue and costs of this foreclosure, including a lawful attorney fee, I will, on Monday the 4th day of March A. D. 1907 at ten in the forenoon of said day, at the east front door of the Court House in the city of Adrian, in the county of Lenawee and state of Michigan (that being the place where the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee is holden), sell at public vendue, to the highest bidder that parcel of land in the village of Tecumseh, county of Lenawee and state of Michigan bounded by beginning at the intersection of the south line of Chicago street with the east line of Wyandotte street, and running thence east in south line of Chicago street six rods to Mahaney's land; thence south parallel with east line of Wyandotte street twelve rods; thence west parallel with first course six rods to east line of Wyandotte street; thence north in that line twelve rods to beginning.

DEATH CLAIMS HIM.

William C. McMillan Passes Away After Long Illness.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 22.—Death, peaceful and restful, called William C. McMillan from earth at 5:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon, closing an illness of nearly two months and writing "finis" to a notable career.

Mr. McMillan passed away at his home, 452 Jefferson avenue, in much the same manner and at almost the same hour that his uncle, Hugh McMillan died not more than two weeks ago. His last moments were the most peaceful he had known since the beginning of his illness, and he did not realize the end was near.

Until Wednesday afternoon Mr. McMillan had been gaining steadily following his relapse of a week ago. Thursday morning physicians pronounced his condition most critical. About 2 o'clock Mr. McMillan dropped into a heavy sleep from which he never awakened.

Though no definite arrangements have been made for the funeral, it probably will be held Sunday or Monday from the residence.

Unable to Care for Starving.

Shanghai, Feb. 22.—In a report forwarded to Tuan Fang, the viceroy of Kinking, Capt. Kirton, the representative of the foreign famine relief committee, emphasizes the incompetency of the Chinese officials in dealing with the famine situation. He estimates that 10,000,000 people are involved, half of whom are doomed unless the government takes energetic measures and adopts modern methods. Capt. Kirton suggests that foodstuffs should be rushed from all practical quarters and he protests against the bitter feeling displayed against independent foreign investigation by highly placed Chinese, who, while professing sympathy with the famine sufferers, offer deliberate obstruction to the operating of foreign relief.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential.

Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the Local.

Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional.

The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucous membrane suppository remedy, while Dr. Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, seeking the repair of all nerve, all tissue, and all blood ailments.

The "Night Cure", as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, heals local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, eases nervous excitement, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—as a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well Delegation of Citizens in Washington to Fight Frye Amendment.

MEN ARE GIVEN A HEARING

House Committee on Rivers and Harbors Learns Why Proposed Legislation Would Put End to Future Prospects of Northern Michigan City.

Washington, Feb. 26.—The people from the Soo and the Chandler-Dunbar Co. there, descended upon Washington in force Monday. They are opposed to the Frye amendment to the river and harbor bill by which the government is instructed and empowered to acquire title to all the land and riparian rights between the present ship canal and the international boundary by condemnation proceedings.

Those here from the Commercial club of the Soo are: W. F. Knox, Otto Fowle, Geo. Kemp, Sherman L. Sandy and Leo P. McCulloch. Representing the Chandler-Dunbar Co., are Alex. Dow, John H. Goff, of Detroit. The Soo people are all at war, and say the government is being used through the influence of the Lake Carriers' association to pull the chestnuts of the Michigan Lake Superior Co. out of the fire.

"What are you going to do?" Mr. Goff was asked.

"We want a hearing. We feel that we are entitled to that. Here the amendment is in conference and the bill is to be agreed to at any moment. We feel that we should be heard."

Hearing Arranged.

"I have arranged for a hearing before Senator Fry for these gentlemen," said Senator Burrows later, and at 1:30 this hearing was held.

Mr. Knox, speaking of the situation said:

"With us citizens of the Soo it is not a question of one power company or the other. We do not care about the Chandler-Dunbar Co. as a company. Let the two companies fight it out in the courts. But if this amendment is passed you will restrict us to the Michigan Lake Superior Co., which has developed only 40,000 horsepower, while 200,000 horsepower will be going to waste over the rapids. It will mean the death of our hope of ever becoming a big city. In addition, it will place the government in the position of fighting one power company against the other. The Michigan Lake Superior Co. has been trying to sell $600,000 of receiver's bonds to repair that canal, and could not do it on account of the controversy with the Chandler-Dunbar people."

Senator Burrows advises the Soo people to get an agreement with the Lake Carriers at once, and have the conference committee insert it in place of the amendment, and Congressman Youg is tryig to bring this about.

Mr. Knox says both Michigan senators and the Michigan delegation generally are with his side in the fight "But," he says, "if this amendment goes through, there will be no canal built at the Soo for some years, as an injunction against the government will be taken out at once and the matter fought out in the courts. No matter how long it will take, the Lake Carriers want to consider that."

The conference to reach a compromise has so far had no results. The Lake Carriers were not represented. The principal speaker was Alex. Dow, who made some hot talk to Chairman Burton, of the house committee on rivers and harbors, making a proviso in the bill that would allow the Chandler-Dunbar Co. to remain in the rapids until the land was actually needed for navigation purposes.

Mr. Burton suggested an additional amendment providing for a settlement by arbitration, and if that failed the condemnation to proceed. Dow said this would at once put them out of the rapids, just the same as the Frye amendment, and did not agree; and Burton then declared the conference ended, but said he might wait to see one from each side of the controversy later.

Joeph Chevalier, age 74, of Menominee, died Monday of pneumonia. Chevalier was a veteran of the civil war, an Indian, and a brother of Queen Marinette, from whom the city of Marinette was named.

Hunting for trouble.

"I've lived in California 20 years and am still hunting for trouble in the way of burns, sores, boils, cuts, sprains or a case of piles that Bucklen's arnica salve won't quickly cure" writes Chas. HAS EASY DAY OF IT

Jerome Less Harsh With Mrs. Thaw on the Stand.

IMPORTANT POINTS CLEARED UP

Fair Witness Throws Light on Two Episodes Occurring in London—District Attorney Practically Concludes Cross-Examination.

New York, Feb. 26.—Except for one brief moment, Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw had a decidedly easy day of it Monday during the continuation of her cross-examination by District Attorney Jerome. When adjournment was taken the prosecutor announced that he had practically concluded with the witness. Mrs. Thaw will be temporarily excused today to enable Mr. Jerome to introduce Abraham Hummel to identify a photographic copy of the affidavit Evelyn Nesbit is alleged to have signed, and which charges Thaw with many cruelties during their 1903 trip to Europe.

The district attorney got the contents of the affidavit before the jury Monday afternoon by reading certain of its statements in the form of questions, and asking Mrs. Thaw if she told such things to Mr. Hummel. In each instance she said she had not. She also denied ever having signed such an affidavit, admitting that she had, however, signed some papers for White in the Madison Square tower, of whose nature she was not aware.

It was during the morning session that Mr. Jerome played his strongest card of the day. Mrs. Thaw had denied most positively that she had ever been to see a Dr. Carleton Flint with Jack Barrymore.

"Call Dr. Flint," commanded Mr. Jerome to a court attendant.

Did Not Know Him.

The doctor entered from the witness room and was escorted to within a few feet of the witness chair.

"Did you ever see that man before?" Mr. Jerome asked Mrs. Thaw.

The witness seemed just a bit startled; looked quickly and intently at the physician, then turned to Mr. Jerome and shook her head.

"Never," she declared.

Thaw was intensely interested in this incident, and when it was over, he turned to the newspaper men sitting nearest him and whispered:

"That man made a mistake in coming here. He stood there a liar. Do you catch the point—a liar."

Mrs. Thaw was in much better spirits when she took the stand on Monday, and looked decidedly better physically than she did last week. She seemed thoroughly at home in the witness chair, and with a foot stool and back cushion, appeared quite comfortable. She had all her wits about her, and did not fare at all badly at the hands of the district attorney, who was more gentle in handling the witness.

Makes Gains for Defense.

Instead of further hurting the cause of her husband, Mrs. Thaw managed to make two decided gains. When court adjourned, last Thursday, it appeared, from her own statements, that she had used a letter of credit from Stanford White while touring in Europe and had turned the letter over to Thaw. Monday she explained that Thaw took the letter of credit from her, saying the money was "poisonous," and neither she nor her mother would touch it, and that he would provide them with funds. Whatever had been spent of the money, she declared, was for her mother.

The second point Mrs. Thaw made was concerning the cablegrams which Thaw is said to have sent to Stanford White from London. It appeared Thursday that these cablegrams were requests to White to use his influence in keeping Mrs. Nesbit from "raising a row" and interfering with Evelyn continuing in company with Thaw. Mr. Jerome took up the subject again on Monday, but his questions elicited the information that the letters did not concern Mrs. Thaw at all, but related to a man—a secretary of the American embassy—in London, whom Mrs. Thaw said "sneaked up to mamma's bedroom and insulted her." She said the man had also insulted her, and that Thaw had gone in search of him, but failed to find him.

Sutton Destroys Eyesight.

Port Huron, Mich., Feb. 26.—Geo. Slubbering, nine years old, of Marine City, will become totally blind as the result of being struck in one eye by a button which he was twirling on a string. The injured eye has so affected the other that the sight of both will be lost. The boy was brought here for treatment, but the mother refused to allow an operation until too late, the doctors say.

IS RATIFIED AT LAST

Senate Finally Sanctions Treaty With Santo Domingo.

PRESIDENT'S METHODS ASSAILED

Bacon and Others Declare He Has Violated Laws—Several Big Appropriation Measures Also Passed—Ship Subsidy Bill Takes Forward Step.

Wahington, Feb. 26.—The senate at 11:35 o'clock last night, in executive session, ratified the Santo Domingo treaty, which provides for the assistance of the United States in the collection and application of the customs revenues of the Dominican republic. The treaty was taken up at a session beginning at 8:15 p. m., and the entire time was devoted to opposition democrats to the convention. The vote was 43 to 19, which is one more than the two-thirds required.

Senators Bacon, Daniel, Carmack, Culberson and Newlands criticized the policy involved as extremely unwise, and as creating precedent that may prove dangerous to this country. Senator Bacon declared that the president for two years had violated law, in that he had carried into effect, without authority of treaty, relations with a foreign government which constitutionally could not be enjoyed without the sanction of the senate.

Other democratic senators asserted that the president has negotiated treaties with foreign countries which never have been sent to the senate, and Mr. Bacon mentioned among these one with Cuba concerning Guantanmo. Senator Clarke, of Arkansas, and Senator Patterson made speeches in favor of ratification, and these democrats were the only ones of that party who voted for the convention.

Washington, Feb. 26.—The senate Monday passed the agricultural appropriation bill, carrying nearly $10,000,000; the postoffice appropriation bill, carrying $210,000,000; the pension appropriation bill, carrying $145,000,000, and the bill authorizing the establishment of an agricultural bank in the Philippine islands.

The principal fight Monday over the agricultural bill, took place on the Beveridge amendment requiring the packers to pay the cost of administering the meat inspection law. This amendment was defeated on a point of order. Mr. Beveridge secured the adoption of an amendment which requires the date of canning and inspection to appear on the label of the can containing meat products.

Passed in Fifteen Minutes.

The postoffice bill was passed in an hour and fifteen minutes. Amendments adding $1,388,759 for the extension of the pneumatic mail service and requiring postal cars to be lighted with electricity were adopted.

Mr. Lodge secured the passage of the Philippine agricultural bank bill. An amendment to this bill offered by Senator Culberson, declaring the intention of the United States to abandon the islands as soon as a stable, independent government should be established, was defeated.

The senate also passed a bill granting a service pension to army nurses. Those who are disqualified to earn a livlihood and have reached the age of 62 year, are to receive $12 a month; at 70 years $15, and at 75 years $20.

Ship subsidy secured a marked impetus Monday in the house, which just before adjournment, adopted a rule that will probably insure the passage by the house of the Litauer substitute for the senate bill, and result before the final adjournment, in positive legislation. The rule was reported by Mr. Dalzell from the committee on rules in the shape of a resolution providing that the compromise bill shall be considered with debate limited five hours, and that the final vote shall be taken not later than next Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The rule was adopted by a vote of 158 to 122, twenty-four republicans voting with the democracy in opposition to the rule.

Gets $350 for Son's Death.

Corunna, Mich., Feb. 26.—Mrs. Lydia Rickerston, of Durand, mother of Harry D. Rickerston, a Grand Trunk brakeman, who was thrown from his train and killed Sept. 7, 1905, while making a flying switch, has accepted, through the probate court, $350 as settlement in full for his death.

A valuable lesson.

"Six years ago I learned a valuab lesson" writes John Pleasant of Magnolia, Ind. "I then began taking Dr. King's new life pills and the longer I take them the better I find them." They please everybody. Guaranteed by C. Wright, druggist 25c.

VILLAREAL ESCAPES.

Mexican Revolutionist, Held in El Paso, Eludes Officers.

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 26.—Antonio L. Villareal, editor of Regeneracion, said to be the head of the Saint Louis junta of alleged Mexican revolutionists, who has been in jail under charges pending before the United States department of justice and the department of commerce and labor, escaped Monday, and has not been recaptured.

Villareal was taken before United States Commissioner Howe Monday for hearing on charges of being in the United States, in violation of the laws of neutrality, and of being here in violation of the immigration laws. The first charge was dismissed, and he was remanded to jail under the second charge, now on appeal before the departments at Washington.

On the way back to jail Villareal asked permission to send a telegram, and he was allowed to enter the telegraph office while Interpreter Antonio Siera, who had him in charge, and Immigration Inspector Schumaker stood in front of the door. Villareal sent the telegram, walked out the front door, dodged into an alley and disappeared.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

Spain and France have reached a complete understanding in the matter of the organization of the Moroccan police force.

Richard Strauss, after long negotiations on the subject, has agreed to produce and direct his opera "Salome" at the Gaite theater in Paris, in May.

Adolph Tingle, a British subject, was court-martialed and hanged at the citidel in Warsaw, Russian Poland, Monday, having robbed a street car conductor.

The plant of the Acker Process Co., in Niagara Falls, N. Y., was destroyed by fire Monday afternoon. Henry S. Fairchild, an electrician, was caught under a falling wall and killed. The loss is $800,000. The company manufactured bleaching powder, caustic soda, tin oxide and other products.

A bandit raided the Hacienda of Jesus Uranga Salonza in Durango, Mexico, Sunday night. After making prisoners of Salenza and his servants, the bandits robbed his safe of $7,000 in gold and gathered up many thousands of dollars' worth of jewelry and plate, destroying all they could not carry off.

The New York state democratic committee has been permanently enjoined from ousting State Senator Patrick McCarren of Brooklyn from membership in the committee by a decision given by Supreme Court Justice Kelley in Brooklyn. The expulsion was proposed because of the alleged failure of Senator McCarren to give loyal support to W. R. Hearst, the democratic nominee for governor at the last state election.

As a result of republican primaries in Chicago, Fred A. Busse, postmaster of Chicago, will be the unanimous candidate of the party for mayor at the April election. The nominating convention will be held as soon as Mr Busse, who was injured in the railroad wreck in Pennsylvania, returns to Chicago. The mayor's term has been extended from two to four years, and a spirited fight is expected between Mayor Dunne, democratic nominee, and Mr. Busse.

INVESTIGATION STARTED.

Government to Look Into Alleged Importation of Greek Boys.

Washington, Feb. 26.—A thorough investigation is to be made by the immigration bureau of the department of commerce and labor, of the alleged Italian padrone system, with particular reference to the importation of a large number of Greek boys into this country, who, it is said, are held in bondage. A number of special agents have been sent to New York where they will work under the direction of Archiblades Seraphic, Greek inspector.

This action is based upon numerous complaints from governors of states, mayors of many of the large cities and other interested persons and societies. The charge is made that Italian padrones import Greek boys to New York city and then distribute them throughout the country to work as bootblacks, who, it is alleged, are required to work for nothing save their keep for the first year. It is understood that the Greek government is lending its good offices in an endeavor to break up the traffic in these boys.

One of the Berlin Victims.

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 26.—His parents here have been notified that William Monroe was one of the victims of the wreck of the steamer Berlin at the Hook of Holland. Monroe was 35 years old, a graduate of the Michigan College of Mines, and engaged in important mining operations at Spitsbergen, in which he was associated with his cousin, J. M. Longyear, of Boston. He had been in America and England and his wife awaited him at Rotterdam.

PREJUDICE

THE QUALITY of some of the sausage you may have tried may be the reason for your prejudice against sausage in general. There is a great difference in sausage. If you will try some of LOWRY'S HOME MADE kind you will forget about your prejudice in the enjoyment it will bring you.

Real goodness is all the way through it and that goodness is the result of great care in the making, good material, chopped (not ground) in an up-to-date machine operated by electricity.

This excellent product has been known to create a liking for sausage in spite of the severest prejudice. Try it for to-morrow morning's breakfast. The least you will say is that it is good—and goodness is what you want in sausage anyhow.

PREVENT SMUT

THE WM. HAVDEN MILLING CO., Tecumseh, Mich. have secured the agency of that will positively prevent smut in oats. Guaranteed or money refunded. The treatment costs but 10c per acre.

In 150 tests made by substantial farmers who used Sporocide in 1906, the average increase in yield per acre was 10¼ bushels, or a net gain of from $3 to $4 per acre on an outlay of 10c. This is worth looking into. Write for testimonials.

Presbyterian Men's Supper.

Last Friday night the Presbyterian men served a chicken pie supper in the parlors of the Presbyterian church. Two hundred twenty-five guests were served. The church was tastefully decorated with flags. Tiny pasteboard hatchets with George Washington's picture, bearing the date, were used as souvenirs.

There were T. A. Lowry and Rev. H. K. Fox to extend the glad hand and assist in seating the company; Messrs. R. A. Heesen, Henry Wilson, C. A. Wright, F. S. Ander on, P. A. Hutchinson, John Haslett, John Orr, C. A. Slayton, J. J. Belcher, Jas. Lowry and others to wait upon the tables and serve the guests, while Fred Rector, Thos. Murphy and Thos Wilson grinned benignly at them from behind the coffee pots. All of the waiters are to be congratulated upon their success in serving the large company so quickly and easily, especially R. A. Heesen, who despite his avoirdupois, served those seated at his table almost as soon as they were seated.

During the serving of the various tables Mrs. Ella Hodges furnished the music and Mr Dickinson singing, "The Sword of Bunker Hill." Every one enjoyed a pleasant time.

Resolutions.

Resolutions, Adopted by the L. O. T. M. M Feb. 28, '07 upon the death of Mrs. Sarah Elliott, Feb. 5, '07

Whereas, For the fourth time since the organization of this hive, death has invaded our ranks, striking down with unfailing accuracy a sister of unquestioned standing among us. Suddenly calling her from the toils and conflicts of her earthly career, causing the sun of life to set at mid day, leaving a husband and two daughters to mourn her loss, and to witness the sad experience of a broken circle, thus bringing loneliness and desolation to many hearts. Startling the community with the suddeness of her departure, causing all to bow in profound amazement at the decrees of God, causing all to gaze toward that unseen world, toward which we are all hastening.

Resolved, that we tender the stricken friends and all who mourn her loss, our sincere sympathy, inadequate it is true but the best we can give. The principal of fraternity necessarily involves the sentiment of sympathy in the hour of calamity, desolation and of pressing need, without it fraternity itself would be a mockery, to its requirments therefore we cheerfully comply.

Resolved, that we commend the bereaved family of our sister at this sad time to seek help from the higher power, believing that He will give them a joyful entrance into that delightful home of rest where their dear one has gone before.

Resolved, that these resolutions be recorded in the minutes of the Hive and published in both local papers and a copy be presented to each of the immediate family. Committee

"WHISKY" COLD CURES.

Danger of using alcoholic mixtures or coal tar tablets.

The most dangerous thing that one can do when affected with a cough or cold is to use a medicine that contains whisky or a tablet that is made of some coal tar product. Putting aside all moral objections to filling up with whisky or drugs because one has a cold, the injurious physical effect should be sufficient to keep one from using these strong medicines.

The most sensible as well as the only scientific way to treat a cough or cold is by inhaling medication that will kill the germs and give relief to the irritated mucous membrane in the nose, throat and lungs

Among the few remedies that are used in this way, Hyomei stands preeminent. It is breather through a neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit and the first breath of its healing air relieves the irritation and its continued use soon effects a thorough cure.

The best people in Tecumseh always keep Hyomei at hand in the winter months and at the first symptoms of a cold or bronchial trouble, use the remedy and prevent serious and lasting illness. If you have any doubts as to the effects of Hyomei in curing coughs, colds and all bronchial troubles, the guarantee C. A. Wright gives with every outfit should convince you of its curative powers. A Hyomei outfit costs $1 and if it does not give satisfaction C. A. Wright will return your money.

Extra bottles of Hyomei, if needed, can be obtained for 50c, but the complete outfit is usually enough to cure several colds.

Kemp's Balsam

Will stop any cough that can be stopped by any medicine and cure coughs that cannot be cured by any other medicine.

It is always the best cough cure. You cannot afford to take chances on any other kind.

KEMP'S BALSAM cures coughs, colds, bronchitis, grip, asthma and consumption in first stages.

If a man prefers chewing tobacco to smoking, he always says chewing isn't so injurious to the health.

TAKE IT IN TIME.

Just as scores of Tecumseh people have.

Waiting doesn't pay.
If you neglect the aching back,
Urinary troubles, diabetes, surely follow.
Doan's Kidney Pills relieve backache.
Cure every kidney ill.
Tecumseh citizens endorse them.

Henry Keyser, retired, living on Pottawatamie street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I still hold the same good opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills as I did five years ago when I gave a statement recommending them For a number of years I was bothered with weakness of the bladder and my back ached all the time. Sharp pains would attack me so suddenly at times that I would have to grasp something for support. I could not rest well at night and in the morning would feel tired and unrefreshed. I procured Doan's Kidney Pills and began using them. I have received great benefit as they completely rid me of the backache. I advise every sufferer from kidney trouble and backache to give Doan's kidney pills a trial."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's, and take no other.

Some men blame their wives every time it rains.

"My child was burned terribly about the face, neck and chest. I applied Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. The pain ceased and the child sank into a restful sleep."—Mrs. Nancy Hanson, Hamburg, N. Y.

A young man always sneers at the love affairs of a widower.

A good housekeeper keeps her kettles and her temper from boiling over.

Croup can positively be stopped, in 20 minutes. No vomiting—nothing to sicken or distress your child. A sweet, pleasant and safe syrup, called Dr. Shoop' croup cure, does the work and does it quickly. Dr. Shoop's croup cure, is for croup alone, remember. It does not claim to cure a dozen ailments. It's for croup, that's all. Sold by all dealers.

To be a great man it is necessary to turn to account all opportunities.

A liquid cold relief, with a laxative principle which drives out the cold through a copious action of the bowels and a healing principle which lingers in the throat and stops the cough—that is Kennedy's laxative cough syrup. Safe and sure in its action; pleasant to take; and conforms to National Pure Food and Drug Law. Contains no opiates. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

Most people would fall short if measured by the golden rule.

It isn't always the people who jolly you most that are your best friends.

This may interest you.

No one is immune from kidney trouble so just remember that Foley's kidney cure will stop the irregularities and cure any case of kidney and bladder trouble that is not beyond the reach of medicine. Sold by all druggists in Tecumseh.

Blame

No One But Yourself if You Don't Get Well When Sick.

All we can do is give advice.
Of course that's easy.

But our advice is really worth a little more to you than most people's, for we offer to give you the first bottle of our medicine free, if it fails to help you.

We could not afford to do this unless our medicine was good. Such an offer, on the wrong kind of medicine, would put a merchant prince in the poor house.

Dr. Miles' Nervine, however, as years of experience have proved, is a medicine that cures the sick.

Those whom it cannot benefit—less than one in ten thousand—we prefer to refund their money.

All we ask of you is to try Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine for your complaint. If you suffer from sleeplessness, nervous exhaustion, dizziness, headache, muscular twitchings, melancholy, loss of memory, weak stomach, poor blood, bilious troubles, epilepsy, St. Vitus' Dance, etc., we will guarantee to benefit you or refund your money.

You are the doctor.

"My son Bert, when in his 17th year, became subject to attacks of epilepsy, so serious that we were compelled to take him out of school. After several attempts had failed to relieve him, we gave Dr. Miles' Nervine a trial. Ten bottles sufficed with Nervine and Liver Pills restored our boy to perfect health."—MR. JOHN B. WILSON, Deputy Co. Clerk, Dallas Co., Mo.

FREE Write us and we will mail you a Free Trial Package of Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills, the New, Safe, Certain Remedy for Pain. Also Symptom Blank for our Specialist to diagnose your case and advice what to do. Address DR. MILES MEDICAL CO. ELKHART, IND.

BACK TO HOME

None of that "fresh roasted loose by the pound" store stuff from nobody knows where, full of dust, atmosphere and soiled hands, but the real old, genuine egg and sugar coated Arbuckles' ARIOSA Coffee, which the folks keep in the original package and grind in the kitchen.

That's Coffee!

Complies with all requirements of the National Pure Food Law, Guarantee No. 2041, filed at Washington.

It's a good old world after all;
If you have no friends or money.
In the river you can fall;
Marriages are quite common and,
More people there would be,
Provided you take Rocky Mountain tea.

Nothing will relieve indigestion that is not a thorough digestant. Kodol digests what you eat and allows the stomach to rest—recuperate—grow strong again. Kodol is a solution of digestive acids and as nearly as possible approximates the digestive juices that are found in the stomach. Kodol takes the work of digestion off the digestive organs and while performing this work itself does greatly assist the stomach to a thorough rest. In addition the ingredients of Kodol are such as to make it a corrective of the highest efficiency and by its action the stomach is restored to its normal activity and power. Kodol is manufactured in strict conformity with the National Pure Food and Drug Law. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

NICARAGUANS CAPTURE TOWN.

United States May Step in and Make Warring Nations Settle Their Differences.

Managua, Nicaragua, Feb. 26.—San Marcos de Colon, a well-fortified Honduran town, which was defended by Solomon Ordenez, the Honduran minister of war, at the head of a strong army, was captured by Nicaraguan forces at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Washington, Feb. 26.—Unless Nicaragua and Honduras speedily agree to arbitrate their differences in response to the suggestion of the United States and Mexico, it is not improbable that intervention will be resorted to in order to bring to an end the present state of hostilities.

It became known Monday that within the last day or two, a second note was sent to the presidents of Nicaragua and Honduras, in effect conveying this threat. No replies have been received, and while in official circles the hope is expressed that further bloodshed may be avoided, there is an underlying belief that it will be necessary for either the United States or Mexico to step in and force an arbitration.

The assistance which it is alleged Salvador is giving to Honduras, has only served to strengthen the determination to stop the whole proceedings, but it was concluded to allow the belligrents a little more time to make up their minds to accept the good offices which have been tendered.

Body of Missing Man Found.

Gaylord, Mich., Feb. 26.—The remains of Edward Bergeson, of Boyne Falls, who mysteriously disappeared last December, have been found by a hunter. Wild beasts had been at the body. A stir was caused at the time of Bergerson's disappearance, and only his clothes were found on a log in the woods. He had been out in company with lumberjacks, and it is said had been sent back to town to get another supply of whisky, their stock having run low. The hunter's dog found the remains in the snow.

STABBED BY PUPIL.

Teacher Near Dundee Claims He Was Attacked by Unruly Lad.

Dundee, Mich., Feb. 26.—Leonard McMullen, a teacher employed in the school at Stowell's Corners, two and one-half miles from here, was seriously and perhaps fatally stabbed Monday by a pupil, he claims.

The teacher says he had given Paul Stowell, aged 15 years, his choice of staying in during the noon hour or taking a whipping. The lad took the former and refused to study. He sat in his seat sharpening a pencil, when the teacher, after telling him several times to study, says he went to the boy and attempted to shake him. Quick as a flash, the lad thrust the knife into the teacher's arm, then twice into his shoulder.

Wrapping his coat tightly about his wounds, McMullen hurried to his boarding place, and arrived there in a fainting condition, from loss of blood.

The physicians say that unless the great loss of blood prove too much for him, McMullen will recover.

Bishop Gillespie is Ill.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Feb. 26.—Rt. Rev. George D. Gillespie, Episcopal bishop of the Western Michigan diocese, suffered a stroke of paralysis on Sunday night, and is confined to his home in a critical condition. Bishop Gillespie is aged and feeble, and fears are entertained by his friends that he will not recover. Bishop Gillespie was the first bishop of this diocese. Bishop Gillespie was born in 1819 in Goshen, N. Y., and was ordained priest in 1843. He was rector of the churches successively at Le Roy, N. Y.; Cincinnati, O.; Palmyra, N. Y., and Ann Arbor, Mich. He was secretary of the diocese of Michigan for many years. He was consecrated bishop in Grand Rapids in 1875.

Runaway Cars Smash Building.

Vassar, Mich., Feb. 26.—Seven cars making a flying switch on a spur off the main line of the Pere Marquette railroad here Monday morning, became uncontrollable, crashed into a loaded car of merchandise at the freight house and the whole string hurdled the big buffer at the end of the track and roamed over half way through the blacksmith shop of George Truax. Four men and two horses were in the demolished building at the time, and, as though by a miracle, none was injured. The horses had to be extricated from the debris with ropes after the wreck.

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr Kilmer's Swamp Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, uric acid, catarrh of the bladder and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work and in private practice, and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all good druggists. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Sour Stomach

No appetite, loss of strength, nervousness, headache, constipation, bad breath, general debility, sour risings, and catarrh of the stomach are all due to indigestion. Kodol relieves indigestion. This new discovery represents the natural juices of digestion as they exist in a healthy stomach, combined with the greatest known tonic and reconstructive properties. Kodol for dyspepsia does not only relieve indigestion and dyspepsia, but this famous remedy helps all stomach troubles by cleansing, purifying, sweetening and strengthening the mucous membranes lining the stomach.

"Mr. S. S. Ball, of Ravenswood, W. Va., says—I was troubled with sour stomach for twenty years. Kodol cured me and we are now using it in milk for baby."

"Kodol Digests What You Eat."

Bottles only. Relieves indigestion, sour stomach, belching of gas, etc.

CATARRH

To prove unquestionably, and beyond any doubt that Catarrh of the nose and throat can be cured, I am furnishing patients through druggists, small free Trial Boxes of Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure. I do this because I am so certain, that Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure will bring actual substantial help. Nothing certainly, is so convincing as a physician's test of any article of real, genuine merit. But that article must possess true merit, else the test will condemn, rather than advance it. Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure is a snow white, healing ointmentlike balm, put up in beautiful nickel capped glass jars at 50c. Such soothing agents as Oil Eucalyptus, Thymol, Menthol, etc., are incorporated into a velvety cream like preparation, improved by Dr. Shoop from Europe. If Catarrh of the nose and throat has extended to the stomach, then by all means also use Internally, Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Stomach distress, a lack of general strength, bloating, belching, biliousness, bad taste, etc, surely call for Dr. Shoop's Restorative.

For uncomplicated catarrh only of the nose and throat nothing else, however, need be used but

MEET AND FRAME BILL

Railroad Men and Manufacturers Plan State Railway Commission.

WOULD INCLUDE ELECTRIC LINES

Legislature Holds Short Session—Warner Signs Fair Premium Bill—New Measure Proposes Board to Examine Electricians.

Lansing, Mich., March 5.—Both houses reconvened at 9 o'clock last night, but were in session only 20 minutes. The session was of less importance than a meeting of about 24 members of Michigan Manufacturers association at the Downing house, who, along with Railroad Commissioner Glasgow, were getting into shape the association bill to abolish the office of railroad commissioner and create a railroad commission of three members with greatly enlarged powers.

It is stated by Sen. Seeley, chairman of the Detroit railroad committee, that the bill, except for a few sections, is acceptable to railroads so far as heard from.

Several railroad men were at the meeting, including A. B. Atwater, of the Grand Trunk, J. H. Simpson, of the Pere Marquette, and John C. Donnelly of the Detroit United Railway. The bill contemplates bringing all trolley lines under the jurisdiction of the proposed commission.

Gov. Warner has signed the bill appropriating $10,000 a year for premiums for the next state fair at Detroit.

License Electricians.

The latest state board it is proposed to create is one to examine and license electricians, bestowing the title of master electricians on successful candidates. The bill was introduced by Rep. Bennett, of Jackson. It is intended to apply to electricians in towns of 12,000 inhabitants and over.

Rep. Trabbic, of Monroe, introduced a bill which provides that when a sheriff or other officer confiscates a slot machine he shall give the money found in it to the rightful owner if the latter applies within 30 days, otherwise the money is to go to the poor fund.

A resolution of condolence was adopted by the house on the death of the wife of Rep. Colby, of Detroit.

The last clause in the medical bill introduced in the house at the instance of the state medical board is stirring a number of estimable citizens to a high state of indignation. They declare that in defining the meaning of the term "practice medicine," the framers of the bill have made a direct attack on Christian Science and even prohibit the use of the family medicine case, except in cases of emergency.

The objectionable clause, which is a part of section nine, is as follows:

How the Clause Reads.

"In this act, unless otherwise provided, the term 'practice medicine' shall mean the actual diagnosing, curing or relieving, in any degree, or the professing or attempting to diagnose, cure or relieve any human disease, ailment, defect or complaint, whether of physical or mental origin, by attendance or by advice, or by prescribing or furnishing any drug, medicine, appliance, manipulation or method, or by any therapeutic agent whatsoever."

In the estimation of the Scientists, the clause absolutely precludes any member of that cult from attempting to aid suffering humanity. It is further asserted that while one member of a family might render aid to a relative in case of sudden illness, liability to arrest would be incurred in case treatment was given more than once. At each session of the legislature the Scientists have been obliged to fight to protect themselves from such legislation, and it is claimed that they were assured that no clause of that character was to be inserted in this bill. Efforts will be made to have it cut out of the bill.

KNEW WHAT HE DID

Alienist Evans Says Thaw Had Insane Knowledge of His Act.

WHEN HE SHOT WHITE

Dr. Wagner Undergoes Cross-Examination — Surprises Prosecution by Speaking of Thaw's Insanity in the Present Tense.

New York, March 5.—A long stride forward in the trial of Harry K. Thaw was taken Monday, when District Attorney Jerome announced that his exhaustive cross-examination of Dr. Britton D. Evans, one of the alienists for the defense, had been concluded. Dr Evans had been under fire since Wednesday morning last. He was immediately succeeded on the stand by Dr Charles G. Wagner, of Binghamton, N. Y., who accompanied Dr. Evans on most of his visits to Thaw in the Tombs.

Mrs. William Thaw is expected to be the next figure in the witness chair With Mrs. Thaw's testimony in, the defense will practically have completed its case and it seems likely that the state's case in rebuttal may be begun before the end of the week.

Just what District Attorney Jerome will be able to prove on rebuttal remains quite as much of a mystery as ever. It is not yet exactly clear to the lay mind to what extent the district attorney can go in disproving Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw's testimony. He has admitted that even if he could show Stanford White was out of the country at the time of the alleged experience wih Evelyn Nesbit in the 24th street studio, he would not be allowed to do so, on the ground that it would be a collateral fact. It appears, however that the prosecutor can call any one to contradict Mrs. Thaw in cases where she said she made certain statements to a third party. In this connection Mr. Jerome has indicated that he will call Howard Nesbit to testify that his sister told him Thaw had treated her cruelly because she would not tell lies about Stanford White.

Alienist Match for Jerome.

Dr. Evans left the witness stand Monday subject to recall for re-direct examination. The witness protected the interests of the defense quite keenly througout his cross-examination, and at all times appeared a match for the district attorney. Dr. Evans, however, admitted that Thaw had an insane knowledge of what he was doing on Madison Square roof garden the night he shot and killed Stanford White. The New York statutes prescribe that to be exempt from punishment for crime, an insane person must be so demented as not to know the nature or quality of his act or to know that the act was wrong.

Dr. Wagner also declared that Thaw had irrational knowledge of what was transpiring on the roof garden. He believed the man's insanity dated from the time Evelyn Nesbit told him her story in Paris in 1903. Dr. Wagner created quite a stir in court by using the present tense in responding to a question by District Attorney Jerome as to what form of insanity Thaw "has or had." Dr. Wagner declared Thaw "is suffering" from symptoms which lead toward a melancholic state.

Call 'Em to Meeting With Horn.

Detroit, Mich., March 5.—"Mother Elinor," the new spiritual head of the House of Israel (Flying Roll), has removed from Windsor to 137 Henry street, Detroit, where nightly she intends to hold forth to all comers. The meetings are preceded by the blowing of a trumpet on the steps of the building by one of the long-haired sect. Seven blasts are given at intervals of one minute. The innovation started Sunday and the neighbors protest they do not like it.

Drinks Creosote and Dies.

Bay City, Mich., March 5.—John A. Cunningham, aged 42 years, ended his life Sunday afternoon by swallowing an ounce of creosote. A widow, brother, sister and his parents survive. All but the widow are in Chicago. Cunningham came here a year ago. He was suffering from consumption. Creosote had been a part of his treatment. When his wife left the room for a few moments he drank all there was in a bottle.

BIG MOB AT CAPITOL

Last Hours of Fifty-Ninth Congress Were Full of Interest.

THE PRESIDENT WAS ON HAND

Signs Bills and Bids Farewell to Departing Congressmen — Hints His Unpassed Measures Will Be Heard From Later.

Washington, March 5.—With a new record for large appropriations and far reaching legislation, the 59th congress was brought to a close shortly after noon Monday.

Long before noon Senator Gallinger's fight for the passage of the ship subsidy bill had been abandoned, and the filibuster against it, conducted by Senator Carmack, being no longer necessary, he surrendered the floor, much to the disappointment of the galleries. Extreme fatigue, due to continued night session in the house during the last week, had a dampening effect upon many congressmen, and the usual excessive "last day enthusiasm" was confined to less than half the membership.

Despite these conditions, the audiences in both houses were as large as they have ever been. Thousands thronged the corridors, unable to secure admission to either branch.

President on Hand.

One of the interesting features incident to the close of congress was the visit of President Roosevelt, who, with his cabinet, White House staff and a number of guests, occupied the president's room in the senate wing. Seated at a big table in the center of the room, he signed bills as they were enrolled and presented to him. On account of the dispatch with which business has been conducted during the past week, there were only forty bills to be signed Monday.

The president was at the capitol for more than an hour. He devoted most of the time in visiting with his cabinet, both the retiring and incoming members being present, and in presenting them to personal friends of the senate and house. Retiring senators were received graciously and without exception, the president expressed regret that these lawmakers were about to leave the service of the country. Especially warm was his reception to Senator Spooner, who has just announced his voluntary retirement.

When the members of the committee which waited upon him with the information that congress was ready to adjourn, had delivered their message, the president thanked them for the laws that had been enacted, but he added, with a smile, that he still had several bills that would be sent from to the future. This amounted to a good-natured but direct notice to congress that he had not abandoned the several recommendations for legislation which had not met with congressional favor this session.

Gift for Grosvenor.

Vice-President Fairbanks and Speaker Cannon received the thanks of the minority for the impartial manner in which they had presided over the deliberations of the two houses, and both of the officers made speeches expressing gratitude at the words of appreciation. A feature of the house session was the presentation of a club silver service of 300 pieces to General Grosvenor by his colleagues of the 59th congress. Speeches of regret at the veteran Ohioan's retirement were made from both sides of the chamber.

Statements were made to the senate and house Monday by Senator Allison and Representative Tawney, chairmen, respectively, of the appropriations committee, and by Rep. Livingston, the ranking minority member of the house committee, regarding the appropriations which have been made during the session.

Twenty Millions Left.

The total appropriations aggregate $919,948,679.63, of which $756,622,674.27 is for the annual expenditures of the government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1908. The balance of the grand total is to be used as follows: $12,439,685.36 for emergencies and deficiencies on account of the fiscal year 1907 and prior years; $1,000,000 for miscellaneous objects, such as private claims and the like, authorized in special acts, and $149,886,320 for permanent annual appropriations to meet the interest charge on the public debt, the requirements of the sinking funds, expenses of collecting the revenue from customs, redemption of national bank notes and other purposes. The revenues of the government for 1908 are estimated at $850,000,000, which, it was stated, would leave a surplus of $20,000,000 and not a deficit, as had been predicted in some quarters.

During the fifty-ninth congress as a whole, it was stated that $198,000,000 had been appropriated in excess of the total for the fifty-eighth congress.

Kidnaped Boy Released.

New York, March 5.—Failing to obtain $3,000 from the father of a boy whom they had kidnaped, members of a so-called "Black Hand" gang, after keeping him forty days from his parents, last night turned him loose on the Brooklyn bridge. The boy later was restored to his parents by the police. The kidnaped boy was Marion Palermo, the six-year-old son of James Palermo, a baker in business in Brooklyn.

WERE THEY HANDED LEMON?

Charlotte Citizens Learn Main Factory for Which They Paid Bonus, Will Locate in Lansing.

Charlotte, Mich., March 5.—A year ago this month, this city voted to issue bonds to the amount of $9,000 to secure the plant of the Standard Lamp & Manufacturing Co., of Chicago. In order to cinch the concern it was necessary to hold a special election at an expense of $75. The proposition carried by a large vote, and the concern promised to have their plant in operation by June 1, 1907.

With the plant nearly completed comes the information from Lansing that the same company will move to the capital city, where the big end of the manufacturing will be done. The concern has already received three-quarters of their bonus, the amount unpaid not being due until the plant is in operation.

"Have we been handed a lemon?" Charlotte taxpayers are now asking themselves.

Feared "Black Hand;" Kills Self.

Detroit, Mich., March 5.—Jeremiah Murray, aged about 51 years, whose home was at 184 Twelfth street, committed suicide Monday morning in the cellar of a vacant house at 188 Twelfth street, by cutting his throat with a razor. It appears that the deceased had been ill and depressed for several weeks and only Monday morning had expressed terror of "Black Hand" assassins, who he said were pursuing him. It is also asserted by neighbors that he was a man who used liquor. By some this is assigned as the cause of his mental breakdown. Murray was employed as barn boss for the Brennan Truck Co., which company's barns are in the rear of the house in which the body was found.

Bill to License Horse Trading.

Benton Harbor, Mich., March 5.—Members of the Berrien County Humane society will petition the state legislature to pass a law to license horse traders. The object of this bill will be to do away with the traveling hordes of horse traders and gipsies who are in the habit of "doping" crippled and decrepit horses and trading them to unwary citizens who are looking for cheap horses. Henry Kephart and Frank Marrs, of Berrien Springs, are the fathers of this bill. It will be presented to Reps. S. H. Kelley and Nelson C. Rice. It is not a measure for Berrien county, but for the entire state.

Was Wanted in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, March 5.—It developed here, last night, that R. R. Bins, who committed suicide in the Hotel Renaud, Detroit, Sunday night, was a fugitive from this city. A warrant for the man's arrest was lodged with the police yesterday in the district in which Bins lived. He was charged with having obtained $9,000 from the Franklin Trust Co., in connection with some scheme which he promoted. Until a few months ago Bins was a carpet manufacturer at Glen Biddle, near here. He moved to this city a few months ago. A widow and three children survive him.

Embezzler Quinn Sentenced.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., March 5.—Judge Steere, of the circuit court, Monday sentenced Arthur E. Quinn from one to five years at the Ionia reformatory for embezzling $900 from the funds of the local tugmen's union, recommending as a maximum not more than two years. Quinn took the money while treasurer of the organization, admitting he used it when a shortage was discovered. He asked for a chance to make good, which was refused.

Beware of ointments for catarrh that contain mercury.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescription from reputable physicians as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's catarrh cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury and is taken internally acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's catarrh cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally.

That Speech of Barney's

By Ina Wright Hanson

Copyright, 1906, by Ina Wright Hanson

Had Irinda been beautiful or had she known that there were times when she was very charming indeed it never would have happened.

Irinda's worst fault was morbidness when she remembered that she was sallow and pale eyed and had sandy hair when she would have preferred pink and white complexion, dark eyes and golden hair. She would have added dimples and beautifully arched eyebrows, too, if she could have had her way about it. As a matter of fact, it was only when she was remembering her ugliness that she really was ugly. Her face in her times of forgetting pictured quite pleasantly her pure spirit and loving heart.

Irinda and a jolly lot of other music lovers were on a train bound for San

HER EYES WANDERED TO THE OPPOSITE SIDE OF THE CAR.

Francisco and a week of grand opera. Jim, her satellite, was along, not because he appreciated grand opera, but because he appreciated Irinda.

So much for the hero and heroine. Next the villain, to whom his Celtic mother had given a ravishing pair of blue eyes and a tongue tuned to soft words. Barney was not a villainous villain at all—just a warm hearted boy who loved everybody and wanted to be loved by everybody in turn. He must have the villain's part because there cannot be a second hero and because—But you shall see.

As the train sped along Jim went to the smoker—not to smoke, for he had never learned how, but because he feared Irinda might be tiring of him. Barney immediately took his place.

Soon after a lady and gentleman boarded the train. As Irinda's seat had been turned so that her back was toward the engine, the newcomers were in full view of her. The lady bent her head, and some rice fell from her smart brown turban. The gentleman smiled, and the lady's cheeks went red as roses. Then she opened her magazine and tried to look unconscious.

"Oh, Barney," breathed Irinda, "isn't the bride lovely? Do look at that butterfly in her veil just at the corner of her sweet red mouth! See that perfect curve from her forehead to her chin as she looks out the window. Now, quick, Barney, she is turning to her husband. See her beautiful eyes. They're as brown as her dainty hat."

Barney's ravishing eyes glanced at the beautiful lady, Barney's quick mind took in the situation, and Barney's warm heart rose to the occasion. Smilingly he turned to Irinda.

"Why, I never think of a woman's looks, whether she has a pretty face or not. That doesn't appeal to me. When I know a woman she attracts me or not according to whether or not she has magnetism. Magnetism is as good a name as any other for what no one understands. But, believe me, Irinda, magnetism is the charm of a woman, not a pretty face."

Barney's blue eyes said so much more than his tongue, rolling over so slightly his "r's," that Irinda's colorless face flushed becomingly. The eyes said that she, Irinda Bowen, had the magnetism, or whatever it was, and that it had never occurred to Barney whether or not she was pretty.

Happy thoughts fluttered around Irinda for the rest of the journey. Barney left her, and Jim came back. She smiled at him. He didn't know it was an impersonal smile, born of Barney's words. She remembered the day when she had cried out fiercely at her lack of beauty, and Jim had answered:

"What difference does it make what you look like? You are always beautiful to me, Irinda."

He never knew why she had pushed him away when he would have put his arms around her. Stupid old Jim couldn't know that he had made a tacit acknowledgment of her ugliness, while Barney—why, Barney had never thought anything about it.

Grand opera week went by in a dispason of glory. Irinda was wonderfully happy, and every day she told herself shyly and with many blushes how much she was caring for Barney. It was not till they were homeward bound that the tragedy happened.

The tragedy? No, it was not the train leaving the rails and plunging down an embankment. It was only Barney's pleasant voice, rolling ever so slightly his r's—it was only Barney making this remark to Alderly, the chaperon's husband:

"I have been noticing the ladies in this car, and I don't believe I ever saw so many beautiful ones together. Don't you know it is rare to find a really beautiful woman? If her eyes are fine, something is wrong with her chin; if her nose"—

Irinda felt sick and voluntarily closed her ears, while her sun seemed to leave its horizon. Barney, who never thought of a woman's looks, was discussing woman's beauty! Then he had not meant what he had said to her at all.

Irinda felt very much as she had when some one told her that George Washington and his little hatchet and William Tell and the apple were probably only pleasant stories. But at the same time she was suddenly conscious that she did not love and never had loved Barney. Her eyes wandered to the opposite side of the car, where Jim sat alone. A little flicker of sunshine was touching his brown hair with gold. Irinda, with a quick indrawing of her breath, remembered that it had looked just so the morning her mother died.

The doctor had told them—her father and herself—that the sick one could not live through the day, and he had gone away and left them to their sorrow. Miserably father and daughter had communed together. She must be told, but each shrank from the telling. Just then Jim had come. He had been like a son to Irinda's mother, and they relegated the task to him, knowing that Jim never had shirked a duty in his life.

She remembered how he had gone about it—not smoothing over the sad facts at all, but with eyes and manner and words so full of sympathy and tenderness and stanch hope of the unknown future that death seemed to lose something of its dread. And as she, at the foot of the bed, had lifted up her tear stained face she saw a ray of sunlight touch Jim's hair just as it was doing now.

She tried to picture Barney in the death chamber. He would not have lacked in sympathy, but he would have tried to bring encouragement where no encouragement could be. She drew contrasts as she watched the brown hair turning golden—contrasts between foam of the sea and the cool blue depths of the ocean itself, between a bending reed and a sturdy pine, between irresponsibility and true heartedness. Then she went over to the seat where Jim sat alone. The face he turned toward her startled her with its sternness.

"Irinda, I have loved you for a long time, but you've always put me off from telling you. It may as well be settled now and forever. I want you for my wife, and I'll do my best to make you happy. I don't want any trifling, child. Just plain yes or no."

"Jim, if you really want any one so selfish and ugly and foolish as I am I'm sure you're more than welcome. I'm not worthy to be your wife, though," she replied humbly.

"Thou art all that is fair to me, my beloved."

Jim's voice was hushed as one who prays. His eyes, looking down reverently at his little sweetheart, were wondrous in their great happiness, and Irinda, though tearful, smiled contentedly in answer.

Organ Grinder's Winter Resort.

The organ grinders of America, no less than the millionaires, have their winter resort. The organ grinders' winter resort is Italy, the Italian Riviera, and every boat that sails for Naples or Genoa in the late autumn has a steerage crowded with organ grinders. These men do so well in the spring and summer that they can afford a winter at home. Their home is a lovely one, far different from what they would get if they stayed in America. They sit at home on ancient stone benches in the sunny squares of little mountain towns. Behind them rise in the blue and gold air the pale pinnacles of the Maritime Alps. Before them, but far below, stretches the blue and glistening floor of the sea, with tiny ships coming and going. Yes, it is very pleasant for the organ grinders at home. Palms bloom everywhere. Oranges, yellow as gold, shine among the foliage. The air is sweet with the perfume of the great rose and violet farms that feed the voracious perfume factories of Grasse. And it is cheap. For 10 or 15 cents a day an organ grinder can be as happy in his winter resort as the millionaire can be in his for $10 or $15.

President Tyler's Feasts.

President Tyler's dinners were, on a large scale, those of a wealthy Virginia planter, and as the greater part of the provisions came from his own plantation at Greenway Court they tickled the palates of the most exacting epicure. He employed a negro cook from his old home, one who knew how to do to a turn fried chicken and to shave off the delicious pink slices of baked ham. These hams were considered the finest that ever graced a table, and the Virginia porkers of today, famed the world over, might well pride themselves on their noble ancestry, that were as carefully prepared for the table as a thoroughbred horse for a race. For six months they were let run wild in the oak woods to feed off acorns, supplemented by a little corn in the morning and evening. When they were in their second autumn they were turned into the cornfield after the harvest, then let run in the loosely harvested fields of black eyed peas, after which they were fed on selected corn until shortly before the holidays, when they were killed, then smoked for several months by hickory chips and finally rubbed down well with moist brown sugar.—Home Magazine.

Like the Mythical Dragon.

In the Malay archipelago is a reptile much like the mythical dragon. It has false ribs that extend the loose skin and form its wings. There is also a frog with spreading feet that makes a parachute which enables it to flit from tree to tree, and a flying lemur that can spread out its whole body like an umbrella and leap and fly a hundred feet at a time, from the top of one tree to another.

Gold and Silver Gospels.

"The Gold and Silver Gospels" is the name of a very peculiar book now preserved in the Upsala library in Sweden. It is printed with metal type on violet colored vellum, the letters being silver and the initials gold. When it was printed, by whom or what were the methods employed are questions which have great interest for the curious, but have never been answered.

A Hotel Experience.

One fashionable hotel on Fifth avenue refuses to give any receipt for jewelry deposited in its safe or hold itself responsible for a greater amount than $250. Its explanation of this rule is based on an experience which seems excuse enough. Two guests of the hotel kept their valuables and money in the safe. They left them there when they went abroad, sometimes to stay for six months. Once the wife came back alone and drew out all the money and valuables. As she had often done so before the clerks gave the box to her as a matter of course. It was not until her husband had returned and wanted the same valuables that the hotel knew of their divorce. The husband brought suit and recovered all he claimed. Since that result of its confidence in its guests the hotel has limited its responsibility to $250.—New York Sun.

Safe to Love Them Then.

"I like dear little babies before they have learned to talk, don't you, Mr. Smythe?"

"Indeed I do! Before they have learned to talk there is no danger of their parents telling you the remarkable things they have said."—Stray Stories.

Hippocratic Era In Medicine.

Richard Cole Newton declares that even in the early days of the Hippocratic era the art of surgery eschewed all forms of superstition and philosophical conjecture, attaining practical results by direct methods. At a very early age the profession of medicine was fully recognized in Greece and in many cases was generously rewarded. We read of swindlers and charlatans in those days too. Patent medicines were also sold. The Hippocratic oath, which for over twenty centuries has remained practically unchanged, is an evidence of the sagacity, the sense of professional honor and responsibility and the clear thinking of the Greeks. Hippocrates was born on the island of Cos in 460 B. C. A large collection of writings, evidently the work of many physicians, whose identity is unknown, has been ascribed to the pen of this leader. The Greeks were wonderfully brilliant in medical attainments, for they studied nature and her methods and shook themselves free from a monumental load of ignorance and superstition. The synchronous development of mind and body was the fundamental rule, both of health and education.—Medical Record.

The Discipline of Failure.

The best skating is always on thin ice—we like to feel it crack and yield under our feet. There is a deadly fascination in the thought of twenty or thirty feet of cold water beneath. Last year's mortality list cuts no ice with us. We must make our own experiments, while Dr. Experience screams himself hoarse from his bonfire on the bank. He has held many an inquest on this darkling shore of the river of time, and he will undoubtedly live to hold many another, but thus far we have not been the subjects, and when it comes to the mistakes of others we are all delighted to serve on the coroner's jury. It isn't well for us to be saved from too many blunders. We need the discipline of failure. It is better to fail than never to try, and the man who can contemplate the graveyard of his own hopes without bitterness will not always be ignored by the gods of success.—Meredith Nicholson in Reader.

Tree That Gives Light.

Among freaks of nature in trees there stands conspicuous one known as the Asiatic star tree. It is enormously tall, growing to a height of from sixty feet to eighty feet, while from the ground up to a distance of about forty feet the trunk is perfectly bare. From that point there spring a number of tangled limbs, which shoot out clusters of long, pointed leaves, and it is these, grouped together, that emit at night a clear, phosphorescent light. This gives the tree a spectral appearance and is very deceiving to travelers, who frequently mistake the glow for an illuminated window of a house. The light is not brilliant, but is of sufficient strength to allow of a newspaper being read by it. It does not flicker, but glows steadily from sunset to daybreak.

Men Who Walked on All Fours.

In the kingdom of Poland there was formerly a law according to which any person found guilty of slander was compelled to walk on all fours through the streets of the town where he lived accompanied by the beadle, as a sign that he was disgraced and unworthy of the name of man. At the next public festival the delinquent was forced to appear crawling upon hands and knees underneath the banqueting-table and barking like a dog. Every guest was at liberty to give him as many kicks as he chose, and he who had been slandered must toward the end of the banquet throw a picked bone at the culprit, who, picking it up with his mouth, would leave the room on all fours.

No Peace For Discoverers.

It is remarkable how few of the discoverers and conquerors of the new world died in peace. Columbus died of a broken heart, Balboa was disgracefully beheaded, Cortes was dishonored, Sir Walter Raleigh was beheaded, Pizarro was murdered, Ojeda died in poverty and Henry Hudson was left to the mercy of the Indians along the bay which he discovered.—Detroit Free Press.

Don't Kill the Hawk.

Man has sinned more than any other animal in trifling with nature's balance. Clover crops and the killing of hawks are apparently unrelated, yet the hawks eat the field mice, the field mice prey on the immature bees, and the bees fertilize the clover blossoms. The death of a hawk means an overincrease of field mice and a consequent destruction of the bees.—Country Life In America.

A Charity Dance.

Awkward Spouse—I see our set is to have a grand charity ball. Did you ever dance for charity? Pretty Wife—Of course. Don't you remember how I used to take pity on you and dance with you when we first met?—London Telegraph.

Hence the Tears.

"It is strange how some people cry at weddings."

"Yes, but you've probably noticed that it's never the single people who cry."

"Well?"

"Well, it is only the married ones who realize the tragedy of it."—Houston Post.

A Cynic.

In the "Cynic's Word Book" Ambrose Bierce, himself a cynic, gives the following definition of a cynic: "A blackguard whose faulty vision sees things as they are, not as they ought to be; hence the custom among the Scythians of plucking out a cynic's eyes to improve his vision."

Edmund C. Munger died at his home in Dundee early last Friday morning, aged 72 years. He is survived by a widow and three children: Mrs. May Egar of Dundee, Mrs. Fred Peebles of Illinois, and F. E. Munger of the Modern Print Co., Detroit, and two brothers, F. S. Munger of the Edson, Moore Co., Detroit, and A. H. Munger of Burnham, Stoepel & Co., Detroit. How to remain young.

To continue young in health and strength, do as Mrs. N. F. Rowan, McDonough, Ga., did. She says: "Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured me of chronic liver and stomach trouble, complicated with such an unhealthy condition of the blood that my skin turned red as flannel. I am now practically 20 years younger than before I took Electric Bitters. I can now do all my work with ease and assist in my husband's store." Guaranteed at C. A. Wright's drug store. Price 50c.

Most people know that if they have been sick they need Scott's Emulsion to bring back health and strength.

But the strongest point about Scott's Emulsion is that you don't have to be sick to get results from it.

It keeps up the athlete's strength, puts fat on thin people, makes a fretful baby happy, brings color to a pale girl's cheeks, and prevents coughs, colds and consumption.

Food in concentrated form for sick and well, young and old, rich and poor.

Michael Carter.

Michael Carter was born May 30, 1829 in Barnegat, New Jersey. In 1839 when only seven years of age he came to Michigan with his parents who located in the township of Macon, where he has since resided, having lived fifty years in the home from whence he departed this life Feb. 9, 1907. The funeral was held from the home Tuesday, Feb. 12, at ten o'clock, Rev. Thomas of Ridgeway, officiating. Interment at Lake Ridge cemetery.

The deceased was married June 27, 1847 to Martha Skinner of Macon, two children being born to them one dying in infancy, the other, Mrs. Thomas Maynard, preceeding her father several years. The mother also having gone before. In 1859 he was again united in marriage to Mary Martin of Macon. Ten children blessed this union, seven of whom survive him. The wife and mother having gone to her final rest in 1876.

Six of his children were at his bedside in his last severe illness, tenderly caring for him and sadly watching him sink into that last long sleep. The surviving children are Mrs. Julia Phillips, Macon; Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson, Battle Creek; Mrs. Edith Westfall, Macon; Mrs. Cora Woodruff, Kalamazoo; Clarkson Carter, Saline; Arthur and Isaiah Carter of Macon, there also being eight grandchildren. Besides the immediate family he leaves a large circle of friends and neighbors to mourn his loss.

All who knew him, knew the kind and unselfish disposition he possessed, being a devout christian he seemed only to live for those around him. Surely his was an exemplary life, always honest and upright, in his dealings with his fellow men. A kind and faithful husband, a loving and indulgent father, always bearing his sorrows and trials (of which he had many) with fortitude and grace, trusting in a divine power, seeking and finding comfort in his God whom he felt assured "doeth all things well."

It is not the purpose of this brief sketch to speak of errors or faults of which no man is entirely free, but in this instance no commendation is given to which this man was not justly entitled. It is much that any man has so lived as to have earned the respect and love of a whole community.

CARD OF THANKS.

The family wish to extend their sincere thanks to the friends who so kindly assisted at the time of the death and burial, also to the male quartette for the beautiful selections rendered.

Mrs. Margaret Eccles.

At the home of her daughter, Mrs. Seth Bullock, at 9 o'clock yesterday morning occurred the death of Mrs. Margaret Eccles. She passed peacefully away after an illness of several months. Her husband, Jas. C. Eccles, died at the family home in Tecumseh, Mich., on July 1st of last year and after his death Mrs. Eccles came to reside with her daughter in Deadwood. She spent her time at their different homes in this city until November last, when she was taken ill at Mrs. Bullock's and remained there to the time of her death.

The deceased was eighty-three years, having been born in Washington, Pa., on Nov. 28th, 1824. She is survived by seven children, W. T. Eccles and Jas. S. Eccles of Tecumseh, Mich., Mrs. H. A. Forsythe, Mrs. Seth Bullock, Mrs. W. S. Elder and Fred Eccles of Deadwood, and John C. Eccles of Belle Fourche.

During her short residence in Deadwood she came to be greatly loved by those who have had the privilege of knowing her, because of her many admirable qualities of character. She was sincere and true in her convictions, gentle and sweet in her dispositions and in the best sense of the term, a womanly woman.

Her death was due primarily to the decline incident to old age. Towards the last, her passing was hastened by a weakness of the heart action and a dropsical tendency that is usually present in such cases.

The funeral services will take place this afternoon at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Seth Bullock, and will be conducted by Rev. Ashby of the Congregational church. The direction of the arrangements is in charge of B. S. Booth.

At 6 o'clock in the evening, the remains will be taken east on the Northwestern for burial at the family home at Tecumseh and will be accompanied by Mrs. W. S. Elder and Fred Eccles.—The Deadwood Daily Pioneer-Times, March 1st.

Portland, Maine, is the subject of a profusely illustrated paper by Stephen Gammett which appears in the March Putnam's under the title of "The Longfellow Town." Longfellow loved and constantly revisited the home of his boyhood, almost every point of interest in Portland is identified with his life or work.

Are you tired, fagged out, nervous, sleepless, feel mean? Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea strengthens the nerves, aids digestion, brings refreshing sleep. 35 cents, tea or tablets.

He who must be goaded to do right is going to do wrong.

The March Century is a garden number, covering a wide and varied range of outdoor interests—Charleston gardens, Persian garden, workingmen's gardens, flower arrangement in Japan, and a review by a Dutch expert of Luther Burbank's work in scientific horticulture. The Luther Burbank review, from the pen of Hugo de Vries, professor of Plant anatomy and physiology in the University of Amsterdam, is the article of most scientific value in the magazine. It brings to American readers a new, suggestive and authoritative presentation of Mr. Burbank's claims and achievements.

March Lippincott's magazine breathes a foretaste of summer in its leading feature novelette. "The Smuggler" is its title, and the author, Ella Middleton Tybout, has already to her credit several successful full grown novels, notably "The wife of the secretary of State." This newest story does not deal with smugglers and pirates of the past, but with the modern manner of getting jewels into our fair land without asking Uncle Sam's consent. The characters are mightily convincing in their various roles; and her rapid-acting plot makes the most indifferent reader "sit up" until he has devoured the last word.

THE COFFEE MASQUERADE

Advice of the largest coffee dealers in the world is always to buy the old-fashioned Arbuckles' ARIOSA Coffee in the sealed packages. Don't ask for a pound of Mocha and Java, or buy by the price, for Coffee fluctuates and you cannot get the same coffee for the same price all the time unless you pay too much for it. Most of the so-called Mocha and Java Coffee is simply masquerading, and is not nearly as good coffee for you as Arbuckles' ARIOSA, the blend of the Brazilian Coffees most suitable to the taste and health of American people. By the looks there is no difference between roasted Java and Brazilian Coffees; many people drink Brazilian but pay for Java. The principal difference is that Arbuckles' costs you less. It is a mistake to believe that a high price guarantees quality. When you buy Arbuckles' ARIOSA Coffee, you get a full one pound package of the leading Coffee of the world. Its sales for 37 years are greater than the combined sales of all the other packaged coffees. By giving better Coffee for the money, we have built up a business exceeding the combined businesses of the four next largest coffee firms in the whole world. If your dealer will not supply the genuine, write to ARBUCKLE BROS., New York City.

The Cost of Tea

A difference of ten or twenty cents a pound in the cost of tea makes a very slight difference (if any at all) in the cost per cup. Did you ever stop to think of that? Do not sacrifice a bit of your cup enjoyment for this supposed saving in cost, for it is only a supposed saving.

TECUMSEH CHIEF TEA costs 50c a pound—a very small fraction of a cent per cup. Because of its strength it goes farther therefore in reality, it costs no more than the low price kind The pleasant taste it leaves in your mouth is due to its flavor.

Prove to yourself the truth of this. Order a pound to-day and ask for a canister to keep it in. If you are not satisfied, your money back.

A LETTER

From a Former Tecumseh Man

LYSTER H. DEWEY

Writes of his trip through Mexico.

S. S. Higo, Laguna de Tamiahwa, Tuxpam, Veracruz to Tampico, Tamaulipas, Mex. Thursday, Feb. 14, 1907.

MY DEAR MRS. STRETCH:—When I woke up this morning in a little dugout canoe coming up the Rio Tamiaha (pronounced Tommy-ah-wa) from Tuxpam, the canoe being poled by two Mexicans who could speak only Spanish, I thought today is St. Valentine's day. There isn't much hope that I may receive a valentine as I cannot reach Tampico, the first point where there is mail, until tomorrow night, but I can write a valentine to send out, so here goes.

A valentine from the open deck of a little steamer with a paddle wheel at the stern going through the shallow Laguna de Tamiahua and just now turning into the Rio Cuchara, that is, the Spoon river. I suppose some people do get spoony in this region the same as in los Estados Unidos, but I guess the name of the river is derived from the peculiar shape of some mountains that I can see near its course.

I left Washington January 23 by way of the O. & O. to St. Louis, Mo., then on to Monterey, in the state of Nueva Leon, Victoria and Tampico, in the state of Tamaulipas, and a week ago over the route I am now taking to the end of civilization, the jumping off place as it were, and then I jumped.

Tuxpam, situated on the bank of the beautiful Tuxpam river, about nine miles from where the river empties into the Gulf of Mexico is one of the most primitive towns of its size—about 6,000 inhabitants—that I have ever struck. Its only communication with the outside world is by means of dug-out canoes, such as I went and came in and by the little coasting steamer that calls outside the bar nine miles away about 8 times a month when the weather is good. They have a tri-monthly mail, that is, the mail tries to get there every month. The only communication with the interior is "a pie" (on foot) or "a caballo" (on horseback). There is not a road leading back into the country over which it is possible to go with any kind of a wheeled vehicle.

I wanted to go to an hacienda about 45 miles back in the country and I hired a man with two saddle horses, one for himself and one for me to go a caballo. We started out in the morning and rode 21 miles the first day. We crossed the river at this place in a dugout canoe. The saddles together with our blankets were taken off and placed in the canoe and the horses swam alongside for about an eighth of a mile. I have never ridden horseback very much and I was very glad when we reached a stopping place for the night. The following day we started at 7:30 and reached our destination a long 24 miles at 1:30 in the afternoon.

I spent the rest of the day looking at the fiber plants that I had come to study and taking photographs of them, finishing up my work and my notes so as to be ready to return in the morning The return trip to Tuxpam was made in two days, 34 miles the first day and 11 the next morning.

There was not much danger of overfeeding on the way as the diet consisted of tortillas (pronounced tor-teel yas) a kind of heavy, underdone pancake of fresh hand ground corn flour, fried eggs not more than one apiece at a meal, Mexican black beans called frijoles (pronounced free-ho-leys) and coffee usually without milk and boiled with the sugar in it. I am well and getting tough and hardy but I do not believe that I am getting very fat.

The nights were cold, not quite cold enough to freeze but probably about 40 degrees and of course no fire to keep warm. We had cots at the places where we stopped but usually no covers except the blankets we carried with us. I have a good heavy Mexican blanket and also had with me my cravenette rain coat and wore a suit of pretty heavy winter clothes. I fear that I prayed like the Pharisee and thanked the Lord that I am not as other men are or even as this Mexican for I have warm covers while he has but one thin blanket and his thin cotton coat is small protection against the cold.

The days were warm and pleasant and I enjoyed riding through the rich tropical forests with flowers in abundance everywhere. Rubber trees were plentiful, not the kind we cultivate as house plants but the Central American hule which produces rubber commercially. Mango trees were abundant and now in flower. Sapot trees were everywhere with their trunks hacked by machets for the production of a gum called chicli (pronounced chick-lee) which forms the basis of all our best chewing gum. From Tampico I go across Mexico to Guadalajara in the state of Jalisco then back to San Luis Potori in the state of the same name and then to Washington. I hope to reach home in about two weeks. I am not recommending this route for a pleasure trip.

Yours sincerely,
LYSTER H. DEWEY.

Adrian Imperial Hive Initiated a class of

SEVENTEEN

Candidates for the Tecumseh Hive last evening.

The members of the Adrian Imperial Hive L. O. T. M. M. paid the Tecumseh hive a visit last evening and conferred the work of the order upon a class of 17. At 6 o'clock a banquet was served to the visitors and candidates in the I. O. O. F. hall, after which a social time was enjoyed until 8 o'clock.

Those taking the degree were Florence M. Snow, Martha Linton-Orr, Mary E. Packard, Jessie D. Dove, Florence Bennett, Bessie E. Stacy, Florence Sutton, Marietta Wyrill, Nina Bryan, Trella D. McElderry, Florence and Bertine Titus, Maud and Anna Saul, Agnes Riley, Florence Babcock and F. Anna Wilson.

The work of the ladies was beautifully done. At the close of the work the guards of both hives gave an excellent drill. The visitors complimented the local hive for the efficient work done in the reception and banquet tendered them. At 11 o'clock a special train carried the Adrian ladies to their homes.

ACTUALLY CURES CATARRH.

C. A. Wright's faith in Hyomei is so strong he sells it under guarantee.

It is one thing to claim, another thing to back up the claim by a statement that if it is not proven true, there will be no charge for the service or the goods.

It is in this way that C. A. Wright sells Hyomei, for he has so much faith in its powers to cures all forms of catarrh and bronchial troubles, that he gives an absolute, unqualified guarantee with every outfit that if the remedy does not cure, the money will be refunded.

Hyomei is based on nature's way of curing catarrh. It contains the concentrated healing oils and gums of the pine woods, prepared in such form that they can be brought into your own home. It gives the health advantages of the Adirondacks in such form that you can be cured of catarrh and affections of the nose, throat and lungs while at work.

A complete Hyomei outfit costs but $1 and extra bottles, if needed, may be obtained for 50c.

With Hyomei you can cure catarrh pleasantly and easily at small expense, with no risk of the treatment costing a penny unless it cures.

THE BEST COUGH CURE

When offered something else instead of

Kemp's Balsam

stop and consider: "Am I sure to get something as good as this best cough cure?

If not sure, what good reason is there for taking chances in a matter that may have a direct bearing on my own or my family's health?"

Sold by all dealers at 25c. and 50c.

If a man prefers chewing tobacco to smoking, he always says chewing isn't so injurious to the health.

WOMEN'S WOES.

Tecumseh women are finding relief at last.

It seems that women have more than a fair share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity: they must "keep up," must attend to duties in spite of backaches, headaches or dizzy spells, they must stoop over when to stoop means torture. They must walk and bend with racking pains from kidney ills. Kidneys cause more suffering than any other organ of the body. Keep them well and health is easily maintained. Read of a remedy for kidneys only and is endorsed by people you know.

Mrs. Chas Stevenson, on Wyandotte street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I am glad to endorse Doan's Kidney Pills as they have been of great benefit to me. When I was sick in bed with malaria fever I began to be troubled with sharp pains in my back and my kidneys were in bad shape. My nurse advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills as they were an excellent remedy for such troubles. I got a box and began taking them. They proved to be just the remedy I required. In a short time the pains left, the secretions came back to their natural color and the gravel stones which had bothered me disappeared. I have since recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to all my friends and will continue to do so."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's, and take no other.

The News—No Pure Drug Cough Cure Laws would be needed, if all cough cures were like Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure is—and has been for 20 years. The National Law now requires that if any poisons enter into a cough mixture, it must be printed on the label or package.

For this reason mothers, and others, should insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. No poisons marks on Dr. Shoop's labels—and none in the medicine, else it must by law be on the label. And its not only safe, but it is said to be by those that know it best, a truly remarkable cough remedy. Take no chance, particularly with your children. Insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Compare carefully the Dr. Shoop package with others and see. No poison marks there! You can always be on the safe side by demanding Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Simply refuse to accept any other. Sold by all dealers.

Dr. F. C. Witter of the house staff at the University hospital, was married Thursday evening to Miss Lena L. Armstrong of Lapeer, and a nurse in the same hospital. The wedding occurred at eight o'clock but at six o'clock the bride's home was found to be on fire, whereupon the groom mounted the roof at the risk of his life to help put out the fire—a very acceptable son-in-law.

FASTIDIOUS WOMEN

consider Paxtine Toilet Antiseptic a necessity in the hygienic care of the person and for local treatment of feminine ills. As a wash its cleansing, germicidal, deodorizing and healing qualities are extraordinary. For sale at Druggists. Sample free. Address The R. Paxton Co., Boston, Mass.

Convalescents

NEED VINOL

for it hastens recovery by creating strength

There is just one thing the matter with a person who has been sick—that is weakness.

To all such people in this vicinity we recommend our delicious cod liver preparation, Vinol, as the very best strength creator for convalescents.

Vinol strengthens the digestive organs, creates an appetite, promotes sound sleep, makes rich, red blood, and builds up a depleted system to health and vigor.

This is because Vinol contains all the medicinal elements of cod liver oil with the useless oil eliminated and tonic iron added. We guarantee it.

PRESIDENT SAVES FORESTS.

Adds Seventeen Million Acres to Forest Reserves by Proclamation.

Washington, March 5.—Seventeen million acres of forest lands have been added to the forest reserves of the United States, by proclamations issued by President Roosevelt, made public Monday. Thirty-two forest reservations are created or increased in area by these proclamations.

The following memorandum bearing on the subject was made public at the White House:

"These forest reserves were determined upon and the preparation of the necessary papers ordered some months ago—in two-thirds of the cases some years ago—in the exercise of duty imposed upon me by act of congress of March 3, 1891. The utmost care and deliberation have been exercised in deciding upon the boundaries of the proposed reserves; in all but a few cases, long-continued and detailed field examinations have been made, and in the remainder examinations amply sufficient to justify the proposed action.

"The necessary proclamations under existing law now come before me and the question is presented whether I should refrain from acting under the existing law because there is now under consideration by congress a proposal to change the law so as to require congressional action upon the establishment of such forest reserves. If I did not act, reserves which I consider very important for the interests of the United States would be wholly or in part dissipated before congress has an opportunity again to consider the matter, while under the action which I propose to take they will be preserved; and if congress differs from me in this action, it will have full opportunity in the future to take such position as it desires, anent the discontinuation of the reserves, by affirmative action, taken with the fullest opportunity for considering the subject by itself and on its own merits. If by any chance, land more valuable for other purposes than for forest reserves is shown to have been included in those reserves, I shall forthwith restore it to entry.

"Failure on my part to sign these proclamations would mean that immense tracts of valuable timber would fall into the hands of the lumber syndicates before congress has an opportunity to act.

LEAVE WASHINGTON.

Michigan Legislators Scatter in Several Directions.

Washington, March 6.—Of the Michigan delegation in congress, Townsend, Gardner, McMorran, Fordney and Darragh will return to their respective bailiwicks at once. Denby, Hamilton and Sam Smith will linger here a little time before going to Michigan. Fordney will go home soon, but will stay there only a short time before leaving for the Pacific coast. Loud will leave at once for California, and Young has already started for Europe.

Senator Smith left for Grand Rapids last night with Mrs Smith and their son, William. Senator and Mrs. Burrows will remain in Washington for two or three weeks and will then go to Atlantic City. The senator will reach Michigan in time to take part in the Alger eulogies in the legislature.

ATE TAINTED CHEESE.

Many Cases of Ptomaine Poisoning in Grand Haven.

Grand Haven, Mich., March 5.—Nearly 40 cases of ptomaine poisoning were reported in this city Sunday and Monday.

In every case the poisoning was traced to the effects of eating poisoned cheese. This cheese is some of a consignment that reached here from a Muskegon wholesale house, last Saturday.

It is a Michigan brand, and last week several Muskegon people were poisoned from eating it. The condition of several people in this city is very serious. Prosecuting Attorney Coburn has ordered an investigation and the blame will be fixed if possible. Three local groceries sold the poisoned cheese.

Heroes Given Medals.

Hook of Holland, Holland, March 5.—Prince Henry of the Netherlands, in behalf of Queen Wilhelmina, Monday, decorated Capt. Sperling, Jansen and Berckhout with the gold medal of the order of Orange-Nassau. All the crews of the boats which participated in saving the lives of the ten passengers and five members of the crew of the British steamer Berlin, which went ashore here February 21, were given silver medals of the same order.

Easy.

TAKES HIS LIFE.

Young Man, Supposed to Have Been Wanted in Budapest, Kills Himself on Shipboard.

New York, March 5.—A young man supposed to be Leopold Weiss, the missing cashier of the Budapest office of a Hamburg shipping firm, shot himself on board the Hamburg-American liner Batavia, as the boat was leaving dock in Hoboken Monday, bound for Europe.

The young man was removed from the ship and taken to St. Mary's hospital in Hoboken, where he died.

When the Hamburg-American liner Kaiser Auguste Victoria pulled into her dock last Tuesday, one of her passengers was a man who gave the name of Ignatz Lauffer. He was summoned before the immigration authorities for the usual investigation.

He described himself as a medical student of the University of Bulapest. On the dock was H. S. Striker, New York representative of the firm by which Weiss had been employed. Striker had received a cable message alleging that Weiss was short in his accounts. He confronted Lauffer on the ship, but the young man denied that he knew anything of the case.

The officials decided to detain him, however, and last Wednesday a hearing was held. Lauffer had told the officials that he had a sister, Miss Irene Lauffer, in this city, and during the Ellis Island hearing a young Hungarian woman appeared and identified Lauffer as her brother. It was at this stage that one of the persons present picked up the suspect's hat, and inside found the initials "L. W." The girl then, it is said, confessed that her brother, Ignats, had given Weiss his university passport in Budapest, and had asked her to deny Weiss's identity when he arrived. The young man was ordered deported, and was placed aboard the Batavia, where he was kept a prisoner.

Notable Audience at Theater.

Washington, March 5.—Margaret Anglin and Henry Miller and their company from the Princess theater, New York, gave a single performance of "The Great Divide," in honor of the president, the cabinet, congress and the diplomatic corps, at the Belasco theater last night. The audience was one of the most notable ever assembled in a Washington play house. The play was received with enthusiastic approval, and an ovation was given Mr. Miller and Miss Anglin after the second act and at the end of the play.

Robbers Make Big Haul.

Pittsburg, Kas., March 5.—Missouri Pacific passenger train, which left here at 7:20 last evening, was held up by two men in disguise, and Lou Jeff, a colored miner, employed at Camp 31 of the Central Coal and Coke company, was killed because he protested, and W. L. Westlake, of Toledo, O., was shot through the hand by a stray shot that had been fired at the negro. The robbers got $10,000.

Are Given Constitutions.

Berlin, March 5.—The grand duke of Mecklenburg-Schwerin and the grand duke of Mecklenburg-Strelitz announced Monday their intention to grant constitutions to their respective duchies. These are the only two German states still without constitutions, a fact which has given rise to frequent criticism in the reichstag in recent years.

Swettenham Is Out.

London, March 5.—The resignation of Gov. Swettenham, of Jamaica, has become an accomplished fact, and he will leave that island as soon as his affairs can be arranged.

Prominent Plainwell Man Dead.

Plainwell, Mich., March 5.—In the death of John Noyes Ransom, Monday morning, this vicinity loses its most prominent farmer and president of the Citizens' Savings bank, of Plainwell. He was the father of Fletcher C. Ransom, the noted New York artist; a nephew of Governor Ransom, one of Michigan's early executives, and a cousin of President Hayes, Larkin Meade, America's great sculptor, and of Mrs. William Dean Howells, wife of the famous literary man. Mr. Ransom owned the largest farm in this vicinity, possessing 1,300 acres of tillable soil and this, until a few weeks of his death, he personally superintended. His life was marked by the most strenuous labor. His sixty-seventh birthday was last Saturday, and during his entire life he has made his home in Kalamazoo county, being the son of Dr. Ransom.

As the Mexican Central passenger train was crossing the Rio Grande at El Paso, Tex., Monday, coming in from Mexico, Senor Manuel Marip, a musician and composer, famous in Mexico, died. He was bound for California to visit a son, and was ill when he left home at San Luis Potosi.

Your Heart

May Be Weak. One Person in Four Has a Weak Heart.

One of the surest signs of a weak heart is shortness of breath after exercise.

Your heart is not able to pump the blood fast enough to your lungs.

Some of the other symptoms of Heart Trouble are: Pains in the Side, Back and Shoulder; Fainting or Weak Spells; Dry Cough; Swelling of Feet and Ankles; Cold Feet or Hands.

No one can afford to allow a weak heart to go without medicine, because weak heart means poor circulation, and poor circulation means weak lungs, stomach, liver, kidneys, etc.

If, therefore, you suspect heart trouble, begin taking Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure. The Heart Cure will do you good, as it is a splendid tonic for the blood and nerves, and will revitalize your entire system.

Finally, remember, Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is sold under a guarantee that the first bottle will do you good.

If it doesn't—your money back.

"I was afflicted with heart trouble for three years. I would be apparently all right, and without a moment's warning would fall as though shot. The attacks were frequent, and a terrible dread possessed me, as I never knew when or where, nor under what conditions I would be attacked, and whether I would survive them. I consulted and was treated by some of the most eminent physicians of the state. Not finding relief from this source I began taking Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and began to improve at once. I used ten bottles which entirely cured me, as I have not had an attack for five years."—MRS. JOHN DRESBACK, Leipsic, O.

MICHIGAN HAPPENINGS.

Adjt.-Gen. McGurrin is out with a statement that the present drill rooms of the Michigan National guard are totally inadequate as to size. He is agitating a move to induce the state to build new armories with ample room.

The finance committee of the Y. M. C. A. at Grand Rapids has started on a crusade to raise $18,000, necessary for current expenses of the association. To date $5,000 has been subscribed. Over 100 business men are out after the cash.

One million dollars, or $5 a share, will be distributed among the shareholders of the Calumet & Arizona Mining Co. on March 20. This is the fourteenth quarterly dividend, and is payable to stockholders of record at the closing of books March 1.

Clifford Thayer, of Battle Creek, has been bereft of his parents and mother-in-law within one week. Mr. and Mrs. Otis Thayer, of Homer, were visiting their son, Clifford, when they died within a few days of each other, and later Mrs. J. P. Tomlinson expired.

During the past season there has been 356 cases of measles in Marshall. Over 150 are ill with the malady now, and Health Officer Dr. S. K. Church has ordered the east ward school closed, the attendance being less than 75 per cent of the regular number of scholars.

Marking the close of 30 years' continuous service on the part of Capt. A. E. Calkins, president and secretary of the Farmers' Milling Co., of Allegan, the company has sold the second oldest flour mill in the state to the Allegan Light & Power Co., and Baker & Co.

Learning that a man acting in a demented manner was wandering about in the woods near Grayling, the sheriff located Howard A. Cockley, who had $60, a gold watch and several deeds in his pockets. He had recently shipped a carload of horses from Lewiston. Both his feet are badly frozen.

BRIEF DISPATCHES.

John W. A. Scott, probably the oldest artist of note in the country, died at his home in Cambridge, Mass., Monday, aged 92 years. He was born in Dorchester. His paintings were chiefly of landscapes.

Twenty cases of blasting powder exploded Monday at a grading camp in the outskirts of Kansas City, Kansas, on the outer belt line railway, with such force that it broke window panes within a radius of 25 miles. But one person, a woman, was injured.

The central labor bodies of Norfolk, Portsmouth and Newport News have decided to erect on the Jamestown exposition grounds, a labor hall to cost between $10,000 and $15,000, which will be designed for labor headquarters during the exposition.

Assistant Secretary of the Navy Newberry, returned to Washington Monday on the converted cruiser Mayflower, after a month's inspection tour of the naval stations on the Gulf and South Atlantic coasts and in the West Indies.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N.Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

CATARRH

To prove unquestionably, and beyond any doubt that Catarrh of the nose and throat can be cured, I am furnishing patients through druggists, small free Trial Boxes of Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure. I do this because I am so certain that Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure will bring actual substantial help. Nothing certainly, is so convincing as a physical test of any article of real, genuine merit. But that article must possess true merit, else the test will condemn, rather than advance it. Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure is a snow white, healing antiseptic balm, put up in beautiful nickel capped glass jars at 50c. Such soothing agents as Oil Eucalyptus, Thymol, Menthol, etc., are incorporated into a velvety, cream like Petrolatum, imported by Dr. Shoop from Europe. If Catarrh of the nose and throat has extended to the stomach, then by all means also use Internally, Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Stomach distress, a lack of general strength, bloating, belching, biliousness, bad taste, etc., surely call for Dr. Shoop's Restorative.

For uncomplicated catarrh help of the nose and throat nothing else, however, need be used but

"In 1897 I had a stomach disease. Some physicians said dyspepsia, some consumption. One said I would not live until spring. For four years I existed on boiled milk, soda biscuits and doctor's prescriptions. I could not digest anything I ate; then I picked up one of your almanacs and it happened to be my life-saver. I bought a fifty-cent bottle of Kodol and the benefit I received from that bottle all the gold in Georgia could not buy. In two months I went back to my work, as a machinist and in three months I was well and hearty. May you live long and prosper." C. N. Cornell, Roding, Ga., 1906. Tecumseh Chief Furnace.

Century Post Co.:

Sirs:—It has been like "the good old summer time" in my house since the furnace was put in the house last fall. It will heat the whole house, or by your system of dampers and drafts can confine the heat to one room. To anyone in need of a good, substantial, labor saving, fuel economizing, satisfaction giving furnace, I would recommend the Tecumseh Chief.

Yours Truly, F. M. GOHEEN.

Jackson, Mich., Feb. 22, 1907.

Century Post Co.:

Dear Sirs:—Your furnace was simply fine, both in heating and cleanliness, free faom smoke. Never took so much real comfort a winter in my life of 77 years as this winter. No going to bed cold at night, or waiting for the house to warm in the morning. Wouldn't take $500 for it and do without it. MRS. J. M. PORTER.

Royal Oak, Mich., Feb. 22, 1906.

Century Post Co., Tecumseh, Mich.

Gentlemen:—would say in reply that I cannot make it strong enough as to my views in regard to your furnace. She is a "dandy" in every respect, both for heating and economy. I will use no more than 4½ tons of coal this winter, heating six (6) rooms, and can say my house has never been below 65 degrees temperature. Think you can sell several more here this season. Very truly yours,

(Signed) H. N. LAVERT.

We have many more testimonials equally as strong we would be glad to show you. If you contemplate putting in a furnace drop us a card, or send a plan of your house and we would be pleased to have one of our representatives call on you and make you a price. We can save you money.

Nan's Wooing

By TAYLOR WHITE

Copyright, 1906, by P. C. Eastment

"I simply must make that train," said Nan. "I must get home."

Bert looked at his mother. She made a helpless gestire.

"I don't see how it can be done, my dear Nan," she said weakly. "Both of the horses have gone lame, the livery has no horse in, and the expressman cannot come for your trunk until this afternoon."

"Can't we beg, borrow or buy a rig?" she demanded briskly. "Surely every horse and cart in Pleasantville is not engaged."

"I guess you'll have to stay over until tomorrow," said Bert blandly. "I can get a horse by then."

"I'm going to get one right away," she said decidedly. "I promised Nell Taylor when we were at school that I would be her bridesmaid and I'm going to."

Mrs. Montrose stared. "My dear Nan," she said coldly, "I hope you will do nothing to excite comment."

Nan stared. She had told them a week ago that she must leave on Thursday, and they had made no move toward looking after her departure. Now that she had been forced to take the matter into her own hands this placid remark irritated her.

"I am going to get that trunk to the train if I have to hire a circus parade," she said spiritedly as she darted out of the door.

Mrs. Montrose held up her hands in placid horror. "My dear Bert," she said, "it is almost fortunate that the girl will not have you."

"Nothing of the sort," was the brutal response. "I need the money, and you know I do. If you hadn't made that row about her riding Dwight's horse it would have been all right. I was hoping if I forgot about the baggage she might stay on, and I could patch it up."

"Well, let us hope that the girl does not entirely disgrace us," was the wailing rejoinder as Mrs. Montrose went into the parlor, where she could command a view of the street.

Nan Udell had been a thorn in her flesh ever since she had come from the west for a visit. Her father and the late John Montrose had been mining partners in the early days. Each had made his strike, and when Nan and Bert were born it was agreed that they were to marry when they should be old enough. Nan had come visiting with the implied understanding that they were to wed, but Bert had soon disgusted her, while there had been numerous conflicts between herself and Mrs. Montrose, who was perpetually shocked at her breezy western manner.

"I FANCY YOU SHOCKED MRS. MONTROSE, SHE IS SO EXTREMELY PROPER."

She administered the last shock when she presently drove up to the house on the seat of an express wagon, talking spiritedly to the driver. She sprang to the ground before he could descend and assist her and ran up the steps.

"All right!" she cried as she threw open the door. "Please let John help the man with the trunks."

"But how are you going to get into town?" objected Mrs. Montrose.

"I'll ride with the man," laughed Nan. "He said I might. It won't be the first time. Goodby, Mrs. Montrose. I'm sorry I was such a trouble to you. I'll wire when I get home and write and tell you all about the wedding. Goodby, Bert."

She turned and flew down the steps after the man and with a spring was back on the seat beside him.

"If you're in a hurry," she said contentedly as he touched the team with the whip, "the only way is to do a thing yourself."

"You seem quite capable of looking after things yourself," he laughed. "I fancy you shocked Mrs. Montrose. She is so eminently proper!"

"I'm sorry," she said penitently, "but I just had to get home, and they knew it. I'm glad I found you."

"So am I," he laughed.

"You ought to be out west," she said, with a comprehensive gaze that was not impertinent because it was so frank. "You're more the type of western man. They don't have a lot of men of your type here."

The driver finished. "We have them," he said quietly, "but I guess they don't travel in the Pleasantville set." He laughed as he thought of the snobbish social circle of the little suburb where even the trolley was barred. Nan read his thoughts and laughed in sympathy. Her visit had not been pleasant.

She chatted on as they sped along. The man was singularly intelligent for a workman, and she enjoyed his chat as much as she did the presence of a real man after six weeks with the pale youths who constituted the male element of Pleasantville society. She was almost sorry when they reached the town and drove up to the station.

The driver ushered her into the waiting room, purchased her ticket and sleeper, checked her trunks and finally came toward her. "Here is what I had to pay out," he said, offering a neat memorandum. "This is the change."

She glanced at the coins and smiled. "That's the last of my greenbacks," she laughed. "Now I'll get gold again. I like it lots better."

"We don't take to it on here," he smiled.

"But I've got to give you one," she said. "I have no more bills."

She held out a five dollar gold piece, and after a pause his hand closed over it. "Thank you," he said. "But you would have been welcome to my services. I hope you have a pleasant trip."

"That's a real goodby," she said impulsively, remembering the frigid farewell at the house. "Will you shake hands?"

His hand closed over hers with a pressure that almost crushed it; then, with a bow, he turned and left the room, while she settled herself for the hour wait.

Nan was in time to be a bridesmaid, and when she had written a long account to Mrs. Montrose she sought to put thoughts of Pleasantville out of her mind. It was easy enough to forget Mrs. Montrose and the colorless Bert, but somehow the expressman would crop up in her memory.

She assured herself over and over again that she did not care for any man who was content to drive an express wagon, and yet all the time she knew that she did care, and when a few weeks later she entered the Cromwells' ballroom and at the far end saw a face she thought familiar her heart gave a bound.

It could not be the expressman, she assured herself. The Cromwells were most exclusive, and yet"— He came toward her with his hostess on his arm.

"Mr. Newhall has been asking about you, my dear," smiled the old lady. "It seems that you met back east."

"I do not flatter myself that Miss Udell recalls me," he smiled. "But I had the good fortune to be of some slight service at her departure."

"Well, you can recall it to her," said Mrs. Cromwell placidly. "I must go and look after that Templeton girl. Look after Paul, my dear."

"I suppose you are surprised to see me here," she smiled. "May I explain? The conservatory is very handy."

Nan bowed, and he led the way. "You see," he begun when they had found a palm screened nook, "my father has some old fashioned ideas about work. He says that a man who commands must first be able to obey, and he put me on with the men on precisely the same footing. He even docked me half a day's pay for going to town without permission and chuckled when I told him I was still $2 to the good."

"Then you are not a regular expressman?"

"That was the mill wagon. It had express painted on it when we bought it, and we did not take the trouble to paint it out."

"What did you think of me?" she gasped.

"I thought that a girl with your capacity was worth knowing," he said promptly. "So I made a note of your name and address, which were on your trunks, remembered that Mrs. Cromwell was a school chum of my mother's and came out to see her."

"I suppose she feels highly complimented," suggested Nan.

"Oh, I told her why I came," he said calmly. "She quite indorses my opinion and my quest."

"When do you return?" asked Nan, to change the topic.

"As soon as you have promised to marry me," he said promptly. "It's a brief wooing, Nan, but I can't wait. Will you give me encouragement, dear?"

"Yes," said Nan, "I—I—do like you."

He slipped a ring on her finger.

"I am going to have that five dollar piece made into the wedding ring," he said. "That was why I took it that day."

"You loved me then?" she asked, surprised.

"Yes," he declared.

"That's funny," said Nan musingly. "I guess I did too."

Worked like a charm.

D. N. Walker, editor of that spicy journal, the Enterprise, Louisa, Va., says: "I ran a nail in my foot last week and at once applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve. No inflammation followed; the salve simply healed the wound." Heals every sore, burn and skin disease. Guaranteed at C. A. Wright's, 25c.

Mark Twain's Criticism.

"I once had the honor of reading a tale of mine to Mark Twain," said an author, "and, thanks to his criticism, the tale was greatly improved. Originally it was too high flown. He brought it down to earth and made it homelier and truer.

"For instance, the tale concluded with these words:

"'Mabel's lovely eyes drooped for answer, a faint flush tinted her cheek, and she gave him both her hands, and there, in the old orchard, in the shade of the heavy fruited trees, he drew her to his breast and, raising her long ringlets to his lips, kissed them reverently.'

"Mr. Clemens at this ending blew a cloud of smoke thoughtfully into the air, and as he watched the smoke dissolve he drawled:

"'What do you think now, honestly, of a young man who would go nibbling at a girl's back hair when she had her face with her?'"—Indianapolis Star.

"Chap" as a Man.

Not until the end of the sixteenth century did "chapman," a trader or peddler, get contracted into "chap" even in vulgar speech, and even then for a long time it did not advance beyond the meaning of buyer or customer. In this sense Steele speaks of "hunting after chaps," and Wilkes writes that "perhaps Mrs. Mead would buy, but she would be a hard chap." "Chap" seems to have reached its ultimate stage as a casual equivalent of "man" through the intermediate sense of a man with whom one has dealings, not of business, but of good fellowship. The case of "customer" is very similar. Shakespeare used it to mean a boon companion, but "a queer customer" now means little more than "a queer man." There is a trace of the old companionship idea, however, when a young woman speaks of "my chap."—London Chronicle.

Montaigne and Marriage.

Montaigne went toward marriage with the quality of cheerful alacrity which would have inspired a journey to the whipping post. "Might I have had my own will," he tells us, "I would not have married Wisdom herself, if she would have had me." No quainter piece of polite literature can be found than the letter which our philosopher addressed to his wife as a kind of necessary compliment on the occasion of the death of an only daughter. And the alacrity with which he relegates to Plutarch the task of consoling her in her affliction testifies to the entire consistency of his habitual claim that the dignity of marriage is best subserved when a husband refrains from becoming too fond of his wife. Even in view of this consideration, however, such a brief and refrigerated epistle suggests an amazing degree of reticence in a writer who needs only the turning of a faucet to enable him to pour forth a quenchless stream of ideas on any and every subject from thumbs to immortality.—Martha Baker Dunn in Atlantic.

A Strange Feast.

A curious feast is observed by the Mohammedan inhabitants of India, in which the origin of the custom known as painting the town red may possibly be traced. It is called the Holi and consists chiefly in the plentiful sprinkling upon all and sundry of a certain red preparation called holi powder. It stains the white clothes of the natives with an ugly, dirty looking red that conjures up before timid eyes dread visions of bloody fights and ghastly mutinies. The powder is made in two shades—the one vermilion, the other rose red—and both are used impartially by the observers of the ceremony, who delight in bedaubing their faces with the powders until they look like strange and hideous denizens of hades come up, still glowing with the fires of that region. Among the better classes this festival is falling into disfavor, for it leads to many unpleasant excesses and had its origin in some decidedly dissipated scene in ancient heathen history.

Found at last.

S. A. Harmon of Lizemore, West Va., says: "At last I have found the perfect pill that never disappoints me and for the benefit of others afflicted with torpid liver and chronic constipation, will say, take Dr. King's New Life pills." Guaranteed satisfactory. 25c at C. A. Wright's.

Proper Breathing.

According to a lecturer on health, people that breathe through the mouth, habitually neglecting the nose, the proper channel for the air supply, "have short upper lips, flat cheeks, irregular and decayed teeth, pigeon chests, pointed chins and pointed or upturned noses"—a dreadful list of dire penalties, in truth, fearful enough to convert us all in a moment, yet greatly exaggerated, of course. However, as we have heard many times, usually never heeding as we pass by, it is decidedly injurious to breathe through the mouth. Moreover, if we stop to consider a bit, we shall be able to see for ourselves several common sense reasons that ought to make us supply our lungs with air through the nose. Taken in by way of the mouth the air reaches the lungs by a much shorter route and without the beneficial warming and cleansing process so well afforded by the longer nasal passage. In winter especially should we take care to breathe only through the nose, thus lessening greatly our chances of taking deep seated colds. It is merely a matter of habit and simply a question of trying after all.

Love Potions.

Love potions as used by the peasants of lower Austria and Syria are generally taken by the person who wishes to be loved. The common habit is to consume minute portions of white arsenic, which will in a few weeks develop a thin, pale girl into a plump, rosy cheeked beauty. Great care has to be exercised in taking the arsenic or death results, and when the habit is once formed it usually lasts for life, since the body becomes uncomfortable and even diseased, showing all the symptoms of arsenic poisoning, if the habit is broken off.

Some of the eastern nations use love potions differently. If a girl loves a man and he seems cold, she contrives to give him a drink of hasheesh, obtained from Indian hemp. The man's brain becomes fogged, and he is ready to believe anything that is suggested to him. The girl suggests to him that she is beautiful and thus compels him to regard her unlovely features as she desires.

The Human Electric Battery.

The superstition that human beings should sleep with their heads to the north is believed by the French to have for its foundation a scientific fact. They affirm that each human system is in itself an electric battery, the head being one of the electrodes, the feet the other. Their proof was discovered from experiments which the Academy of Sciences was allowed to make on the body of a man who was guillotined. This was taken the instant it fell and placed upon a pivot free to move as it might. The head part, after a little vacillation, turned to the north, and the body then remained stationary. It was turned half way round by one of the professors, and again the head end of the trunk moved slowly to the cardinal point due north, the same results being repeated until the final arrestation of organic movement.

The Tobacconist's Effigy.

One of the most peculiar things in the whole history of signs is the fact that while all other shopkeepers were patronizing the embryo painters the tobacconist always called upon the woodcarver on the continent as well as in England. As long ago as Elizabeth's reign the wooden image of the black boy was the favorite sign of the tobacco dealers. Later the customary sign was the highlander or a figure of Sir Walter Raleigh. In Holland, for some strange reason, the tobacconists adopted the dairymaid as their sign, with the motto, "Consolation for sucklings." The Indian, naturally enough, has always been the predominant sign in this country, although once in awhile a reversion to type crops out with the ancient black boy.

Had Plenty of Confidence.

Augustus Thomas, the well known playwright, was talking about first nights and the heartrending anxiety of them. "On my own first nights," he said, "I am a pitiable object, utterly without hope, convinced in advance that my play is bound to fail. At such times I often wish I had the self confidence of Charles Reade. He, after he had dramatized his novel of 'Never Too Late to Mend,' wrote on the margin of a certain passage, 'If the audience fails to weep here, the passage has not been properly acted.'"

Killed Lover and Herself.

Marion, Ill., Feb. 19.—Nora Turner, daughter of G. H. Turner, of Harrisburg, Ill., shot Robert Kennedy and then shot herself. Both will die. Miss Turner has been making her home in this city and has been keeping company with Kennedy, who is a conductor on the Coal Belt Electric railroad. The couple quarreled Sunday night, and Kennedy demanded keepsakes he had given the girl. Before separating, Miss Turner told Kennedy that she would kill him if he did not marry her Monday. At noon she went to his room. They were there alone when the shooting took place.

Beware of ointments for catarrh that contain mercury.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescription from reputable physicians as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's catarrh cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury and is taken internally acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's catarrh cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally.

Whereas, It seems imparative for the public health of this community, that a system of sewerage for the village of Tecumseh, be at once inaugurated and carried to completion as fast as the circumstances and financial condition of the people interested, will permit.

And whereas, In order to put said sewerage upon a systematic basis, it is necessary that a trunk sewer shall be laid in Chicago street, with a view to in the future, complete the system by bringing other lateral sewers into said trunk sewer; and wishing to get a fair expression of the people interested in said matter.

Be it resolved, That we submit to the electors of the village of Tecumseh, the proposition: "Shall we begin a system of sewerage in the summer of 1907?" To be voted on at the village election on March 11, 1907.

Be it further resolved: That the ballot for submission to said people shall contain the words, "Shall we have a sewerage system?" "Yes." And, "Shall we have a sewerage system?" "No."

Moved and supported that same be adopted. Carried.

LENAWEE IN NEW CIRCUIT.

Lansing, Mich., March 7.—After a sharp debate in the senate a bill was passed creating a new judicial circuit, the thirty-ninth, by separating the circuit now composed of Hillsdale and Lenawee counties, and making a new circuit of the latter. Senator Linsley opposed the bill on the ground that it would be a hardship on Hillsdale county which has a population of but 29,000. He wanted to have a circuit made of Hillsdale, Lenawee and Monroe counties with two judges, but the cards were stacked against him. — Detroit Free Press.

PHYSICIANS DISAGREE

Different Opinions on Cooper's Remarkable Success Held by Cincinnati Medical Men.

Cincinnati, O., Feb. 28th. The astonishing sale of Cooper's preparations in this city has now reached such immense figures that the medical fraternity at large have become forced into open discussion of the man and his preparations.

The physicians as a whole seem to be divided with regard to the young man's success in Cincinnati—some before willing to credit him for what he has accomplished, while others assert that the interest he has aroused is but a passing fad and cannot last, and which will die out as quickly as it sprung up.

The opinion of these two fractions is very well voiced in the statements made recently by two of a number of physicians who were interviewed on the subject.

Dr. J. E. Carass when questioned about the matter said: "I have not been a believer in propriety preparations heretofore nor can I say that I believe in them at present. But I must admit some of the facts recently brought to my notice concerning this man Cooper have gone far towards removing the prejudice I had formed against him when the unheard of demand for the preparations first sprang up in this city. Numbers of my patients whom I have treated for chronic liver, kidney and stomach troubles have met me after taking Cooper's remedy and have stated positively that he has accomplished wonderful results for them. I notice particularly in cases of stomach trouble that the man has relieved several cases of years standing that proved very obstinate in treatment."

"I am the last man on earth to stand in the way of anything that may prove for the public good simply through professional prejudice, and I am inclined to give Cooper and his preparations credit as deserving to some extent the popular demonstration that has been accorded them in this city."

Another well known physician who was seen took the opposite view of the "Cooper-mania" as he called it, which now has this city in its grip. He said, "I can only liken the present state of affairs to a certain kind of hallucination. For want of a better name I might call it "Cooper-mania." The people of Cincinnati seem to be firm in the belief that this man Cooper has health corked up in a bottle."

"Some of them imagine that he has completely cured them of various ills judging from their statements. It is beyond me to know why the city has gone crazy over the man. It may be safely put down, I think, to one of the passing fads that so often attack the American public."

"Sooner or later the people are bound to regain their senses and will then realize the reputable physician is the one to whom their health had best be entrusted."

In the meantime Cooper meets several thousand people daily, and only smiles when statements of the above character are quoted to him. His charitable work still continues to be very extensive.

Mrs. Edward Wisner.

At 11 o'clock last Sunday at her home in Franklin township, Mrs Edward Wisner passed to her higher life after an illness covering 5 years due to paralysis. Mrs. Wisner's maiden name was Marian Whelan. She was born in April 1831 in the state of New York and came to Franklin with her parents in 1833. On New Years day 1857 she was married to Edward Wisner who with two brothers, Irving and Otis Whelan of Franklin survive her. They never had any children of their own but many afflicted and motherless ones remember her as a mother to them in their youth when her home and her ministered love and care brought new hope and comfort into their raddened lives.

A long and useful life was hers before the fatal blow fell that deprived her of the privilege of active service for others then during the long years of waiting and hopeless suffering she taught her friends the greatest lesson of her life, the lesson of cheerful patience under prolonged and severest trial. Her funeral was attended from the house Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 by a large concourse of relatives and friends. Rev. Blanch Young officiating. Interment at Tipton.

Mrs. James Heck.

Mrs. Jas. Heck died this morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Robt. Moore, after an illness of four weeks. The funeral will be held from the house Sunday afternoon at 2:30. Rev. Kamm officiating.

THE CHURCHES.

The missionary social of the Episcopal church will be held at the home of Mrs. Tom Mingay, Friday afternoon, March 15.

At the Universalist church Sunday morning the pastor will speak on "The Mountain Peaks of Character." In the evening "A change of base necessary for the church of the future." Sunday school at noon. Prayer meeting Wednesday evening at the parsonage.

First Presbyterian church, H. K. Fox, Ph. D., pastor. Preaching both morning and evening. Bible school at 11:20. C. E. at 6 o'clock. Prayer service Wednesday at 7 p. m. Entertainment by college quartette Friday evening at 7 o'clock.

Morning and evening worship at the Baptist church Sunday. The pastor will preach at both services. Bible study hour follows the morning service. B. Y. P. U. prayer meeting at 6 p. m. The choir assisted by extra voices will render a cantata at the Easter morning worship March 31.

The regular services will be held at the Friends church Sunday both morning and evening. The pastor will preach. Junior C. E. at 3 p. m. Senior C. E. at 5. Full attendance desired. On account of meetings which have been held in Brownville on Sunday evening, service has been laid down. This meeting is again resumed Sunday night at 7 o'clock. Every one welcome.

Regular preaching service at M. E. church Sunday morning, Sunday school following. Business men's class Reconcile Rom. 3:28 with Jas. 2:24. Leader, F. R. Hurst. Boys class, "There is something good in every boy, find it out and cultivate it." Matt. 12:20. Leader—Charles Tansley. Class meeting at 5:30. Evening service in charge of young people at 6:30. Teachers meeting following Wednesday evening service. A number of new members were taken into the church last Sunday evening. Special services this week for young people from 2 to 5 each afternoon.

Like the Mythical Dragon.

In the Malay archipelago is a reptile much like the mythical dragon. It has false ribs that extend the loose skin and form its wings. There is also a frog with spreading feet that makes a parachute which enables it to flit from tree to tree, and a flying lemur that can spread out its whole body like an umbrella and leap and fly a hundred feet at a time, from the top of one tree to another.

Gold and Silver Gospels.

"The Gold and Silver Gospels" is the name of a very peculiar book now preserved in the Upsala library in Sweden. It is printed with metal type on violet colored vellum, the letters being silver and the initials gold. When it was printed, by whom or what were the methods employed are questions which have great interest for the curious, but have never been answered.

Most people know that if they have been sick they need Scott's Emulsion to bring back health and strength.

But the strongest point about Scott's Emulsion is that you don't have to be sick to get results from it.

It keeps up the athlete's strength, puts fat on thin people, makes a fretful baby happy, brings color to a pale girl's cheeks, and prevents coughs, colds and consumption.

Food in concentrated form for sick and well, young and old, rich and poor.

And it contains no drugs and no alcohol.

ALL DRUGGISTS: 50c. AND $1.00.

Hoyt-Fuller.

An interesting matrimonal event occurred last evening at 8 o'clock at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Margaret Hoyt, 18 Warren street, when her daughter, Miss Hazel G. Hoyt became the wife of Floyd W. Fuller. The ceremony was performed by Rev. B. Frank Taber, pastor of the first Baptist church. The ceremony was witnessed only by a small company of relatives of the two families, and the very closest friends. Among the number were Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Van Buren of Chicago, and C. A. Fuller of Allegan.

At the appointed hour, bride and groom took their places unattended, and spoke their vows. The bride was beautifully gowned in dove colored silk, trimmed with chiffon over pink silk. The home was tastefully decorated, carnations, ferns and palms, being used in profusion.

Following the congratulations, a dainty wedding repast was served in the dining room. Immediately after the supper Mr. Fuller took his bride to their new home in Upton Flats on Marshall street. The bride is a young lady well known in social circles and has a large number of friends, who will wish her a world of happiness throughout her married life. The groom is a highly esteemed young man and for the past eight years has held a responsible position with the Commonwealth Power Company, where the bride was also bookkeeper for two years.

Many beautiful wedding gifts attest regards in which the popular people are held by a large circle of friends.

The above was taken from the Battle Creek Journal, Feb. 19th. Miss Hoyt, was the granddaughter of the late Mrs. Wm. Ross and has many friends in Tecumseh as she has visited here every year since she was a little girl.

Advice of the largest coffee dealers in the world is always to buy the old-fashioned Arbuckles' ARIOSA Coffee in the sealed packages. Don't ask for a pound of Mocha and Java, or buy by the price, for Coffee fluctuates and you cannot get the same coffee for the same price all the time unless you pay too much for it. Most of the so-called Mocha and Java Coffee is simply masquerading, and is not nearly as good coffee for you as Arbuckles' ARIOSA, the blend of the Brazilian Coffees most suitable to the taste and health of American people. By the looks there is no difference between roasted Java and Brazilian Coffees; many people drink Brazilian but pay for Java. The principal difference is that Arbuckles' costs you less. It is a mistake to believe that a high price guarantees quality. When you buy Arbuckles' ARIOSA Coffee, you get a full one pound package of the leading Coffee of the world. Its sales for 37 years are greater than the combined sales of all the other packaged coffees. By giving better Coffee for the money, we have built up a business exceeding the combined businesses of the four next largest coffee firms in the whole world. If your dealer will not supply the genuine, write to

A Clean Chew for Every Chewer

No man wants chewing tobacco which has been exposed to the dust, dirt and contaminating odors of the average store or warehouse. But a clean, pure, sweet tobacco like

TIGER

which is absolutely protected in air-tight, dust-proof packages and kept clean in a tin canister—this kind suits the taste of every chewer.

Tobacco can't be kept clean nor in good condition when it's loose in an open pail. But Tiger is always absolutely clean, full-flavored, and sweet—fit for any man's mouth—and you know it. Every package is sealed, so that substitution of cheaper tobacco is impossible. Get a package in the nearest store.

The Cost of Tea

A difference of ten or twenty cents a pound in the cost of tea makes a very slight difference (if any at all) in the cost per cup. Did you ever stop to think of that? Do not sacrifice a bit of your cup enjoyment for this supposed saving in cost, for it is only a supposed saving.

TECUMSEH CHIEF TEA costs 50c a pound—a very small fraction of a cent per cup. Because of its strength it goes farther therefore in reality, it costs no more than the low price kind The pleasant taste it leaves in your mouth is due to its flavor.

Prove to yourself the truth of this. Order a pound to-day and ask for a canister to keep it in. If you are not satisfied, your money back.
